HAMLET.

The European correspondent of the Springfield Republican, writing from Elsineur, Denmark, says:

"Here is shown Hamlet's grave, evidently of rather modern date. Of this a German writer says—'A more striking homage has probably never been paid to the genius of a poet than when particular burial places are assigned even to the creations of his imagination;' while an English writer who regards the matter from a more historical point of view, says—'Any heap of stones with Runic inscriptions upon them and said to be Hamlet's grave will be in vain searched for here, even if they ever existed.' In fact, Hamlet's identification with this enchanting spot, is at best but a Shakspearian fiction. Hamlet's country was not Zealand, but Jutland. Here the name was pronounced Amlet, signifying madman. According to the Danish history of old Saxo-Grammaticus, (he wrote about the commencement of the 13th century,) Hamlet was not the son of a Danish king, but of a famous pirate chief, who was governor of Jutland in conjunction with his brother. Hamlet's father married the daughter of the Danish king, and the issue of that marriage was Hamlet.

Hamlet's father was subsequently murdered by his brother, who married the widow and succeeded to the government of the whole of Jutland. As a pagan, it was Hamlet's first duty to avenge his father. The better to conceal his purpose he feigned madness. His uncle suspecting it to be feigned, sent him to England, with a request to the king that he would put Hamlet to death. He was accompanied by two creatures of his uncle, whose letter to the English king was carved upon wood, according to the custom of that period. This, Hamlet, during the voyage, contrived to get possession of, and so altered the characters as to make it a request that his two companions should be slain, which was accordingly done on their arrival in England. He afterwards married the daughter of the English king, but subsequently returned to Jutland, and still feigning madness, contrived to surprise and slay his uncle, after upbraiding him with his various crimes. Hamlet then became Governor of Jutland, was married a second time to a Queen of Scotland, and was eventually killed in battle. The whole history of Hamlet is carefully and minutely detailed; but these are the leading historical features upon which Shakspeare founded his beautiful tragedy; and rude and disgusting as many of the incidents in Hamlet's life were, the mode in which Shakspeare has treated them is one of the greatest proofs of his splendid genius. According to Saxo, Hamlet lived about four centuries before Christ."

GOING HOME.

Once a fortnight our city is crowded with a host of the sturdy and industrious miners on their way home to the Atlantic States. The red shirts and wool hats are to be seen in every street,—all impatiently awaiting the departure of the steamer which is to carry them back to their anxious and expectant families. But a glance at a miner's countenance suffices to tell how his hopes have been realized in this country, and whether he has been well rewarded for his labor. The one who has worked assiduously, lived economically, and been temperate and steady, who has made good wages and carefully saved them with a view of buying a farm, or entering into permanent business of some description, reveals at once in his countenance the satisfaction he enjoys, and the bright prospect he has in the future. If he is a young man, some old neighbor's bright eyed daughter may have won his heart, and the thought of returning and claiming her as his partner for life, cheers him in his labors, and makes him the more anxious to live. If he is a man of family, the very thought of returning to a loving wife and children, with a well-filled purse, the fruits of honest industry, is depicted in his countenance, and shows itself in his very action. How unfortunate it is that there are not a greater number who could go back to their homes and gladden the hearts of their parents and families, with a good account of their labors and adventures. But of the thousands who arrive here, disease and dissipation have their victims; and in no country on the earth do their ravages tell with so great effect as in this. Many ardent and impulsive beings, who came here with high hopes, and in expectation of realizing a competence for after years, have been stricken by disease, and rendered objects of charity, or swallowed in the whirlpool of vice. But there are many who have happily avoided the Scylla and Charybodis, and who every fortnight throng our streets, preparatory to their departure for the Atlantic States. While many are so anxious to return, there is no small number who do so with unaffected chagrin and regret.—San Francisco paper.

LOVE IS INDESTRUCTIBLE.

BY ROBERT SOUTHEY.

They sin who tell us love can die;
With life all other passions fly,
All others are but vanity.
In heaven ambition cannot dwell;
Nor avarice in the vaults of hell;
Earthly those passions of the earth,
They perish where they have their birth;
But love is indestructible.
Its holy flame forever burneth,
From heaven it came, to heaven returneth;
Too oft on earth a troubled guest,
At times deceived, at times oppressed,
It here is tried and purified,
Then hath in heaven its perfect rest.
It soweth here in toil and care,
But the harvest time of love is there.

A SALUTE FOR THE TUNNEL.—A salute of 45 guns was fired in Boston on Saturday, in honor of the final passage in the House of Representatives of the bill granting the State credit to the amount of $2,000,000 for the purpose of tunneling Hoosac Mountain.

DAILY

PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, MAY 18, 1853.

A HEAVENLY MISSION.

The Concord Capital Reporter of May 17, says:—

"We believe it is the mission confided by heaven to the United States to give free institutions and republican government to the whole of this continent—to redeem the dark places from ignorance and superstition, and to make the wilderness places blossom as the rose. This is our "manifest destiny"—a destiny to which we were not true, when we yielded up a single acre of the territory conquered in Mexico—a destiny to which we should not be true were we to decline receiving the Sandwich Islands, a second time tendered to us.—We go for annexing all that join us, as well for our own good, as for the good of the people we annex. This is the sentiment of the great majority of the American people, and a sentiment to which every administration which regards the voice of the people, must hereafter respond."

We have no doubt the Reporter judges the popular voice correctly. A majority of all who act, are doubtless in favor of annexing all the territory we can lay our hands upon, on any kind of pretext, however trifling, and many of them are quite ingenious in getting up pretexts where reasons cannot be found.

We go decidedly for trying all Mexico, and if we can, all creation, rather than to fight for it. In the Texas and Mexico mission, ("confided by Heaven to the United States,") we conquered the country first and bought it afterwards. Now we think we had better buy the dark places all out of the hands of the heathen round about us, (especially in Mexico,) rather than to fight. But we suppose there may be some "conscience" men about home, who would rather find a salvo first in a dispute about a boundary, and then declare a war existing by the act of Mexico.

We have seen this game played once successfully, and expect to see the second part of it begin very shortly. We suppose, with the Reporter, that this Mecilla Valley business may be the commencement of it.

THE MAINE LIQUOR LAW IN KENTUCKY.—We perceive that the Maine Liquor Law is in a fair way of being introduced into the politics of Kentucky, the last State in the Union, excepting California, in which one would suppose the vox populi would countenance its introduction. How the people of Kentucky, accustomed as they have been, from the times of Daniel Boon to the present day, to consider the sideboard, with its black bottle of old whiskey, indispensable to the rites of hospitality—how they can tolerate the idea of submitting for a moment to the espionage of this Maine Liquor Law, we cannot imagine. Yet the Louisville Journal says this question is creeping into the politics of the State, and warns the whigs against being caught by the trick. It is but a locofoco trap to catch such unwary whigs as may be deluded by this plausible Yankee notion of compelling men to be sober by cutting of their supplies. We should not wonder, however, if the whigs were to take hold of it. Indeed, it is quite possible that their national platform in 1856 will be limited to the two planks of free-soil and the Maine Liquor Law. But we must first wait to see how this liquor law takes among the good people of Kentucky. What!—"Shall there be no more cakes and ale" among them?—N. Y. Herald.

If it is a fact, as we presume it is, that the drinking habits of Kentucky have been and are as above described, then it follows of course that drunkenness by this time must be rolling like a flood over that noble State. And if so then it is natural for fathers and mothers, wives and sisters, to lay hold of any proposed measure, which promises to save their sons, and husbands, and brothers from being swept away and engulphed in the dreadful ruin. No doubt the question there, as well as elsewhere, will mix up with politics, and perhaps derange the parties; it is as likely to damage one as another: and perhaps it may disappoint the hopes of those who most rely upon it. But it need not surprise anybody, to see a State which has abounded most in black bottles, get most enraged against them, and so break every one.

MR. WEBSTER'S MONUMENT.

His eloquent orations will be read and admired, as his best monument, by thousands who will never see the slab that marks his burial place.

Several of these are now sent out in cheap pamphlet form, 112 pages 8 vo. under this title:

THE GREAT ORATIONS AND SENATORIAL SPEECHES OF DANIEL WEBSTER, comprising Eulogy on Adams and Jefferson; First Settlement of New England; Bunker Hill Monument; Reply to Hayne.

They are sold in Boston by Fetridge & Co.; this city by Mr. Shores. A good likeness of Mr. Webster is in the frontispiece of the pamphlet.

DEATHS.—A Cincinnati despatch of May 9 says—Amos Gove, an old merchant of this city, died suddenly, yesterday.

Mr. Gove was a native of Kensington, N.H. Jesse Hutchinson, of the Hutchinson Family, died at a Water Cure establishment near Cincinnati, on the 15th inst.

LOCAL.

TOWN MEETING IN WARD TWO.

The legal voters of Ward 2, in this city, assembled on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, in Jefferson Hall, to fill the vacancies in the Common Council, which were created by the action of that body.

Ichabod Goodwin, Esq., presided as Moderator.

The votes were declared as follows:

The whole number of votes cast	126
Necessary to a choice,	64
Wm. Tucker had	125	Albert Hayes had	1
A. W. Haven	125	William Frye	1
C. W. Brewster	125	Moses Yeaton	1
R. B. Claggett	122	Aaron B. Mudge	1
John Trundy	125	Wm. J. Laighton	1
W. H. Y. Hackett	124	Daniel H. Spinney	1
John Knowlton, 2d	125	Geo. W. Towle	1
Thos. Martin	124	John Moulton	1

So the same nine members are sent back again, to fill the Common Council. The choice was singularly unanimous, the only opposing vote being our friend the editor of the Gazette, who threw the entire Democratic ticket.

We may add that the meeting was orderly and quiet, somewhat like a Quaker meeting, as not more than a dozen or twenty voters were in the Hall at any one time during the morning: and the meeting was dissolved in good season for dinner.

No doubt the Union will be preserved.

CHRISTIAN CONVENTION.

The Annual Convention of the Christian Connexion in New England, commenced its session at the Pleasant-street Church in this city, on Tuesday morning, at 10 o'clock.

Rev. Mr. Payne, of Kittery, was chosen Chairman, and Rev. J. B. Weston, Secretary.

Clerical and Lay Delegates present, about fifty.

In the afternoon, the Missionary Society of the connexion held their meeting. Rev. G. W. Kilton, of Salisbury, President of the Society, in the Chair. The afternoon was devoted to the Missionary object.

In the evening a sermon was preached by Rev. Wm. R. Stone of New Bedford.

The exercises are to be continued this day and to-morrow.

This morning at 9 o'clock, moral questions will be presented, as Temperance, Slavery, &c.

In the afternoon, a Report on Sabbath Schools, and other exercises therewith.

In the afternoon there is to be a sermon.

FOURTH OF JULY.

The Boston Post, one of whose editors is a native of this city, says:

"We learn that the natives of Portsmouth, N. H., residing in Boston, meditate a visit to their early home on the coming fourth of July. Natives of Portsmouth are very numerous in Boston, and we should think a large number might be induced to join the excursion. It is proposed, as we learn, to select from among their number an orator, poet and chaplain for the occasion, and proceed with their own music to old Strawberry Bank, where, doubtless, they will be heartily welcomed by their old friends and associates. It will doubtless be a happy time for all parties. We publish the above merely as a rumor, as we believe no general action has yet been had about the matter."

This, if carried out, and it certainly can be, would be a novel celebration. Portsmouth talent abounds in Boston, and so does the love of the old homestead. If the boys come home we shall be glad to see them, and will do our best to give them a hearty welcome.

Reported for the Chronicle.

Court of Common Pleas—Adj. Term.

Tuesday, May 17.

The Court came in this morning at 11 o'clock, and heard counsel as to continuance of action, &c.

At 3 o'clock, P. M., the Jury not having returned, the Court adjourned to 9 o'clock, Wednesday morning.

OLD AND NEW.

"Say not the former days are better than these," are the words of an ancient writer,—and they are good words.

Adams, in his Annals of Portsmouth, year 1739, under date of Dec. 27th, that "Sarah Simpson and Penelope Kenny were executed for the murder of an infant child. They were both permitted to attend public worship, the morning of the execution. Sarah Simpson attended at the south parish, where the Rev. Mr. Shurtliff preached a sermon from Luke, 23d chapter, 42d verse. Penelope Kenny, a foreigner, at Queen's Chapel, where the Rev. Mr. Browne preached from Proverbs, 22d chapter, 6th verse. These sermons were published. The Court, who tried these persons were, Henry Sherburne, Chief Justice, Nicholas Gilman, Joseph Sherburne, and Ellis Huske, Justices. Thomas Packer was the Sheriff who executed these sentences. These were the first executions, which ever took place in New Hampshire."

A friend has handed us a copy of Mr. Shurtliff's Sermon, from which it appears that these two women were executed, not for the murder of a child, but each one for the concealment of the death of her own child; and that these crimes were brought to light by the accidental discovery of another. An extract from the preface (written by Rev. Jabez Fitch) to Mr. Shurtleff's Sermon, may interest some readers:

And, whereas secrecy is a strong temptation to many sins, the strange discovery of the secret crimes of these poor women may well abate the force of that temptation. All our iniquities are before God, and our secret sins in the light of his countenance, who can when he pleases bring to light the hidden things of darkness; as is remarkably evident in the present case; for an infant, that was found in a well at the entrance into the town, occasioned a search for the mother of it; whereby it was found that the said women had lately been deliver'd of children: now each of them deny'd, that the child in the well was theirs; and one of them declar'd, where she had bury'd her child, which was accordingly found; but the other affirm'd, that she cast her child into the river; which has never been found: and she steadfastly affirm'd to the last, that she knew nothing of the child in the well: so that it looks very probable, that a woman equally (and perhaps more heinously) guilty than either of these, was the mother of it, and has yet escap'd discovery.

They both denied the murders to the last, tho' they confessed the concealment.

Sarah Simpson walked from the old south meeting house to the place of execution. She was a widow, 27 years of age.

No one would think, in this day, of punishing this crime with the death penalty.

AUCTION SALES—REAL ESTATE.—The House and Lot of Land 7000 feet, 24 High street, owned by Mr. Isaac Dow, was sold at Auction on Tuesday by Geo. W. Towle, Esq. Auctioneer, for $1330: purchased by Mr. James Junkins.

MR. COUES' APPOINTMENT.—A friend of Mr. Coues sends us a note, alluding to the report of Mr. Coues' appointment as Librarian of Congress, and assuring us that it has not any foundation in truth.

ITEMS FROM THE CAPITOL.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The Cabinet were in session but a short time to-day. Mr. Marcy states to his friends that his views as to foreign appointments were given some days since. The opinion of other members of the Cabinet have also been given. Since last week the President has had the whole matter under his sole consideration. The cast may not be given until the last of this week.

Judge Mason arrived this morning, and will immediately enter on his duties, as Commissioner of Patents.

The musical entertainments are hereafter to be given in the President's grounds, Wednesday evenings, and at the Capitol on Saturdays, instead of vice versa, as heretofore. The arrangement is doubtless to gratify Mrs. Pierce's desire to be quiet on the eve of the Sabbath.

It is rumored that the administration has decided to support the position taken by Gen. Lane in regard to the Mecilla Valley.

We do not know how much reliance ought to be placed on the last item. We published, some time ago, an account of Mr. Merriwether's being sent out to supersede Gen. Lane, as Governor of New Mexico,—and supposed that this step was meant as a rebuke to Gen. Lane:—but some well informed paper said No: and added that Lane was a Whig and Merriwether a Democrat, which made out the usual reason in a common case for a change. We have always supposed that the little piece of Mexico, seized by Gen. Lane, would be as good a bone of contention with Mexico as any other; and not only be itself re-annexed to our domain, but also open the way for re-annexing other territories, to which we never yet made the slightest claim.

THE NEW KIND OF BRICKS.

The Boston Daily Advertiser informs us that the company, in Somerville, who have introduced the new process of manufacturing bricks by machinery, from dry clay, without sand, and without water, have erected a new building preparatory to the recommencement of the manufacture, in place of one of wood, which was, a short time ago, destroyed by an incendiary The new building is constructed of brick of the company's own manufacture. They have all the uniformity and beauty of the best Philadelphia and Baltimore bricks, with greater solidity and strength.

It is proposed to use them in a church, to be erected in Boston, and in the buildings for the institution about to be established in Somerville. Specimens of bricks of this manufacture may be seen in the large pork establishment of Mr. Pulsifer, erected last summer, at the corner of Albany and Oswego streets in the South Cove, and in a building on Portland street, in front of the National Theatre, Boston.

We consider the invention as somewhat valuable, and worthy of attention by the curious.

STATE CAPITAL REPORTER.—Amos Hadley, Esq., is hereafter to be co-editor of the Reporter, with Col. Barton, who states that Mr. Hadley is a young gentleman of liberal education, a chaste and vigorous writer, and a sound democrat.

They are to continue the Semi Weekly Reporter, at present, and to begin a weekly Reporter also, on the first of July.

Hon. Charles Sumner declines the invitation of the "Story Association" to deliver an oration before the same, Commencement week. Attorney General Caleb Cushing is the substitute, and it is expected he will officiate.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH

LATER FROM MEXICO.

HAVANA, May 12.

The Dairio, in a long editorial, reviews Santa Anna's course since his return to Mexico, and heartily approves of it. It is also pleased with the highly conservative character of the Mexican Government, and especially with the selection of the enlightened Bishop of Michocan as President. It concludes by stating that the Dictatorship, although only as yet in germination, has in Mexico a positive existence.

The municipal authorities of Tampico who had refused to acknowledge Santa Anna, were arrested by General Woll, and sent on a steamer to Vera Cruz.

General Arista, who has arrived here, has been ordered to proceed to Europe, and not to return without the permission of the Supreme Government. He is, meanwhile, to enjoy his pay and rank in the army.

Gen. Arista, in answer to the letter of the Minister of War informing him of his banishment, protests against the injustice done him, and intimates that he is indebted to it in consequence of his sympathy with the North American States. He further says that he sees no road to happiness for his country except through federal institutions, and of federal annexation to the United States, in which Mexico will meet an inexhaustable fount of riches, notwithstanding she may lose that grand enigma, that squaring of the circle —called by Gen. Santa Anna, "Nationality" —the day will arrive when this event will happen. In the meantime he protests against his banishment as an act of tyranny, and declares that in due time he will demand reparation.

RAILROAD INCIDENTS.—Hartford, May 13.—This morning, as the cars on the Middletown Branch road were within about three miles of Berlin, upon rounding a corner, the engineer discovered a man sitting upon a bridge reading a paper. The whistle was sounded, but the man did not move, and as the cars could not be stopped before reaching him, the entire train passed over him, and cut him completely in two. His name is not known, and it is presumed that he intended to commit suicide.

As the 5 1-2 o'clock train for Woburn, Thursday afternoon, was passing between the Milk Row and Taylor's Ledge stations in Somerville, a man made a stand upon the track, with an apparent intention and determination to make the locomotive "turn out" for him. As the train approached quite near, the conductor recognized him as a hurmlessly insane resident of Woburn, and at once kindly took him on board and carried him to his relatives, from whom he had escaped.

Montreal, May 14.—The train from Rouse's Point at 3 o'clock killed a man sleeping between the rails on a bridge near St. Johns.—He was thrown about forty feet and instantly killed.

RAIN AND HAIL.—The shower, which in this city was rain, on Monday evening, it seems was hail elsewhere. In Kengsington we learn that considerable glass was broken; and at East Kingston, the ground was white with hail stones, and many were picked up of the circumference of a horse-chesnut, and resembled a flattened bullet in shape. The storm appeared to cover half a mile or more in width. Many windows were destroyed. There was a slight fall of hail at Exeter.

In Kensington, as we learn by later accounts, it broke the glass in nearly every house for a distance of two miles. In South Hampton it was still more severe, scarcely a house escaping. A gentleman from the latter place says that some of the stones that fell would measure from one inch to one inch and a half through, and were over an ounce in weight.

We understand also, that the new Academy building in Seabrook, was unroofed by the violence of the wind; the roof being broken in pieces.

☞On Sunday afternoon, at Reading, Mass. the cabinet making shops of Mr. Sylvester Harnden were accidentally destroyed by fire, with 50 bureaus and 200 refrigerators. Loss $8000; insurance $1000.

FIRE IN WALTHAM, MASS.—TWENTY CATTLE AND HORSES BURNT.—Between 12 and 1 o'clock Sunday morning, a large barn situated at the head of Waltham Plains, owned and occupied by Mr. Nehemiah Warren, was destroyed by fire, together with a large stock of hay, grain, and farming utensils. Twelve cows, three pairs of oxen, and two valuable horses perished in the flames. The origin of the fire is attributed to incendiarism. The loss is estimated at about $3000.

It is said that thousands of dollars have been stolen from letters passing through the foreign department in the New York Post Office, sent mostly by poor girls to their friends in Ireland, Scotland and Germany. Theodore A. Rossi, the clerk detected by Mr. Holbrook, special post office agent, in breaking the seals of decoy letters, was examined on a charge of the robbery, and bound over in $5000 to await a trial. In his post office drawer were found $1100, and at his house $600 in gold, with diamonds and earrings worth $400. His salary was $600 per annum.

A verdict of $1954.64, with interest, has lately been rendered against the Michigan Railroad, to reimburse a passenger for the loss of a box, containing goods and $1700 in gold, which had been committed to the care of the company's agents for transportation.

A prize of $10,000 is offered, by responsible parties in San Francisco, for the most comprehensive treatise upon the construction of a railroad from the Atlantic, with collateral subjects.

MARRIAGE,

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which her exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, the loss of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index to Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease, ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. He is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 13 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

A TOUCHING STORY.

The Knickerbocker Magazine says:—One of the most touching things that we've read in many a day, "is the Story of a young Chimney Sweeper," in London, which was elicited by the examination of a committee into the condition and treatment by their masters, of this unhappy class of the poor of the metropolis. After describing the death of a fellow sweep, a little boy named Jem, who had been caught in a flue, and was suffered by his brutal master to die there, because he thought he was "sulking," the account proceeds:

"Poor Jem! he was long missed among us. I was never sorrier for nobody, except the little lass that died, it might be a year after he, and she and me drew together from the first. She was a desolate creature, for her step-mother, our master's wife, treated her worse than a nigger. Little Nan, or as she was mostly called by the boys, Jacky, was a child of her first husband by his first wife; so belonging as one might say, to nobody. The mistress she could never please, and the master swore that she should not eat the bread of idleness in his house; so, female as she was, he taught her to climb. She was uncommon little of her age, which made her handy for small flues, such as ovens and coppers, and the like, which is often less than nine inches square, and she had far more wit and sense than the boys that were her size.

Often and often have Nan and I lain side by side upon the soot we had gathered in the day, with our sacks over us to cover us from the cold, for she was a shivery creature still; and many's the time I've shifted her share of the soot, when she was tired with her day's work. She had always a bad cough when the cold set in; and I used to think the soot getting down her throat made it worse. They'd say it was a hard word to use, but I always shall fancy climbing, which was little fit for she, was the death of her. She fell into a waste as they called it, and before she died was nothing but skin and bones. She used to creep into a nook when they'd let her be quiet, and lie there; and if anything would please her it was when I went up slily to her with an orange in my hand, or an apple, which I used to buy with the few pence that were given me, instead of playing at chuck-farthing with the boys. Poor thing! she had a constant dryness, and them things did her the most good. "Sam," she used to say, "when I get well again, you and me'll run away, and hide in some place a great way off, where nobody shan't find us, for I can't climb any more, and daddy'll beat me if I don't. She give me a half a penny with a hole in it, to keep for her sake, and that very night she died."

THE CHRISTIAN INQUIRER has this fine remark: "the giddy belle and the overworked seamstress are extreme forms of the same mental impoverishment." The Inquirer further observes: "To our view, the worst thing in American society is the studied indifference of female education to everything truly useful and exalting. Ostentation in high life is a fair match, in point of degradation, with grinding want in low life."

The temperance meeting in the New York Tabernacle, on Saturday evening, drew together two or three thousand people. Susan Anthony presided; Harriet Hunt was one of the vice presidents. Miss Emily Clark and Miss Lucy Stone made speeches. Near the close of the performances the pavement leading to the door fell into the cellar, and the audience had a very narrow escape.

Capt. Nickerson, arrived at New York, reports speaking a British Bark which had on board 20 passengers from a wrecked American ship, undoubtedly those from the William & Mary, who took to the long boat. The bark was cotton laden, and believed to be bound to England.

THE CRUELTY OF DESPOTISM—A COUNTESS EXECUTED IN PRISON.—It is stated in the New York Times that a report has just reached the Hungarians in that city, through various private hands, of an event, outreaching all yet known of Austrian cold-blood, judicial tyranny. During the spring of 1851, two years after the revolution, and in the midst of the quiet slavery, all Hungary was aroused by the news, that a young and distinguished lady had been suddenly arrested, the Countess Blanca Teleki. She was high born, of one of the oldest families of Hungarg—a family beloved for its many deeds of heroic patriotism. She had been owner of large estates—but, though of the aristocratic order, none loved her better than the peasantry.

They all knew her as the friend of the poor. And in many rural districts, the Sunday Schools and schools for the lower classes owe their origin entirely to the self sacrificing labors of this lady. Suspicion had never breathed upon her name. She loved Hungary; and she was a women of heroic spirit.—These were supposed to be the reasons for her arrest. The charge against her was, that she was in correspondence with Kossuth and Mazzini. No one, even there, supposed the Government would dare to injure her, or hold her long. The news now is, that in these first Spring days, the young Countess Teleki was privately executed in her prison—probably that of Gros Wardein.

THE NEW YORK "STRIKES."—The N. Y. Express publishes a list of those of different trades and callings in that city, who have been engaged in the late strikes for higher wages in that city. The number of trades is thirty-two. In publishing its catalogue of these movements, occupying a column, the Express says: "Nominally the 'strikers' have, in a majority of cases, carried their points; but, in some cases, the success is temporary, and in general the result has been, a dismissal of poor workmen, who are supported by the successful strikers. The expenses, too, have been large; such as for 'bands of music,' costing $48 or $50, hiring rooms, hiring men, and to go round, &c., &c., and drum up. Most of the 'strikes' have been held in public houses, where liquor was plenty, and the publicans have made money, while the mechanics, subject to great temptations, have paid the bills, and, in many cases, no doubt, laid the foundation of bad habits."

PORTSMOUTH:
THURSDAY, MAY 19, 1853.

THE SWISS INSURRECTION.

Among the late foreign news was some account of an attempt at insurrection, in the Canton of Friburg, Switzerland, which was promptly suppressed by the constituted authorities. Few people in this country understand the complicated government of Switzerland, which is almost as great a puzzle as our own, to those who live under a monarchy, or simple government of any sort. Both of them are a puzzle to all outsiders. Both are complicated—but our complications are unlike theirs.

The insurrection at Friburg, says the Worcester Spy, "was not made in favor of liberty, but was intended to establish the worst forms of both civil and theological despotism.

"Six or seven years ago, a civil war broke out in Switzerland, called the 'War of the Sunderbund.' The Sunderbund was an alliance of seven Cantons, who united to sustain the Jesuits against the authority of the Federal Government. The Sunderbund comprised the Cantons in which the aristocracy and the priests held sway, and where the peasantry are the most ignorant and superstitious in Switzerland. But the Republican Cantons rallied to the support of the government, and the insurrection was quickly suppressed. Since that period, there have been, almost annually, partial outbreaks of the peasantry, led by aristocrats and priests, which have been vigorously and promptly suppressed. This outbreak at Friburg is one of that series. Friburg is a Catholic Canton, but its government is a radical, anti-Jusuitical, anti-Austrian one, and consequently is obnoxious to the Kaiser who rules at Vienna, and to the plotting ecclesiastics, who rules at Vienna, and to the plotting ecclesiastics, who wish to dominate over and darken the minds of the free Swiss. Col. Perrier and his priestly coadjutors expected support from Austria in their attack upon the freedom of their country. The present bullying attitude assumed by Austria towards the Swiss, in order to force them to abandon the right of asylum, led those infatuated traitors to suppose that they would not be promptly met and crushed. The result has, fortunately, disappointed them. This was no part of the legitimate European revolution. When that takes place, it will have the sympathy of every true republican."

NEGRO 'LECTION.

ANOTHER KEY TO UNCLE TOM—A St. Louis paper contains the following notice of a matter connected with the condition of the slaves in the Southern States:

"We have seen the programme of a May party, to be given by the members of the Second Colored Baptist Church, to raise funds in aid of the church. They are to have their May Queen, maids of honor, sceptre-bearer, and all the paraphanalia with which, in early times, our forefathers were wont to greet the return of spring. Most of our citizens have contributed something to this festival, and it bids fair, as we hope it will, to succeed in its object. Could not some of our abolitionist neighbors be induced to incorporate this scene into their next catalogue of slavery and its horrors."

There used to be something like this in New Hampshire, when slaves were held here, viz: a day in each year, called Negro 'Lection, when all the negro men of Portsmouth and vicinity, armed and equipped, marched in military array, out to the plains, and chose a King for the year, as also a Sheriff. There they had a dinner and drink at the Globe Tavern,—and with the ladies of the same color they had a grand dance. The captain of the day was on horseback; and the whole display was as good a burlesque on white ceremonies of the same kind, as could well be got up.

The authority of the king was acknowledged, and offences by colored delinquents, against honesty and propriety, were punished by the king's order, with so many stripes, well laid on by the black sheriff, whose dignity would have revolted at the idea of too much lenity. The negro 'lection outlasted slavery here, for several years; but as it had become a mere farce, after the negro and white were declared amenable to the same laws, its glories dwindled away till it died from neglect.

The May Day in Missouri, and the 'Lection in New Hampshire, are not among the darkest, but the brightest features of the slave system. The negro, even in slavery, needs his sports, and unless the master is brutish and foolish also, he will have them. But probably the people of New Hampshire, white and black, are quite content to live without slavery, even though we lost the negro 'lection in consequence of its abolition here.

NEW SAFEGUARD.—An experienced conductor in the New York Tribune, proposes a new safeguard against railroad accidents.—He says an extra officer should be attached to each train, who shall be seated near to the engineer, and whose duty shall be to look out and give orders—the engineer cannot look to the engine and the road at the same time.

NEW HAVEN RAILROAD AND THE PRESS.—The annual meeting of the New York and New Haven Railroad was held at New York on the 12th inst. The entire old board of officers were elected. At the meeting a discussion arose as to extending courtesies to the press, by permitting the members of the same to pass over the road free of charge. The shareholders, for the most part, opposed the granting of these courtesies, since in return, the press made public all the mishaps of the road. It was charged upon the New York Tribune, that it made reflections on the management of the road, and on this account the editor of that paper should be excluded, at all events.—The present look is that the press will have to pay for their own accidents, the same as the public generally do.—Boston Herald.

Mishaps, indeed! The press must be a very fine thing, if it could pass silently or lightly over the worst railroad accident that has ever yet occurred in this country.

The roads have a right to give passes or withhold them, as they deem it best, everywhere but in New Hampshire, where it is prohibited by a law which the Legislature violated last summer, and then put an ex post facto patch on the law by way of amendment.

We do not blame the New York & New Haven stockholders for feeling badly—but they need not vent their spite on the printers, who did not cause the accident, but only told of it.

OPTICAL ILLUSIONS.—Human testimony is a very fallible thing. Ten or twelve persons were close at hand and saw the train at Norwalk run off the bridge. They all testified positively that the engine struck the opposite abutment. It is demonstrated mathematically that this was not possible, and on raising the engine, it shows also the mistake of the witnesses. The cow-catcher before the engine, is without injury, but had it struck the abutment it would have been crashed to splinters.

As another evidence of the fallibility of witnesses, where there can be no suspicion of wilful falsehood, we see that the engine, raised on Thursday, was found to have been reversed before its fatal plunge into the water. Yet the engineer gave reasons, on his examination, why he did not reverse it.

CRIMINAL RECORD.—In the Municipal Court, Boston, on Tuesday, Elizabeth Watson, who was convicted of abducting her sister from Newmarket, N. H., with a view of reducing her to prostitution, was sentenced to eighteen months in the House of Correction.

In the Police Court, George Plunket and his wife were examined on a charge of setting fire to their house at South Boston, owned by Josiah Dunham. An insurance officer stated that they informed the office that lightning struck the house and injured their furniture. The case was postponed to Friday, and bail required in $3000.

At Taunton, Mass., Mrs. Laura A. Robinson of Foxboro' was arrested on a charge of adultery with one George R. Lewis, and examined on the 4th inst. The accused is 35 years of age, and widow of Abiathar Robinson, who died after a sickness of one week, on the 1st inst., and to whom she was married one year ago. The deceased was 65 years of age. Circumstances connected with his death have created suspicion against the accused. A post mortem examination by Drs. Foster and Hitchcock did not elicit the cause of his death. The result of a more thorough examination by Prof. Horsford of Cambridge has not yet transpired. Lewis is a minor and was employed by the deceased. The accused was bound over in the sum of $200 for trial.

We should suppose she would forfeit the bonds.

RABID DOG.—On Sunday forenoon a spaniel dog was seen on Boston Common, exhibiting symptoms of madness by frothing at the mouth and biting at almost everything that came in his way. A venturesome young man endeavored to pacify the dog, and extended his hand towards him, when the animal snapped at and bit it quite severely. On the instant this was done, the young man seized the dog by the neck with both hands, and firmly retained his hold until he actually choked him to death. He then threw the dead body into the back bay, and repaired to a physician to have his hand dressed. It is hoped that no serious result will follow from the wound.

DEATH FROM HYDROPHOBIA.—Wm. Gray, a lad 16 years of age, died on Monday night, having exhibited, previous to death, marked symptoms of hydrophobia. Coroner Wihelm held an inquest upon the body, when it appeared that the deceased on Friday complained of dizziness in his head, and pain in his back and limbs. He grew worse, and on Saturday evening he had a high fever, but could not drink or even look at water. On Sunday a physician was sent for, who gave him medicine and further attended him; he foamed at the mouth, and when water was shown him or even spoken of he became very much excited; while sick he said that about four and a half years ago he was bitten by his own dog, which at that time he thought was not mad; soon after this he sold the dog, and lost sight of him. The doctor examined the body, and found symptoms which led him to conclude that death was caused by hydrophobia. The jury rendered a verdict to that effect.—N. Y. Sun.

Robert A. Hawke, Messenger of the General Post Office, Washington, cut his wife's throat on Saturday night, and then attempted to kill himself, but failed. He has been arrested. He premeditated the deed, and wrote a letter stating that he wanted all his family to go to heaven.

LOCAL.

WATERING PLACES.

It is suggested that we notice them; of course it is meant only that we mention those near us. We begin, very naturally, with the cluster of Public Houses on Boar's Head, Hampton; which are so well known as to require no detailed statement. Next, as we come eastward, is Philbrick's House, in Rye, near Little River. Then to Jenness' House, on Jenness' Beach, which has been greatly enlarged this season, and otherwise improved: and one or two new houses erected close by, as auxiliaries in taking care of the summer boarders. In plain sight, at the Shoals, Mr. Laighton's large house, the Appledore, looms up, and promises a goodly shelter from storm and tempest, heat and turmoil. It is generally full in hot weather.

At Odiorne's Point, a new House is opened by Capt. Thomas Clark; this is delightfully located, with the ocean on one side and Little Harbor on the other.

Passing up the harbor on the New Hampshire side, we come to the Piscataqua House, the City Hotel, the Franklin, the Rockingham, and Market-street Hotels, all in the City of Portsmouth, which is, for its healthy location, pure water and numerous shade trees, entitled to be called not only rus in urbe, but city, country, coast and wood. Our citizens may go away for change; those of larger and warmer places may well come hither for quiet and health.

Up the river, by boat or packet, four miles, on Dover Point, is a new hotel, kept by Mr. John Hanson, easily accessible by land or water, with advantages for fowling, bathing, boating, and rambling in the woods and bushes.

Crossing into Maine, we go by land to Agamenticus, and thence down to the Freeman House at Cape Neddick, where eyerybody wishes to stop and take tea, after looking off the Cliff.

And coming back this way, last but not least, there is the Gerrish House on Kittery Point, delightfully located on Piscataqua Harbor, with a full view of the ocean, and many other advantages. This house is to be opened about the middle of June, by Mr. J. W. Weston, to whose advertisement we refer for other particulars. This house has directly in front of it a wharf, with every convenience for sea or harbor fishing or sailing; and boarders here can visit or send to Portsmouth, by land or water, twice a day.

CHRISTIAN CONFERENCE.

The Sermon at Pleasant street Church on Tuesday evening, was by Rev. Mr. Dean, of New York, agent for Antioch College.

The services this day, will be at 9 A. M., when the Educational and Periodical objects will be presented.

In the afternoon there will be Religious Services, of the character of a Conference—with the close of business affairs connected with the Convention.

The closing services of the meetings, will be a Sermon in the evening, and the usual devotional exercises.

TOOTH LIQUID.

In the course of the last few days persons have been calling at houses in various parts of the city, and vending a nostrum in small bottles, at 25 cents each, labeled "Dr. Fezler's Parisian Tooth Liquid." The design professed is to remove all extraneous substances adhering to the teeth, and thus render them beautifully white. This is rapidly accomplished in a few minutes' application of a few drops of the contents of a bottle to the surface of the enamel.

The acting quality of this mixture is disguised in the essence of a wild berry, and the whole is colored by a red unimportant substance. By analysis it is ascertained that the only active ingredient in the compound is an acid of a highly corrosive character, when applied to the lime properties of the teeth. Its effects are only the same as the result of washing the teeth with sulphurous or nitrous acid. Its corrosion produces a chalky white in its first action, and in a few weeks its pernicious effect is discoverable by a dark hue, preceding an evidence of a diminution of the enamel of the teeth.

The cost of one of these bottles, contents and label does not exceed two cents, and to the credulous purchaser would probably prove a carious bargain at even that price.

MADAM SONTAG.—We understand that the work of procuring signatures for her concert is in progress, and that it will be decided in a few days whether we are to hear her or not.

A DANGEROUS TOOL.—A child of Mr. Forrest Trafton, aged three or four years, was at play with a revolving hay cutter, one day this week, and accidentally mutilated three of its fingers and a thumb.

DEVINE'S LOZENGES.—This "Wonder of the World" is advertised in our columns today. Some of our own citizens speak highly of them, as being efficacious in their cases, and for their families.

PATENT

Self-heating Smoothing Iron.

THIS invention is rarely equalled for economy, convenience and comfort. One cent's worth of dry hard coal is ample fuel for a day's ironing; avoids exhausting heat and the changing of irons; gives a better finish, facilitates the work, and never sullies the linen. Its complete success warrants the prediction that it will soon be found in every family. S. JEWETT, St. Johnsbury, Vt., Agent of the patentees in Maine, N. H., and Vt.

From the New York Observer.—"Since noticing this ingenious invention, we have seen it fairly tried. It works admirably. It will prove a great convenience to housekeepers, in the saving of fuel and heat as well as of time and labor."

and will, in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial; but it has been proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

INTERESTING FACTS

are constantly coming to light, from different parts of the country, showing the astonishing effects of the fair and faithful use of these Lozenges.

HERE IS ONE LETTER,

from a citizen of Portsmouth—and but a sample of hundreds:

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1853.

This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges, —which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. FURTHER FROM MEXICO.

The acts of Governor Lane in New Mexico will created excitement in Mexico, and the government were making extraordinary efforts to sustain Gov. Frias in his efforts to protect the Mexicans in Mecilla Valley.

Santa Anna has stripped of home and employment all the military persons who, during the invasion from the United States, submitted to the North American jurisdiction. He has also created a new officer called the Procurador General, together with a Council of State of 21, of which the Bishop of Michoacau is president, and Bocanegra, ex-Minister to the United States, one of the members.

Senor Larranzas now Minister at Washington, has been appointed Minister to Rome. General Urasa to Russia; Castiltory Lauzoa to England.

General Lombardini having, during his 70 days administration, brought pecuniary embarassments on the goverment, the President has suspended payment until the accounts can be fathomed.

A RUNAWAY SLAVE KILLED.—At East Baton Rouge, La., an escaped negro slave, whom two citizens of Port Hudson attempted to recapture, so resolutely fought for his freedom that they were obliged to desist. They thereupon obtained a pack of dogs and pursued the fugitive to a drift in the river, where the dogs brought him to bay. When the pursuing party came up he refused to surrender, and was immediately shot, and fell into the water. So determined was the poor fellow not to be captured, that when an effort was made to rescue him from drowning, he made battle with his club, and sunk waving his weapon in angry defiance at his pursuers.—Boston Journal.

MORE RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.—On the Western Vermont Railroad, on Tuesday, the train was thrown off by a cow on the track, but fortunately, though one of the cars was completely smashed, there not being a seat left in it.

The Albany Journal of the 13th says:—"The express train which left this city for Buffalo last evening, was thrown off the track, at midnight, two miles east of Oneida, on the Utica and Syracuse road. The accident was caused by a broken rail. The engine was upset, and it, with the tender and baggage cars, were badly broken. The passenger cars and passengers were uninjured; but the engineer (Evereits) and the fireman (Nicholas) were horribly burned and scalded. The fireman died almost immediately. The engineer will probably recover."

SURVEY OF A SOUTHERN ROUTE TO THE PACIFIC.—New Orleans papers of Tuesday state that Gen. O. Clarke of New York, Ex-Governor Paine, Gen. D. W. C. Clarke of Vermont, P. Greely, Jr., of Boston, and others, in company with Senator Rusk, had arrived in New Orleans, on their way to Texas, to make explorations in connection with a Southern line of Pacific railroad. They take their departure from Galveston, and proceed via Houston, Austin, &c., to El Passo, and return on some more northern line towards Memphis and Vicksburg.

SINGULAR AFFAIR.—A young lady named Emily Teal mysteriously disappeared from her father's house in Bergen Five Corners, N. J., in her night clothes on Tuesday night, and as mysteriously appeared again, but insensible, upon the door steps, early on Saturday morning. It appears from her own account that she was seized by several men, placed in a carriage, conveyed to a house, kept a day, and restored. No violence was offered her, beyond the forcible seizure and detention, and no conjectures of the causes of the affair can be made by her friends, unless it be that she was mistaken for another person. Even in this case, the affair is remarkable.—Boston Advertiser.

DEATH OF AN OFFICER.—Died on board steamer Palmetto, on her passage from Charleston to Baltimore, Lieut. Totten, of 2d Regiment U. S. Artillery, and son of Major General Totten who is at the head of the department of Topographical Engineers. Lieut. Totten served through the campaign in Mexico, where, probably, he contracted the disease which has now proved fatal.

COLINIZATION IN AFRICA.—A company of Swiss capitalists of Geneva have obtained a grant from the French government of 20,000 hectares, 50,000 acres, of land in the province of Constantine in Algeria, for the establishment of a colony of Swiss families.

FRENCH DELICACIES.—From eating frogs to eating snails some people may think but a short step. In fact, snails have become quite as fashionable an article of diet in Paris as they were in the days of the old Romans.—There are now fifty restaurants, and more than 1200 private tables of Paris, where snails are accepted as a delicacy by from 8000 to 10,000 customers. The monthly consumption of this tit-bit is estimated at half a million.

The Charleston Standard says there is living in that city, a lady aged one hundred and thirty years! Her mental faculties are still unimpaired, and she retains all her senses except that of sight.

The last number of the London Quarterty states that seven years absence was calculated on by some of the officers of the Sir John Franklin expedition.

The man who was cut in two by the railroad train while seated on a bridge near Middleton, Conn., had on a white hat, with crape on it, and was reading the New England Puritan, with a bottle by his side.

STOLEN.—A nice hat was this morning stolen from the Deputy Chief of Police, Boston, while on duty at the Police Court. This is bearding the lion, and in his very den, too.—Herald, Wednesday.

MARRIAGE,

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years? And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as the work will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mail-ed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

WRONG.

The cry of wrong is borne on every breeze,—
It bubbles up from 'neath the turbid wave,
Made thick by struggling swimmers' agonies,
Where through foul carelessness they find a grave!
It comes from misery's haunt, where, clad in rags,
Gaunt famine rules the hour with bony hand;
From where the oppressed in loathed existence lags,
And bows his soul to others' dread command;
From children, prematurely old in crime,
Bred but to fester into early sin;
From woman's beauty and from manhood's prime,
On whose dark life no sun has e'er broke in—
But God, who marks the sparrows when they fall,
To wronged and wronger recompenses all.

HUMILITY.

The bird that soars on highest wing,
Builds on the ground her lowly nest;
And she that does most sweetly sing
Sings in the shade when all things rest:
In lark and nightingale we see
What honor hath humility.—Montgomery.

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass. PATENT OFFICE,
"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK, Commissioner of Patents."

BUFFALO HUNTING

IN THE PHILLIPPINE ISLANDS.

Blackwood's Magazine for April contains an attractive outline of a new and curious volume recently published in Paris, entitled "Twenty years in the Phillippine Islands," by Chevalier P. de la Gironiere, from which we make the following extract descriptive of some of the Doctor's daring adventures in the hunting field. At Jala Jala, our author for the first time took part in a buffalo hunt. His Indian friend had many scraples about exposing him to the great risk inseparable from the pursuit of so fierce and dangerous an animal as the wild buffalo of the Phillippines, but at last having satisfied himself that Dr. Pablo was a good horseman, cool, active and ready, he yielded to his urgent request, and they set out one morning with nine huntsmen and a little pack of dogs. But the story is best told as we find it in the Magazine.

"In that part of the Phillippines the buffalo is taken with a lasso, elsewhere (as we shall presently see) fire-arms are used. There is little difference in the danger. In the one case skill and good riding are the essentials; in the other, great presence of mind and a good gun. The buffalo of those regions does not run when assailed, but rushes on his foe as soon as he sees him, and transfixes him with his terrible horns.

My faithful Indian was much more anxious about my safety than about his own. He objested to my taking a gun; he had little confidence in my skill with the lasso, and preferred that I should merely sit on horseback, unarmed and unincumbered in my movements. So I set out with a dagger for sole weapon.—We divided our party by threes, and rode gently about the plains, taking care to keep at a distance from the edge of the wood, lest we should be surprised by the animal we sought.

After riding for about an hour, we at last heard the baying of the dogs, and understood that the enemy was forced from his forest retreat. We watched, with deepest attention, the spot where we expected him to break forth. He took a deal of coaxing before he would show; at last there was a sudden cracking noise in the wood, branches were broken, young trees overthrown, and a superb buffalo showed himself at about one hundred and fifty paces distance. He was of a beautiful black, and his horns were of very large dimensions. He carried his head high, and snuffed the air as though scenting his enemies. Suddenly, starting off at a speed incredible in so bulky an animal, he made for one of our groups composed of three Indians.

These set off at full gallop of their horses, and distributed themselves in the form of a triangle. The buffalo selected one of them and impetuously charged him. As he did so, another of the Indians, whom he had passed in his furious career, wheeled his horse and threw the lasso he held ready in his hand; but he was not expert, and missed his aim. Thereupon the buffalo changed his course, and pursued the imprudent man who had thus attacked him, and who now rode right in our direction. A second detachment of three hunters went to meet the brute. One of them passed near him at a gallop, threw his lasso, and was as unsuccessful as his comrade.—Three other hunters made the attempt; not one of them succeeded. I, as a mere spectator, looked on with admiration at this combat, these evolutions, flights, and pursuits, executed with such order and courage, and with a precision that was truly extraordinary.

I had often witnessed bull-fights, and often had I shuddered at seeing the torredors observe a similar method and order to turn the furious animal from the pursuit of the picador. But what comparison could possibly be established between a combat in an enclosed arena, and this one in the open plain; between the most terrible of bulls and a wild buffalo?—Fiery and hot blooded Spaniards, proud Castilians, eager for the perilous excitement, for stirring and perilous spectacles, go hunt the buffalo in the plains of Marigondon! After much flight and pursuit, hard riding and imminent peril, a dexterous hunter enveloped the animal's horns with his lasso. The buffalo slackened his speed, and shook and tossed his head, stopping now and then to try to get rid of the obstacle which impeded his career.—Another Indian, not less skillful than his predecessor, threw his lasso with a like rapidity and success. The furious beast now ploughed the earth with his horns, making the soil fly around him as if anxious to display his strength, and to show what account he would have made of any of us who had allowed themselves to be surprised by him.

With much care and precaution, the Indians conveyed their prize into a neighboring thicket. The hunters uttered a shout of joy; for my part I could not repress a cry of admiration. The animal was vanquished; it needed but a few precautions to master him completely. I was much surprised to see the Indians excite him with voice and gesture until he resumed the offensive, and bounded from the ground with fury. What would have been our fate had he succeeded in shaking off or breaking the lasso! Fortunately there was no danger of this. An Indian dismounted, and, with great agility, attached to a solid tree trunk the two lassos that retained the savage. Then he gave the signal denoting that his office was accomplished, and retired. Two hunters approached and threw their lassos over the animal, fixed the ends to the ground with stakes, and soon our prey was thoroughly subdued and reduced to immobility, so that we could approach him with impunity. With great blows of their cutlasses, the Indians chopped off his horns, which would so well have revenged him had he been free to use them; then, with a pointed bamboo, they pierced the membrane that separated the nostrils, and passed through them a cane twisted in the form of a ring. In this state of martyrdom they fastened him securely behind two domestic buffaloes, and led him to the next village. There the poor brute was killed.

HOURS OF LABOR.

A writer in the Newburyport Herald, thinks that the ten hour system in cotton mills, would be advantageous to the hands and to the owners, by rendering the hands less liable to change their places, and doing away the necessity for many spare hands. He says, of the mill hands—

"Not one in ten work even one year, without getting worn out and exhausted, so that they have to go home and recruit, stopping from one to three months, and not more than half of whom ever return back at all, and those who do, do not on an average, work more than ten months in a year, spending a better part of the third month's wages in travelling expenses going home and returning, thus leaving them but nine parts out of twelve, less than if the ten hour system were in force, and they did no more in proportion to the hours they labor, than they do now; but this is not the case; they can not only do as much in 10 as in 12 1-2 hours, but they could stand it to work all the time, and would not constantly be changing for less fatiguing labor, which would be a wonderful saving to the companies who employ them. Are the readers of this journal, all aware of the amount of money that is paid out in the mills, yearly, for learning new help? The companies have to pay the board for the first month, and very few of them earn anything for the first two or three months. This is only six dollars for four weeks, for each one, and may look very small; but take into consideration the fact that there is on an average, one entire revolution of help in a year. I do not mean by this that every hand changes every year; but that where there is one who stays more than one year, there are two who do not work six months; so that out of a mill that employs 300 hands one hundred and fifty new hands have to be employed a year; not more than two thirds of whom work more than from eight to ten months, and the other third generally vacate after their first payment, which is barely enough to pay their board. Thus the sum of six dollars has been paid out to hands enough to amount to $900 for a single mill, for the first month that the new hands have been employed. Now any system that can be adopted, by which the help will not be changing so much, and prevent constantly learning new help, will certainly be much better for the employers. Old hands can and do, not only get off a far better article, but get off a much larger quantity per frame, which would of course yield a larger per centage on the capital invested. I apprehend this system would be found profitable in substituting 10 hours for 12 1-2."

We are not sure this is correct: but it is worthy of consideration.

A LIBERAL OFFER.—The publishers of the New York Knickerbocker Magazine, (monthly—$3 per year); the Musical World & Times, (weekly—$3 per year;) and the Home Journal (weekly—$2 a year in advance—); have made arrangements to furnish the three publications for $5 a year—as we advertised recently. We are glad to learn that so liberal an offer is succeeding admirably. Messrs. Dyer & Willis, 257 Broadway, are the agents in the arrangement.

CONVERTS TO THE FAITH.—Under this head the New York Freeman's Journal, (Catholic,) publishes a list of 19 Episcopalian Ministers who have joined the Roman Church within about ten years; adding the names of four ministers of other denominations. The same paper also gives the names of 12 Army Officers and 9 Officers of the Navy, who have been converted to the same faith. Among the latter appears the name of Capt. Long, of the Navy,—and among the former, Bishop Ives, Mr. Hewitt, and O. A. Brownson.

OCEAN RACING.—The Sovereign of the Seas, and the Young America, two first class clippers, are to race on the ocean from our Atlantic coast to California, on a bet of ten thousand dollars. A similar rivalry exists between rival lines of steamers, on the ocean, and between individual steamers on our rivers.

Our hurrying people demand the swiftest sailing ships, the quickest ocean steamers, the "crack" steamboats on the sound and rivers, and the hasty train on the railroad, and the natural consequences follow, in loss of life, limb or property.

The fault is with the public, more than with their servants who run locomotives or steamboats.

☞ Casey, the Murderer of Mrs. Taylor in Natick, Mass., has been found guilty, and sentenced to the States Prison, at hard labor, for one year and thereafter until the Governor shall issue an order to hang him.

Casey is the first criminal that has been sentenced in Massachusetts under the new law.—A similar one has been in force for some years in Maine, and no one complains of it.

☞ A barn was burnt at Lane's Cove, near Gloucester, on Wednesday, by a little boy who kindled shavings with a match.

☞ Gas Works are about to be built in Gloucester, Mass.

The wife of Matthew Tuck, of Farmington, Me., on the 5th inst., gave birth to three smart boys, weighing seven pounds each, and the mother and children are doing well.

LOCAL.

Reported for the Chronicle.

City Council—May 19.

In Board of Alderman—several Councilmen elect from Ward 2, presented themselves and were qualified by the Mayor.

Petitions were received—from C. C. Jackson and others for a sidewalk in Vaughan st.; B. F. Webster for sidewalk in Austin st.; J. Cornelius and others for sidewalk in Franklin st.;—all granted.

The Street Commissioner made a report on the condition of Dennett street and the sewer in the same. He finds both in a very bad state; that a new sewer, costing about $100, is required; and that the street should be paved—laid on the table.

Plans and estimates were presented for alterations of Brick Market, and repairs, alterations and additions to buildings at the city farm. The estimates were—for the Farm $2226; for Market about $4000.—Laid on the table. Ald. Stackpole was directed to make a plan and estimate of alterations on Market as suggested by Aldermen.

In Common Council, four of the re-elected members from Ward 2, appeared and presented their certificates of election, accompanied by the City Clerk, who certified that they had been duly qualified before the Mayor.

The members present from Ward 2 were Messrs. Hackett, Brewster, Claggett, and Knowlton.

Whereupon the members present from the other Wards immediately left the room, with the exception of Mr. Whittem, who was then called to the chair in the absence of the President.

The roll being called, and no quorum appearing to answer, the meeting adjourned.

Reported for the Chronicle.

Court of Common Pleas—Adj. Term.

Thursday, May 19.

The Case Bassett v. Salisbury Manufacturing Co. is progressing slowly. Several witnesses have been examined and depositions read on the Plff.'s part.

The case will occupy six or seven days more undoubtedly.

The Court have decided to issue venires for a new Jury, for the trial of the Carter case—the second after the Flowage cases.

FINDING AN EXCUSE.

The editor of the Knickerbocker, writing in N. Y. Spirit of the Times, tells the following story with a moral:

The story in the "Knick-Knacks," of the man who excused his glass of brandy-and-water by saying that he was so very dry, as he was going to have cod-fish for dinner, reminds a Connecticut correspondent of an incident in the life of poor Sc——r, of New Hampshire, "now dead and gone." The bar room of the principal hotel in the town of P——n was filled with some dozen "stage-loads" of passengers who had come in to spend the night. It was many years ago, at the time when the temperance agitation had made gentlemen feel a very little delicacy in taking their potations as freely and openly as they had been accustomed to do it.

As "bed-time" drew near, A. steps to the bar, with the half-apologetic remark, that he did not think it a good practice to drink much, but he thought that, when traveling, a little would not hurt him. He took his glass and sat down. Soon B. started, and prefaced his dram with the remark that he thought he had taken cold in riding, etc. Then C. found that he had an unpleasant sensation in the region of his stomach, which he thought a glass of gin might allay. And so each of the party made his excuse and took his "night cap."—Sc——r sat in the corner, watching all with a hawk's eye; and when they had got through, he walks to the bar with the air of a hero, exclaiming—"Bar-keeper, give me a glass of brandy, because I love it!" Whith his tone and air, it made as many red faces as there were red noses.

This is not very unlike an incident that occurred in P—— not long since, which is told as follows: A number of clerical gentlemen were gathered on the occasion of an ordination, and having got through with their official business, met in "social" conclave at the house of a brother minister to pass the evening or first half of the night. The oysters, etc. having been duly discussed, a proposition for "a smoke" was made—which being readily acceded to by all present, a well-filled porte cigar was drawn from the pocket of one of the guests, and a cloud soon rose from the mouth of each.

The host, doubtless thinking this must look rather convivial to a few present not of "the robe," remarked apologetically, that "he really believed that if it had not been for smoking, the asthma would have carried him off ere this time." Another stated that "it was the only cure for the dyspepsia, which mortally troubled him"—and nearly all had some excuse for the individual practice of what they condemned as a generality. At last a good-natured, hearty and hale old minister from B—— spoke up, saying, "Well, friends, to be frank, I will say that I only smoke, because I love it!" No further explanation was called for.

☞ Rev. Henry D. Moore of Philadelphia, is expected to preach at the North Church next Sabbath.

"REFRESHMENTS."—Capt. Clark, under the Chronicle Office, having laid in a good supply of pine apples, cocoa-nuts, "dates that are dates," candies, cakes, and pastry and confectionery generally, took the best means of informing us and the public of the same, by sending up a fair sample of the above-named edibles, with some prime small beer. The "refreshments," however, did not include what is usually known under that head—as the Capt. is not in that line. Total cessation of work in the establishment was the order for a while—and if our readers detect any mistakes this morning—why lay it to the ex-Commissary General, and call and see him.

The Sentence of Death pronounced by the Court Martial against Corporal White, for attempting the life of Major Pemberton, at Fort Hamilton, Portsmouth, N. H., has been commuted to imprisonment during the remainder of his term of life.

We have seen this paragraph sailing round for some time in the papers, and now cut it from the Exeter News Letter. Fort Hamilton is not at Portsmouth, N. H. The forts at the mouth of this harbor are Fort McClary at Kittery, and Fort Constitution at New Castle. We believe Fort Hamilton is near Portland.

HEAVY DAMAGES.—In the Circuit Court of the U. S., in Boston, 18th inst., the jury in the case of Earl E. Ryder vs. the Portsmouth, Saco and Portland Railroad Company, returned a verdict for the plaintiff, assessing damages at $6583.33. The action was brought for injuries occasioned by an accident on the road some 15 months since, whereby the plaintiff's spinal column was injured.

HORSE POISONING.—Mr. Milton Elliot, of Exeter, lost a horse last week, and a post mortem examination, showed conclusively that its death was caused by poison. Mr. Elliot's family, sometime in the day before the horse died, observed a person about the stable under rather suspicious circumstances. This is the third horse Mr. Elliot has lost within a few months, all of which are now supposed to have been poisoned.

PROFITABLE STOCK.—The Exeter News Letter states that "Mr. Constable Valentine, of that town, has a swine combining the native and Suffolk breeds, which has brought him within the last twelve months thirty pigs, and which he has already sold for the handsome sum of one hundred and four dollars. What farmer in the State has done as well?"

☞ A slight alarm of fire was raised at the north end, on Thursday morning, caused by the burning of some clothing which hung near a stove, in a house near the Eastern depot.

CLIPPERS.—A correspondent of the N. Y. Herald gives an account of the passages of clipper ships from New York to San Francisco, which yields the palm to the Boston built clippers. He states that since the commencement of the trade to the last arrival in December, 1852, 35 New York built ships, with an average tonnage of 1205 tons made passages averaging 122 days; 11 Boston vessels, averaging 1453 tons, in 115 days; 6 Baltimore vessels, average 760 tons, 131 days; 20 Eastern, including Boston, average 1308 tons, 119 days. The conclusion is strongly in favor of large ships, and Boston, thus far, takes the lead.—Boston Journal.

Not so fast; Portsmouth leads that column. By cyphering a little, from the same table it will be found that 3 Portsmouth built ships, averaging 1299 tons, in four passages averaged 111 1-2 days—being 3 1-2 days less than Boston and 10 1-2 days less than New York built ships. The "Racer," reported as built at this port, was built at Newburyport.

A GOOD TIME COMING.—It is proposed that all the natives of Brookfield assemble in that ancient town on the 4th of July next, for the purpose of becoming "better acquainted," Hon. Pliny Merrick, a native, has been named as the orator of the day. We hope the gentlemen in New York city, who have taken an interest in this matter, will see to the preliminary arrangements. No town of its size has sent more active men to Boston than Brookfield. At one time it had, we believe, five Bank Presidents, to say nothing of any quantity of business men.—Atlas.

A similar assemblage in Portsmouth, would bring together a great concourse.

COLOR AT THE OPERA.—It appears that people of all colors may occupy any seat in the Howard Athenæum, in Boston, now, if they will pay the prices. This has been the rule in the Museum ever since it was opened. The Herald says:

The difficulty between Miss Sarah P. Remond, and Palmer, the agent of the Sontag Opera Troupe, and Mr. Phillbrick, police officer, has been amicably settled, the fine and costs imposed by the Police Court having been paid by Mr. Palmer. The action brought before the Court of Common Pleas for Essex County, for damages, has been withdrawn by Miss Remond, a sum sufficient to pay her expenses having been paid her. It is understood that the lady is to have the privilege of occupying any seat at the Howard that she may choose to pay for. Several colored persons witnessed the opera on Wednesday evening, Miss Remond and her friends being among the number.

A modest cotemporary calls veal "unfinished beef." This is pretty good; but why not extend the vocabulary? Suppose we term lamb "incipient mutton," and denominate pig "premonitory pork?"

Popular Summer Resort,
At Kittery Point, Maine.
THE subscriber having taken a lease of the well-known, popular and beautifully-located Boarding-House on Kittery Point, belonging to Mr. R. F. Gerrish, (who has recently extensively and tastefully enlarged the same,) will be ready by the 15*th of June next*, for the reception of such Regular Boarders and Transient Visitors as may favor him with their patronage.

The house is mostly new, and all in thorough order. The rooms, especially the sleeping rooms, are commodious and admirably ventilated; the opportunities for Bathing are unusually safe and convenient; the neighborhood quiet; and the scenery and rides thereabout and in the vicinity of the sea-shore, (which is in full view,) are delightful. The post-office is within three minutes' walk of the house; and a coach runs regularly twice a day to and from the Point, via the U. S. Navy Yard, arriving at and leaving the city of Portsmouth (three miles distant) on the arrival and departure of the cars.

The undersigned lessee, respectfully solicits for himself, from Mr. Gerrish's former patrons in the business, a continuance of their wonted patronage to him—assuring them and all others who may be disposed to patronize him, that he will use his best endeavors to fully merit their favors.
JOHN W. WESTON.
Kittery Point, Me., May 19, 1853.

THE undersigned, proprietor of the above-named Summer Residence at Kittery Point, hereby most cheerfully recommends Mr. Weston to the favorable notice and liberal patronage of his old friends and patrons, and to the pleasure-seeking and health-seeking public generally—well assured that Mr. Weston will prove himself to be an agreeable and popular landlord, and Mrs. Weston an equally favorite landlady.

THE WONDER OF THE WORLD!
DEVINES'
COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGES.
THIS IS NO HUMBUG.
IT is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as A Certain Cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Coldiness, Asthma, AND CONSUMPTION;
and will, in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial; but it has been proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted can be done.
INTERESTING FACTS
are constantly coming to light, from different parts of the country, showing the astonishing effects of the fair and faithful use of the Lozenges.
HERE IS ONE LETTER,
from a citizen of Portsmouth—and but a sample of hundreds:

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1853.
This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges,—which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. PATENT
Self-heating Smoothing Iron.
THIS invention is rarely equalled for economy, convenience and comfort. One cent's worth of dry hard coal is ample fuel for a day's ironing; avoids exhausting heat and the changing of irons; gives a better finish, facilitates the work, and never sullies the linen. Its complete success warrants the prediction that it will soon be found in every family. S. JEWETT, St. Johnsbury, Vt., Agent of the patentees in Maine, N. H., and Vt.

From the New York Observer.—"Since noticing this ingenious invention, we have seen it fairly tried. It works admirably. It will prove a great convenience to housekeepers, in the saving of fuel and heat as well as of time and labor."

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

Washington, May 16.—James Gadsden of South Carolina has been appointed Minister, and J. C. Cripps, of California, formerly of South Carolina, Secretary of Legation to Mexico.

MORE PARTICULARS OF THE HAIL STORM.

The storm of Monday afternoon was very severe at Manchester, where nearly 4000 panes of glass were broken in the mills and the boarding-houses connected with them, to say nothing of the injury done to private residences, gardens and trees, some of which were stripped of their blossoms. A house partly finished and a new barn were blown over.—Mr. Marsh, of Hanover street, scooped up about a bushel of hail-stones and though kept by no artificial means, the next morning they averaged the size of rifle balls.

The track was through Kensington, within a mile and a half of Amesbury Mills, and down through Seabrook and Hampton to the water. Along this line, trees were broken, barns and out houses blown down, and most of the glass in the west ends of the houses broken by the hail, which was very large. At East Kingston, a slaughter-house, in which several men were at work, was turned round and partly demolished; in Kensington, the hail was so large, and the wind so strong as to break the sashes as well as the glass. One man shovelled four bushels of hail stones from his chamber; and the last house it reached, towards Amesbury, had nearly all the glass destroyed. In South Hampton it was still more severe, scarcely a house escaping.

The storm was very severe at Seabrook, and broke much glass on the windward side of the buildings. The roof of the new Dearborn Academy was taken off by the wind. At Jewett's corner, Exeter, seventeen sheep were killed by lightning. The shower was not very severe at Hampton. The fences and foliage of trees are strewn all along the road, as though a flood had swept over them.

FRANCE.—We copy the following item from the Parisian correspondence of the New York Commercial Advertiser:

M. Guizot, whose article in the last number of La Revue made so much sensation, as showing himself quite a staunch Legitimist, has again been the subject of much comment this week. His lecture on Sunday before the Society for the Encouragement of Protestantism in France, has become quite an event.—He declared that, in his view, religion alone could save France, whether its professors were Romanists or Protestants. He concluded by saying that liberty had been destroyed, in order to ensure peace, but that experience shewed that peace was not to be obtained for any length of time on such terms. The Government papers papers are foolish enough to be very angry, and to call upon M. Guizot, or any one else, to show in what point liberty has been infringed upon!

NEW YORK AND NEW HAVEN RAILROAD.—The New Haven Journal says it is officially informed that an order has been issued by Mr. Whistler, superintendent of the New York and New Haven Railroad, to have all trains, each way, between Boston and New York, come to a full stop at every draw-bridge.—This order has been given to secure the safety of passengers, and though it may cause a slight detention to the trains, it will doubtless receive the hearty approbation of the travelling public.

That is the right kind of talk—but it will not suit the "fast" men.

The great driving public wish to go in the swiftest possible conveyances.

THE SHIP WILLIAM AND MARY.—About eighty of the passengers were Germans, who were going out in company, with the intention of settling on a large track of land which had been bought in Illinois. The remainder were composed of Irish, English and Scotch—the Irish form the largest proportion. One of the sailors is of the opinion that some of the passengers may have formed a raft and saved themselves upon it, or by floating on some fragments of the vessel. This he considers not at all improbable, as there were two or three sailors left behind on the vessel, and these, he believes, would have devised some such means of saving themselves and some of the passengers. Should they have done so, they would not be long floating about before they would be picked up by some vessel, as the place where the William and Mary foundered is a general highway to vessels bound south.

FISH IN SEINES.—Great quantities of small codfish have been taken in nets in Provincetown harbor. A correspondent of the Yarmouth Register states that a gentleman from Truro was at Provincetown last week, for the purpose of purchasing nets for taking these fish. Large numbers of these have been taken by lines and gaffs, from the wharves and in small boats, at Provincetown, affording fine sport for the boys.

NAVAL.—The Navy is suffering from the want of good seamen, and there is but one opinion among the officers in regard to the deficiency, which is that the government does not give sufficient wages to procure competent men. The desertions from the North Carolina have commenced with the warm weather, and a guard has been placed in the passenger boat to prevent the recruits from running away. It appears that many of these worthless fellows are glad to remain with Uncle Sam during the winter, for which they receive pay; but when the summer comes, and they are required to work, they get exceedingly anxious to cut his acquaintance.—Evening Post.

Letters for the African squadron can be sent to the Naval Lyceum at the Brooklyn Navy Yard; whence they will be forwarded by the United States steamer Vixen, which will sail shortly for the Coast of Africa.

VERDICT.—In the Supreme Court of New York, Lewis Stewart obtained a verdict of $900 against Messrs. Murphy & Co., for injury sustained in being knocked down by the horses of an omnibus, while he was crossing Broadway.

MARRIAGE,

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglects to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and render upon her children a blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

Mauriceau, as there are spurious and scrroptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

OPINIONS ABROAD.—The intelligent Paris correspondent of the New York Courier des Etats Unis writes as follows:—

"In England the mystery of the rockets which were seized and attributed to Kossuth, is not yet cleared up. Meant me the intrepid Hungarian denounces the rigors of British hospitality, and declares that if he has no ammunition in London, he has it in other countries where he can store it without being troubled by a host of spies. He means undoubtedly to refer to the United States, and this rash signalization of the absolute hospitality given to European conspirators by the American Union can only increase the distrust which has been already excited of this country, in the old world, in consequence of the entrance of Mr. Dudley Mann into Mr. Pierce's cabinet and the nomination of Mr. Soule to the Spanish embassy. This distrust will render the mission of the latter to Madrid very difficult, and if it does not tend to provoke trouble, it can only end in a check upon his influence, however consummate may be the talent and skill of the ambassador."

The Christian Inquirer has this fine remark: "The giddy belle and the overworked seamstress are extreme forms of the same mental impoverishment." The Enquirer further observes:—"To our view, the worst thing in American society is the studied indifference of female education to everything truly useful and exalting. Ostentation in high life is a fair match, in point of degradation, with grinding want in low life."

A GENUINE STOCK.—We have all of us heard of a "Son of a Gun," but the "Son of a Pistol" must be a new branch of the family tree from which the stock of firearms descended; and yet, tracing the pedigree of one of Colt's revolvers, it stands (and, if need be fires) to reason, that a genuine Colt must be the son of a horse-pistol.—Punch.

BUFFALO HUNTING

IN THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

(Concluded.)

Such cruel triumphs over the shaggy sovereign of the Phillippine plains, are not always obtained with the like impunity. At the next hunt in which M. de la Gironiere shared, an Indian was surprised by the buffalo as he issued from the wood, his horse killed, and he himself dreadfully gored.

When M. de la Gironiere established himself at Jala-Jala, he soon perceived that, if he would maintain his power and moral ascendency, he must give proof of bravery, and show himself, at the first opportunity, at least the equal of the most valiant of his Indians. A buffalo hunt was the occasion he took to establish his reputation for courage. His Indian guards often said that they would rather place their bare breast at twenty paces from the muzzle of a rifle, than at the same distance from a wild buffalo. The rifle's bullet might only wound, the buffalo's horn was certain death.

When M. de la Gironiere one day quietly declared his intention of buffalo hunting, they did all in their power to dissuade him, sketching a vivid picture of the perils of such a hunt to one as inexperienced as himself. He took no heed to their arguments, and well that he did not, for he afterwards found it was merely a snare laid for him, and they had agreed amongst themselves to estimate his courage according to his acceptance or refusal of the dangerous chase. This time the gun, not the lasso, was the weapon to be employed. The scene was in the mountains, the hunters were on foot. Instead of galloping away, they were steadily to await the charge.

The following is the course of proceeding:

"You arm yourself with a gun upon which you can rely, and you so place yourself that the buffalo, on issuing from the woods, must perceive you. The instant that he does so, he sets off at the very top of his speed, breaking, crushing, trampling every object upon his path; he rushes upon you as if he would overwhelm you; but, on arriving within a few paces, he stops for some seconds, and presents his sharp and menacing horns. It is during this brief delay that the hunter has to draw trigger, to send his bullet into the forehead of his foe. If, unfortunately, his gun misses fire, or if his coolness deserts him, if his hand trembles, if the ball deviates, he is lost, for Providence alone can save him." This was the pleasant sport to which M. de la Gironiere resorted, for the sake of convincing the Tagaloe Indians of his courage. His whole account of the day's proceedings is graphic in the extreme: but as we have still to accompany him on more than one equally remarkable expedition, we can afford the buffalo little more space, and must confine ourselves to the actual encounter between the man and the beast, after the latter had issued from the forest.

"It would be difficult for me to describe exactly what passed within me during the brief time the buffalo took to traverse the distance that separated us. My heart so violently agitated by the crashing sound of the monstrous beast forcing his way through the trees, now no longer palpitated. My eyes were fixed upon him, my gaze was riveted to his brow, with such intenseness that I saw nothing else. It seemed as if a profound stillness reigned around me. I was too absorbed to hear any thing, although the dogs kept up their clamor, as they followed their prey at a short distance. At last the buffalo lowered his head, presented his keen horns, made a pause; then, with a sort of leap, he sprang upon me; at that moment I fired. My bullet penetrated his skull; I was half saved. The animal staggered forward, and fell prostrate just a pace in front of me; his fall was so heavy, and the noise so great, that it resembled that of a mass of rock. I put my foot between his horns, and was about to fire my second barrel, when a hollow, prolonged bellowing told me that my victory was complete, and that the buffalo had breathed his last.

My Indians came up. Their joy turned to admiration. They were enchanted; they found me all that they wished. All their doubts had been dissipated with the smoke of my gun, when I had shot the buffalo. I was brave; I had all their confidence; I had shown what I was made of. My victim was cut up and carried in triumph to the village. As its conqueror, I took possession of its horns; they were six feet long; I have since deposited them in the museum at Nantes. The Indians, those lovers of metaphor, those givers of surnames, called me thenceforth Malamih Oulou—Tagal words, signifying Cool Head."

It is certainly difficult to imagine a more deliberate operation than that of stopping a savage bull with a single bullet, when he has arrived so near the sportsman that, if the shot misses, the next instant beholds the luckless Nimrod transfixed upon horns six feet long. The sporting Doctor acquitted himself most creditably for a first time—stimulated, doubtless, by the reflection, that, at that sort of game, if a man misses upon a first trial, it is exceedingly likely to be also his last. The first few times, however, he assures us, and we readily believe him, are really very perilous. With a little practice, a good gun, and coolness, the thing becomes comparatively easy, and M. de la Gironiere used subsequently to shoot his buffalo every month or thereabouts.

For fear of accidents he was shy of taking strangers with him. Once he allowed a Spaniard named Ocampo to accompany him. On the hunting ground he stationed to Indians by his side, but the imprudent fellow sent them away. The buffalo came forth and rushed at him; he fired both barrels, missed with both; the hunters ran to him, but it was too late.—Ocampo was dead, pierced through with the buffalo's horns. This sufficed for M. de la Gironiere. After that, when he took tyros to see the sport, he insisted on their climbing a tree, or ascending a lofty rock, whence they could look on in safety. The buffalo, as we have already seen, is the only dangerous quadruped in Luzon; but our Nimrod from Nantes, when the setting of his life upon the toss of a horn began to pall upon his appetite for excitement, had a very tolerable choice of antagonists among the reptile species.

PORTSMOUTH:
SATURDAY, MAY 21, 1853.

THE "FAITHFUL BOY, BILLY."

Much dispute has arisen, between two opposite classes of "one idea" newspapers, lately, whether any good act or principle could exist in the life of an abolitionist, on the one hand, or an advocate of slavery on the other; and as in most disputes, much absurdity has been perpetrated, and at the same time many valuable facts have been brought to light. We have been particularly pleased with the dispute thus far, though we have taken no part in it,—because while the combatants have called each other sundry hard names, they have seemed to be running a race in the work actual, practical emancipation.

To "point the moral," we make three extracts. The first is from the Boston Courier:

"A Fact for Philanthropists.—A gentlemen of South Carolina, who recently failed in business, came to this city last week to effect a settlement with his creditors. In the schedule of his assets was one male negro named Tom Jefferson, valued at $500. There did not happen to be a single Abolitionist among the creditors, and to this fact it is probably owing that a motion was made and unanimously carried, as a necessary condition of accepting the debtor's assignment, that he should manumit the negro forthwith. How many of the professed "friends of the slave" would have thus sacrificed $500 of their just dues!"

The second is from the Boston Commonwealth, which says the merchants "acted nobly," and adds:

"Did the editors ever hear of one John G. Palfrey, a man somewhat tinctured with abolitionism,—of his inheriting a large number of slaves from a deceased relative in Louisiana, of his bringing them at a great expense, from that State, (where the law made it difficult to manumit them,) to Boston, and then giving them freedom, and with the assistance of friends obtaining employment for them?—Moreover that when he did this truly noble act, he was comparatively a poor man."

The third and last, and we call it the best, is from the Salem Freeman; where we must admire the noble creditor, and the equally noble master and slave, now a slave no longer, but still a servant, and also a brother beloved.

The editor of the Freeman relates the story as an incident within his own knowledge:

"A friend of ours, an abolitionist of very moderate means, had commercial transactions in one of our Southern cities. His consignees failed. He was compelled to go South to protect his property. He secured a part only.—This he placed in the hands of one in whom he had confidence, with orders to sell as soon as possible, and remit the proceeds. The first clause of his instructions was complied with; but no remittance came to hand. After a while he wrote to his agent, and received an answer, that he too had failed. Of all his property, nothing was left but his "faithful boy Billy," to whom he was much attached. Yet if his creditor said so, "Billy" should be sold, and the proceeds go in part to liquidate the debt. The reply was "Ship 'Billy' per first packet and send the bill of sale per mail, and a receipt in full shall be returned."

Neither "Billy" nor the bill of sale ever came to hand.

Years passed on; occasionally our friend would hear of his Southern agent, but nothing satisfactory until about two years since, when a letter containing a draft for a large part of the debt was received per the California mail, with the information that "Billy" and his former master were in the land of gold: and "Billy" was a free man, as true, faithful, and devoted as ever. Shortly after this period, the balance of the debt was remitted, since which time our friend has heard nothing definite from this high-minded and honest Southerner.

With a strong predilection for northern institutions and northern men, yet have we lived long enough to know that all northern men are not saints. Neither are all southerners without integrity and principle."

N. H. METHODIST CONFERENCE.

The Capital Reporter states that the New Hampshire Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church held its session at Newport, from the 10th to the 17th inst. The reports from the various parts of the State show a large increase to the contributions to the Missionary and other societies connected with the church, and the opening of several new and interesting fields of labor, which have been supplied.

There have been also large additions to the membership, and in all respects the past has been a year of prosperity. The following are the stations of the Preachers:

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

A SAIL TO NEW YORK.

New York, May 19, 1853.

Messrs. Editors:—We, (that is the clipper ship Wild Duck and myself,) left Pray's wharf, in Portsmouth at about half-past four o'clock, Friday afternoon, with a fair wind, which towards evening worked round to the westward, and continued blowing from that quarter most of the time till Thursday, when we arrived at New York.

The Wild Duck in this trip proved herself to be a fast sailer, as she passed everything we came in sight of, although, on account of being light, she could not sail so close to the wind as most of the vessels she overtook. As the log was not thrown during the voyage, the number of knots she sailed is not known.—Her commander, Capt. Hamilton, expressed himself perfectly satisfied with her; she works easy, is a fine sea boat, and adds one more to the long list of first class ships built by Geo. Raynes, Esq.

Several "Mother Carey's Chickens" followed in the ship's wake, Saturday and Sunday, and on Monday morning we had what these birds are ominous of—a "blow," which lasted twenty-four hours. During this blow the ship carried so little sail that not a mile was made, and Tuesday morning found us in the same spot we occupied on Monday. The ship rolled so much that the passengers had a pretty severe touch of sea-sickness, not one of them being able to partake of any food on Monday, and each one declaring he would never be caught in a like predicament again. One poor fellow, more sentimental than the rest, bewailed his fate in the words of the well-known parody—

I'm a flat! I'm a flat! to have come out to sea.

If we did not see the "elephant" on our passage, we saw a number of whales, one of which came up and spouted very near the ship. We also saw a number of porpoises as we came up New York Bay.

After what we saw on this trip, we hope never to hear any more bragging about the New York pilot boats. It has been said that they will out-sail anything that floats, but one of them chased the Wild Duck for several hours, on Sunday, without any perceptible gain on her, and it was not until sail was shortened and the topsails backed, that she came up with the ship. If the ship had carried all sail, the boat would have overtaken her about the time the World's Fair will open. These pilot boats have a crew consisting of a man and two boys; ten or fifteen pilots go to sea in them and cruise two or three hundred miles along the coast. When a ship is bound for New York, one of the pilots is put on board, and the boat continues her cruise; when all have been so fortunate as to secure vessels, the boat returns, takes the pilots on board again, and starts on another cruise. The pilot taken on board the Wild Duck informed us that he had been out four days; we were then off the South Shoal—more than 200 miles from New York.

The wind was dead ahead when the pilot came on board, and continued so till Wednesday, when it hauled round to the eastward.—Towards evening it came on so thick that the ship was hove to, and in the the night we had a violent thunder storm, accompanied by frequent and vivid flashes of lightning. It cleared off in the night, and the ship got under way again early Thursday morning, and arrived in New York bay about 7 o'clock the same morning, and came to an anchor. At one o'clock, a breeze sprung up from the south-east, accompanied by a smart thunder shower; anchor was weighed, and we hauled into dock at the foot of Wall street at three o'clock.

A Passenger.

Thunder Storm in Ohio.—A despatch from Cincinnati, of Thursday May 19, states that a tremendous thunder storm occurred on Wednesday evening in that section of the country. Many places were struck by lightning, and many houses unroofed. The steamers Hoosier State and Telegraph were considerably damaged.

Steamships between Liverpool and Baltimore.—A Baltimore dispatch of May 19, says, a bill is now before the Legislature of Maryland for chartering a company for the purpose of establishing a line of steamships between Baltimore and Liverpool, with a starting capital of $1,000,000.

Presbyterian Church.—The General Assembly (New-School) assembled at Buffalo, N. Y. on Thursday, May 19. A very large assembly convened.

The Rev. Dr. Allen of Lane Seminary was moderator, W. H. Spencer of Milwaukie temporary clerk, Rev. Dr. Hatfield stated clerk, Dr. Gilbert permanent clerk.

Smithsonian Institute.—A meeting of the Institute was held on Tuesday, in Washington City, President Pierce in the Chair, and his Cabinet in attendance.

Anniversary Week.—The Religious and Charitable Anniversaries of Massachusetts take place in Boston next week.

LOCAL.

☞ We understand that the new and beautiful ship "Guiding Star," of 900 tons, built at Newburyport, and now fitting at that place, has been chartered by Messrs. Daniel Draper & Son, agents for Messrs. J. Stafford & Co., New Orleans, to take a cargo of 1000 tons of ice at this place for New Orleans. We think our ship builders will be pleased to have an opportunity to examine one of the most substantial and elegant ships of her class. She will probably arrive in the course of the coming week.

Auction Sales, This Day.—At 10 o'clock, by Geo. W. Towle, Esq., Deputy Sheriff, at the Stable in Vaughan street, 10 valuable horses, with a variety of carriages.

At 12 o'clock, a valuable House and Land on Vaughan street, by James P. Bartlett, Esq., Auctioneer.

Change of Time.—On Monday morning next the first train leaves Portsmouth for New Market at 6.45, instead of 8.45,—to accommodate the Court at Exeter. For that day only.

Arrived.—We had the pleasure of a call yesterday, from Rev. Mr. Moore, who is to preach at the North Church to-morrow, and who has been previously appointed two or three times to the same service, but as many times providentially disappointed. We hope there may be no postponement this time.

NOTICE.

Of that well known work entitled the "Recovery of Poland," by J. N. Kryczynski, which appeared in 1847, it would be useless to say anything here, for that is familiar to every American. We have only to say of the object of the distinguished author, who arrived yesterday in our city, for the same purpose for which he has visited many other States of our country, that the object for which he is sacrificing all, is not merely about the unfortunate partition of his own country, but it is in a full sense for the good of man—a most noble and patriotic one—indeed, a true honor to himself and to others.

He thus asks from our citizens for a trifling aid to the second edition of his work, which is long pending;—for that and for nothing else he asks it; and it is already four and a half years since he is continually toiling for it. But when we consider mankind in this day, and the nature of the object—there is no wonder that he has not accomplished it—nevertheless he must go on with the object. And besides, his duty which he is doing not only to himself but to others, his singular position even demands it imperatively. There is no other alternative for him, and from what we have seen of him we are not inclined to multiply useless words in this extraordinary case, but we trust he will be received by those of our fellow citizens, upon whom he may call to that end, with the usual courtesy and kindness, as he is in every way worthy of a kind reception from the public; and we trust also, that he will not be disappointed in it.

His subscription book embraces the names of a great number of the leading scholars and statesmen of this republic, amongst whom we know many personally.

Giving Credit.—Very often it is of no consequence whether credit is given for a small item of news, provided the paragraph is so altered as to read correctly as to time and place. But sometimes, when items are unaltered, it makes "all the difference in the world."

Several days ago we noticed the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad, and said "The Annual meeting of this corporation was held in this city yesterday," when Directors were chosen, &c. The same paragraph, verbatim, was copied by papers in Manchester and Nashua, purporting to choose officers in at least three different places.

Credit should be given where opinions are stated, valuable information given, or literary labor bestowed: and in mere news items, credit enough, at least, to make them intelligible.

NEW MEXICO.

A mail from Sante Fe, May 1, gives information that an association has been formed at Santa Fe, with a capital of $1,000,000, to invest in the stock of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, provided the main track passes through New Mexico.

Gov. Lane is spoken of as a candidate for Congress, and one county has already nominated him. Gov. Lane returned to Sante Fe on the 26th of April.

The excitement as to the Mesilla Valley proclamation has somewhat subsided. The correspondence between Gov. Lane and the Mexican authorities have been kept back from the people of Santa Fe, but Gov. Lane is said to have had the advantage in the controversy.

The barbers, in Boston, who agreed to advance their prices, for shaving, &c. a few weeks ago, have returned to their old prices, and some are cutting under at the rate of five cents a shave.

From the New York Observer.—"Since noticing this ingenious invention, we have seen it fairly tried. It works admirably. It will prove a great convenience to housekeepers, in the saving of fuel and heat as well as of time and labor."

THE WONDER OF THE WORLD!
DEVINES'
COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGES.
THIS IS NO HUMBUG.
IT is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as
and will, in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial; but it has been proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.
INTERESTING FACTS
are constantly coming to light, from different parts of the country, showing the astonishing effects of the fair and faithful use of the Lozenges.
HERE IS ONE LETTER,
from a citizen of Portsmouth—and but a sample of hundreds:
Portsmouth, N. H., May, 1853.
This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges, —which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. A. A. PAYNE.
THIS IS TRULY A GREAT REMEDY, and always
FOR THE INFANT OR THE INVALID.

ESCAPE OF A SWINDLER.

Several months ago, we gave an account of a grand swindle, in which Sanford H. Gardner and J. W. Belyea defrauded two insurance companies in Boston out of a large sum of money, about a year since, by representing that a house in Sandwich, Mass., insured by them, was burned, when no such house existed. It was a very ingenious piece of roguery, and was discovered by the failure of another attempt, made by the same parties, to secure a life insurance.

Gardner was indicted by the Grand Jury, arrested, and lodged in jail. He was arraigned in the Municipal Court, and held in $5000 for his appearance for trial. His wife, an amiable and accomplished woman, exerted every influence in her power to procure him a speedy trial, believing him innocent of the charge.

After remaining in jail some months, (says the Herald,) a person residing in Roxbury at the time, appeared as bail for Gardner. He swore that he was worth more than $10,000, that he had real and personal estate in both Norfolk and Suffolk counties. This person was considered by the magistrate sufficient bail, and was accepted, and Gardner discharged from custody. A short time since, when the case was called for trial, Gardner was not to be found. The bail was then proceeded against in the usual form, but neither the person of the bail nor his property could be found.

It was subsequently ascertained that he never had any property, and that both the principal and the surety had escaped to Australia, they having sailed from Boston in one of the clipper ships, which sailed a few weeks since. J. W. Belyea, an accomplice, was sent to the House of Correction, where he died about the same time that Gardner and his bail sailed for the land of gold and criminals.

It is said that Thurlow Weed, of the Albany Journal, is on the eve of his departure for Rome, with the view of becoming a Catholic.

MARRIAGE,

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so slight as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. If it

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily deriving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and counterpoise her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, nature and cause of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, can be, or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

Mauricean, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the Nutritive Principle, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting desease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family, are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1836) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

AN EXTRAORDINARY NARRATIVE.

INDIAN DESPERATION.

The following letter, says the S. W. American is from a gentleman connected with the Government service on our frontiers. We have read of similar instances of self immolation among the American Indians, rather than fall into the hands of their enemies; but do not recollect any other case in Texas. All our late accounts confirm the fact, that since the rangers were disbanded the Indians are renewing their predatory incursions with alarming frequency:

FORT GROGHAN, Texas, April 7 1853

I have just returned from one of the most arduous and exciting scouts I ever made.—We had been robbed here twice by the Indians within four months. The last time on the 13th of March. They took down a panel of my stable lot and led out nine of my finest horses. It was one of the darkest and most blustering nights of the season and the robbery must have been committed between 9 and 10 o'clock. The next morning with seventeen men I started in pursuit. Failing to discover a trail, I proceeded to the post on the head of the clear Fork of the Brazos, thence to the Indian agency half way between Phantom Hill and Belknap. Up to this point I could hear nothing of the robbery, except the opinion entertained by the agent, Mr. Stem, and all the friendly Indians—which concurred with my own—that the robbery had been committed by Witchetas.

While at the agency a party of that tribe, under their principal war-chief, came in to surrender some stolen horses they had previously promised to Stem they would do. The horses were so indifferent and so broken down that it was evident they were acting in bad faith, and that this was only intended as a subterfuge. I was not disposed to be trifled with in this manner; the agent had also lost all patience with them. It was accordingly agreed to detain the chief and the principal portion of his party—consisting of nine and several of his women, as hostages, until the whole of the property recently stolen should be brought in. Mr. Stem announced to them our determination, and I told them I meant to carry them into Belknap and hold them as prisoners, permitting two of their number to return to their tribe and convey the "talk" we had given them.

Though I fully expected "a break" on the announcement, which would result in the death of Mr. Stem or myself, or both, indeed I would not have insured either of our lives at 100 per cent—we were compelled to face the danger with apparent indifference. Any manifestations of fear or suspicion would have increased the chances of their resorting to the desperate alternative of a "rush" for liberty, plunging their knives into whomsoever interrupted their passage.

As soon as I had told them they were prisoners, I rose from the bear-skin upon which I had been sitting, facing them, and mounted my horse, at the same time drawing my pistol and motioning them to go to their camp. The chief requested that I should dismount, that he wished to speak. I did so, and took a seat on a stool near by. He motioned me to sit in my former position on the ground. I did so, at the same time drawing my knife, under pretence of cutting tobacco to smoke.—He rose, addressing a few remarks to me about the difficulty of restraining his young from stealing, &c., and suggested that it would be better that he should return to his tribe. This I refused. He then seemingly yielded to his fate, approaching me and seizing me by the hand, lifted me from the ground, and embracing me, first pointed to heaven and to ourselves, to indicate that the Great Spirit witnessed the proceeding. I told them I would not hold them as close prisoners, but merely guard against their escape, by placing sentinels around their camp. Meantime I encamped by my command near theirs, and took from them all the arms I could find. They retired quietly to their tents at dark, manifesting not the slightest intent on of an attempt to escape.

The moon shone as bright as day. I had posted two distinct guards over them, of six men each, with our sentinels. I had been up and moving about camp until twenty minutes before twelve. At 12 the sentinel posted more immediately over their camp, had gone near one their tents to count the number present, while the corporal of the guard, the old sentinel and a citizen who had accompanied me, stood looking on.

Suddenly one of the Indians rushed from his seat toward the sentinel, and presenting a pistol, fired. This seemed to be the signal for a general "break." As the sentinel turned to retreat up the slope towards his companions, the chief Ko-we-aka, rushed from his tent, threw himself upon the retreating sentinel, and with his knife inflicted several wounds before he was shot down by the old sentinel. The rest succeeded in effecting their escape, running in different directions, and answering the shots fired at them with yells of defiance. The chief, as was discovered, on searching the tents, had purposely sacrificed himself, his wife, and boy, seven years old. The wife and child whom he had requested on the evening before to talk to, and give them assurance of their safety, were found in their tent side by side, as if in deep sleep, but stabbed to the heart. The wife had consented to her fate, as we were informed by two old women, who had attempted to escape.

She seemed to have received the fatal blow without a struggle—both were carefully covered up to the breast, the child lying upon its mother's arm. The chief's moccasons were found near their heads—a sign, the Indians told us, that he did not mean to leave the spot alive. Nothing in romance or history that I have ever read, approximates to this act of devotion and self-sacrifice. Cooper could never have ventured to paint such a scene. The bright moon lighting up the beautiful countenance of the mother—for she was beautiful and young, with her innocent boy by her side, and the blood still oozing from their ghastly wounds—the husband, father and warrior, still stretched upon the sod; the bloody knife still grasped in his hand, looking terrible even in death; the sentinel not five feet from him, his cold blue eyes looking to Heaven, while the figures of the soldiers hurrying hither and thither in search of they knew not what, with occasional, but mistaken cries indicating some discovery. The whole made an enduring impression on my mind. I had witnessed every description of death and suffering on the battle field, but no combination like this, of pride, courage, love, devotion, self-sacrifice and revenge.

What a striking illustration of the principle held by these tribes never to yield themselves prisoners. This brave chief would go to the Spirit land of his fathers, the still unsubdued warrior, and his wife and child freely accompanied him to his last hunting ground. I have his shield in my possession. It is quite a curiosity and ornament, bedecked with feathers and wampum. This with the bow and quiver of the little boy, I shall preserve sacredly, mementoes of one of the most interesting scenes history has recorded.

PORTSMOUTH:

RELIGIOUS WARFARE.

The battle has begun between the Roman Priesthood on the one hand, and the American People on the other. It is not so much a battle of sects, as it is a contest of Religions.

On one side are ranged those who wish the schools, or a portion of them, to be under the direction of Catholic Priests—on the other, those who wish them to remain public and common.

The Roman Church is avowedly and absolutely exclusive in spiritual things, not admitting for a moment the idea that any thing deserves the name of Christianity, unless it exists within her pale, while she dooms to endless woe every man, however good he may be, who does not conform to her ritual, and pronounce Shibboleth after her fashion. And now she clutches desperately at political power in this country. In Maryland, as we learn from various papers, especially from the Boston Atlas, the State promises to be the theatre, at the next State election, of a violent sectarian or religious warfare, in which party lines will be to a great extent obliterated.—Baltimore has been, for several weeks, full of excitement relative to the Catholic movement for changing the public school system, so that a portion of the school fund shall be given to the Catholic free schools of the city. The most bitter feeling has been engendered by it, and the papers are teeming with anonymous squibbs against the priests on one side and the clergymen on the other. The same feeling is abroad throughout the State, and there is little doubt that the election for Governor, Legislature, and State officers, next fall, will be controlled in a measure by this religious excitement.

A large portion of the Catholics are Democrats, and they are making great exertions to secure the nomination of a Catholic candidate for Governor. Many Protestant Democrats declare that they will vote for the Whig candate, in preference to a Catholic candidate, and the Catholics are equally determined to rally against a Protestant. The Whigs, without reference to the subject, have determined upon the nomination of Thomas Swann, who is an Episcopalian Protestant, holding a conservative position between the religious factions; and if he should consent to serve, his wide-spread popularity as the champion of internal improvement, will enable him to command an immense vote, even beyond the limit of party lines.

For members of the Legislature the religious struggle throughout the State will be fierce and uncompromising, and it is probable that both the Democratic and Whig parties will find themselves completely disorganized, and unable to draw their party lines among the mass of the people.

The religious aspect the contest is much more important than the political; but both are important; and the Roman church will hereafter make itself busy with our politics, our schools, and every thing which promises to preserve and increase the power of her priesthood in this country. Maryland is as fair a field as any, for the first grand battle, as that State was settled by Catholics.

We do not think that the present aspect of affairs is very favorable to expunging the Protestant test from the Constitution of New Hampshire—but rather looks like an indefinite postponement.

THE FISHERIES.—The Yarmouth Register, after giving an account of the debate in the House of Lords on the 21st ult., says: "We hope that as large a fleet as the British, gun for gun and man for man, will be sent by our government, and that the commander will be instructed that his duty consists not in attending balls and fetes at Halifax, and on board the British vessels, but in listening to the complaints and grievances of our countrymen."

We agree in the main with the Register about this matter—but can hardly say we hope for a fleet. We should be glad to see President Pierce and Secretary Marcy more prompt and decided than President Fillmore and Secretary Webster—but we see no evidence of it yet. Something should have been done before the fishing season commenced. A good cutter or two, and a steamer ought to be on the ground now.

A DOMESTIC HOG.—The Biddeford, Me. Journal says—

One of the Constables of the town, just tells us, that in a recent search of a large dwelling-house, on Liberty street, standing but a few rods from the Mills, and occupied by a number of families, in one bed-room he found a jolly old Hog, weighing by guess at least 400, with eleven Pigs, and as many more young Irishmen; all tumbling and having a general good time together. "Are you not afraid that the OLD HOG may eat up some of these pigs, or children, in their general high time?" asked the officer of the "Lady" of that part "of the house." "Arrah, my honey—not a bit—she is acquainted with them."

A letter dated Pensacola, May 11, says that the U. S. Frigate Columbia was docked in the new floating dry dock on that day.

KIDNAPPING CASE.

A famous "Kidnapping" Case, which has been for some time before the Superior Court of New York, at the instigation of certain noted Abolitionists, has been closed in a singular way.

The suit was brought before Judge Duer, "The People vs. Rose Porter." Rose is a white woman, who has gone by some other name, and has kept, it is said a boarding house in New Orleans, with a great many boarders.

Jane Trainer, the mulatto alleged to be kidnapped, is the daughter of a slave mother, who now lives in New Orleans. Her father is a free man. Rose Porter brought Jane into New York, thus making her free, but is now to carry her to California. The abolitionists wished to punish Rose as a kidnapper, and give Jane into the custody of her father.

On Wednesday the 18th, Mr. Culver, counsel for Jane and her friends, read an affidavit and letter, from which it appears that the man, Trainer, had been entrapped, probably by some confederate of Rose, beaten, and carried away out of the city. At all events he had disappeared.

The Judge said—I really don't see that I can proceed further in this matter. I have already decided that the child has not been kidnapped. I said that if the claim of the child was substantiated I would decide whether I should give her back to him; but I could not send her back to the custody of the mother, who is a slave, because the child would then become bond.

Mr. Culver asked the Judge to place the child in the custody of some other person for the present, until they heard further from the father, and urged a postponement of the case.

The Judge said he did not see how he could postpone the matter, unless either the father, or some person having a legal title to the child, comes and claims her under oath. As the case now stands he must dismiss it. But if Mr. Culver or Mr. Tappan would make affidavit that they had the authority of the father to proceed in the matter, he would issue a writ of habeas corpus and detain the child.

He therefore remanded the child into the custody of Rose, which closed the case.

A New York despatch dated May 20, says,

Another despatch was received yesterday, from Trainer, the father of the kidnapped girl, who re-iterated the assertion that he had been carried by fraud and violence, to Dunkirk, where he now is, and asks his friends to retain the child until he can return. The story of his abduction is now believed, and a warrant was granted yesterday by Judge Duer, authorising the arrest of the parties in possession of the child.

MORAL DELINQUENCY.

The Boston Mail gives an account of the detection of Rev. Mr. Merritt, (formerly an orthodox clergyman,) in the crime of adultery with Mrs. Harriet D. Kimball, wife of Mr. Herman Kimball, of Haverhill, Mass. Merrit had preached in Haverhill several years ago, but leaving the regular ministry for some cause or other, subsequently went out to Berkshire county, and got up what was called an "Independent Orthodox church," so that not much scandal will fall upon the regular denomination by this discovery. He preached in various places, in Fall River, Woonsocket, &c., and has a family in that region. He visited Haverhill and preached there on Sunday, May 15, and on that evening visited Mr. Kimball's house and made an arrangement with Mrs. K. to meet him in Boston next day.—Some things that took place at this interview excited the suspicion of some jealous church members who had previously known the parties to be too intimate, and who kept their eye on the lady. Merritt left in the Monday morning train. Mrs. K. professed to go Lowell to see her sister, in the afternoon train, but really went to Boston. The jealous watchers took passage in the same train, and followed her from the depot in Boston, to the common, about dark, where the guilty parties met and went together to a public house, in which Merritt had taken lodgings for "himself and wife." The spies now added some Boston Policemen to their number, and a watch was kept through the night. Early in the morning their chamber was entered, and the guilty couple surprised in bed. They signed a written confession of their guilt, and were suffered then to depart, on the promise of Merritt to quit preaching. The police were disposed to hush up the matter, but the reporter of the Mail made it public.

A divorce will probable follow—perhaps two; and this clerical scoundrel must go out of the ministry.

EDUCATION.—The editor of the Manchester Mirror, writing from White River, Vt., a little village on the Connecticut just opposite to Lebanon, says:—

A Mr. Tilden of New York city, who was born on the Lebanon side, in New Hampshire, and left home a poor boy, has since amassed a large property and offers to give $5,000 towards a female Seminary at this place, if the inhabitants will give 5,000 more. They have signed 4,000 and have commenced on the fifth thousand. There is no doubt of its success.

A live alligator, fourteen feet long, and weighing in his box 750 pounds, has been brought by Adams and Co's express from Louisiana to New York, where he is so be exhibited in the Crystal Palace as a specimen of "American Industry."

AUCTION SALE.—On Saturday, May 21, the Mansion House of the late Jacob S. Pickering, Esq., in Vaughan Street, was sold by James P. Bartlett, Esq., Auctioneer, for $2735. Mr. Nathan Jones was the purchaser.

☞ Samuel Tilton, Esq., of Sanbornton, has received the appointment of U. S. Marshal for the district of New Hampshire.

☞ It is true that John R. Reding, Esq. has entered upon the duties of his office as Naval Storekeeper.

☞ The Divinity of the Christian Ministry, is the title of a discourse, preached by Elder Daniel P. Pike, of Newburyport, at the ordination of Mr. Jeremiah Marsh, in the Christian Meeting house, at Hampton Falls, April 28, 1853. It is for sale by B. F. Carter, at the Counting room of the Christian Herald, Newburyport.

NEWBURYPORT BRIDGE ACCIDENT.—The Newburyport Union states that as the wife of Mr. Beniah Gerrish of Salisbury, (Ring's Island,) with her daughter and two children was passing the bridge between 11 and 12 o'clock to-day, a horse attached to a wagon in which were three ladies, became suddenly frightened by the cars passing over head, which made so much noise that the carriage could not be heard, and running against Mrs. Gerrish, threw her to the ground, when the wheel passed directly over her head, tearing the scalp from the left ear to the top of her head, and knocking out her front teeth. What further injuiries she sustained we have not yet learned. She was immediately conveyed to the toll-house near by, and medical assistance called. She showed scarcely any signs of life for an hour and a half; but has since been able to speak. Mrs. G. is a very respectable lady, much esteemed, about 55 years old, and her case is a very critical one.

INCREASE OF BANKS.—The New York Express says—"On every hand we observe, a continued increase of the banking capital of the country. In Massachusetts we have already noticed that over $8,000,000 of new bank capital has been created at the present session of its Legislature. The Louisiana new banks are springing into existence under the new bank law. That state, in bank matters, has been supine for many years. It is now aroused, and may take a turn the other way. This great anxiety in every quarter to increase the capital of the banks will, in the end, overdo itself, and lead to one of those financial catastrophes into which the hopes and calculations of many now confident will be irretrievably buried. The vast amount of gold currency which has been diffused through the country has given this stimulus to the creation of new banks; but as currency is not capital, and capital is frequently artificially created by currency, it would be well for those clamorous for new banks to pause awhile, and let this now artificial capital assume a more permanent character, without further stimulating it by new artificial creations."

We give the above as a part of the financial history of the times, and also as a warning. We have, in the State of New Hampshire, a considerable portion of the democratic party whose action has generally been adverse to bank charters,—and who would be likely to use the above statements as an argument against more banks in this State. It should be remembered, however, that Massachusetts, and Rhode Island, Maine and Vermont, all issuing bank paper, will supply our people with it, if we do not do it ourselves. We have not now to settle the question, whether we will use bank paper or not. That was settled in the affirmative, long ago. But we may have some choice where it shall be made.

There is a true medium line for banking, as for everything else.

It is pretty plain that reverses and bankrubtcies must follow the present great expansion of credit and enterprize. And then will come a new National Bankrupt Law.

MRS. STOWE IN LONDON.—Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe has arrived in London, as the guest of the Duchess of Sutherland.

On the evening of the 2d inst., the Lord Mayor of London entertained at dinner the Judges, and other legal dignitaries, and a few literary men. Mr. Ingersoll the American Minister at the Court of St. James and Mrs. Stowe were present. Mr. Ingersoll made a speech. Justice Talfound made an oration complimentary to Mrs. Stowe, to which Charles Dickens replied in the name of that lady.

Professor Stowe was about to return to the United States; Mrs. Stowe and her brother were going upon the continent.

Uncle Tom's triumph may be considered complete, when the American Minister at the first court of the world does him reverence.—

MORAL LEGISLATION.—A writer for the newspapers from "'way down in Ole Virginny," says that since the ministers have been preaching to the slaves about the immorality of dancing, nearly the whole of them—so great is their conviction,—have "laid down the fiddle and the bow," and taken to gambling.

An improvement the wrong way, as we look at it.

We regret to see it stated by a writer in the Greenville Patriot, that since the death of Junius Smith, Esq., "his tea plantation is on the read to ruin." Mr. Smith spent much of his time in efforts to introduce the tea culture in the South.

INTERESTING FACTS
are constantly coming to light, from different parts of the country, showing the astonishing effects of the fair and faithful use of these Lozenges.
HERE IS ONE LETTER,
from a citizen of Portsmouth—and but a sample of hundreds:
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1853.
This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges—which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

TWELVE DAYS LATER NEWS.

Arrival of the United States at New Orleans, with California news to April 30.

NEW ORLEANS, May 20.

The steamer United States arrived here today, in five days and two hours from Aspinwall, with San Francisco papers of April 30, and a number of passengers brought down by the Golden Gate. The time through from San Francisco to New Orleans was only 19 days.

The Golden Gate on her passage down came in contact with a steamer, supposed to be the Sierra Nevada.

The United States, in coming up, came in collision with three ships being towed down, and was slightly damaged. One of the ships, the Quebec, bound to New York, was sunk to her deck; others were not injured.

Business in California continued dull in leading articles with a further depression in prices. Provisions declining. Flour is rather firmer, but as stocks are heavy there is but little chance of improvement.

Mining intelligence is favorable. Agricultural prospects are very flattering.

In the Senate, on the 29th, the water front extension bill was indefinitely postponed by the casting vote of the Lieut. Governor.

The banking house of Page, Bacon & Co. had been robbed of $3,000,000.

Cincinnati, May 20.—Rev. Dr. Tomlinson, a Methodist Minister of high standing, committed suicide at Neville, Ohio, on Saturday last. He had premeditated the act,—the cause being a general depression tending to insanity.

The severe storm, on Wednesday evening, was attended by disastrous effects at Rockland lake. A large ice-house, the property of John D. Ascongh & Co., containing about 12,000 tons of ice, was struck by lightning, and set on fire. Loss, $40,000.

New-York, May 21.—Shelton P. Leake, o Virginia, has been appointed Commissioner to the Sandwich Islands.

THE GARDINER BORE. Washington, May 20.—Further argument on the Gardiner case having been dispensed with, the case was submitted to the jury at 2 o'clock, this afternoon. 9 o'clock.—The jury in the Gardiner case are still out. No prospect of immediate agreement.

SHIP YARD ON FIRE.—Baltimore, May 20.—Foster & Booze's ship yard, near Canton, was destroyed by fire, to day. The frame work of a ship and barque were partly destroyed. Loss $10,000. No insurance.

TROUBLE ON BOARD THE SAN GIOVANNI. New York, May 20.—The affair between the city authorities and the officers of the "San Giovanni" had been amicably settled; the offenders being surrendered to the officers, this afternoon.

STORM ON LAKE ERIE.—Cleveland, (Ohio.) May 20.—The brig Andes, from Chicago for Buffalo, with a full cargo of corn and wheat, went ashore this morning between the east pier and the railroad, during a gale. At the last accounts she was full of water. The propeller St. Joseph and steamer America were also badly damaged while going into Cleveland, and three of the hands were drowned. The brig Montezuma was driven back to Buffalo. Her captain reports having passed a vessel capsized, with the crew clinging to the wreck. As the sea was running very high, it was impossible to render her any assistance. Several other vessels went ashore between this place and Buffalo.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The night express train of the New York and Erie Railroad, Friday morning, ran off the track at Narrowsburg, about 6 oclock. No one, happily, was hurt by the affair. The accident was caused by the negligence of the switch-man.

Thomas Johnson, convicted at New Orleans of robbing the mail on board the steamship Mexico, has been sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary.

BURIED IN THE SNOW.—The Meredith Bridge Democrat informs us that a young man by the name of Napoleon B. Smith, left his home at Woodstock, N. H., on Sunday, the 13th day of Feb. last, took with him a pair of snow shoes, with the intention—as is supposed—of crossing the mountain to the settlement in Warren, or Rumney, distance to Warren seven miles, to Rumney eight or ten, nearly all the way through the woods. Diligent search and enquiry have been made for him, but to no purpose, as nothing has been heard of him by his friends since he left. The snow fell to the depth of ten inches the day he left, and it is feared that he perished in the woods. He was about 17 years old, five feet 7 inches high, was of a sandy complexion, with red hair and light blue eyes. He wore dark tweed coat and pants and Kossuth hat.

OPERA EXCITEMENT CASE.—The statements in the morning journals that colored persons can take seats in any part of the Howard Athenæum, is untrue. The ejectment suit has been amicably settled, Mr. Palmer not being desirous of attending court in Essex county next month. The colored party attended the opera on Wednesday evening, and was allowed to take back seats in the second circle for that occasion only. This evening the advertisement states that the gallery is the only part of the house open to colored persons.—Boston Transcript.

MARRIAGE,

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispenseable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravage and, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair,

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its unrivalled—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all mineral properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURTRIGHT, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

HUMAN HAIR.

Blackwood dropped a suggestion, a few months ago, to the effect that Human Hair would be a good subject for an article, and added, "How well some of the writers in the Quarterly Review would do it." The Quarterly has acted upon the hint, and the result is an article as full of striking fact and pleasing fancy as any that has appeared in a review for years. A few of the writer's facts and fancies we select for the edification and entertainment of our readers.

Since the world began, the hair has been a universal vanity. The mistress of Alcibiades, no doubt, kept that magnificent dandy waiting many a half hour while she arranged the golden grasshopper; and where is the modern youth who fails to give his curls the "flowing touch" ere he ventures into the glare of ballroom gas? In Puritanic times, a man's religion was determined by the state of the poll; in still darker ages, long hair was the sign of freedom, and a cropped head the mark of a slave. No wonder the hair has had a political and religious significance, for it is the only part of his body which a man can shape and carve to his fancy.

Race determines the colour of the hair.—Beginning at the most northern inhabited latitudes of Europe, and journeying southward, the colour of the people's hair deepens with every parallel,—from the Norwegian flaxen to the blue-black of the nations on the shores of the Mediterranean Sea. Each hair is a tube, filled with a fluid, and the colour of that fluid is the colour of the hair. The reason why black hair is black, is simply because its colouring fluid contains more charcoal (carbon) than that of any other; and hair becomes gray as this fountain of its life and beauty dries up. Hence the hair may, and does sometimes, become gray in an hour. As a rule, the lighter the colour of the hair, the finer its quality. An eminent German underwent the enormous labour of counting the number of hairs in heads of four different colours. In a blonde one, he found one hundred and forty thousand hairs; in a brown, one hundred and nine thousand four hundred and forty; in a black, one hundred and two thousand nine hundred and sixty-two; in a red, eighty-eight thousand seven hundred and forty: the four scalps being about equal in weight. From their waving, silken beauty, poets and artists delight in golden tresses. Shakespeare mentions black hair but twice in all his writings, while his allusions to hair of lighter shades are to be counted by the score. In the London National Gallery there is not one black-haired female head, though the heads are exceedingly numerous. Yet the fashionable shade for hair has deepened of late years. In the last century golden hair was sold as a favour by dealers to their most important customers, at two dollars an ounce—nearly twice the price of silver. The dark shades now in vogue are procured in the south of France, where the peasant girls eagerly offer their luxuriant locks to the hair-dealer's shears, for twenty sous or a gaudy cotton handkerchief. For light hair, the reaper of locks goes to Germany. A hair merchant, "when his nose is in," can tell by the smell alone, whether a sheaf of hair grew on French, English, Irish, Scotch, Welsh or German heads.

Women seldom become bald, because there is "a larger deposit of fat in the female scalp" than in the male; but their hair becomes grey as early in life as that of the other sex.—"Hence," says our witty reviewer, "the glossy ringlets which the poor peasant of Tours parted with for a few sous as a nest egg towards her dowery, have doubtless aided in procuring a suitable helpmate for some blue spinster or fast dowager of Mayfair." The reviewer consulted his hatter upon the subject of men's baldness. That fortunate man—fortunate in having so delightful a customer—expressed the opinion that the reason why men become bald at an earlier age now than forty years ago, is the general use of silk hats, which keep the head at a higher temperature than beaver ones. Whereupon the reviewer achieves the capital observation that "we are, then, sacrificing our own natural nap, in order that the beaver may recover his."

History has much to say upon the hair and beard. In the middle ages long hair was highly esteemed, and was much worn among the gentle classes; though the clergy denounced it as a vanity, and even as a "mortal sin." When Francis I. was wounded in the head, and was, in consequence, obliged to be cropped, all the courtiers, in compliment to their king, submitted to the shears, and short hair became for a time, the fashion throughout Europe.—In England short hair came in with the Reformation. In the time of the Tudors, both men and women wore their hair short, which gives to the portraits of that period, a hard, disagreeable effect. As the hair shortened, the beard was allowed to grow, and there has never been a time when the hair and beard were both worn long. With the Stewarts, as every one knows, long hair regained its old ascendency, and the beard diminished; though the Puritans inveighed against the flowing curls of the cavaliers, with more than the ferocity of the earlier priests.

Concluded to-morrow.

POST MASTER AT LAWRENCE.

Mr. B. F. Watson, a Coalition Democrat, has been appointed Post Master at Lawrence, Mass., a very good office.

Our friend, Ryan, editor of the Lawrence Sentinel, was an applicant for the office, and makes the following remarks on the appointment:

On reading it, we were, it would be hypocritical and deceptive in us to deny, disagreeably disappointed, if not ineffably disgusted. As it is now—but not soon enough we are sorry to say, for our as well as the interest of the democratic party—pretty generally understood that we had applied for the office of Post Master, (in order that we might be relieved to a certain extent from the pecuniary embarassments we have labored under and sustained in the publication of a democratic paper in Lawrence, where corporation patronage is withheld and influence and capital are arrayed against us,) we deem it no more than just to say what seven eighths of the community will endorse, that the above appointment is unpopular, and will be destructive, as Mr. W.'s rash, hot-headed acts and indiscretions usually are, to the best interests of the Democratic party Lawrence. We make this statement in no spirit of enmity or jealousy to Mr. Watson, personally, because he is our successful rival, or has vainly, we are happy to say, endeavored to excite a national prejudice against us because we are guilty of the unpardonable offence (in his estimation) of being born in Ireland, but because TRUTH and the INTEREST of our party compel us.

IRON AXLES FOR CARS.

A writer in the Journal of Commerce deems it true the cause of many railroad accidents; and is especially severe on bad axles.

He says that most of the axles are made of "puddling iron" instead of scrap or fagoted, and that they are generally only 2 1-2 inches diameter, whereas 3 1-2 inches would afford twice the strength.

This "puddling iron" is of a coarse, poor quality, and should never be used where any strain comes, or great strength is required. The fact that the pieces of rail which he examined, (being on the road towards Buffalo, just west of Utica,) showed a crystalline texture, proves them unfit for the service they were put to, for metal of this description would break with less force than would suffice to bend the fibrous or fagoted iron. None but this latter should ever be used for axles; and the wheels, chairs of the rails, and any part in which cast iron is used, should be of the best quality, tough and well chilled, like the English Salisbury iron. But the use of these best qualities of iron, would of course increase the expense. The difference in furnishing a car with the best fagoted iron axles, of 3 1-2 inches diameter, would be a hundred dollars more, than that of the inferior quality and smaller size, which are too frequently made to serve the purpose—till they break.

The same writer, describes an accident which threw off some cars of a train in which he was travelling, and says:—

"I found five rails broken within five rods of each other, and all of them, except the first, evidently by the cars jerking over them. Three of them were broken in such a manner that I could take up the pieces and examine the tracture. In each case I found the iron of a crystaline structure like cast iron, and entirely without fibre. I examined the other track, and found the ties very light, and apparently old and poor. I noticed that one of the chairs was broken, and found that the rail would spring up and down with the motion of my foot. As a gang of men were repairing the broken track, I pointed out this chair to one of them, who told me that it was much better than many on the road, and that the quality of the road bed was so bad, from want of gravel, that it was very difficult to keep it in order. In two or three hours the cars were replaced, the road patched up, and we passed on."

ANOTHER HEAVY VERDICT FOR RAILROAD DAMAGES.—Last week we recorded a verdict rendered in the Circuit Court of the United States, at Boston, of $6583.33 damages against the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth Railroad Company, in consequence of an accident on that road in September, 1851. On Friday, referees in a similar case (and for injuries occasioned by the same accident) against the same Company and in favor of Benjamin F. Williams, returned their award into the Circuit Court of $7000 damages, and all the costs. The referees were Hon. Thomas Hopkinson, Hon. Horace Mann, and James Reed, Esq.

The Boston Journal says the facts in these two cases were, that on the 12th of September, 1851, a bridge about twenty-five feet wide had been taken up on the defendant's road for repairs, and the regular train from Portland for this city, with about one hundred passengers on board, ran at great speed directly into the chasm. The engineer and fireman were instantly killed, and many of the passengers seriously injured. Among the latter was the plaintiff, who received a severe blow on the head, causing a concussion of the brain, and whose entire recovery, according to the testimony of several experienced physicians, is extremely doubtful.

The amount of the damages in these two suits, is $15,583 33, besides costs.

In connexion with these statements, it may be proper to state that the Company has paid the widow of the deceased engineer, the usual monthly wages of her husband, regularly, ever since his death.

DISTRESSING CASUALTY.—Mr. Charles Mosely, son of Hon. Ebenezer Mosely, and Mr. John Andrews Porter, son of John Porter, Esq., of Newburyport, were drowned by the upsetting of a boat by a squall, on Kimball's Pond, West Amesbury, on Friday evening. The young men were about twenty-five years of age, and were persons of great promise. Their bodies have been found and buried. They were both excellent swimmers.

☞ A Boston correspondent of the New York Post says that Caleb Cushing has presented a claim of $10,000 against the estate of Daniel Webster, for money lent. It is stated that claims come in so numerous and so large, as to make the estate hopelessly insolvent, and to forbid the retention of real estate:—all must be sold. It is possible that some part may be redeemed by the admirers of the great expounder of the Constitution,—but it is hardly probable.

LOCAL.

SETTLING PORTSMOUTH.

THE PILGRIMS, FISHERMEN.—Mr. Sabine in his very able report on the Fisheries, favors the idea that one object had in view by the Pilgrims in coming to this country, was the pursuit of fishing, and among other authorities which he cites is a "Brief Narrative of the true grounds and causes of the first planting of New England," recently discovered in England. In this narrative Mr. Winslow speaks of an interview between King James and the agents of the Puritans, who went over to England from Leyden in 1618, to solicit his consent to their going to America. The monarch asked them, "What profit might arise?" He was answered in a single word—"Fishing." Whereupon James replied—"So God have my soul, 'tis an honest trade; 'twas the Apostle's own calling."

This article puts us in mind of the origin of Portsmouth; which was selected as a fishing ground and curing shore, by Capt. John Mason, who was governor of Newfoundland, and a great fisherman there. He and Sir Ferdinando Gorges formed a company for fishing and settlement, on our coast, called the company of Laconia; and in the year 1623, as Belknap and Adams inform us, they "resolved to establish a plantation at the river Piscataqua and carry on the fishery there. Accordingly in the spring they sent over David Thompson a Scotchman, Edward Hilton and his brother William Hilton, who had been fishmongers in London, with several other persons to commence the settlement, and furnished them with provisions, tools, and implements of every kind, necessary for accomplishing the undertaking. These persons arrived safely in the harbor, but the precise time of their landing, and in what vessel they came is uncertain. The two Hiltons went up the river about eight miles, and settled on a neck of land, called by the natives Winnichanannat; but which they named Northam, since included in the town of Dover [Dover Point.]—Thompson and his party established themselves on the west side of Piscataqua river, near the mouth of the westerly branch, which they called Little Harbour. Here the first house was erected, which was built on this plantation. The site of this house was on a peninsula, or point of land, now called Odiorne's point (in Rye,) which is formed by Little Harbor on the northeast, and a creek on the south, with a large tract of salt marsh on the west. This place was selected with great judgment. The peninsula contains about five hundred acres of land, on which is a commanding eminence; where are evident remains of an ancient fort, and situated so as to be a complete defence against the incursion of a savage enemy. The house was erected a few rods to the northward of the fort. The present possessors of the land point out the spot on which it stood. They think they have discovered the foundation of the chimney and the cellar walls. These were standing when Mr. Hubbard wrote his history in in 1680. Three or four thousand acres of land were annexed to this building, with an intention of forming a manor there, according to the English custom. In the division of property, which took place afterwards among the company of Laconia, this part of it was allotted to Capt. John Mason, who devised it by his last will, to his grandson Robert Tufton, by the name of Mason Hall. Procuring a sufficient supply of salt for the use of the fishery, was one important object, among others, which demanded the attention of these first settlers. A large quantity was necessary for preserving the fish which were taken in abundance. They erected salt works here, and manufactured salt to good advantage. Trading with the natives for furs was pursued by some of the settlers; others attended to the cultivation of the earth, and raised those articles, which were essentially necessary for their support, and which they could not otherwise obtain."

Our Odiorne's Point colony had the good fortune to be so well stocked with provisions the first year, as to supply the Plymouth Colony, which was beginning to feel necessity.—Capt. Standish came hither for relief.

Fishing has been a great business on this river ever since; and Newcastle, Kittery and Portsmouth are still fishing ports of some consequence.

FIRES.—Two wooden houses in Water street, near the Marine Railway, were on fire on Monday, and one of the same was on fire last Friday. The first time the fire was kindled by the burning of a pine plug which a tenant had driven into a funnel hole in his chimney. The plug fell outwards on the hearth, and rolled upon the floor, setting fire to a quantity of chips which were stowed there, and making a smoke which filled the house and stirred up the numerous tenants, consisting, in the day time, of Irish women and children.

One woman started with two children in her apron, the others generally with one each, hustling the beds and chairs out at the windows as they went.

By the time they had got out all the children from that house and the next, the neighbors had got in and put out the fire.

On Monday the roofs of the two houses were set on fire by sparks from a neighboring chimney—and the women at this time got out their babies and beds so quick, and so many of them, that the boys and loafers, in their surprise at the exhibition, forgot to cry fire; the conflagration was soon arrested; not, however, until one woman had pushed her chair through a window without stopping to open it, by which hurrying process more damage was done than by the fire.

No "superhuman efforts" were made by any body.

MADAME SONTAG'S CONCERT.—We are authorized to say that on account of other and recent arrangements, the proposed Concerts by this lady, east of Boston, which were to be immediately after the close of her opera engagements there, are postponed to September or October next, at which time a concert will be given by her at the Temple in this City, due notice of which will be given.

BURNING OF MOSCOW.—Maelzel's celebrated and attractive Diorama of the Conflagration of Moscow, is open for exhibition at the Temple, this evening, and Wednesday afternoon and evening. See advertisement.

Quite a full house enjoyed the entertainment last evening. Besides the fine life-like (or rather death-like) Dioramic representations, Prof. Taylor is a great magician. In addition to all sorts of impossible tricks, his performance on the accordeon, imitating bagpipes, &c., is richly worth hearing.

POSTPONED.—Mr. Moses announces his Quintet Club Concert as postponed from this (Tuesday) to Friday evening.

☞ Rev. D. I. Robinson will preach at the Second Advent Chapel this evening, May 24, at 8 o'clock.

IMPROVEMENT.—The unsightly ruins of the old Webster house, corner of Islington and Ann streets, are being taken down and removed, preparatory to the erection of a new house on the same site.

☞ Kittery Point Bridge is closed at present, for the purpose of undergoing a thorough repair. The work was commenced on Monday, and will be finished in about two weeks. The bridge was built in 1839, and has been quite beneficial to that part of Kittery, as well as of great convenience to the public; but has never yielded any revenue worth mentioning to the proprietors.

ROBERT G. SHAW'S WILL.

From an abstract in the Boston Transcript, it appears that the late Robert G. Shay, Esq. of that city, in his will, has endowed a new institution for a class in the community, not distinctly embraced in existing charities.—The sum of one hundred thousand dollars is bequeathed in his will as a fund to be appropriated for the benefit of destitute mariner's children. The same is to be known as the "Shaw Fund," and is to be placed at interest by trustees until it shall amount to four hundred thousand dollars. A donation of a further sum of ten thousand dollars is made for the purchase of a site for the institution. This sum added to his well known charities of $400,000 in his lifetime, will make him the donor of $525,000. It was most fitting that the institution should be founded by a merchant, and what nobler monument could be raised in Boston to the character and comprehensive liberality of the late ROBERT GOULD SHAW.

The following is a list of Mr. Shaw's legacies to public institutions:

To the Boston Fatherless and Widow's Society	$3000
The Widow's Society in Boston	3000
Boston Children's Friend Society	3000
Boston Seaman's Friend Society	3000
Society for Aged and Infirm Females	3500
Boston Marine Society	2000
Howard Benevolent Society	1500
Society for Aged and Destitute Clergymen	1000

A large picture in regard to the Landing of the Pilgrim Fathers, is given to the Pilgrim Society of Plymouth.

The preamble to the large bequest is in the following words:

"In a commercial community like this, I deem it of great practical importance that there should be a retreat or asylum provided for the succor and protection of the children of mariners in destitute circumstances, (whether orphans or otherwise,) under the age of ten years, and for the purpose of founding such a charity or hospital, to be called "The Shaw Institute, or Asylum for Mariner's Children." Then follows the directions for the munificent bequest mentioned above.

It will be seen that the total sum of the above donations to public institutions is one hundred and thirty thousand dollars.

A MONSTER SNAKE.—Mr. John Davis, a teamster on the farm of Squire Gifford in the north west part of the city, on Thursday last, had a sight of the great black snake which has been so often seen in that vicinity. Upon an accurate measurement of the form where he was resting, it appeared that he was eighteen and a half feet long, and Mr. Davis thinks he was about a foot and a half in circumference.—New Bedford Mercury.

☞ Henry Bricket has resigned his situation as teacher of the Brown High School, in this city, and goes to a higher and better paying place, as Principal of the Normal School at Merrimack, in New Hampshire.—Newburyport Union.

Self-heating Smoothing Iron.
THIS invention is rarely equalled for economy, convenience and comfort. One cent's worth of dry hard coal is ample fuel for a day's ironing; avoids exhausting heat and the changing of irons; gives a better finish, facilitates the work, and never sullies the linen. Its complete success warrants the prediction that it will soon be found in every family. S. JEWETT, St. Johnsbury, Vt.
Agent of the patentees in Maine, N. H., and Vt.
From the New York Observer.—"Since noticing this ingenious invention, we have seen it fairly tried. It works admirably. It will prove a great convenience to housekeepers, in the saving of fuel and heat as well as of time and labor."

DENTIST.
THE Subscriber would give notice, that now he may usually be found at his place of business (32 Market Street) at all hours.
Portsmouth, May 10. SAMUEL BAKER.

At Kittery Point, Maine.
THE subscriber having taken a lease of the well-known, popular and beautifully-located Boarding-House on Kittery Point, belonging to Mr. R. F. Gerrish, (who has recently extensively add tastefully enlarged the same,) will be ready by the 15*th of June next*, for the reception of such Regular Boarders and Transient Visitors as may favor him with their patronage.
The house is mostly new, and all in thorough order. The rooms, especially the sleeping rooms, are commodious and admirably ventilated; the opportunities for Bathing are unusually safe and convenient; the neighborhood quiet; and the scenery and rides thereabout and in the vicinity of the sea-shore, (which is in full view,) are delightful. The post-office is within three minutes' walk of the house; and a coach runs regularly twice a day to and from the Point, via the U. S. Navy Yard, arriving at and leaving the city of Portsmouth (three miles distant) on the arrival and departure of the cars.
The undersigned lessee, respectfully solicits for himself, from Mr. Gerrish's former patrons in the business, a continuance of their wonted patronage to him—assuring them and all others who may be disposed to patronize him, that he will use his best endeavors to fully merit their favors.
JOHN W. WESTON.
Kittery Point, Me., May 19, 1853.

THE undersigned, proprietor of the above-named Summer Residence at Kittery Point, hereby most cheerfully recommends Mr. Weston to the favorable notice and liberal patronage of his old friends and patrons, and to the pleasure-seeking and health-seeking public generally—well assured that Mr. Weston will prove himself to be an agreeable and popular landlord, and Mrs. Weston an equally favorite landlady.

THE WONDER OF THE WORLD!
DEVINES'
COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGES.
THIS IS NO HUMBUG.
IT is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as
and will, in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial; but it has been proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.
INTERESTING FACTS
are constantly coming to light, from different parts of the country, showing the astonishing effects of the fair and faithful use of these Lozenges.
HERE IS ONE LETTER,
from a citizen of Portsmouth—and but a sample of hundreds:
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1853.
This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges,—which produced immediate relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

LARGE LIQUOR SEIZURE.—At Augusta, Me., on Friday last, Marshal Jones seized forty or fifty barrels of different kinds of liquors, amounting in all to 1345 gallons, which had been brought from Boston by schr. Rochester, and placed in a store-house on Flagg's wharf. There was no direction on the casks, and nothing to indicate the owner. The liquor will be advertised under the provisions of the law, and disposed of as contraband, unless an owner appears and proves the contrary.

An important decision with regard to land titles in St. Louis was recently made in the United States Court in that city. In 1836 the city made a large number of leases of common lands, upon condition that the tenants should pay five per cent. interest on the then fixed price, at which they were privileged to take them in ten years. A failure in condition forfeited the lease. The lands depreciated, and most of the tenants failed to comply with the conditions. The property was leased again, and within a few years has arisen enormously in value. The former tenants came forward and offered the city principal and interest; but the city refused to convey to them, and the latter brought an action at law, which has been decided in favor of the city.

UNCERTAINTY OF HUMAN LIFE.—Within the last month over 500 lives have been lost in this country by sudden and unforeseen causalties, as will be seen by the following exhibit:

Steamer Independence, wrecked on the Pacific coast—129 lives lost.
Steamer Jenny Lind, exploded on the Sacramento river—31 lives lost.
Steamer Ocean Wave, burned on Lake Ontario—37 lives lost.
Ship William and Mary, wrecked on the Great Isaacs—170 lives lost.
Collision on the Michigan Central Railroad—16 lives lost.
Train run off the draw bridge at Norwalk—45 lives lost.
Fall of a building in Buffalo—6 lives lost.
The numbers given above foot up 434, but the loss by the Independence is nearer 200 than 129. These added to minor causalties will swell the list of dead to over 500. What a fearful amount of suffering and misery, involving hundreds of families, has been incident to these casualties.—Boston Journal.

CAUSE OF RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.—The Dedham Gazette observes that "nothing but fast trains, fat dividends, and low fares, will satisfy the present age. If prudence and safety are to be wholly lost sight of, we shall begin to believe that living in the nineteenth century is not so great a blessing after all."

The Boston correspondent of the Greenfield Democrat says that Mrs. Sayles, wife of Francis W. Sayles of Boston, who was killed in the Norwalk slaughter, is now insane. She was with her husband when the accident occurred, and the shock she experienced has bereft her of reason. She is the daughter of Hon. B. F. Hallett.

The Newburyport Globe Mills have advanced the pay of the operatives. The weavers' wages are about fifty cents per week higher, on the average.

An Indian was ordained to the work of the Ministry, by the Baptist Home Missionary Society in Troy, recently, who, to attend the Convention, walked six hundred miles in snow-shoes, accompanied by his wife and child.

PRETTY GOOD.—The other evening a gentlemen of Benecia gave a party to which were invited various of the honorable, the members of the Legislature. Among others was an honorable Senator from one of the mining counties. In the course of the evening this honorable senator chanced to be engaged in a dance with one of the fair ones of Benecia, who not having previously been honored with his acquaintance asked him where he lived.—He answered, "at Benecia." "And how long have you resided here," said the inquisitive fair one. "About three years," was the relpy. "'Tis singular I have never met you before," she said, "may I ask what is your business here?" "O," said the mischievous senator, "I keep a barber's shop down town." The lady danced but a minute more, complained of being tired and begged to be excused from dancing any longer, and her vexation can be imagined when she soon after learned that the Benecia barber was the promising young senator from T.—Alta California.

THE BUSINESS OF HARWICH, CAPE COD.—A correspondent of the Yarmouth Register gives some statistics of the business of Harwich, from which we gather the following particulars:—

"There are in the town 20 dry goods and grocery stores, 2 furniture warerooms, 5 sail-making establishments, 1 manufactory of brick, 5 tin and sheet iron workers and dealers in stoves, besides blacksmiths, coopers, and other mechanics. The coasters belonging to this town, have at least two hundred thousand dollars stock money invested.

The business done at the Shad Hole (West Harwich) is in a very flourishing condition. Six years ago a wharf was built at this place, since which time two more wharves have been added. There are now employed in the cod and mackerel fishery, which pack and cure their fish at West Harwich, forty vessels, at an average cost of $3000 each, ($120,000) and if they stock about the same as last year, they will bring into circulation at least $125,000. At these three wharves are located five fitting out stores, doing a fair business, to the amount of $100,000 per annum. 'We have added to our number of New York coasters from here eight vessels—four new, at a cost of $3000 each.' There are a large number of W. Harwich men sailing from Hingham, Cohasset, &c."

If you would enjoy your meals be good-natured. An angry man can't tell whether he is eating boiled cabbage or stewed umbrellas.

MARRIAGE,
Happiness and Competence.
WHY IS IT!
That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.
IN AFTER YEARS,
When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is
MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING
To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every
WIFE AND MOTHER
Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself
YEARS OF MISERY,
And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.
SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS
By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is afforded in a little work entitled

should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.
LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!
No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.
To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to regret, should himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

LYON'S
KATHAIRON
HAIR
LYON'S KATHAIRON,
For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair,
CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.
AS A TOILET ARTICLE,
For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the purest delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all mineral properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

CATHOLIC POETRY.

We cut the following beautiful lines from the Boston Pilot, not knowing the author, but presuming him to be a Catholic. Our poetical readers will make due allowance for the favorite superstition of the Catholic church when they see it clothed in such loving imagery, and breathing such simple devotion.

THE MONTH OF MARY.

Madonna, hear thy children, we
Before thy image kneel to thee,
Our hearts of sin are wea-y;
Thine aid we seek with hope elate,
Regard us while we celebate
Thy Month, O Virgin Mary.

Fresh blossoms wreath the leaves among,
The woodland birds their wonted song,
To notes more gladsome vary;
The azure sky looks down serene,
While lovely spring with smiling mien,
Proclaim the Month of Mary.

To deck thy shrine from verdant bowers,
Of fragrant plants and blooming flowers,
An offering meet we carry;
And whilst our homage here we tend.
Our voices will with nature blend,
To hail the Month of Mary.

O, Mother, when our enemy
Would snare the hearts now vow'd to thee,
Thou'lt warn us to be wary;
And when each day we chant thy lays,
To Christ thy Son our accents raise,
This Month, thine own, O Mary.

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1836) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.
Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.
R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

HUMAN HAIR.

(Concluded.)

The reign of Louis XIII. of France was the time when perukes were invented—those lofty and solemn monuments of human folly—a period in the history of hair which the reviewer approaches with awe. Louis XIII., it appears, would wear his hair long from childhood; and in order to enable those of his courtiers to whom nature had not been liberal in its bestowment of hair, to imitate their royal master, the wig, the peruke was devised. A very ludicrous entry in Pepys' Diary, November 3d, 1663, marks the introduction of these portentous head-dresses into England:—

"Home, by and by comes Chapman the perriwig-maker, and upon my liking it (the wig), without more ado I went up, and then he cut off my hair, which went a little to my heart at present to part with it; but it being over, and my perriwig on, I paid him three pounds, and away went he with my own hair to make up another of; and I, by and by, went abroad, after I had caused all my maids to look upon it, and they concluded it do become me, though Jane was mightily troubled for my parting with my own hair, and so was Besse.

"November 8, 1663—Lord's Day.—To church, where I found that my coming in a perriwig did net prove so strange as I was afraid it would, for I thought that all the church would presently have cast their eyes upon me; but I find no such things."

Under Louis XIV. the size to which the periwig had grown was such that "the face appeared only as a small pimple in the midst of a vast sea of hair." Periwig makers, the "great architects of this triumphant age of perukes," had their carriages, liveried servants and grand hotels, and were important personages in the state. Queen Marie Antoinette herself invented a coiffure which represented all the refinements of landscape gardening. From the altitude of the head dresses in 1778, it was found that they intercepted the view of spectators in the rear of them at the opera, and the director was obliged to refuse admittance to the amphitheatre to those persons who wore such immoderate coiffures. Such was the art expended on these tremendous head-dresses, and such the detail required in their different stages, that ladies of quality were often under the hands of the artiste the entire day. Thus, when they had to attend entertainments on succeeding evenings, they were forced to sleep in arm-chairs, for fear of endangering the finish of the coiffure! The female head-dress, having now arrived at its most Alpine elevation, suddenly toppled over and fell, by the mere accident of the Queen's hair coming off during her accouchment. The court, out of compliment to her Majesty, wore the hair a l'enfant; others followed, and the fashion was at an end.

Passing over much which we should like to pick a few morsels from, but cannot, for lack of space, we come to a humorous passage upon the "British whisker," which we must copy without condensation:—

"Of the modern beard and whiskers," says the Review, "we desire to speak respectfully. A mutton chop seems to have suggested the form of the substantial British whisker. Out of this simple design countless varieties of form have arisen. How have they arisen? Can any one give an account of his own whiskers from their birth upwards? To our mind there is nothing more mysterious than the growth of this manly appendage. Did any far-seeing youth deliberately design his own whisker?—Was there ever known a hobbledehoy who saw a 'great future' in his silken down, and determined to train it in the way it should go? We think not. British whiskers, in truth, have grown up like all the great institutions of the country, noiselessly and persistently—an outward expression, as the Germans would say, of the inner life of the people; the general idea allowing of infinite variety according to the individuality of the wearer. Let take the next half-dozen men passing by the window as we write. The first has his whiskers tucked into the corners of his mouth, as though he were holding them up with his teeth. The second whisker that we descry has wandered into the middle of the cheek, and there stopped as though it did not know where to go to, like a youth who has ventured out into the middle of a ball-room with all eyes upon him. Yonder bunch of bristles (No. 3,) twists the contrary way under the owner's ear: he could not for the life of him tell why it retrogaded so. That fourth citizen, with the vast Pacific of a face, has little whiskers, which seem to have stopped short after two inches of voyage, as though aghast at the prospect of having to double such a Cape Horn of a chin. We perceive coming a tremendous pair running over the shirt-collar in luxuriant profusion. Yet we see, as the colonel or general takes off his hat to that lady, that he is quite bald—those whiskers are in fact nothing but a tremendous landslip from the veteran's head!"

Upon the expression of the hair, the reviewer is brief. "The hair of the Phidian Jove in the Vatican, which rises in spouts, as it were, from the forehead, and then falls in wavy curls, is like the mane of the lion, most majestic and imperial in appearance. The crisp curls of Hercules again remind us of the short locks between the horns of the indomitable bull; whilst the hair of Neptune falls down wet and dank, like his own seaweed. The beautiful flowing locks of Apollo, full and free, represent perpetual youth, and the gentle, vagrant, bewitching tresses of of Venus denote most clearly her peculiar characteristics and claims as a divinity of Olympus. What gives the loose and wanton air to the portraits in Charles 11.'s bedchamber at Hampton Court? Duchess and Countess sweep along the canvass with all the dignity that Lely could flatter them with; but on the disordered curls, and the forehead fringed with love-locks, Cyprian is plainly written. Even Nell Gwyn, retired into the deep shade of the alcove, beckons us with her sweet, soft redundance of ringlets.—Curly hair bespeaks the sanguine temperament, lank hair the phlegmatic. Poets for the most part, we believe, have had curly hair—though our own age has exhibited some notable exceptions to the rule."

The statistics of the horse market of Cincinnati show that the sale of horses in the city average fifty per day, or about fifteen thousand six hundred and fifty per annum.

RHODE ISLAND.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 24, 1853.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I feel a peculiar kind of emotion when I undertake to say something about Rhode Island—dear little Rhode Island, the Tom Thumb of States. A good sized horse-pond could furnish her with a grave—I mean so far as territory is concerned. Not so, in the opinion of Rhode Islanders, at least, when the rest of mankind consider her history and the character of her sons. Some might suppose the history of such a State wasn't worth looking up; but no,—our patriotic citizens grow speedily wild when they talk of the great actions of which Rhode Island has been the little theatre. Never was a State blessed with such an untiring race of antiquarians; almost every third man has published researches of some kind or other. You can hardly conceive with what reverential care a true Rhode Islander walks over the ground; for by some curious investigation of his own, or one of his neighbors, he has found out that here first stepped his benumbed feet upon the shore, or there the good man first "made the kettle boil;" or in this place the dusky savage first met him in council.

Your readers may remember the circumstances which led to the settlement of the State. A gifted, earnest—even fiercely earnest man—a veritable Puritan, the friend of Vane and Cromwell, is urged by the force of his own zeal across the Atlantic. On the fifth of January, 1631, he arrived at Boston. His vehement eloquence, his fervid piety, his unbending resolution to walk in whatever seemed the path of duty, make him at once conspicuous in the infant colony. Contrary to the wishes of the magistrates, who hated him for his doctrine concerning liberty of conscience, the church in Salem chose him for their pastor.—Intolerance soon obliges him to be content with a residence in Plymouth; then at the solicitation of the church he returns to Salem—but in less than two years is summoned to appear before the court, is proved to be guilty of being an Anabaptist, and of maintaining that the magistrates should "have control in civil things only." So, for not seeing why a poor Baptist or Quaker deserved to be whipped, or to lose his ears, the good, the eloquent divine was sentenced to leave the Pharisaic colony within six weeks! Thus, in the depth of winter, and almost friendless, the apostle of soul-liberty went forth to be the founder and father of a State—"sorely tossed," he says "for fourteen weeks, in a bitter winter season, not knowing what bread or bed did mean." After some delay, the little band of wanderers attracted by a swift-gushing spring, in that place pitched their tent, and around this chosen spot began to rise the city of Providence.—And now was established an asylum for all new comers. Did Roger Williams borrow the idea from the plan of Romulus and Remus? Fortunately he was not, like them, reduced to the necessity of kidnapping the wives and daughters of his neighbors to preserve from extinction his little State. The church he planted in 1639 still lives; and numbers among its members, most of the learned Faculty of the neighboring University.

Arch Bishop Hughes—you know how the good archbishop loves religious liberty—tries to make us believe that catholic Lord Baltimore, founder of Maryland, was the first to establish a State on the principles of religious freedom, and boasts,—the archbishop does—that in that State, was first allowed entire liberty to choose how one should worship God.—In the first place, considering that this settlement was made in the territories of a Protestant nation, it is by no means certain that toleration was granted from devotion to the principle. What Roman Catholic would have then undertaken to found a colony, excluding from its borders the very men in whose hands even its existence was? In the second place, Lord Baltimore tolerated Christians only: thus by giving toleration, implying that the State has a right to not to tolerate, if it thinks proper, which is a miserable fallacy; for the State has nothing to do with the manner in which a man worships God, except so far as he may, by fanatical disorders, offend against the welfare of civil society. And Lord Baltimore was willing to tolerate Christians. Who are Christians? Unitarians, it seems, were not; for the man who denied the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, was guilty of blasphemy, and was to be punished with death.

You would not have advised any of your Jewish, or Mahomedan, or heathen friends to migrate to Maryland. But this is the just pride of Rhode Island, that here was unrestricted liberty of conscience first granted, and that in this regard, she knew neither Jew nor Gentile, neither bond nor free.

Rhode Island was the first State that minded its own business, and clothed its meanest citizens with a more than imperial dignity, declaring that they had a right to worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences. I close here, for this is glory enough for one letter. SPECTATOR.

COMMON COUNCIL, Tuesday, May 24.

At a special meeting of the Common Council, held on Tuesday evening, 19 members were present. The roll was called, omitting those from Ward 2. The certificates of the nine members elect from Ward 2 were then presented, and it was voted that their names be entered upon the records. Their names were then called, and the standing committees filled by the President.

A resolution was passed, notifying the City Clerk that the members from Ward 2 were duly qualified and directing him to record the same.

A message was received from the Mayor, with an Ordinance making appropriations for the current year, as passed in Board of Aldermen, (see above,) together with plans and estimates for buildings, repairs, &c. The documents were read and referred to Committe on Bills on their second reading—to report on Thursday evening next.

ARE THE BOYS COMING HOME?—The Boston Post of Tuesday, under the head of "Excursion to Portsmouth," says,

"What we mentioned as a mere rumor seems to be ripening into a definite movement on the part of the Portsmouth boys, and a matter of ardent hope with the good people of their old home. The Messenger, Journal and Chronicle have all expressed themselves feelingly on the subject, and extend a warm welcome to the wanderers. The matter is now awaiting the final action of the party interested at this end of the railroad. Arrangements should be made very speedily."

We hope they will proceed. There can be no doubt, if the Portsmouth emigrants in Boston lead off in the matter, similar emigrants elsewhere will join them in great numbers.

The people of this village were always a hospitable people, even to strangers. Much more should we, now that we have become a city, welcome home our own children, not as prodigals who come to be forgiven of the father and frowned upon by the elder brothers, but as members of a united household, who kill the fatted calf and make merry with the kid, while youth and age together rejoice with music and dancing.

☞ On Tuesday evening, May 24th, the North Church and Parish, in this city, by concurrent votes, gave an unanimous call to Rev. Henry D. Moore, of Philadelphia, to settle with them in the gospel ministry.

☞ On Tuesday, the House No. 94 Islington street, and 2600 feet of land, belonging to S. A. Bennett, was sold by Geo. W. Towle & Co., to Mr. Joseph B. Adams for $1080.

☞ This afternoon and evening are the last opportunities to witness Prof. Taylor's Magic Arts, and the Burning of Moscow.

ANOTHER PROSPECT.

A correspondent sends us an account of his travels to Prospect Hill, on the banks of the Piscataqua, and bordering on the Dover Railroad that is to be. He was delighted with the prospect from the hill, and not less so with the scenery as he walked up and down on the banks of the river.

One large farm attracted his attention, on which he observed great improvements, as a field of Rye of two or three acres, three feet high; large barns, with sixty head of cattle; twenty acres of planted ground, eight of corn; and eleven or twelve acres of grafted orchard. The Dover Railroad will pass through it:—and when that happens, the river lots will make beautiful cottage sites.

There is also a beautiful cove for bathing; a walk on the shore of about three miles, from this city will lead to it, over a romantic path, and the views at a dozen points on the bank, are very fine indeed.

Walks up that way in June and July will be pleasant, and frequent.

The large farm, which is described with such gusto by our correspondent, was formerly part of the estate of Samuel Hill, Esq. who had it in prime order during his lifetime.—Since that day, i. e. for about forty years, the farm declined,—but within the last two or three years it has been recovering, under a more liberal husbandry.

☞ We understand that Lieut. Amasa Paine, U. S. N., now attached to the Navy Yard in this harbor, is promoted to the rank of Commander.

☞ It is currently reported that Collector Clements has selected the following persons as Inspectors at this port, viz, Samuel Rowe and Andrew B. Vennard, of Portsmouth; Hon. James Pickering, of Newington; and Samuel Swasey of Haverhill.

THE KIDNAPPING CASE.

Mr. Lewis Tappan publishes in the N. Y. Evening Post, a letter, in which he states that Trainer, the father of the kidnapped girl, arrived in the city on Saturday. Trainer states that he was decoyed to Jersy city, where he was waylaid by four ruffians, cruelly beaten, and his life threatened, from whence he fled to Dunkirk.

There can be no reasonable doubt, that Trainer was got out of the way in this manner by the male confederates of Rose Cooper, alias Mrs. Porter, and that she has now concealed herself, as well as Jane Trainer, whom she means to take back into a slave State and sell or keep. "Mrs. Porter," in Mobile, was known as "Rose Cooper," and her business in that city appears to be indicated by the statement to the court, "that she kept lady boarders who were visited by hundreds of men." In a word she kept what is called a "house of bad repute." She sold Jane Trainer's mother in Mobile. The proceedings of the kidnappers in court and out of it show the depth of their iniquity; and the Judge, who would not postpone the case, nor retain, as he might have done by a $500 bond, the custody of the child in responsible and respectable hands, stands a fair chance with the parties to the suit, to be immortalized in sume future edition of Uncle Tom's Cabin.

BRILLIANT METEOR.—About 7 o'clock on Monday evening, a large meteor passed over Portland, taking a course from south to north. It was broad day-light, says the Advertiser, and yet it shone with dazzling brilliancy, appearing as large as a forty-two pound cannon ball.

THE GREAT ISAACS.—A light house is wanted there—and the rocks belong to the British. Our late minister, Abbott Lawrence, pressed upon the British Government the importance of a light there, and is said one is about to be built.

☞ An Irish lad named Wm. Fitzsimons, aged twelve years, employed in the Bartlett mills, Newburyport, was on Monday morning playing with a belt in the factory, when he became entangled, and the belt coming across his neck, cut a severe gash, and also broke his jaw bone and knocked out several teeth. Though dangerously, it is hoped that he is not fatally injured.

THE GARDINER FRAUD CASE.—This long case of fraud, which has occupied the U. S. Court at Washington, has resulted in a disagreement of the jury, who are said to have stood nine for acquittal and three for conviction. Another branch of the case is to be commenced. Very unlikely indeed is it, that any conviction will ever take place. It is certain that several of the government witnesses mistook one Mr. Gardner for another.

FIRE AT CAMPELLO, MASS.—A fire broke out just after noon on Monday, in Kingman's great Furniture Manufactory, which was destroyed, together with eleven dwelling-house, and the only church in the village. Rev. Mr. Huntington preached his farewell sermon in it last Sabbath. Campello is a beautiful village in the town of North Bridgewater.

The fires before alluded to in San Francisco, occurred in Sacremento and Stockton streets, in the midst of numerous wooden buildings, and threatened the destruction of a vast amount of property, but by the prompt and efficient exertions of the fire department, they were confined to a few buildings, the loss on which was comparatively trifling.

LYNCHING IN MINNESOTA.—The Minnesotian speaks of an affair which happened recently at Traverse des Soux. A man named Star had made a bona fide claim last year, and afterward went below, where he was detained by sickness until recently. During the winter his claim was "jumped" by two brothers named Kingsley. On Monday last, Star, backed by a large majority of the settlers, proceeded to demand an evacuation of his claim, when he was fired upon by one of the Kingsleys—the full charge of shot from a gun striking him in the abdomen, but it is thought not mortally wounding him. The settlers then turned out en masse, surrounded the Kingsley's cabin, took them prisoners, and burned the house. They held their prisoners secure until nine or ten o'clock in the evening, waiting for the West Newton to come down, that they might send them to St. Paul to be lodged in jail. The boat not appearing, the exasperation of the crowd increased to such a pitch that their victims were tied up and lynched till they begged to be shot as a relief to their torture. They were let off with the understanding that they would leave the place forthwith.

KOSSUTH AND HALE.—The Boston Post lauds Kossuth almost to the skies; and lauds Mr. John P. Hale "over the left," almost to another region. How is it? What does it mean?

The Bangor Me. Mercury gives the following account of the very singular manner in which the wreck of a vessel, bound to that port, was discovered. The schooner Van Buren, which left Cardenas on the 1st inst., for Bangor, sprang a leak on the 4th inst., off Cape Florida, and when fallen in with was trying to reach Charleston. The vessel which overtook her discovered her disabled condition in this wise. It seems that this vessel reached the spot in the Gulf Stream where the Van Buren had leaked out a large part of her cargo of molasses two days before, and perceiving the water was sweet, followed up the wake, and in a day or two, came up with her, and was able to save her crew. The vessel was a total loss.

HIGH CRIME.—A New York despatch of May 23 states that the Grand Jury, rendered true bills of indictment against Daniel Maloney, Captain, and John Christian, Surgeon, of the ship "Roscius," for the murder of two of the crew of that ship on her recent voyage from Liverpool.

MARRIAGE,
Happiness and Competence.
WHY IS IT?
That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.
IN AFTER YEARS,
When too late to be benefited by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is
MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING
To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every
WIFE AND MOTHER
Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself
YEARS OF MISERY,
And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.
SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS
By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled
THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,
Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly
should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female, desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as her well every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.
LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!
No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery; those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

THE GOOD TIME COME.—The Manchester Mirror informs us that a very pleasant supper party came off at the City Hotel in Manchester on Wednesday evening, given by the retiring Postmaster, James Hersey, Esq. and the new incumbent, Capt. Pierce, to a few friends.

It was a very happy occasion, where no party spirit was visible, though all parties were represented. Very appropriate and pleasing remarks were made by the out and the in postmaster,—by Hon. Moses Norris, Hon. Geo. W. Morrison, B. F. Ayer, Esq., Hon. John S. Walker, Hon. F. Smyth, David Cross, Esq., and others. The Press was represented by Adams of the Granite Farmer, Gilmore of the Union Democrat, Abbott of the American and Clarke of the Mirror, who, of course, did their part towards the mental entertainment. As was remarked by Mr. Morrison, it was difficult to tell who were the "outs" and who were the "ins" on this occasion, all wore such happy faces. All who spoke bore testimony to the faithfulness, honesty, courtesy and universal satisfaction with which Mr. Hersey had discharged his duties the past four years, and, also, appeared equally satisfied with the prospect for four years to come. Mr. Pierce remarked that he should attain his highest desires, in the discharge of his new duties, if he should retire at the expiration of his term with as much credit and satisfaction as his predecessor. The supper was unusually rich and delicious, imparting bodily comfort.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.
DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease; simple proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

From the Biddeford Eastern Journal.

JOSEPH BARTLETT, ESQ.

In the "olden time"—In those pleasant, mellow days of which we love to hear—there dwelt in the neighborhood of the Saco Falls, quite a number of men, not unknown to fame. Men of marked abilities—of enterprise, of genius, wit and learning. Their old homes—big and ample—survive their builders—and still totter amid the new generation of houses and shops that have sprung up about them, objects of interest and respect. We love to gaze at their weather-beaten walls—and think of the noble old fellows who have strode up and down their steps and through their broad doors. It will be a rare pleasure to us—a pleasure in which many of our readers will share, we dare say—to gather up in a few newspaper articles some reminiscenses of these early men of Saco and Biddeford.

On the steep bluff that overlooks the river, a few rods below the Falls, on the Saco side, with the Common given to the town by Sir William Pepperell, in the rear, is an old yellow house, of singular proportions, and strangely arranged and oddly shaped windows, built many years ago by JOSEPH BARTLETT, Esq. who was also its occupant. The building is hardly high enough to be called a two-story building, and has but one line of windows—though these are not all upon a line, and are most of them, of uncommonly generous proportions. The house fronts upon the river, and from the centre has a large swell projection, with a still greater projection of the roof on this side—and the front-door is reached by a flight of steps. A square piece of land, of an acre or two in extent, is enclosed, the house assisting on one side, by the feeble and ragged remnant of four lines of Lombardy Poplars. This house, so says tradition, was built in this wise:

A gentleman of Biddeford, whose name we will suppress, as it is still a frequent name here, was ambitious, as men are sometimes now-a-days, to serve his country in the capacity of a representative to Congress. Bartlett was then an influential man—successfully engaged in his profession—finely educated and famous for his rare and true wit. Bartlett guaranteed to secure his neighbor's election to Congress, on the condition that he should furnish Bartlett the means of building this house. The house was promptly built—but alas! for the fond hopes of the other man, Bartlett failed in the execution of his part of the bargain.

From some cause that we have not been able to learn, after a few years Bartlett's business fell off here, and becoming poor, he left, with the hope of recruiting his fortunes in the neighboring town of Portsmouth.—Those giants of the law, Jere. Mason and Daniel Webster, were then both in practice at P., and there was little chance for the new comer, however urgent his wants. Bartlett found few clients, but many friends and admirers—for when all else forsook him—his mind seemed to get new temper and brilliancy in the fires of adversity—and in the highly cultivated society of Portsmouth, he was a cherished visitor.

Poverty after a few years drove Bartlett from Portsmouth, and he next took an office in Court Square, Boston. His room was on the ground-floor, and it served him both for an office and a lodging room. Habits of dissipation here sadly grew apace. It is told that on one occasion, while passsing through a crowd on Washington Street, a little black bottle of New Rum, made an exit for itself through the exhausted pocket of a long-worn coat, and as it dashed upon the pavement, and sent up its strong fumes, Bartlett, with that presence of mind that never left him, passed on as if wholly unaware of the accident, and escaped the notice of the crowd, while a poor fellow who stopped to wonder, received their hootings as the real bottle-loser.

Those who remember the prominent men of Boston, of more than twenty years ago, will remember Joseph Bartlett, Esq., as a short, corpulent man, of fresh countenance, full and ruddy, with a prominent Roman nose, and a silvered head, generally dressed in a brown suit, clasping a long staff, some foot or more from its top, and walking with a slow, thoughtful step. Poor, dissipated, but very ready and brilliant in conversation. All loved to listen to his talk, and he was generally known and liked. The lawyers occasionally gave him a bit of copying, which turned him a few shillings, and in his latter days, he published a book, entitled "Aphorisms: or Maxims by Joseph Bartlett." This book was issued in a cheap style, and was about the size of Webster's Spelling Book. When funds were low, with a few copies of this book the poor man would visit a few counting-rooms and offices, and by their sale relieve his few wants. In those sad days that would occasionally come, when there was no sale for the "Aphorisms"—then his final resort was always to his old friend Daniel Webster, who never turned him away without a five or a ten dollar bill. For while Webster lamented his friend's sad intemperance, he had great admiration of his rare talents and wit, and respect for his many virtues that still survived the wreck.

Such was JOSEPH BARTLETT, Esq., the man who set out the trees and built the old yellow house, with whose description we commenced this article—and which remained unoccupied for years after it was left by Bartlett, suffering under the reputation of being a "Haunted House," and was long known as "Bartlett's Folly."

A LONG WILL.—The Xernia, (Ohio) Torchlight, states that a register was recording in the Probate Court of that county, one of the longest wills, perhaps, of record in the United States. The will is that of the late Gen. James Taylor, of Newport, Kentucky. It covers 21 1-2 pages of royal octavo, closely written. The fee for recording it amounted to $21.80. It relates to property valued at $4,000,000, and gives freedom and property to more than 20 human beings and their posterity. As the testator was the owner of real estate in twenty-six counties of the state, the will has to be recorded in each of them.

ANTIOCH COLLEGE.

This institution, established under the auspices and by the efforts of the Christian Connexion, is located at Yellow Springs, Ohio. The buildings are approaching their completion, and the institution will commence its operations as a seminary of learning on the first Wednesday in October next.

On that day, the Preparatory School will be opened for the admission of pupils; applicants for admission to the Freshman Class will be examined; and, should a sufficient number present themselves and pass a creditable examination in all the studies required for admission to the Sophomore Class, such a class will also be formed; but neither a Junior nor a Senior Class.

The Board of Instruction, or Faculty, is composed of the following persons:

Hon. HORACE MANN, LL. D., President, and Professor of Political Economy, Intellectual and Moral Philosophy, Constitutional Law and Natural Theology.

Rev. W. H. Doherty, A. M., Professor of Rhetoric, Logic and Belles-Lettres.

Ira W. Allen, A. M., Professor of Mathematics, Astronomy and Civil Engineering.

Rev. Thomas Holmes, A. M., Professor of Greek Language and Literature.

C. S. Pennell, A. M., Professor of Latin Language and Literature.

Miss R. M. Pennell, Professor of Physical Geography, Drawing, Natural History, Civil History and Didactics.

——— Professor of Chemistry, and Theory and Practice of Agriculture.

——— Professor of Mineralogy and Geology.

——— Professor of Modern Languages.

Rev. A. L. McKinney, Principal of Preparatory School.

The projectors and sponsors of the College speak thus of its religious character:

"The College will exert no Sectarian influence over its pupils. On this point, its patrons and administrators occupy a ground somewhat peculiar. The 'Christian Connection' adopt no government-made or man-made creed, or confession of faith. They take the Bible as their rule of faith and practice, and, in a true Protestant spirit, allow liberty of interpretation. Until two men are alike in all respects, they cannot believe alike in all respects; and as no two men ever were alike in all respects, no two men ever believed alike in all respects; however many times they may have signed, rehearsed or sworn to the same articles of belief."

JACKSON'S EPITAPH ON HIS WIFE.—The Richmond Enquirer says "a lady in the west has been kind enough to send us a copy of Andrew Jackson's epitaph on his wife. It is known to have been his own composition, yet although it has been read by hundreds on her tomb in Tennessee, it has never appeared in print before." This singular inscription reads thus:—

"Here lie the remains of Mrs. Rachel Jackson, wife of President Jackson, who died on the 22d of December, 1828, aged 61. Her face was fair, her person pleasing, her temper amiable, and her heart kind. She delighted in relieving the wants of her fellow creatures, and cultivated that divine pleasure by the most liberal and unpretending methods. To the poor she was a benefactress; to the rich she was an example; to the wretched a comforter; to the prosperous an ornament; her pity went hand in hand with her benevolence; and she thanked her Creator for being permitted to do good. A being so gentle, and yet so virtuous, slander might wound, but could not dishonor. Even death, when he tore her from the arms of her husband, could but transplant her to the bosom of her God."

The epitaph is beautiful, and what is more, we believe it to be true, or nearly so: but General Jackson never wrote any thing like it. He doubtless approved, and very likely copied it in his own hand writing: but every person at all familiar with his style, will perceive the unlikeness in a moment.

WEBSTER MONUMENT.—The Resolve in the Massachusetts Legislature, appropriating $10,000 for erecting a monument in the State House to the memory of Daniel Webster was negatived on Tuesday, on the question of engrossment, by a majority of four, in a thin House. A reconsideration was moved.

On Wednesday forenoon, the motion to reconsider was rejected.

BRIDGE ON FIRE.—There was a slight loss by fire on a small railroad bridge at East Kingston, on Monday. The flames were put out by buckets, but they caused an unfounded rumor of a greater fire at the Salmon Falls Bridge, 30 miles to the eastward of Kingston.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Timothy Crowley, residing in Kneeland street, Boston, dropped dead in Beach street, on Tuesday last, while going from his work to dinner.

HOOSAC TUNNEL.—The Resolution for loaning the State credit of Massachusetts, to bore out the Hoosac Tunnel, was defeated in the Senate by two votes, on Tuesday.

ILL.—Mr. Edward Kendall, the celebrated bugle player, is dangerously ill in Boston, and his recovery is quite doubtful.

DEATH IN JAIL.—Christopher Twombly died in Boston Jail, Monday afternoon. He was committed for drunkenness.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

A FEW DAYS IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 24, 1853.

Messrs. Editors:—The month of May is one of the most pleasant in the year for a visit to the city of New York; and from the large number of strangers here, from all parts of the country, we judge this fact must be well known. The Battery and the various Parks and Gardens never looked more beautiful than at the present time; and the lovers of vegetables and fruits can luxuriate on green corn, green peas, asparagus, radishes, fresh oranges, lemons, pine apples, cocoa nuts, bananas, &c., with which the market abounds.

The amount of building being carried on here at the present time, is almost incredible. In nearly every street, no matter how obscure, numerous old buildings are being torn down and more beautiful ones erected in their stead; one consequence of which is—the streets are full of bricks, lime and flying dirt, a portion of which is oft transferred from the pavement to the person and apparel of the passer-by.

The Crystal Palace is progressing steadily, though it is impossible to tell the precise time of its completion. If the thing is possible, it will be opened by the fourth of July. It is a beautiful structure, but looks to us extremely fragile, the floor timbers being the smallest we ever saw in so large a building. It being very near the Croton Reservoir, and most people viewing it from the top of that massive structure, the Palace appears much smaller than it really is; from this arises many of the unfavorable reports concerning the building. The Observatory which is building near the Palace, is rapidly going up.

The Hippodrome is visited by nearly every body who lives in or comes to New York, and is a novel affair, to say the least. The horsemanship is no better, if as good, as in most of the American circuses; but the pavilion is so large and beautiful, and the audience always so numerous, that it is worth a call, even if nothing is seen but the inside of the tent.

The outward morals of the city do not appear to have improved much since we were last there. A society has been endeavoring to reform the inhabitants of the Five Points, and have met with great success, it is said, but if they were any worse formerly than they are now, we pity them in their "first" state.—Among other things, as we were passing along one evening, we observed a couple of ladies (?) in an angry dispute; they soon came to blows, bit, pulled hair, scratched, and finally fell and rolled into a mud-puddle near the scene of action, when they were parted by a bystander. This scene was enjoyed with unmistakable satisfaction by the crowd.

A Maine Law has been talked of in New York State, but if the city was to decide the question for the State, it would be a long time before such a law could be passed. Rum reigns triumphant in New York city, and no better evidence is needed of the increase of the traffic, than the establishment of new stores and restaurants, of which I notice a large number since my last visit here. The proprietors of the Astor House have just opened in the rear of that building, the most splendid drinking saloon, probably, that the country can "boast of." It is entirely of iron and glass, beautiful and tastefully designed and ornamented. In the vicinity of the Crystal Palace, new drinking shops start up almost daily.

There is a large amount of shipping in port. The wharves are lined with vessels, two, three and sometimes four deep, and many are anchored off in the stream, waiting to get somewhere within hail of a wharf. Ship-building, too, seems to be quite lively; we noticed several steamers, ships, and smaller vessels on the stocks, as we passed along the East river.

Yours, &c. A RAMBLER.

THE TRAINER CASE.—The New York Herald of Tuesday contains some proceedings in the above case. Rose Cooper alias Porter was in court to answer, on the new warrant. The Judge said that "the father has the legal right to the child, unless it is established that the father was profligate, and unworthy of being entrusted with its custody.

Trainer testified—I lived in Mobile all my lifetime; am free; my wife and myself belong to the Methodist Episcopal church, where white and colored people resorted. I am thirty-five years of age; my wife is younger. Jane is ten years old.

The Herald report says, that during the proceedings, Capt. Rynders, with a strong force of Union men at his back, came into court, when a commotion was perceptible among the abolitionists, who "looked daggers but used none."

Hon. Jacob Ten Eyck, President of the Madison County Bank, in New York, and for the last forty years a respected resident of Cazenovia, with his wife, accompanied an invalid daughter to Havana last winter, in the hope of improving her health. From Havana they visited some other of the West Indies, and had reached Charleston, S.C., on their return, when both father and mother were stricken down by bilious fever, and died a day or two since, leaving their sick daughter among strangers. Mr. T. was a native of Albany, father of Henry Ten Eyck, last whig candidate for Congress in the Madison district, and will be very widely lamented.

LOCAL.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.

It is time our citizens were making arrangements for celebrating "the glorious 4th," now only about five weeks distant. There has usually been too much delay in the preparation—leaving all the work to be done "at the last minute."

The Board of Aldermen have voted to appropriate $500 for the occasion. The Common Council are to act upon the matter this evening—and may increase that sum, but will probably pass it as it is.

There is reason to expect that the band of Portsmouth "boys" resident in Boston, will make their proposed trip to their old home, on that day. A better idea for all parties concerned, couldn't be; and to secure its being carried out successfully, they should be formally invited down now, and preparations to fitly receive and welcome them made,—the sooner the better. Of course there must be a military escort on the occasion—and why couldn't the old company talked of last year, be better resuscitated then, than at any other time? The more other companies the better, too.

All who know anything about the matter, know that the Floral Processions of Portsmouth are excelled nowhere. Doubtless we shall have one this year, though it will be hard to surpass the last two. There is much desire to have an Industrial Procession also—and the vast amount of labor involved in the planning and carrying out of this very attractive part of the exhibition, demand that it be commenced at once, in order to have all operations done in the best manner. If we remember rightly, there was a committee appointed last year to make arrangements for a display of this kind, who reported that nothing could be done at that time, but that the next [this] year it could probably be accomplished. Will not that committee make some movement in the matter?

We wish to draw attention early to this matter, and do so at the request of several enterprising friends.

THE RUINS.—The old scorched walls of the House on the corner of Ann and Islington streets, which had remained an eysore for a year and more, are at length removed to make way for a new dwelling. The building, thus demolished, was in part erected over the vault of the New Hampshire Bank, after the fire of December 1802, which destroyed the large wooden house in which the Bank was kept previous to the fire. It stood on the east side of the Parade, (now Market Square,) near where the Bank now stands.

When the fine brick Bank building, now the Piscataqua Exchange Bank, was erected and finished, the temporary wooden structure was sold to the late Mr. Nathaniel Dearborn, and by him removed to its late site, enlarged and converted into a dwelling house; and after receiving several other owners, occupants and alterations, has at last received the coup de grace as before described.

"OLD JOE BARTLETT."—Some notice of Joseph Bartlett, Esq., deceased, (better known here by the above title) may be found on our first page, copied from the Biddeford Journal. We have omitted one of the best anecdotes of the Journal, about a fight between two black servants of Daniel Webster and Jeremiah Mason, for the reason only that it is not true. Mr. Mason had no such servant (but a well known, gentlemanly white man) and we are quite positive no such event occurred.

☞ Taylor M. Rundlett, Esq., formerly of this city, has been appointed assistant store keeper in the Boston Custom House.

Mr. Rundlett is a competent store keeper, and a business man.

DOVER AFFAIRS.—The valuation of the town, as taken by the Selectmen, for the purpose of assessing the annual taxes, amounts to $3,211,554. The whole amount raised by taxation is $26,334 76. The purposes for which this sum is appropriated, exclusive of repairs on highways, are as follows:—State Tax $2,023, County Tax 3,692 50, School Tax 3,901 50, Extra School Money 1,500, Town Expense 10,000. Highway Tax 30 cents on a poll, and other property in proportion. Poll Tax $1,97.

MASONIC FESTIVAL.—We learn from the N. H. Patriot, that the Festival of St. John the Baptist, will be celebrated on the twenty-fourth day of June next, at Concord, by the ancient Order of Free and Accepted Masons. The proceedings will be under the direction of the Grand Lodge of New Hampshire, and from that body invitations will be extended to the subordinate Lodges in the State. There is to be a procession, an oration and dinner. The fare on the railroads is to be reduced, and doubtless great numbers will attend to witness and participate in the ceremonies.

Henry B. Childs, who was claimed in Pittsburg as a fugitive slave from Tennesse, was discharged by the U. S. Commissioner on the 13th inst., evidence sufficient to prove the identity of the man not having been produced.

Self-heating Smoothing Iron.
THIS invention is rarely equalled for economy, convenience and comfort. One cent's worth of dry hard coal is ample fuel for a day's ironing; avoids exhausting heat and the changing of irons; gives a better finish, facilitates the work, and never sullies the linen. Its complete success warrants the prediction that it will soon be found in every family. S. JEWETT, St. Johnsbury, Vt.,
Agent of the patentees in Maine, N. H., and Vt.

From the New York Observer.—"Since noticing this ingenious invention, we have seen it fairly tried. It works admirably. It will prove a great convenience to housekeepers, in the saving of fuel and heat as well as of time and labor."

ENGLAND.—In Parliament the financial budget was still debated, and there had been squabbles among the Irish members on the subject of alleged government bribery, owing to the recent dockyard exposures. Lord John Russell had brought in a bill to disfranchise Lord Campbell, and five judges had pronounced a decision in writ of error in the case of Soloman vs. Miller, to test the legality of Alderman Solomon, a Jew, voting in the House of Commons. Their decision confirmed the judgment of the lower court, that Jews cannot sit in either house without taking a Christian oath.

Newspapers to America, containing manuscript writing, will hereafter be charged treble letter postage.

IRELAND.—The Dublin exhibition was opened on Thursday, the 12th of May, by the Lord Lieutenant, in the presence of 15000 spectators. Benson the architect, was knighted by the Lord Lieutenant, but Mr. Durgin, to whose munificent advances of $80,000 the exhibition owes its origin, declined the honor. Mr. Ingersoll apologized, and stated that diplomatic business prevented his attendance.

SPAIN.—Reports unfavorable to the wine crops, come from Catalonia.

SWITZERLAND.—The government of Baden has offered to mediate between Austria and Switzerland.

CHINA.—The insurrection is advancing so rapidly that the Emperor asks assistance from the British.

ROBBERIES.

BOLD ROBBERY.—On Friday night Mr. Moses Wood, of Westboro, Mass., was robbed of two valuable gold watches, under the following circumstances. On Thursday, a thief, who seemed to be a gentleman, called upon Mr. Wood, and asked to look at his stock of watches. He examined them with the air of a millionaire, but could find none to please him. Mr. Wood, at the suggestion of his customer, went to Boston, and purchased a watch which cost $103, at prime cost. On Friday evening the thief called, seemed pleased with the time-piece, and while comparing it with another gold watch belonging to Mr. Wood, he rushed from the shop, bearing off his booty, and has not been heard of since.—Worcester Spy.

A BOLD ATTEMPT to rob the Bedford Commercial Bank of New Bedford was made on Tuesday night. A robber entered the house of Mr. White, the cashier, stole from his chamber his pantaloons, with the keys of the bank and $50, then entered the bank, opened the first door of the vault, but was unable to open the second, notwithstanding he had the proper key. The lock which was opened was one of the celebrated Hobbs manufacture.—The one which could not be opened was, we learn, the invention of a person who formerly resided in that city, and there are but three of the kind in the world. Had they been successful in opening the vault, a great amount of treasure would have been secured.

THE BOLDEST BURGLARY OF THE DAY was committed at Worcester on Tuesday night, when the bed-room of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Carey was entered by a man, with his face concealed, who placed his hand on Mrs. Carey's mouth and thrust a gag into it, unwound a cord from his arm and tied her hands to the bedpost, and threatened, by signs, to take her life if she stirred. She was so overcome by terror that she made no resistance, and the burglar proceeded to rifle the pockets of Mr. Carey, who lay snoring in the back part of the bed, and stole some money from a drawer, when he retired with a booty of $57. The wife was unable to awake her husband until a little daughter, who heard her moan, came from an adjoining room to her relief.

CONCORD CITY SEAL.—The seal of that city is a singular disk, and has for its device a view of the State House, in the centre of the disk; on the outer circle about the device are the mottos, "The wilderness was glad for them," "Law, Education, Religion," and within a smaller circle about the device is the inscription, "Penacook, A. D 1725"—"1853, Concord adopted a City Charter."

THE WONDER OF THE WORLD!

DEVINES'

COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGES.

THIS IS NO HUMBUG.

IT is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as

A Certain Cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Costiveness, Asthma,

AND CONSUMPTION;

and will, in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial; but it has been proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

INTERESTING FACTS

are constantly coming to light, from different parts of the country, showing the astonishing effects of the fair and faithful use of these Lozenges.

HERE IS ONE LETTER,

from a citizen of Portsmouth—and but a sample of hundreds:

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1853.

This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges, —which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. A. A. PAYNE.

THIS IS TRULY A GREAT REMEDY,

and always safe

MARRIAGE,

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, and those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable booksellers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

LETTING HOUSES OF ILL FAME.—In the Boston Municipal Court, Charles Moore, landlord, tried on a charge of letting a house for the purpose of being used as a house of ill fame, situated in Poplar street, and kept by a woman, (the same house where a row lately occurred, during which a female was most brutally treated by a number of rowdies;) was found guilty, but sentence was postponed. He has appealed.

DEATH IN CHURCH.—On Sunday last, May 22, the Congregational Church at Lockport, N. Y. was struck by lightning, during service. It entered the singers' gallery, instantly killing Luther Crecker, one of the choir, and severely wounding six others, three of whom were ladies. The minister, on witnessing the awful occurrence, fainted in the pulpit. Consternation seized all present.

The scenery and furniture of the New York Astor Place Opera House brought but $3000 at auction. Messrs. Kimball, of the Museum, and Willard, of the Athenæum, of Boston, were among the purchasers. The building is to be razed. The company looked to "upper ten-dom," exclusively, for support, and came out bankrupt.

A FIREMAN KILLED.—A fireman, named Dodge, was killed on the Vermont Valley Railroad, near Putney, Monday afternoon, while oiling the machinery of the locomotive, while it was in motion. He was drawn into the machinery, and the lower part of his body torn to fragments before he was discovered.—His remains were taken to Putney.

In Quebec, on Monday night, lightning struck a house. Three persons were seated on a sofa on the ground floor, one of whom, a young lady of twenty, named Villeneuve, was killed instantly; a second was paralyzed, and is reported dead; and the third is still suffering from the stroke.

LIFE IN THE OLDEN TIME.

A contributor in the Dover Enquirer, has raked out of the rubbish of the past a great many items of curious and valuable information, from among which we select the following, in which our readers may be interested.

The following letter from Richard Waldron gives us some information not hitherto published:—

"COCHECHA, 18th; April 1677.

May it Please yor honor;

I have lately Recd Some lines from Majr Gookin intimating an order of ye honrd Council for ye Seuding mee 10 Indus to releive & Strengthen ys pts, wch flauour I gratefully Acknowledge but of the Said 10 but 2 are come from Cambridge & 3 from Ipswich 2 ye latter being old & unfit for Seruise wch must disuisse again to Saue Charges.

Majr Gookin hints yt ye Indus Auersions to coming hither is not without Some Reasons of weight without telling mee what they are but am since better Informed of their Complaints from ye Secretary, vizt. of my Improueing them to labor about my own ocations without any Allowance & their dissatisfaction with my Prouisions. ffor ye flormer I did Employ Some of ym, 5 or 6 days but pd ym for it o their full satisfaction. Indeed wn I Sent out men to Cut wood flor ye ffire they Went out with ym as our English Souldiers use to due to prouide wood to make ymselves a fire. I think some of ym in my Absence were ordered 2 or 3 dayes to Cut bushes on ye Side of ye Common Road whout wch no Post or other could Passe without danger of being cutt of by an unseen enemy.

As to their Prouisions know not why they should [complain] unless because I did not keep a Maid to dresse their Vituals for ym but ordered ym to do it ymselves. I did not discouer any Kind of dissatisfaction till Peter Ephraim came & after yt nothing wd content ym but they must go home. Wn I had ye 1st intimation of three Indus Seen up Merrimack I had ordered 50 forthwith to haue gone out but through the Sd Peter's means they were grown Soe high & ungouernable was fforc't to dismiss them.

Since my last we haue been & are almost daily Alarmed by ye Enemy. An Acct of ye Mischeif done Presume yor hours haue already had.

resting Sr Yor Very humble Serut

RICHARD WALDERN."

In the spring of the year 1687, a peace was concluded at Cascoe, Major Shapleigh of Kittery, Captain Francis Champernoon and Mr Fryer of Portsmouth acting for the whites.—The following paper has reference to this matter:

"For Major Waldron & Major Pendleton.

from your selves by seueral letteres we haue receiued Information of Squando & the other Indians case their Desire further to hear the English of — — — parts for a firm peace & that Major Shapleigh & C Champernoon are Desired to Aduance in that matter as most acceptable to the Indians. if themselves or any other persons be Judged Sutable by yourselves for such an occasion be obtained to hear them they may In the name of the Governor & Councill promise them a Safe Conduct comeing and returning hither in way of treaty whether anything Concluded or no as they formerly Haue if otherwise they may take the Indians Demands of which ourselves hear may Consider & give Answer. In the Mean time advising as ye Spring cometh on to be upon your watch and guard your own Security.

not else but Remajne S — — —
your friend & Seruant Edwd Rawson Secret & — — — — — — — of the Councill."

9th of March 77.

By the terms of this treaty the captives were restored and the deserted settlements permitted to be re-occupied, the whites paying one peck of corn annually for each family as an acknowledgement to the Indians for the possession of the lands. Thus a tedious and distressing war was ended by a disgraceful peace, though perhaps its terms were as favorable as the colonists had a right to expect.

DANGEROUS.—A correspondent of the Boston Transcript writes the particulars of a recent accident, by which a boy put out one of his brother's eyes with an arrow shot from a spring bow; and the surgeon who attended in the case said it was the sixth accident of the kind that had come under his notice. Boys should be very cautious while practising this dangerous amusement.

The trial of Mary Ann Wheeler for the murder of John M. W. Lace, her seducer, whom she stabbed while walking in the streets of Milwaukie, Wis., on the 15th of October last, was commenced in the Circuit Court in that city, on the 16th inst. The defence is insanity.

DAILY

PORTSMOUTH:
FRIDAY, MAY 27, 1853.

NUISANCES.

A Chapter or Nuisances, Theodore Parker would say, but we say rather, A Chapter on Nuisances. And the great question or text will be, whether a bridge or a wharf is such a nuisance as ought to be abated.

The Exeter News Letter copies the following paragraphs from an article of ours about bridges:

"The old Piscataqua bridge has passed into a precedent, and the Newmarket, the Portsmouth, and two or three Railroad Bridges, have followed in the footsteps of their illustrions predecessor. And there will be more bridges before there are less. To be sure, in the old English Common Law, every wharf and mill-dam obstructing navigable water, was deemed a nuisance. But royal charters, and republican charters, have licensed so many of these nuisances, that they are tolerated everywhere, except in a few places where there is not enterprise enough to build them.

The nuisance of bridges, is as well established as that of foreign immigration, and unnaturalized voting."

The News Letter then subjoins the following remarks and questions:

"We deny nothing that the Chronicle has said, as here quoted. There is not a mill-dam nor wharf in the civilized world, obstructing navigable waters, that is not a nuisance, and that ought not to be demolished. The decision of Judge McLean, to this effect, which we published last week, settles this question.

Now, we ask the Chronicle by what authority the railroad bridge over the Piscataqua, at Portsmouth, exists? Also, on what law every other bridge now spanning the Piscataqua and Squamscot, below Exeter Falls, is based?

Does the Chronicle deny that each of these bridges is an obstruction to navigable waters? Does it claim that Portsmouth has any more right to control the navigation of this river than Exeter?

But the question will be asked by the Chronicle, "If the navigation of the river has been impeded by the existing bridges?" Let it remember that during the last war with England, the frigate Congress came up the river as far as the Piscataqua bridge, and ask itself it such a feat would now be attempted."

The answer to the four questions of the News Letter, may be given in few words, viz: Public Convenience or Accommodation. And we shall also answer the question which the News Letter supposes us to put, whether the bridges obstruct navigation, by saying Yes.

Every artificial improvement on a large scale must be a Nuisance to some persons whose interests or habits lead them to prefer a state of nature.

The clearing of land by cutting down the forest, spoils it for the Indian, who calls the hunting ground a paradise and the farm a nuisance.

Long Wharf in Boston must have been a great nuisance to the small wharf and land owners at the North End, and Charlestown Bridge a still greater nuisance to fishermen and builders at Medford, "long, long ago."

But the question arises, Was the nuisance greater than the convenience? In other words, Were there not ten vessels benefitted by Long Wharf, where one vessel was incommoded? And where one man used the river, did not one hundred use the bridge?

A toll-bridge, Portsmouth bridge for example, is a great nuisance to the traveller—certainly the toll-house is, for there he has to pay a grievous tax, and so he grumbles—but if there were no toll-house there might be no bridge; and if there were no bridge, he must stay at home, or be ferried over at more cost, or go round by Dover. No, we beg pardon, he must not go by Dover nor New Market, for on both these routes there are bridges over navigable waters. Therefore he must go round by Exeter, all on his way to Portland. But this would be a greater nuisance, and so he puts up with the nuisance of the toll-gates, and goes on his journey.

We cannot say whether the Congress or any other frigate will ever go up to Piscataqua Bridge again—certainly we hope not. But this we can say, Portsmouth Bridge is of more use to the public every day, than the Congress frigate ever was in a year.

We have an objection to the factory dam and all the mill dams at Exeter, and Dover, and every where over falls of fresh water.—They too are nuisances,—for they stop the shad and salmon, and we know not how many other fishes, from ascending; and therefore the fishermen above and below have reason to complain. And when they do so, we answer them by saying we are sorry to do you a displeasure: but public convenience demands the mill.

So does Public Convenience and the March of Improvement demand the Bridge, the Railroad, the Wharf, the Steamboat and the Mill dam. And the human Laws on Paper are changing and will be changed, to suit such Mechanical Forces and Fixed Facts as locomotives and railroad bridges.

Judge McLean, or Judge Any-body else, may decide now as his big-wigged predecessors decided in Henry the Eighth's time, perhaps;—and this is the conservative power, useful for holding back. But the successors of Judge McLean, and even his colleagues, and perhaps himself, must meet a new state of facts, with a new set of decisions.

The Wharves and Bridges will stand—but the laws will change to suit them.

DEATH BY LIGHTNING.

We have already mentioned briefly, the death of Mr. Luther Crocker, who was killed by lightning in a church at Lockport, N. Y., on Sunday last, during public worship. We now give the following particulars, from the Lockport Courier, of Monday, which cannot fail to interest every reader:

Yesterday afternoon, just after the services at the Congregational Church had commenced, the house was struck by lightning, causing the death of Mr. Luther Crocker, Jr., and injuring more or less Samuel Durfee, Cyrus C. Norham, a son of Wm. Mack, aged 14, Mary Place, Francis Holmes, and Miss Sarah Stewart.

The lightning struck the Church steeple on the southwest corner, passing down into the gallery occupied by the singers, which was directly under the steeple, and all the persons affected by the shock, were members of the choir. They were about concluding the introductory hymn when the shock came, carrying death, sorrow and dismay into their midst. The main streak of electricity entered the gallery directly over the head of Mr. Crocker, who was playing the bass viol, and diverged off either way, injuring the persons named above.

The first moment after the shock was one of universal consternation and dismay. Every person in the gallery, numbering twelve or fifteen, excepting one or two, were prostrated by the shock, but those that escaped injury, aided by persons from below, immediately proceeded to the assistance of the unfortunate.—Some of the injured persons had their faces and bodies burned, making them present a horrible picture.

They were all removed as quickly as possible to the open air, and the proper remedies were applied, under the direction of Drs. Fassett and Gould—who providentially were in church at the time—which were successful in restoring all except Mr. Cocker. The deceased, to all outward appearances, sustained the least injury of any of the sufferers, but he was doubtless visited with the heaviest shock.

The lightning seems to have passed along the outside of his vest, down to the right thigh, then across, down his left leg, ripping open his boot in passing off. The only scar on his person is on the left foot, and this is very slight. He spoke once after the shock.

Mr. Elias Clark was standing between him and Mr. Durfee, and not being injured, he proceeded to lift the latter up, when the deceased said to him—"Help me, I am hurt the worst!" Mr. C. was immediately taken out, but he only gasped once or twice and expired.

The scene within the church immediately after the shock is represented by an eye witness to have been amful in the extreme. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Gilman, whose position in the pulpit was such as to enable him to see at a glance the terrible effect of the lightning, fainted away; as did several of the ladies, and a ghastly paleness overspread every countenance.

The shock was so terrific, and its effects so astounding, that it seemed to deprive all of the power of giving vent to their feelings in the manner usually exhibited on similar but less appalling occasions. Not a shriek or a groan was heard, save the almost inaudible ones made by some one of the victims; no bustle or confusion ensued, but dread consternation seemed to take hold of all for the time.

The lightning was seen to strike the church by several persons outside, those near being stunned by its effects. A piece of the cornice of the steeple was thrown across the road on east of the church, and several long strips from the wood work lodged in the middle of the road on the south.

The lightning seems to have gone in and out of the building several times before reaching the ground, and it appears finally to have divided, one portion of it reaching the ground by the portico, and the other by passing from the gallery to the basement.

The course of the electricity in the house was very singular; it appears to have gone from object to object in an unusual manner, and some persons think it to have divided into numerous parts, but this is all conjecture.—The gallery is much shattered from its effects, but no damage is done to the walls or timbers of the church.

For the Chronicle.

AN INVITATION TO THE "PORTSMOUTH BOYS" IN BOSTON.

Come home! we'll ring each tuneful bell,
And hang our banners out,
And honest hearts with joy shall swell,
To give their welcome shout.

Come with your honored King, who reigns
Within the realm of thought,
Whose accents thrill as if the strains
From Angel lips were caught.

Come with the fragrant flowers of song
Culled from our native Fields,
Whose beauty o'er the giddy throng,
A magic sceptre wields.

And let Dame Partington take down
The picture on the wall,
That "Ike" may bear about the town,
The shadow of "dear Paul."

The shady haunts that childhood knew,
Ye never can forget;
The woodlands where the violets grew
Are calling to thee yet.

Piscataqua rolls on as free,
And Sagamore, dear spot,
Still blooms as sweetly by the sea,
And sighs "forget me not."

Come home, we'll ring each merry bell,
And hang our banners out,
While honest hearts with joy shall swell,
To give their welcome shout.

A. L.

Capt. Vars of Bristol, R. I., was fishing in a sailboat off that town, with a gentleman and lady, when the boat was run down and sunk. All three were good swimmers, and sustained themselves until relieved.

LOCAL.

City Council—May 26.

In Board of Aldermen, a petition was presented for repairs on Dennett street; also, from Mr. Augustus Shackley, for sidewalk in School street—both granted.

A petition from Dr. Brewster, for privelege of erecting an awning on the east side of his house in Brewster street was referred to committee on Roads & Bridges.

A request of Messrs. Toppan, Spalding and Bartlett, for the privilege of erecting a Bath House on a raft on the western side of Noble's Island was referred to a special committee, consisting of the Mayor and Ald. Jenkins and Colcord, to examine the premises and grant the same, if within the city powers.

A statement was received from the police respecting fines said to be in their hands;—some were remitted and others ordered to be collected.

A message was received from the Council, stating that they had passed the Appropriation Bill with amendments, in which they asked the concurrence of the Board of Aldermen; also, that they had fixed on Friday evening for the choice of officers, if the Aldermen concur.

The resolution from the Council, fixing on Friday evening for the election of officers was concurred in.

The Appropriation Bill, as amended by the Council, was taken up. The Aldermen concurred in the amendments relative to the Gravelly Ridge and Bartlet schools; and nonconcurred in the amendments to the appropriations for the celebration of Independence, the Brick Market, and Flag-staff on Market Square. Adjourned.

In Common Council, the President being absent, Mr. Hackett was called to the Chair.

The Council took up the Appropriation bill as passed by the Aldermen, and the following amendments were proposed and adopted:

Appropriating the sum of $800 for celebrating the 4th of July, instead of $500—on condition that not more than $200 be expended for fireworks.

[The increase of appropriation is designed to aid in the proper reception of the excepted "Portsmouth Boys" from Boston.]

The Appropriations for the Brick Market and the flag-staff on Market Square were struck out.

The Appropriation for alterations of Bartlett School was raised to $560, and a new plan proposed.

Modifications were proposed and adopted, on the School House to be built at Gravelly Ridge, viz: to have half an acre of land, and erect the building by contract.

The Bill as amended was then passed and sent up for concurrence.

It was voted to light the Common Council Room with gas.

Resolved, (If the Aldermen concur,) to go into Convention on Friday evening, for choice of officers.

Voted, To discontinue the practice of tolling bells at funerals (if the Aldermen concur.)

The vote was afterwards reconsidered, and the subject laid on the table. Adjourned.

Reported for the Chronicle.

Court of Common Pleas—Adj. Term.

Exeter, May 26.

Bassett vs. Salisbury Manufacturing Co.—There have been 53 witnesses examined in this case; 19 on the side of the Pltf., and 34 on that of the Defts., many of them twice. This morning at 12 o'clock the senior counsel for the defence, Hon. J. S. Wells, commenced addressing the Jury. He will occupy this afternoon, and will be followed by H. F. French, Esq., for the Pltf.

THE CONCERT THIS EVENING.

The entertainment of vocal music at the Cameneum to-night, by the Portsmouth Quintet Club, under the direction of Mr. Moses, cannot fail of being a rich treat to all lovers of good music. The programme is excellent—and the performers able to do it full justice. Such exertion to please should be encouraged in native talent, if the fine arts are worth patronising at all. The Cameneum will appear to better advantage than ever before, with its new arrangement of lights.

LIFE IN OLDEN TIMES.—A piece with this title on our first page to-day, will interest every lover of American Antiquities and Indian Story. Several items of Indian Warfare, not elsewhere recorded, are contained in the Waldron letter.

THE DOUBLE F. (ff).—In the above mentioned document the printers follow the typography of the Dover Enquirer. In the black letter, and some other writings of two hundred years ago, it is very common to find two small fs put for a Capital, thus ff. Indeed many writers seem to have known how to make no other; and so me founts of type contained the double small f, in place of a capital. We observe these double ffs in the New Castle Charter, and suppose that persons may have been misled by them, into wrong orthography. We have seen the name of Frost sometimes spelled Ffrost, which we suppose to be an error. ffrost will do very well, and so will ffirst,—but not Ffrost, or Ffirst.

INTERESTING INTELLIGENCE FROM MEXICO.—New Orleans, May 24.—We have dates from the City of Mexico to the 9th of May.

The Government was adopting severe measures against all whose opinions were considered pernicious. A decree had been published ordering the arrest of all persons who served in the American army as guerillas during the late war, who are to be tried by a court martial.

A list of the officers who surrendered prisoners of war to General Scott when he entered the capital, has also been issued degrading them from their rank in the army, and dismissing them from all civil employment. The army was being organized and increased, and several new battalions are created.

Gov. Trias, of Chihuahua, has marched to to oppose the occupation of the Mesilla Valley by the American troops.

MELANCHOLY RESULT FROM THE SPIRITUAL DELUSION.—The Taunton Gazette states that Miss Nancy Sherman, of Plympton, who died on the 15th inst., starved herself to death. She had been quite noted as a medium of spiritual communication, and by constant ministration in that office, had become so completely imbued with its hallucination as to be unfitted for the ordinary duties of life.

About a month since she attempted to hang herself, but was prevented from accomplishing her design. She then announced that the spirits had forbidden her eating any more, and for three weeks she studiously abstained from partaking of any food, living on water alone, although at times so tortured by the pangs of hunger as to writhe in agony.

The last week was passed in fearful alternations from convulsions to momentary consciousness, with constant relapses, until death put an end to her sufferings.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Col. Love Keay, of Berwick, Me., died very suddenly at the house of Dr. J. C. Hanson, in this town, on Saturday last. Col. Keay has been unwell for some time, and came to this village on Friday last, for the purpose of obtaining medical advice, and while walking up the steps leading to the doctor's house, was taken with a paralytic stroke, and died on Saturday morning. He was about sixty years of age.—Great Falls Journal.

INTERESTING DECISION.—Attorney General Cushing has decided that an officer under government is entitled to his pay from the time of taking the oath of office, though the officer whom he is to succeed is also entitled to be paid until actually superseded. This decision, it is presumed, applies principally to foreign missions. It opens the way for more assaults upon Uncle Sam's Money box.

ALEXANDER HUMBOLDT ON TABLE-MOVING.—The Silesian Gazette publishes a letter addressed by Alexander von Humboldt to a friend who had applied for his opinion upon the supposed magnetical phenomena of table-moving, which has been described in several journals. The veteran physicist remarks that it is always easier to destroy a false theory than an inaccurately apprehended fact. He then adverts to a long series of pseudo-scientific discoveries which have been made and exploded in the course of his 84 years's experience, and advises the table-movers "to try their chaff upon some younger bird."

IK MARVEL APPOINTED A CONSUL.—The Donald G. Mitchell, who has been appointed Consul to Venice, is no less a personage than the celebrated Ik Marvel, the great dreamer, who has written the "Reveries of a Bachelor," and other works of fiction and fancy.—Mr. Mitchell is a good scholar, an acomplished gentleman, and no doubt will discharge the duties of his consulate acceptably to the nation.

Several of the Boston papers of Thursday morning last, contained allusions to an unpleasant occurrence which took place in Boston, on Monday night last, in which D. N. Merrist, who some years since was pastor of the Winter street church in this town, and the wife of one of our most respected citizens are implicated. The statement contains many errors, but we regret to add that the main facts are undoubtedly correct.—Haverhill, Mass. Gazette.

EXTRAORDINARY LONGEVITY.—Died on Saturday, the 30th ult., at the advanced age of 120 years, Monica, a servant woman of Mrs. Eliza Lancaster, of Cobb Neck, Charles county, Maryland. Incidents which she frequently related furnished data from which her age could be nearly ascertained. She was a servant of the most uncommon industry and fidelity. Though for many years left to her own pleasure and under no restraint, she would, until within a few months of her death, try to render services to her mistress, to whom she was devotedly attached.—Port Tobacco (Maryland) Times.

NAVAL.—A Washington despatch states that the Secretary of the Navy has suspended the distribution of extra compensation voted by Congress on the naval service on the coast of California during the Mexican war, on the ground that he had reasons for believing that large forgeries had matured, and false affidavits been preferred.

The North Bridgewater, Mass., Gazette says that a young boy, son of Mr. Jacob Churchill, of that town, recently swallowed a silver half dollar, from which he was relieved a day or two afterwards.

FINE PLACE FOR A PICNIC.—Last Saturday forenoon, the Teachers and pupils of the Brown High School, in Newburyport, accompanied by a small party of ladies and gentlemen, had a social pic-nic at the Devile's Den, so called.

FRATRICIDE.—Barclay Clancy, aged 16, stabbed and killed his brother Charles, aged 18, in New York City, last Saturday night, near the corner of Mulberry and Walker streets.—They are Irish boys, and had been drinking in a porter house. Barclay Clancy has been committed to the Tombs.

The Illustrated Weekly Record of the

OF INDUSTRY OF ALL NATIONS,

Under the direction of PROF. B. SILLIMAN, Jr. Aided by eminent writers in each department of Science and Art.

THIS Journal, as its name implies, will record the history, progress and results of the New-York Industrial Exhibition.

The Literary portion of the paper will be prepared under competent editorial supervision, by the ablest literary, scientific and practical men, and will include essays, descriptions and criticisms in the following departments:—

I. NATURAL SCIENCE—Raw Materials, &c.
II. MACHINERY.
III. MANUFACTURES—in Subdivisions.
IV. FINE ARTS

General Essays may be expected on the condition and results of the several departments, on the natural resources of our country, and on the method by which they may be made most available to American Art, and to artistic and industrial Manufactures. Other articles of a more general scope, on topics naturally suggested by the exhibition, will be occasionally admitted. It is intended that all the descriptions and criticisms shall be accurate, and strictly impartial and independent. The Essays will be as free a possible from all technicalities, and every effort will be made to render them attractive and interesting to general readers.

The letter press will be illustrated by engravings of the most beautiful, interesting and suggestive of the various objects exhibited, including, as far as possible, all such as may gratify and instruct.—The RECORD will thus supply sources of instruction to Artisans and Manufacturers of every class, and render the Exhibition, permanently and practically useful, long after the contents have been dispersed.

The ILLUSTRATED RECORD will be issued weekly from the opening to the close of the Exhibition, and will be completed in twenty-six numbers, besides a probable supplement.

Each number will consist of four doubled-columned pages of letter press, of the size and quality of the Prospectus; four pages of Illustrtions, and four pages devoted to the circulars of the Exhibitors. The first No. will contain four extra pages, including Architectural details of the building, and the designs by Sir Jos. Paxton and the late A. J. Downing, and will be published on the day of the opening of the Exhibition.

Office of the Association for the Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations,
NEW YORK, 21st January, 1853.

MESSRS. G. P. PUTNAM & CO.,
GENTLEMEN:—The proposals made by you, in conformity with the advertisement issued from this office on thd 22d November, having been accepted, and a contract made thereupon, you have become EXCLUSIVELY entitled to the privilege of publishing, under the authority and sanction of this Association, an Illustrated Catalogue and Illustrated Newspaper relating to the Exhibition now in course of preparation, and of printing and selling the same in the Exhibition building. You have also become contractors for the publication of the Illustrated Catalogue, the compilation, publication, and sale of these works, you will receive all the facilities that the Board of Directors can reasonably afford you.

You are well aware that the object of the Association, in making an arrangement of this kind, is not pecuniary gain, but to secure a publication of a superior grade of typographical, literary and artistic merit. To this you have assented; and if the very high standard agreed on be reached by you, the result will, it is hoped, be of great and lasting beneficial influence.

I am, very respectfully, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
W. WHETTEN, Secretary.

THE WONDER OF THE WORLD!

DEVINES'

COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGES.

THIS IS NO HUMBUG.

IT is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as
and will, in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial; but it has been proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

INTERESTING FACTS

are constantly coming to light, from different parts of the country, showing the astonishing effects of the fair and faithful use of these Lozenges.

HERE IS ONE LETTER,

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1853.
This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges, —which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. MARRIAGE,

Happiness and Competence,

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied, and better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]
First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

TRUE FREEDOM AND HOW TO GAIN IT.

BY CHARLES MACKAY.

We want no flag, no flaunting rag,
For Liberty to fight;
We want no blaze of murderous guns,
To struggle for the right.
Our spears and swords are printed words,
The mind our battle plain;
We've won such victories before,
And so we shall again.

We love no triumphs sprung of force—
They stain her brightest cause;
'Tis not in blood that Liberty
Inscribes her civil laws.
She writes them on the people's heart,
In language clear and plain;
True thoughts have moved the world before,
And so they shall again.

We yield to none in earnest love
Of freedom's cause sublime;
We join the cry, "Fraternity!"
We keep the march of Time.
And yet we grasp nor spike nor spear,
Our victories to obtain;
We've won without their aid before,
And so we shall again.

We want no aid of barricade
To show a front of wrong;
We have a citadel in Truth,
More durable and strong.
Calm words, great thoughts, unflinching faith,
Have never strip'n in vain;
They've won our battles many a time,
And so they shall again.

Peace, progress, knowledge, brotherhood—
The ignorant may sneer,
The bad deny: but we rely
To see their triumph near.
No widow's groans shall load our cause,
No blood of brethren slain:
We've won without such aid before,
And so we shall again.

JOE BARTLETT'S OTHER STORY.—A friend who has occasion to remember, says that Hon. Jeremiah Mason had at one time a mulatto man in his service. This makes us less positive that the fight never occurred—and therefore we give the story as told by the Biddeford Journal.

One day, as he [Bartlett] was on his way to his office gloomily pondering upon his cheerless condition, he chanced to come upon Cæsar and Pompey, the black servants of his friends Mason and Webster, who were in high dispute upon some trivial affair. Now, thought Bartlett, was a chance for him a "case;" so whispering into Cæsar's ear an intimation, that a proper self-respect required at his hands a severe flogging of Pompey,—blows were soon interchanged, and then Pompey in turn was reminded of the remedy that the law provides in such cases. "'Squire Bartlett" had scarcely reached his office, when Pompey had Cæsar there, under arrest, to answer for the "assault and battery." The case was heard, a liberal portion of good advice given, a small fine and cost awarded. Not a cent had either Pomp or Cæsar, and neither of them would Justice Bartlett permit to leave until the law was satisfied. Word was sent to the masters, and soon Mason and Webster were in attendance. Neither of the black men had a word to say. Mr. Mason remarked to his brother Bartlett that he was very sorry to find Cæsar thus arraigned before him. To which Bartlett quietly replied,—"Cæsar, aut nullus."*—Mason very readily apprehended the poor man's desperate want of business—and paying the charges, the black fellows were permitted to return to their respective kitchens.

AN HONEST CONFESSION.—The "Shepherd of the Valley," a Roman Catholic newspaper published under the auspices of the Roman Catholic Bishop of St. Louis, says that "if the Catholics ever gain, which they surely will do, though at a distant day, an immense numerical majority, religious freedom in this country is at end. So say our enemies. So we believe."

The article, from which the above is an extract, is a defence of "civil punishment of spiritual crime," or in other words, religious persecution. Upon this point, the writer says among other things, that "the temporal punishment of heresy is a mere question of expediency; that Protestants do not persecute us here simply because they have not the power; and that where we abstain from persecuting them, they are well aware, that it is merely because we cannot do so, or think that by doing so we should injure the cause that we wish to serve."

There is nothing jesuitical about these sentiments. They are bold and pointed. They are undisguisedly anti-American and anti-Republican. But, (says the Boston Journal) it is the fault of the friends of religious freedom and Republicanism if they suffer the dangerous policy which is developed in the article from which we have copied the above, to supersede the present liberal and enlightened policy of our government.

"WHO IS GEORDY WASHINGTON?"—The London News stated lately that an old English newspaper is still extant, wherein the pertinent inquiry is made—"Who is Geordy Washington?" Replying to its own query, the journal states that "Geordy" is an obscure leader of militiamen, who meddles with matters that are above his comprehension, and whose obscure life will be "rounded" by the gallows if he continues his treasonable practices, and "provokes his betters too far!"—Further, the public are requested to decide upon his character by the station of his associates, one of whom is spoken of as a "dirty printer's man named Benjamin Franklin!"

THE TRAINER CASE, at New York, was continued on Tuesday. The Herald mentions that Trainer, the father of Jane, did not appear in Court, till Judge Duer sent two Constables for him, not to compel his attendance, but to assure him of the protection of the court. The child was questioned by the Judge, without being sworn, as she said she did not understand the nature of an oath.

The Rev. Mr. Whitmore, who sued his parish in Plymouth, Mass., for his salary, has recovered a verdict. The charge against him of lasciviousness of thirty-five years standing falls to the ground.

The wife of Dr. Sherwood, of Hoosick, N. Y., committed suicide by hanging herself on Friday morning of last week. The deed was attributed to the influence of "spiritual rappings."

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
SATURDAY, MAY 27, 1853.

TO UNION MEN.

Seeing this caption in the Boston Chronicle of the 24th, led us to look carefully at the article, which we supposed might have some reference to the fugitive slave law or possibly to Uncle Tom. But it was not so. The first two sentences run thus:

"It appears to be the determination of the whig majority of the legislature not to repeal the Maine law. The rights of a numerous class of citizens, which were outraged by the coalition, the whigs have refused to protect."

Then follows a very considerable objurgation of the liquor law, and of the parties aforesaid, who have not repealed it. And now, says the Chronicle—

"Repealers must organize themselves into a grand Union party, actuated by a spirit of conciliation and forbearance on all minor considerations of a mere political character existing under the name of whig or democrat, and press on, shoulder to shoulder, with a determination to be satisfied with nothing short of victory. * * * * Our friends must vote for no man who is not openly pledged in favor of repeal, and neither must they vote for any man who voted for the Maine law, or who opposed repeal. He who opposed repeal is as bad as he who gave his vote for the law. The man who favors the ultraisms of the day, should also be a marked man, and receive none of our suffrages, for such are almost invariably Maine law men.

The existing political parties of this state, as at present organized, have become a byeword and a reproach. * * * * * Let the hunker democrats and the Webster whigs consolidate their forces on the great principles which they hold in common,—that of the perpetuity of the union of this republic of states, and present the right men as candidates to the people, the existing apology for whiggery and democracy which now debase the politics of this commonwealth will become powerless."

If this advice is followed, there will be in Massachusetts next Fall, at least four parties, viz: first, the democrats, who now hold the U. S. offices; secondly, the whigs, who now hold the state offices; thirdly, the free democrats, who have sometimes held the balance between the first two; and lastly, but not least, the "Grand Union Party"—to be composed of such "Hunker Democrats and Webster Whigs" as do not like the liquor law, who are to consolidate their forces and march on to victory! We are not certain that this programme will be played out—but so it stands in the bills.

LODGINGS FOR THE POOR.—The question, what old houses are good for, may be answered indirectly, by saying that a poor lodging is better than none, and that an old house will answer the tenants who cannot afford to hire any better.

In France, the emperor has built and is building many fine buildings in Paris, and the inconveniences caused by the extensive demolitions of dwelling-houses continue to be exceedingly serious. The common price of a working-man's night's lodging is ten sous, instead of three or four, which it was till lately. A number of operatives employed at the Louvre lately petitioned the Emperor on the subject, and obtained a promise that their complaints should have the most serious consideration. It is said that M. Visconti, the architect, has received an order to build on government ground lodgings for 6000 workmen, which are to be let at four sous a night.

HYPERCRITICISM.—The Meredith Democrat says:

The only real offence with which the whigs accuse Governor Martin, is that he has been guilty of appointing two men to office whose sir-names are Martin, viz:—Martin Heald and Martin Chase."

We had always thought, till now, that a sur-name was something added to the first or christian name, as Simon, whose surname was Peter, or Andrew, whose surname was Jackson. What a sir-name is, we cannot tell.

WYKOFF & GAMBLE.—Private letters from London state that Chevalier Wykoff, of whose strange love adventures the public have been apprized, had reappeared in that city in company with Miss Gamble, (at whose instigation he was locked up at Genoa, we believe,) and the story now is that the pair are such warm friends that their marriage is looked for at any moment; in fact, that their intention of marriage has been publicly avowed by them.—N. Y. Express.

We read the Chevalier's account of the matter, some time ago, and came to the conclusion that one of the lovers must be crazy.—Now we deem them both to be partially insane—considerably so—especially on the subject of marriage.

☞ We are informed by letter from Pensacola, Florida, that the U. S. ship Columbia, with all her armament and four hundred men, was docked successfully on the 17th inst.

TRAINER CASE.—In the Superior Court, New York City, May 26, the case of Jane Trainer was further postponed by Judge Daer until Saturday.

PROLIFIC.—A lady in Billerica, Mass., on Sunday, gave birth to three children—all doing well.

LOCAL.

BELLS.

"List to the tolling bell, Mournfully pealing."

An attempt has been made in the Common Council of our City to dispense with the tolling of funeral bells among us, which is now common, but is held to be annoying to very sick people, especially to those of a nervous cast, and those who entertain gloomy views of death.

This is somewhat debatable ground; and the tolling will doubtless have some advocates, who will say—the bells are tolled in honor of the dead; they are suited to create a solemn impression on the living, by reminding them that they all must die, and to attract the sympathy of the public to the bereaved family.

But on the other hand, the advocates of silencing the funeral peal will reply, that the public sympathy, which in a small village is attracted to every bereaved family in its little circle, in a populous city becomes scattered and weakened by hearing the daily tolling of bells for persons whom we have never known, and whose names perhaps we cannot learn.—For this reason among others, it is little used in our large cities.

As to the solemn effect on the living—the gloom and sadness which it produces on some of the sick, as above described, is the principal reason urged against the practice by those who wish to have it discontinued, and is condemned by most physicians.

The honor to the dead is something, when it is a special and peculiar mark of distinction—but it loses much of this character when it is given indiscriminately.

The subject will come up again, and some action be taken, perhaps recommending a discontinuance, rather than ordaining it. In the mean time it may be well to consider the question, whether all the good that can possibly be claimed for the practice, is not overbalanced by one hour's needless and useless pain, inflicted on some poor sufferer, who hears his own knell in advance, as the bell tolls for the funeral of his neighbor.

Formerly, in this town, on the day of a funeral, the bell of a church where the deceased had attended, was tolled at 12 o'clock, M., then at 2 P. M., and again at 3, if the funeral was to be at that time. These three peals were tolled 15 minutes each. As churches and bells increased, and families were often divided between two churches, it became common to toll two bells for one person, and finally it was not a strange thing to toll three. This jingling of bells became quite annoying, and the late Judge Sherburne, something more than thirty years ago penned a resolution which reduced the three peals to two, and cut the time down to five minutes instead of fifteen. This resolution he sent into town meeting by another person whom he deemed more popular than himself. The Judge, when the resolution came up, spoke against it, and defended the old usage; but the resolution was passed, as he wished and expected.

The origin of funeral bells, as well as their precise meaning, is somewhat doubtful and obscure.

The heathen Greeks, in their funeral processions, were preceded by a bell-man, who carried a hand bell, which he sounded to warn away the holy, who might be defiled by coming to near a corpse.

Church bells were common on Christian churches before the conquest of Constantinople by the Mahometans—and they seem to have been struck or tolled at or before that time, to drive away evil spirits from around the dead, at the time of death, or at the burial, or both.

The Mahometans prohibited the use of bells, because the noise of them, as they alleged, would frighten away the spirits of the faithful, who hovered round their old homes as they fancied.

At an early period of church bell history in England, the use of bells was prohibited at funerals and during a season of mourning—though in all modern days, the tolling of the bells has been a prominent part of funeral ceremonies. To those who cherish cheerful views of death, and divest the unseen world of terror, the tolling bell is a harmless, and even pleasant part of the last rites to a departed friend.

Swift defines the "Passing-Bell," as "the bell that rings at the hour of death, to obtain prayers for the passing soul. It is also used for the bell that rings immediately after death."

FOURTH OF JULY.

It was rather a disappointment to some, ourselves among them,) that the Aldermen non-concurred in the appropriation of $800 for celebrating the 4th of July, this year, particularly as the Boston wing of Portsmouth was about to flit this way.

We hope this matter will be reconsidered and adjusted speedily, and a public invitation given for the visit, as soon as an organization in Boston shall render it proper.

A little money spent in that way would in our opinion be well spent.

City Council—May 27.

IN COMMON COUNCIL—Voted to adhere to the amendments in the Appropriation bill; and appointed Messrs. Brewster, Rand and Nelson, as a committee of conference.

IN CONVENTION—Balloted for City Treasurer: whole number votes 28; necessary for choice 15: Robert Lefavour had 14, and was chosen by the casting vote of the Mayor.

For Collector of Taxes, Robt. Lefavour had 15, and was elected: others 13.

For City Marshal, A. J. Beck had 16 out of 28, and was elected.

Assistant Marshals, Constables, and Police, are to be the same persons: chose Bartholomew Downing, Nathaniel Manson, Joseph B. Adams, Thomas Brackett, John H. Downing, Albert Hayes and Wm. C. Hatch.

Daniel P. Scott, Supt. City Farm.

When our report closed, (10 1-2 o'clock,) the Convention were balloting for City Physician.

"THE PUMP HANDLE."

Messrs. Editors:—Some rascals have broken the handle of our prolific pump at the corner of Daniel and Penhallow streets, stopping its unceasing music and its never-failing stream of pure aqua. This pump is a great convenience to many poor families in this vicinity, as well as to all classes of our dry citizens who are accustomed to pass the much frequented thoroughfare upon which it is located. It supplies good water in great abundance, and should not be suffered to lie idle. Shall our pumb be re-handled immediately?

DIVIDEND.—The Gas Company in this city have declared a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent.

A PRESENT FROM MRS. PARTINGTON.—Uncle Toby offers his high regards to Mrs. Partington, with his thanks for sending him a nicely bound book, full of beautiful pieces of poetry, written by one Mr. Shillaber, who is understood to be a relative of the old lady. The family likeness is apparent in the young man,s picture, with which this book is adorned, and as for the poetry, its genial humor, truth, and quiet playfulness, entitle it to the first rank in its class. Uncle Toby means to put it on his book-shelf between Cowper's Poems and Watts's Psalms. The title of the book is "Rhymes with Reason and without." It is published by A. Tompkins and B. B. Massey & Co. of Boston,—and is for sale by the booksellers in this city.

THE FOREIGN APPOINTMENTS.—The N. Y. Evening Post talks in regard to them in a manner far from complimentary. It says:

We are grateful to the President, that, in making his selection of diplomatic representatives, he has weakened the home force of the democratic party of the country in the least possible degree. He could hardly have chosen an equal number of prominent men whose absence would be less seriously felt than those whose names we copied yesterday from the official bulletin. We speak especially of those whose incubation has been most prolonged.

There are not many, we believe there are none, of the newly-appointed officers who can speak any of the languages in use at the courts to which they are accredited. If most of them talk abroad as they do at home, the fewer languages they have at their command the better.

We have long felt that this country had little occasion for any permanent diplomatic force abroad; but as there must be some mode of satisfying politicians who only serve their party for pay, the best thing that can be done with them is to send them where they will be out of the way, and where they may learn something, though they earn nothing. For this reason, perhaps, the formalities of diplomacy may as well be continued, especially if, as in the present case, the loss to the country is almost exclusively a pecuniary one!

JAMAICA.—The Georgia brought dates from Jamaica to the 18th inst. The difficulties between the Governor of the Island and the Legislature with reference to the revenue bill, still continue. The Governor has sent in his Message, in which he says, that the revenue acts having expired on the 30th of April, the treasury will be deficient on the 15th of October next to the extent of some hundred thousand pounds, and that there will be no means to pay a fifth part of the sum. In consequence of this state of affairs, he says that he is preparing to release all the convicts and discharge the police force, as he has no authority to run the State in debt to feed prisoners and pay the police. On the 18th inst., the Assembly appointed a Committee to prepare an answer to the Message, which was to have been reported on the 19th inst. In the meantime a motion was made in the Assembly to draft a remonstrance to Her Majesty's government, praying that the Governor may be removed from office.

The Wheeling (VA.) Times states that a rumor is current in that city that a citizen of Centre Wheeling has fallen heir to an estate in England, estimated at $35,000,000. Upon this sum also, it is said, he will realize the interest for one hundred years.

Post Office robberies are becoming altogether too frequent. The New York Evening Post says:—

"We have before us a list of memoranda, made by our entry clerk since the 20th of May, by which it appears that money has been taken from letters forwarded to us from seventeen different persons, in addition to twelve dollars taken from another letter, enclosing names, which have not reached us. All of these losses have occurred within the States of New York and Ohio."

FIRES.

New York, May 26.—The store No. 69 Liberty street, occupied by Messrs. Shipman and Girding, and Staples and Caldwell, dry goods dealers, was partially burnt this morning. Loss $20,000.

Buffalo, May 26.—The large and extensive tannery of A. Ramsey & Co., situated in the town of Holland, in this county, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The loss is estimated at $18,000, on which there is an insurance of $9,000.

GARDINER LAWSUIT.—Washington, May 26.—The jury in the case of Dr. Gardiner have not agreed, and they now desire to be discharged, there being but little probability of their agreeing. The court refused to grant their request.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A little girl ten years of age, was run over last Saturday, near New Milford, upon the Housatonic Railroad, and instantly killed. She was walking upon the track at the time.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The up train on the Fitchburg Railroad, was thrown off the track, Thursday afternoon, about 15 miles below Fitchburg, but though several cars were broken, no one was injured.

FROM MEXICO.

It seems to be the "manifest destiny" of Santa Anna to make a military despotism of the Mexican Republic, a la mode Napoleon the little, in France. And then the destiny seems not inclined to stop there, but to run on, into a gross oppression of every officer who surrendered to the Americans, about the time when Santa Anna ran away,—and to such a posture of affairs toward the United States, as will lead to another war, in closing which Mexico will probably become a part of our Union.

The latest news from Mexico is by way of New Orleans.

The offices of Governor and military commander are united in the same person, and private citizens are forbidden the possession of arms, powder or any other munitions of war. The telegraph has been brought under the control of the government.

General Lombardini has been promoted to a Generalship of Division.

Santa Anna has ordered the remains of all the soldiers who fell in the American war to be disinterred and placed in suitable sepulchres.

The names of Generals Vasques and Leon, killed in the war, are to be inscribed on the banners of the army, and considered as promoted Generals of Division before their death.

A levee was held in the capitol, of all the officers and soldiers wounded in the American war, called the levee of the mutilated. A feeling address was made on the occasion by Santa Anna, who said their country would never forget them.

The steamer Yacht, from Brazos, May 22d, has arrived, with $100,000 in specie. Caravajal is still in prison.

FROM THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—The San Francisco papers have advices from Honolulu to the 5th of April.

The Legislature of the Islands met at Honolulu on that day. The House of Representatives was organized by the election of G. M. Roberston as Speaker; G. E. Gulick as Clerk; M. Chamberlain as Assistant Clerk; Rev. Mr. Clark as Chaplain, and W. C. Parke as Sergeant-at-arms. The customary speech from the King was read to the assembled houses by the Premier. After announcing that he had named his adoped son and heir Mihoiho as successor to the throne, his Majesty thus discourses on the foreign affairs of his kingdom:—

My relations with foreign nations continue to be of the most friendly character.

A treaty with his Majesty the King of Sweden and Norway was concluded on the 1st of July last, and has been sent to Stockholm for ratification.

His Imperial Majesty Napoleon III., Emperor of France, has replied on the important matters referred to him, as I stated to the Legislature of 1851, and diplomatic relations are now fully restored with that great and enlightened empire. His Imperial Majesty is represented at my Court by Monsieur Perrin, in quality of his Majesty's consul, commissioner, and plenipotentiary, who has promised soon to present the reply of his Imperial Majesty, and the draft of a new treaty with France. I hope it will be such a treaty as I have many times asked for—alike honorable and beneficial to France and my kingdom.

My Minister of Foreign Relations will report to you what efforts I have made to claim that result, the progress of the negotiation with France, and the state of my relations with foreign nations generally up to the present year.

Mr. Charles R. Bishop has resigned as collector of the customs of Honolulu, and the Minister of Finance had appointed Mr. Goodale in his place. This had caused some dissatisfaction, and a strong effort was making for the substitution of Mr. Montsarrat.

Samuel H. Ward, of the firm of Curtis, Perry & Ward, of San Francisco, died of consumption, on board the brig Zoe, on his passage to the Islands, and was buried at Honolulu. He was a native of East Hartford, Ct.

The Polynesian reports that Capt. Cash of the whaleship Columbia had recently discovered coal on the Northern shores of the Ochotak Sea, in long. 156 E. and lat 50 N., from which he obtained several tons for his ship's use, which has proved to be of superior quality.

HEAVY LOSSES.—A correspondent of the New York Courier estimates the aggregate value of the steamers lost on the Pacific within the last six months, viz, the Pioneer, Tennessee, Independence, S. S. Lewis, and the City of Pittsburgh, (burned in the harbor of Valparaiso), at $920,000, showing that even the mild Pacific has its dangers.

PATENT

Self-heating Smoothing Iron.

THIS invention is rarely equalled for economy, convenience and comfort. One cent's worth of dry hard coal is ample fuel for a day's ironing; avoids exhausting heat and the changing of irons; gives a better finish, facilitates the work, and never sullies the linen. Its complete success warrants the prediction that it will soon be found in every family. S. JEWETT, St. Johnsbury, Vt., Agent of the patentees in Maine, N. H., and Vt.

From the New York Observer.—"Since noticing this ingenious invention, we have seen it fairly tried. It works admirably. It will prove a great convenience to housekeepers, in the saving of fuel and heat as well as of time and labor."

THE WONDER OF THE WORLD!

DEVINES'

COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGES.

THIS IS NO HUMBUG.

IT is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as

A Certain Cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Costiveness, Asthma,

AND CONSUMPTION;

and will, in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial; but it has been proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

INTERESTING FACTS

are constantly coming to light, from different parts of the country, showing the astonishing effects of the fair and faithful use of these Lozenges.

HERE IS ONE LETTER,

from a citizen of Portsmouth—and but a sample of hundreds:

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1853.

This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges, —which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. A. A. PAYNE.

THIS IS TRULY A GREAT REMEDY,

MARRIAGE,

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during childhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily developed by her suffering from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she does not do all in her power to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female free as of enjoying health, and that beauty consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, or has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

CARRYING CALIFORNIA ELECTION NEWS.

THE WAY MR. RYAN DID IT!

The following account is taken from the Nevada Journal, California, of December 10th, and may be of interest to many of our readers, as the Ryan spoken of is J. F. Ryan, who formerly worked on the Island, at Amoskeag, and left for California four years ago.—Manchester Mirror.

On Saturday last the express messenger of Adams & Co., arrived in Nevada with the important and exciting news of the Presidential election, in nine hours from Sacramento.—The anxiety of the public mind to receive the news, and the weight of the intelligence itself, gave especial interest to the circumstances. But the heroic nature of the achievement under such difficulties, deserves particular record, and proves Mr. Ryan to be a man at once of unconquerable energies, indomitable bravery, and the fullest resources. Persons acquainted with the character of the Nevada road, and the horrors of the awful storm prevailing, the dense darkness during part of the journey, the bridgeless and dangerous streams, and the length of the passage, unite in pronouncing the exploit of Mr. Ryan as a continual miracle of hardihood and perseverance that not one man in ten thousand could have effected. The whole passage was made up of hair-breadth escapes, that make the blood tingle to hear them, and displays promptness, fertility of resources and sometimes stratagem that would tell in securing victory against odds in a well fought field.

A great incentive to exertion was the fact that the rival express had made arrangements "to beat" in conveying the news to the interior. That being understood, Mr. Ryan made up his mind not to be beat; and he carried out his intention. Before the arrival of the boat he saddled his horse, leaving it at the stable, and repaired to the levee. When the boat arrived the rival expressman for Nevada was on the horse at the levee, ready to catch his bundle and start. Ryan seized his document and ran to the stable for his horse, putting without particular design one extra into his vest pocket. He mounted his horse at 4 o'clock A. M., and made for the bridge on the American river. He had previously by arranged with the toll keeper to hang the key of the gate on a nail he had driven the day before, where in the darkness he could immediately put his hand on it. Arriving at the bridge, through the uncertain and rough bye-paths among the brush between the American and Sacramento, he seized the key, opened the gate and got his horse through, then locked it, leaving the key in the lock. As he was mounting his horse to ride on, the other expressman came thundering up and tried the gate, and found the gate locked. In the darkness he could not see Ryan, and rushed back to the toll house to rouse its inmate. When hallooing to wake the sleeper he heard the pleasant music of the heels of Ryan's horse as they merrily echoed on the bridge at a fast run. Beyond the bridge the whole surface was little bettter than a mere bog, save one little track of a few feet wide.

On this, however, Ryan for two or three days previously had been practising his horse, and the sagacious animal struck it at once in the obscurity, and kept from the unknown debths of mire on both sides. The last Ryan heard of his rival, he was floundering in the mud after passing the bridge.

His first horse he rode to the Kentucky house, a distance of 28 miles, in a little more than two hours. The morning had now broke, and the gloom of the passage was a little lightened. But the rain poured in torrents, and the whole road was a quagmire. In passing the houses on the road he had taken pains to ride around them, so they might know he had passed. At one of the houses on the road he could scarcely refrain from laughter to see a man searching with a lantern in the road for fresh hoof marks.

At the Kentucky house he took a fresh horse, and started for McCourtney's. Here he found the bridge swept away, and Bear River raging with utmost fierceness. He saw the impossibility of getting his horse across, and so turned him loose and set about finding an expedient to get himself across. The force of the stream was terrific, "but it must be passed," thought Ryan. He ran up and down the river, and in despair was about to take off his clothes and attempt to swim it, when the idea struck him to construct a raft. Two men coming up, with their assistance he fastened two planks together, and hewing another with an axe for a paddle, he ferried himself over, and one of the men.

Here a new difficulty assailed him—he had no horse! But with the help of a man he caught one of McCourtney's, that was loose in the ranch, mounted and was off again, after a delay of an hour an a half. This horse he rode to the Round Tent, 15 miles from the Kentucky House, at the top of his speed, fording and swimming minor streams, that had swelled to obstacles in the great accession of water. At the Round Tent he took a splendid horse of Adams & Co., named "The Col.," that was in readiness for him, and pushed for Dry Creek, about 2 1-2 miles further on, the hostler accompanying him. Here was the great feat of the passage. This stream with such a harmless name, on occasions of such heavy storms, is filled with a roaring, impetuous tide, that no man has ever dared to encounter. When just fordable the current is sometimes so rapid that it takes a horse off his feet and sends him down stream at the peril of his rider. But this stream on Saturday was full five feet above the fording point, and the rush and heaving of its waters was so terrible that the attendant of Mr. Ryan implored him not to rush on to his destruction by attempting to swim it, but to wait for the waters to subside. Disregarding his entreaties, Mr. Ryan turned his horse above the ford, and the noble animal sprung into the yeast of waves. Striking out vigorously he reached a little island nearly midway, and breathing a moment again plunged on. The current was now so strong that it threw the horse on his side. Mr Ryan now afloat held on to the horn of the saddle, and talked to the horse, encouraging it on. The animal kept pawing ahead and gradually stemmed the current, snorting and blowing with his exertions. At last he struck the ground a little below the point of starting, and all was safe. The hostler who had stood as if "distilled to jelly by the act of fear," gave relief to his feelings by throwing his cap in the air, and hurraing for Adams & Co. The remainder of the distance of 73 miles the noble horse took his fearless rider at full drive, over rocks and gullies, through mud and rain, and when at last at Nevada, save his reeking sides he gave no evidence of over exertion or fatigue. Mr. Ryan stopped at Rough & Ready to deliver an extra, and there found that all he carried except the one in his vest pocket, were mere jelly from the wetting at Dry Creek and subsequent rubbing. He stopped to let them copy the remaining extra at Rough & Ready, and again at Grass Valley, and arrived at Nevada at 1 o'clock, P. M., having swam nine streams and ridden seventy three miles in nine hours. The sketch we have given of this great feat is but a mere outline, and does scanty justice to the achievement of Mr. Ryan. The deed deserves commemoration. It is an achievement that few men could perform. In daring and endurance it exceeds the world-renowned exploit at riding of Col. Fremont, and it should be quoted in the history of this State, as illustrative of the courage and enterprise that difficulty evolved in the early days of California.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
MONDAY, MAY 30, 1853.

MARY JANE EDMONDSON.

This interesting young woman died at Oberlin, Ohio, May 18, at the age of 20 years and 6 months. She was at Oberlin Institute for the purpose of education, being sent thither by Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, to be educated at her expense: and is spoken of by her teachers and others, in the very highest terms, as a young woman of real delicacy, true piety and great promise.

She was a native of Washington City, born a slave; and was one of seventy who secreted themselves on board the schooner Pearl, about five years ago, but were pursued and overtaken by a steamer full of armed men and carried back to Washington, where most of them, including Mary Jane Edmondson with a sister and brother, were sold to the slave traders and carried to the South. But the Edmondsons were brought back again and ransomed at a high price, partly through the efforts of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher of Brooklyn.

We have not room for a detailed account of her fearfully romantic adventures:—but the reader who wishes to peruse something that will stir his soul, (if he has one,) may do so by reading the "Key to Uncle Tom's Cabin," Part 3, Chap. 6. The Book is in our Circulating Libraries: and though some editors, (who never read the book,) have undertaken to speak slightly of it, there is not a man of them who can read that chapter without tears. In that chapter is Mrs. Stowe's sketch of the Edmondson family,—and in all its essential particulars it is well known to be true. One member of that family has now gone where the wicked cease from troubling, and the weary are at rest.

For the Chronicle.

LAW AT THE WEST.

Mr. Editor:—A friend residing at Lawrenceburgh, Ind., under date of May 21st, says: "You would laugh at some of proceedings of our legal gentlemen, out here. I saw Judge M'Carty, recently, with his coat off, listening to evidence, while he seemed more devoted to the pleasures of a cigar which then sent up a rich cloud of smoke. And more than one half of the Attorneys present were smoking also. All seemed unconcerned and perfectly at home. The more desperate and forlorn the case in which they were engaged, the higher they posted their enormous heels, and the higher their puffs of smoke."

Loss and Gain.—A Rockland (Me.) paper in giving an account of the late disastrous fire in that town, states that town property to the amount of $500 was destroyed, "but the largest portion of the liquors belonging to the town were saved."

The Boston Courier adds:

"A suffering emigrant to Australia, in describing the effects of a flood which overtook him while he was going up one of the rivers, wrote—"the rise of water carried away our kitchen furniture, beds and chairs, but we fortunately saved my wife's piano." He might compare his loss and gain with that of of the citizens of Rockland."

We go with the man who saved his piano. Give us a bed of straw, and seat us on a log, if need be, but let us have music. We like kitchen comforts too—but they are cheap and common.

It is said that the Empress of China has become a Christian, and that the Emperor himself is half converted.—Boston Journal.

Other emperors and great men are supposed to be in the same condition; and thousands of common people are neither one thing nor another—not exactly heathen, and not exactly any thing else.

The Washington correspondent of the Journal of Commerce says:

"No more appointments are to be made till the administration shall be able to settle the difficulty existing in regard to the claims of Boung America, in relation to an appointment from New York, for the French mission. I have no doubt that either Mr. John Van Buren, or Gen. Dix, is to have that mission.

☞ An official order from the Navy Department announces that a bounty of $30 to able, and $20 to ordinary seamen will be paid to all enlisting in the Navy after the 1st day of June.

Taylor M. Rundlett, Esq., formerly of this city, has been appointed assistant store keeper in the Boston Custom House. Mr. Rundlett is a competent store keeper and a business man.—Portsmouth Chronicle.

Neighbor, the assistant store keeper at bonded warehouses keeps, does not sell the goods. —Boston Chronicle.

Well, Mr. Rundlett is competent to do either.

At Lowell on Wednesday night, near the close of the play at the Museum, Cyrus P. Wheeler, twenty-one years of age, a supernumerary, was instantly killed by coming in contact with a poised bayonet, which entered the eye and brain.

LOCAL.

HO! FOR BATHING!

The project of a floating Bath in our city has been a favorite theme of wishing and talking for years. The want of a good salt water swimming Bath has been seen and felt. With all the natural advantages of a peninsula—with water upon every side of us—it seems surprising that nothing has been done to improve these advantages in the best way. The only resource for the lovers of a refreshing river bath has been, to seek out a place as far secluded as possible, and there take their swim, not altogether free from interruption by passers on the river.

The projectors of the present undertaking have readily succeeded in obtaining a sufficient subscription to enable them to build a raft 25 feet long by 20 feet wide, with a small house thereon; and a swimming baisin 17 feet long by 8 feet wide, and 4 1-2 feet in depth—the latter intended for learners. This is to be moored near the north-westerly border of Noble's Island, where it will be accessible by a plank walk laid above high-water mark from the shore to the raft.

It is the wish of many of our citizens that this small affair may be the nucleus of a collection of improvements and conveniences to be added from time to time; so that ere long we shall have a complete Bath House, with accommodations for a hot and cold, shower and plunge, swimming and floating bath—with an apartment for Ladies who may wish to learn to swim, and for the gratification of the distinguished few among us who now posses this (in these days of travelling disasters) necessary accomplishment. To this end, we learn the subscription paper is still open, (at the bookstore of Mr. Jos. H. Foster,) and as soon as funds sufficient have accumulated, the improvements will go on until all is finished. And when our Summer friends visit us, not the least among the attractions that can be presented to them, will be a daily visit to the clear waters at the Piscataqua Bath.

THE QUINTET CLUB CONCERT,

On Friday evening, passed off finely. The removal of the gas burners over the front of stage, and the substitution of foot-lights, is a decided improvement; and the Cameneum as now arranged, is a perfect hall for a "Chamber Concert," or anything of that sort. Several of the audience thought that the singers—especially Mr. Moses, who sat behind the piano, would have sung to rather better advantage if nearer the front of the stage, out of the echo of the ante-room partitions.

In an entertainment so meritorious, so grateful, as a whole, it is needless to particularize pieces. We will say, however, that all are astonished at the improvement exhibited in Miss Plumer's singing, since being under Mr. Moses's rigid drill for the last two concerts. Her "Charming May" was almost as good as Miss Wheelock's, and received a hearty encore. Mr. M. has thus "brought out" many a "star" before unobserved, which now shines in a sphere more extended than this. Mr. Plumer, every body expects to do well, with his thundering bass, and his spirited and correct execution.

The choruses were all lively and taking, and given with much spirit and expression, and in exact time. "When the Summer rain is over," was peculiarly appropriate just at the end of our late storm, and was an excellent performance. Mr. Reynolds we never heard sing so well before. Mr. Moses being so far back and behind his music, lost to many in the lower part of the house, somewhat of his perfect enunciation, and therefore the true rendering of the sentiment of the several fine songs he sang. "The Gipsey's Invitation" was a beautiful composition, finely sung and tastefully accompanied.

Altogether we have not had so good a secular concert as this for many a day. We hope to hear the Quintet again.

OUR STEAMBOAT.

We are informed by a gentleman interested in the matter, that the steamboat we spoke of a few days since, has been purchased by a company of our citizens, and arrangements made to have her on the Piscataqua by the 1st of July. She will probably be called the "Eastern Star." Her length is 120 feet, and she will carry five or six hundred passengers—so that all parties usually gathered about here, can be safely and handsomely accommodated on board. A new boiler is being furnished, and other repairs made, to render her every way complete. Hurry her up, gents,—we want her this fine weather, as early as the middle of June.

Reported for the Chronicle.

Court of Common Pleas—Adj. Term.

Exeter, May 27.

Mr. Wells concluded last evening an able argument for the defence. This morning from 9 to 1 o'clock was occupied by Mr. French for the Plff. in an argument of more than usual ability. The charge to the Jury occupied about 3 hours, and was worthy of His Honor, the Presiding Justice.

The Jury now have the case.

The Carter case is being opened.

Saturday, May 28.

This morning at 7 o'clock, the Jury returned a verdict, in the case of Basset v. Salisbury Manufacturing Co., for Plff. for one cent damages.

The Court adjourned to Tuesday next, when case No. 53, Carter v. Salisbury Manuf. Co., which was commenced yesterday afternoon, will be resumed.

THE GREAT TENT FOR THE 4TH.

A correspondent suggests that if our "Portsmouth Boys" come home from Boston on the 4th of July, they should bring with them a great tent, which they have and we have not—and that we should furnish the table therein by a general pic nic—as we did in a great temperance celebration, a few years since. And under this tent we might listen to the oration, poem, and such other exercises as should be proposed, with much more comfort than in any public building, and many more could be accommodated.

This proposal could very easily be carried into execution as to furnishing the tables.—The ladies of our city would rejoice in this opportunity to assist in giving a hearty "welcome home" to their absent sons, brothers and friends.

Another correspondent suggests inviting the Portsmouth Boys home from New York, to join in the general re-union. We invite them and all others, who have gone out from us, but who are still of us.

ANOTHER BELL.

A friend who read with some interest our article on Bells, in the Daily Chronicle, gives us an item of his own experience in the business of bell-tolling, on this wise: In the days of a former sexton of the old South Meeting House, the narrator with another boy, used to toll the bell for funerals, in consideration of the fee of twenty-five cents for each funeral. The first and second bells used to toll never less than fifteen minutes; but often more than thirty: and the third bell used to begin at the hour appointed for the funeral, and continue not only till the people collected, but through the services at the house, and through the journey of the procession to the grave, not closing indeed till the mourners again reached their home. In this way the bell was tolled, sometimes, a great portion of the afternoon.

Ship Danube.—We published on Saturday a paragraph of ship news reading thus:

A letter fm San Francisco, April 30, states that ship Red Rover landed her cargo in very good order. Ship Roman landed hers in tolerable good order. Ship Danube wet some packages.

This was cut from the Boston Post of Friday, and was accompanied in that paper, with similar items of intelligence, only much more disastrous, of Boston and New York Ships.

We are assured, however, that the item relating to the Danube is not correct;—as letters received here direct from that ship, speak of her cargo as coming out in excellent condition. It is remarked also, that this is the first report of the Danube, on this voyage, published in any paper in this city.

We always publish the position and condition of every Portsmouth ship we see reported abroad, as soon as we see it—and some of our merchants and ship owners here give us their reports received by telegraph or mail.—It would be a favor to us, and sometimes a benefit to themselves, if all did so.

How it strikes a Looker on.—The editor of the Exeter News Letter complains of the Portsmouth bridge over the Piscataqua, and any other bridge below Exeter Falls, as a nuisance, and obstructing navigation. To this the editor of the Boston Chronicle replies,

"Persons who do not wish navigation to be obstructed should not live up country—thta's all."

The Water-Cure Journal—A New Volume.—Now is the time to subscribe.—Published monthly in a beautiful quarto. Illustrated with engravings, exhibiting the Structure, Anatomy and Physiology of the Human Body, with familiar instructions to learners. It is emphatically a Journal of Health, designed to be a complete Family Guide in all diseases.

Terms—Only One Dollar a Year, in advance.—Address, post-paid, Fowlers and Wells, Clinton Hall, No. 131 Nassau Street, New-York.

"The Water-Cure Journal holds a high rank in the science of health; always ready, straightforward and plain-spoken, it unfolds the laws of our physical nature without any pretensions to the technicalities of science, but in a form as attractive and refreshing as the sparkling element of which it treats.—New-York Tribune.

The Illustrated American Phrenological Journal—Devoted to Phrenology, Physiology, Mechanism, Education, Agriculture, the Natural Sciences, and General Intelligence, profusely illustrated with Engravings. LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

FROM CUBA.—New York, May 28.—A letter from Cardenas of May 16, states that there are exciting reports at that place of mysterious movements of troops to various points, under the apprehension of another Fillibuster invasion.

It was said also that printed appeals, calling on the soldiers to join the people in an intended outbreak on the 19th, the anniversary of the landing of Lopez, had been thrown into the windows of the barracks.

APPOINTMENTS-FIGHT.—Washington, 28th.—Mr. Hoover was yesterday appointed Marshal of this District, and Mr. Allen of New Hampshire, Navy Agent.

Roger C. Weightman, chief clerk in the Patent Office, was removed yesterday, and Samuel S. Shugert appointed.

A serious street fight occurred at Alexandria, on Thursday, between S. M. Johnson, Postmaster of the House, and Edgar Brockett. Knives and revolvers were used, one of the parties having fired five shots to the other's three, all without effect.

INSANE HOMICIDE.—The Boston Post of Friday gives the following particulars of the Murder in the McLean Asylum, Somerville:

Although Mr. Train, state attorney for Middlesex, has not yet made public the results of the investigation which he held, the circumstances of this melancholy affair, which happened on the morning of the 18th, are made public. On that day, during the absence of the attendant, the door of Mrs. Jameson, one of the patients, was left unlocked, and she invited Mrs. Strong, an aged and feeble patient, belonging to Vermont, into her room, where she choked her to death. Mrs. Jameson confesses the manner of doing the deed, and says Mrs. Strong had been annoying her for many months by continually asking for "light."—She believed the Lord had at last delivered the old lady into her hands, and if there was any more light in another world, she determined to let her see it. When the attendants entered the room Mrs. Jameson was praying, and she says that she prayed while doing the deed, and thanked God for permitting her thus to glorify him. The unhappy lunatic, it appears, had sufficient cunning to deceive the attendant by pretending to be sick abed, and that she did not intend to get up till dinner time. She pleaded piteously to have her door left ajar, because it would be so lonesome to be locked up so long. The officers of the institution are not disposed to blame any parties in this matter.

The editor of the Gardiner Transcript states that he recently counted from his office window sixteen men who have lately returned from California. They were all very close-mouthed as to their success in the golden land.

Mr. Pugh, an Englishman in the Straffordshire iron trade, having sustained very heavy losses by racing speculations, committed suicide by shooting himself with a pistol.

FATAL ACCIDENT ON THE NEW HAVEN RAILROAD.—This morning, Christopher Foly, lately a resident of Morrisiana, was run over by the morning train from Boston, and instantly killed. The accident occurred on the New Haven Railroad, near Williamsbridge, and was said to be the result of the deceased's carelessness.—N. Y. Mirror, 26th.

Two girls, thirteen and eight years old, respectively, children of Mr. Hamilton of Wellsburgh, New York, were run over by the Buffalo express train on the New York and Erie Railroad and instantly killed.

QUIXOTIC.—The Philadelphia Inquirer is informed from "an intelligent source," that Queen Christiana of Spain, the mother of the present Queen, is disposed to expend a portion of her great fortune of $80,000,000, to create a monarchy or dictatorship in Mexico, in the person of Santa Anna. She hopes thus to secure a throne for children by her present marriage with a person of inferior station, who otherwise could hope for no such exaltation.

A Cleaveland paper has a telegraphic despatch from Norwalk, announcing that "Bishops Boon and Derrick would be here to-day to raise the engine." This enterprising firm is supposed to be Bishop's boom derrick.

EXTENSIVE CONFLAGRATION.—A fire at Portage du Fort, on the Ottawa River, Canada, recently burnt over a space of eighteen miles, destroying fences, blocking up the roads with fallen trees, and doing otherwise a vast amount of damage. A great number of houses were destroyed around Portage du Fort, with Gould's wharf, the new wharf at Bolton's, Bolton's house and every article it contained, and a number of new government bridges.

Recently there might have been seen near the high road leading from Goosnargh to Broughton, a plough team, consisting of the holder, verging on 10; the driver, the holder's son, verging on 60; two horses, ages united 50; plough 30. The age of the gears is not exactly known, but it was little, if any under 40. The two men are both deaf.

The first weeping willow in England was planted by Pope, the poet. He received a present of figs from Turkey, and observing a twig in the basket ready to bud, he planted it in his garden, and it soon became a fine tree. From this stock all the weeping willows in England and America originated.

It is a singular fact that in the history of Lowell, Mass., that in 1818 an engineer, from Boston, employed to make a survey of that town with a reference to manufacturing purposes, reported that there was no water privilege in Lowell!

MISCHIEF.—An Irishman, named John Seavey, was before the Police Court, Friday morning, charged with maliciously scratching a car on the Eastern Railroad, damaging it $100. He was held in $200 for trial at the Municipal Court.—Boston Herald.

Self-heating Smoothing Iron.

THIS invention is rarely equalled for economy, convenience and comfort. One cent's worth of dry hard coal is ample fuel for a day's ironing; avoids exhausting heat and the changing of irons; gives a better finish, facilitates the work, and never sullies the linen. Its complete success warrants the prediction that it will soon be found in every family. S. JEWETT, St. Johnsbury, Vt.,
Agent of the patentees in Maine, N. H., and Vt.

From the New York Observer.—"Since noticing this ingenious invention, we have seen it fairly tried. It works admirably. It will prove a great convenience to housekeepers, in the saving of fuel and heat as well as of time and labor."

THE WONDER OF THE WORLD!

DEVINES'

COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGES.

THIS IS NO HUMBUG.

IT is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as
A Certain Cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Costiveness, Asthma, AND CONSUMPTION;
and will, in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial; but it has been proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

INTERESTING FACTS

are constantly coming to light, from different parts of the country, showing the astonishing effects of the fair and faithful use of these Lozenges.

HERE IS ONE LETTER,

from a citizen of Portsmouth—and but a sample of hundreds:

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1853.

This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened freatly to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges, —which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. MARRIAGE,

Happiness and Competence,

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which her excellences alone are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with other matter, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

A THRILLING NARRATIVE.

James Morgan was a native of Maryland, married at an early age, and soon after settled near Bryant's Station, in the wilds of Kentucky. Like most pioneers of the West, he had cut down the cane, built a cabin, deadened the timber, enclosed a field with a worm fence, and planted some corn. It was on the 17th of August, 1782. The sun had descended; a pleasant breeze was playing through the surrounding wood, the cane bowed under its influence, and the broad leaves of corn waved in the air.

Morgan had seated himself in the door of his cabin, with his infant on his knee. His young and happy wife had laid aside her spinning wheel, and was busily engaged in preparing the frugal meal. That afternoon he accidentally found a bundle of letters which he had finished reading to his wife before he had taken his seat in the door. It was a correspondence in which they acknowledged an early and ardent attachment for each other, and the perusal left evident traces of joy in the faces of both; the little infant, too, seemed to partake of its kind parents' feelings, by cheerful smiles, playful humor, and infantile caresses. While thus agreeably employed, the report of a rifle was heard, another followed in quick succession. Morgan sprang to his feet, his wife ran to the door, and they simultaneously exclaimed—"Indians!"

The door was instantly barred, and the next instant their fears were realized by a bold and spirited attack of a small party of Indians.

The cabin could not be successfully defended, and time was precious. Morgan, cool, brave and prompt, soon decided. While he was in the act of concealing her under the floor, a mother's feelings overcome her—she arose, seized the infant, but was afraid that its cries would betray its place of concealment. She hesitated—gazed silently upon it—a momentary struggle between duty and affection took place. She once more pressed her child to her bosom, and again kissed it with impassioned tenderness. The infant, alarmed at the profusion of tears that fell upon its cheeks, looked up in its mother's face, threw its little arms around her neck, and wept aloud. "In the name of heaven, Eliza, release the child or be lost," said the distracted husband, in a soft imploring tone, as he forced the infant from his wife, hastily took up his gun, knife and hatchet, ran up the ladder that led to the chamber, and drew it after him. In a moment the door was burst open and the savages entered.

By this time Morgan had secured his child in a bag and lashed it to his back, and then throwing off some clapboards from the cabin's roof, he resolutely leaped to the ground. He was assailed by two Indians. As the first approached he knocked him down with the butt end of his gun. The other advanced with uplifted tomahawk; Morgan let fall his gun and closed in.

The savage made a blow, missed, but severed the cord that bound the infant to his back and it fell. The contest over the child now became warm and fierce, and was carried on with knives only. The robust and athletic Morgan at length got the ascendency; both were badly cut, and bled freely, but the stabs of the white man were better and deeper, and deeper, and the savage fell to the earth in death. Morgan hastily took up his child and hurried off.

The Indians in the house, basely engaged in drinking and plundering, were not apprised of the contest in the yard until the one that had been knocked down gave signs of returning life, and called them to the scene of action.

Morgan was discovered, immediately pursued and a dog put upon his trail. Operated upon by all the feelings of a husband and father, he moved with all the speed of a hunted stag, and soon outstripped the Indians, but the dog kept in close pursuit. Finding it impossible to outrun or elude the cunning animal, trained to hunts of this kind, he halted and waited till it came within a few yards of him, fired and brought him to the ground. In a short time he reached the house of his brother, who resided near Bryant's Station, at Lexington, where he left the child, and then, with his brother, returned to his dwelling. As they approached, light broke upon his view—his steps quickened, his fears increased, and the most agonizing apprehensions crowded upon his mind. Emerging from the cane brake, he beheld his house in flames, and almost burnt to the ground. "My wife!" he exclaimed, as he pressed one hand to his forehead and grasped the fence with the other, to support his tottering frame. He gazed on the ruin and desolation before him, advanced a few paces, and fell exhausted to the earth.

Morning came, and the luminary of heaven arose, and still found him seated near the expiring embers. In his right hand he held a small stick, with which he was tracing the name of 'Eliza' on the ground, and his left hand lay on his favorite dog by his side, looking first on the ruins, and then on his master with evident signs of grief. Morgan arose.—The two brothers now made search, and found some bones burned to ashes, which they gathered and silently consigned to mother earth, beneath the wide spreading branches of a venerable oak, consecrated by the purest and holiest recollections.

Concluded to-morrow.

A CHOIR IN FULL BARK.—The late Sears C. Walker, Esq., while in company with Dungleson and Bache, of the Coast Survey, was speaking of New England psalmody, and quoted one line he had frequently heard sung, viz:

"Countless seraphs bow before thy throne"— which the choir spun out in this fashion, in "linked sweetness long drawn out"—

Countless ser-ar-aphs, countless ser-er-er-er-aphs
Bow-ow wow wow
Before thy throne.

"I never heard that before," said Dungleson, "it must be one of the dogmas of the church." "Yes," says Bache, "it is in that category."—Lowell Courier.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, MAY 31, 1853.

"HOW TO ADVANCE THE CAUSE OF TEMPERANCE."

The Boston Chronicle devotes about two columns of editorial remark, to an explanation of its former article under the same title, which we copied several days ago, and on which we offered a word of comment.

Of course we cannot copy the whole article, but we give the most important item of explanation, which is a key to all the rest of it.

"If we understand language, a temperate man (for temperance man is a barbarism as bad as courage man or justice man) is a man who uses all things moderately, liquor included.—Applied in the present controversy, it means a moderate drinker, if it means anything. And by the 'cause of temperance,' we mean, and every one who speaks English and not gibberish, means the cause of moderate drinking.—Thus it is the 'temperance cause,' now laid under unjust restraint, that we desire to 'advance.'"

Here we have it, as plain as day. The cause of temperance is the cause of moderate drinking—ergo, the advance and encouragement of such drinking is the object of the paper in general, and these articles in particular.

Again it is said—

"So far are we from confounding the folly of tetotalism with the virtue of TEMPERANCE, that we never lose an opportunity of branding it as a barbarism in language, an hypocrisy in profession, and an insanity in practice. An eminent wit once observed that in England 'patriotism was the last refuge of a scoundrel.' In our own country we are certain that it is the profession of tetotalism. We hope the Chronicle understands us now."

To say nothing of the beauty, or mildness, or temperance of this language, the statements are very strange, and deserve one moment's "cross examination." Is every man who abstains from wines and strong drinks insane? and every one who avows or professes to do so, a hypocrite or scoundrel?

From among a thousand tectotalers we will select one, who, to our certain knowledge, has been a thorough and entire abstinent from strong drinks of all sorts for twenty-five years. He has never made any secret of his practice, and it is now well known to his neighbors. He would do anything that is lawful and proper to advance temperance. What shall he do? shall he lay in a small store of champaigne and Madeira, brandy and old Jamaica, and go to drinking moderately with his family? or shall he daily patronize the bars of the most genteel and respectable drinking houses in his neighborhood?

He has neither ache nor pain; he has neither dyspepsia nor consumption. He works his ten hours, eats his three meals, and sleeps well. He enjoys a laugh, reads the papers, and chats with his friends—but he doesn't drink. Why should he? He isn't sick, and is not fond of taking medicine in advance.—But he should do it—should he? all to advance the cause of temperance, i. e. the cause of moderate drinking?

Will the Boston Chronicle advise that man to drink? will it say, he is not a temperate man? or that he would do more, or better, for temperance, if he drank, than he now does?

We know many as respectable and amiable men as ever used or sold liquor, and we do not believe one of them would advise him to change his course in this particular, or would think any better of him if he did.

We are, however, making our article too long;—but we will give the Boston Chronicle's plan, in full:

"We will now propose, for the approbation of our namesake and others, a plan to promote the cause of temperance, as we understand it—and then we shall close. Total abstinence, we repeat, is not temperance. With a few peculiar organizations it is possible—but to force it on entire communities, is as absurd as to force them to perpetual chastity. It is the very midsummer madness of impractical fanaticism. Repeal then, the Maine liquor law. Appoint well qualified, and well paid inspectors of liquors. Give them full power to destroy all the adulterated stuff they can detect; break up every shop and store where adulteration is practised; give licenses to respectable men only; punish drunkenness as they now try to punish an honorable and lucrative business. Do this for two years, and we are sure that however total abstinence may fare, the cause of health and temperance will be more 'advanced' than by all the efforts of all the 'societies' that ever existed."

That is, carry back public opinion, and fashions, where they were twenty-five or thirty years ago; re-establish the old license laws in more than their pristine glory; and render the liquor trade more respectable honorable and lucrative than ever.

All this is a great undertaking; and if it were accomplished, it seems to us more likely to increase drinking, and create tippling and drunkenness, than to promote temperance or moderation in any degree.

That a few heavy men might make more money is very probable—but for that we have no great anxiety.

We do not believe in virtue per force, and have never relied very strongly on the Maine law—but we have always thought till now, that if a man were a known and actual total abstinent, he was at least so far a friend and promoter of temperance. But it seems we were mistaken. If he would help temperance, he must drink.

STRANGE CASE.

On Wednesday last, about 3 o'clock, P. M. a woman named Robinson, came into a grocery in Troy, N. Y., kept by a man named Timothy Lanagan, against whose wife she had an old grudge, and wanted them to drink with her; he at last consented to drink a glass of beer. Mrs. Lanagan refused to take the beer, lest it might sicken her. A young woman present, Victorine Lubee, was invited to drink with them, which she did. As they were about to drink, Mrs. Robinson took from her pocket a paper containing a white powder, some of which she put in the beer, saying it was the nicest kind of loaf sugar. They both drank the beer. The powder, which was arsenic, soon began to have its effect—and Lanagan and the woman had physicians called, but in spite of all their exertions, Lanagan died of the poison about half-past 7 o'clock that evening, and the girl lingered till Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

A coroner's inquest was held, which returned a verdict that the deceased "came to their death by the effect of poison administered to them by Mrs. Robinson, with the premeditated intention of causing their death."

The poisoner was arrested. When taken, she had two pistols in her possession, both loaded. A large quantity of stolen goods were found at her residence, to the value of over $1000. The woman Robinson, is about 30 years of age, and represented as "endowed with extraordinary personal beauty," but she has long borne a most unenviable reputation.

The papers do not state the grounds of the grudge—probably some old case of jealousy. The Albany Atlas says "the guilty harridan has commenced 'rolling her eyes' and getting up other evidences of 'moral insanity.'"

The most remarkable feature of the whole transaction, is the greenness, or something worse, that could induce the victims to swallow the draft into which they had seen a suspected woman infuse a substance to them unknown.

HEAVY BETTING.—The New York Spirit of the Times announces a grand running match horse race between two large operators in cattle, in California, to come off before the 10th of June. The distance is nine miles without stopping, over a level country in the vicinity of Monterey. The horses named are Black Swan (from Sydney) and Fred Coy, a bay horse from Kentucky, well known in the States as a very fast mile horse. The amount of the match is as follows: $10,000 in cash (a side), one thousand head of cattle (valued at $25,000), and five hundred young mares (valued at $5000), making in all $80,000, $40,000 a side. This match will pay to run—if you win.

A FRENCH TRAGEDY.—The following is translated, says the New York Commercial Advertiser, from a confidential letter from Paris by the last steamer. As a matter of course the occurrence is not alluded to in the French journals. We give it as communicated, making due allowance for possible exaggeration, though the source of the information is too reliable to need such allowance:

"I ought to tell you that Gen. St. Arnaud, Marshal of France and Minister of War, was arrested last evening by order of the Emperor of France, for the following reasons:—General Cornemeuse, aid de camp to the Emperor, found himself in the Cabinet of His Majesty with St. Arnaud; a sum of four hundred thousand francs was there, and the Emperor, entering his Cabinet, asked for the money, which he destined for the marriage portion of the daughter of St. Arnaud. Cornemeuse searched every where, but was unable to find more than 200,000 francs, whereupon he said to St. Arnaud, 'You and I only have been here, and it is only yourself who could have taken it.'—Finding he could not deny the charge, St. Arnaud instantly drew his sword and killed Mons. Cornemeuse, the latter merely having time to make a degagement, piercing the arm of St. Arnaud. The scene passed under the eyes of the Emperor, and so suddenly that he had no time to prevent the blows. The matter is hushed up, but you may rely upon the facts, which I have from a source beyond all doubt."

No mention of this affair has been made by the Arctic's news. It seems improbable.

A NICE YOUNG MAN.—A New Haven, (Conn.) paper says—

"Taylor, who has just been sentenced to the Connecticut state prison, for forging pension papers, is an intelligent looking young man, and of fine personal appearance. He is six feet and one inch in height, and as he was stripped at the prison and provided with a zebra suit, he remarked, 'I have never done a day's work in my life.' The way of the transgessor is hard."

We are tempted to add a couplet from Dr. Watts's Divine Songs, for the benefit of all such juvenile six footers. It reads,

"For Satan finds some mischief still,
For idle hands to do."

CONSUL AT MELBOURNE.—The Concord (N. H.) Statesman states that James M. Tarleton, formerly of Concord, has been appointed consul at Melbourne, Australia.

LOCAL.

ANOTHER BOTTLE.

An eyewitness vouches for the fact that Joseph Bartlett, Esq. ("old Joe,") lost a bottle—but this bottle was ruined in Portsmouth, and not in Boston. Whether he lost another in Boston, or how many he lost there, witness does not testify:—but distinctly recollects seeing the portly form of the old Counsellor, moving leisurely along on the stone-flagged walk on the Parade (now Market Square). He was attired in the Chintz [calico] gown then frequently worn in warm weather by schoolmasters, lawyers and other quill-drivers generally; and he carried, as he often did, his hands behind him, under his gown. On this occasion, he held a bottle in one or both of them; but somehow missing a figure, the bottle fell and was dashed to pieces. The owner and loser, philosopher as he was, betrayed neither surprise nor grief, and neither hastened nor slackened his pace, but marched on in silent, imperturbable dignity, leaving the hapless bottle to its fate of being mourned or laughed at by the spectators.

SNAKISH.—A couple of black snakes, a male and female, very large for this vicinity, we are informed, were killed in the City Hotel yard on Sunday. One measured four feet three inches in length—the other a little less than four feet. How they came there deponent sayeth not—perhaps were brought in some load from the country.

☞ At a meeting of the Democrats of Ward 3, last evening, Wm. B. Russell, Esq. was chosen Chairman, and Chas. E. Blake, Secretary. Capt. J. H. Jackson and I. F. Nelson, Esq., were chosen Delegates to attend the Democratic State Convention to be holden at Concord, on the 9th of June.

☞ Rev. Justin Spaulding has taken charge of the Methodist Church in this city, and may be found at his residence, No. 3, Sheafe street.

CHRONICLES WANTED.

Five or six copies of the Daily Chronicle of Feb. 26, 1853, are wanted to complete files.

☞ The committee of arrangements appointed by the Free Democracy in the several towns in the eastern section of the state, is requested to meet at the head quarters of the Portsmouth Freedom Club, in this city this day at 11 o'clock A. M., to appoint an orator, agree upon a place for celebration, and make all other requisite arrangements.

JOSEPH P. MORSE.

DIVORCE LAWS.—An act which passed the Ohio Legislature last winter, authorizes a divorce to be granted in favor of the party applying for the same, whenever it shall be made to appear that the husband or wife of such party has obtained a decree of divorce in any of the courts of any other State, by virtue of which the party shall have obtained such decree shall have been released from the obligation of the marriage contract, while the same remains binding upon the other party.

The kind of divorces here referred to, we have always considered as a fruit of foolish legislation, unjust, anti-scriptural and inexpedient. The new law of Ohio is right.

SHORTEST PASSAGE.—The clipper ship Northern Light, Capt. Freeman Hatch, arrived below this port on Saturday evening, 27th inst. at 8 o'clock, in the astonishingly short passage of 76 days from San Francisco, having left that port March 13. This is the second return trip this clipper has made from San Francisco, having arrived here Sept. 12, 1852, in about 100 days. The next best passage was that of the clipper ship Comet, Capt. Gardner, which arrived at New York, May 7, in 83 days, 18 hours. The N. L. has been absent from this port just 7 months.—Boston Advertiser.

LIFE IN BOSTON.—On Saturday evening about half-past eight o'clock, as Mr. William N. Berry, publisher of the Life in Boston, was coming out of his office in Devonshire street, he was attacked by two ruffians, who felled him to the pavement, when they proceeded to further violence towards his person. As soon as he could gain possession of his arms, he drew a revolver and discharged the same at one of his assailants. The ball shot across the street, striking the Exchange Coffee House building, from whence it glanced and hit a passer-by named French. Fortunately he was not injured. There were a large number of persons in the street at the time. Mr. Berry was not seriously injured.

At a later hour in the evening, or night, the office of the Life, No. 11, that street, was feloniously entered, and the type, implements, &c., thrown into the street. The establishment was completely "gutted." Yesterday morning, some five or six baskets of the type were gathered up.

The cause of these outrages is said to be the publication, in last week's paper, of a list of the real names of prominent and notorious blacklegs, and other "sporting" gentlemen.

A letter written at Madeira, March 6th, aboard U. S. steam frigate Powhattan, says of the famine, "We have seen nothing of the kind; and I heard that the provisions that had arrived to be given to the poor, were locked in the custom house, and probably would not be delivered, unless we paid the duties upon them. The mother government has sent nothing here, and I fear our people have thrown away their sympathy and money."

Two girls, thirteen and eight years old, respectively, children of Mr. Hamilton, of Wellsburgh, New York, were run over by the Buffalo Express train on the New York and Erie Railroad, and instantly killed.

SAD STATE OF AFFAIRS IN JAMAICA.—Savannah, May 29.—By the arrival of the British Royal Mail Steamship Convoy, we have Jamaica dates to the 23d May. The yellow fever still continued. The disagreement between the House and the Government had assumed an alarming aspect, the House having refused to vote the appropriation bill.—The Assembly was prorogued on the 23d, and it was stated that the Government had threatened to turn loose the convicts, and disband the police, for the want of means for their support. Business had become materially suspended on account of this unsettled and unfortunate state of things.

THE LATE MR. SELDON.—New York, May 30.—Mr. Seldon, who committed suicide on board the steamer Arabia on the outward trip, had been for a long time in the employ of A. T. Stewart, dry goods dealer in this city. He had recently gone into business for himself, and was on his way to India for the purchase of silks and shawls. Bills of exchange for $40,000 were found in his pockets on the recovery of his body.

The trial of Miss Mary Ann Wheeler for killing M. W. Lace, on the 14th of October last, in the street, at Milwaukie, was commenced on Monday, and excites great interest. Miss Wheeler was latterly a dressmaker, and Lace had seduced her. In a moment of frenzy at her forlorn condition, she shot him with a pistol. The defence set up in Court is moral insanity. She is said to be an interesting and amiable appearing girl, is respectably connected, and is 30 years old.

FIRE.—Thirty-five cows burned to death.—A barn, situated on a farm belonging to Stephen Van Rensselaer, at the head of the junction of the Plank and Shaker roads, was burned down last evening. The stable was occupied by John Ferris, who had 35 cows in it, all of whom were burned to death. There was a quantity of hay and grain in the barn, which, together with the barn, were entirely destroyed. The cattle burned are valued at $1000.—Albany Eve. Journal.

CONTRADICTED.—The New York Tribune says it has the best authority for saying that the King of the Sandwich Islands and his government have made no offer to sell out to the United States, and do not contemplate making any, and says that the anxiety in the matter exists altogether among the foreign residents there.

A late letter from Australia says that crime is very prevalent. The principal crime is robbery, generally with violence; but murders of peculiar atrocity are shockingly frequent.

PATENT

Self-heating Smoothing Iron.

THIS invention is rarely equalled for economy, convenience and comfort. One cent's worth of dry hard coal is ample fuel for a day's ironing; avoids exhausting heat and the changing of irons; gives a better finish, facilitates the work, and never sullies the linen. Its complete success warrants the prediction that it will soon be found in every family. S. JEWETT, St. Johnsbury, Vt., Agent of the patentees in Maine, N. H., and Vt.

From the New York Observer.—"Since noticing this ingenious invention, we have seen it fairly tried. It works admirably. It will prove a great convenience to housekeepers, in the saving of fuel and heat as well as of time and labor."

are constantly coming to light, from different parts of the country, showing the astonishing effects of the fair and faithful use of these Lozenges. HERE IS ONE LETTER, from a citizen of Portsmouth—and but a sample of hundreds:

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1853.

This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges, —which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. MARRIAGE,

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life, broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted, by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—a healthy body, and healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, at low cost, or will enjoy husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

A THRILLING NARRATIVE.

(Concluded.)

Several days after this, Morgan was engaged in a desperate battle at the lower Blue Licks. The Indians came off victoriously, and the surviving whites retreated across the Licking, pursued by the enemy for a distance of six and thirty miles.

James Morgan was among the last who crossed the river, and was in the rear until the hill was descended. As he beheld the Indians reappear on the ridge, he felt and saw his wrongs, and recollected the lovely object of his affections. He urged his horse and pressed to the front. While in the act of leaping from his saddle, he received a rifle ball in his thigh, and fell; an Indian sprang upon him, seized him by the hair and applied the scalping knife. At this moment Morgan cast up his eyes and recognized the handkerchief that bound the head of the savage, and knew it to be his wife's. This added renewed strength to his body, and increased his activity to fury. He quickly threw his left arm around the Indian, and, with a death like grasp, hugged him to his bosom, plunged his knife into his side and he expired in his arms. Releasing himself from the savage, Morgan crawled under a small oak, on an elevated piece of ground, a short distance from him; the scene of action shifted, and he remained undiscovered and unscalped, an anxious spectator of the battle.

It was now midnight. The savage band had, after taking all the scalps they could find, left the battle ground. Morgan was seated at the foot of the oak; its trunk supported his head. The ragged and uneven ground that surrounded him was covered with the slain; the once white and projecting rocks, bleached by the rain and sun of centuries, were crimsoned with blood, that had warmed the heart and animated the bosom of the soldier. The pale glimmering of the moon occasionally threw a faint light upon the mangled bodies of the dead; then a passing cloud enveloped all in darkness and gave additional terror to the feeble cries of a few still lingering in the last agonies of protracted death, rendered doubly appalling by the hoarse growl of the bear, the loud howl of the wolf, and the shrill and varied notes of the wild cat and panther, feeding on the dead and dying. Morgan beheld the scene with heart rending sensations, and looked forward with the apathy of despair to his own end.

A large ferocious looking bear, covered all over with blood, now approached him; he threw himself on the ground, silently commended his soul to Heaven, and in breathless anxiety awaited his fate. The satiated animal slowly passed without noticing him.—Morgan raised his head and was about to offer his thanks for his unexpected preservation, when the cry of a pack of wolves opened upon him, and awakened him to a sense of danger. He placed his hands over his eyes, fell on his face, and in silent agony awaited his fate. He now heard a rustling in the bushes; steps approached, a cold chill ran over him. Imagination creative—busy imagination—was actively employed; death the most horrible awaited him; his limbs would, in all probability, be torn from him and he devoured alive. He felt a touch; the vital spark was almost extinguished. Another touch more violent than the first—and he was turned over. The cold sweat ran down in torrents—his hands were violently forced from his face. The moon passed from under a cloud—a faint ray beamed upon him; his eyes involuntarily opened, and he beheld his wife, who in a scarcely audible voice exclaimed, "My husband!" and fell upon his bosom.

Morgan now learned from his wife, that after the Indians entered they house they found some spirits, of which they drank freely. An altercation soon took place; one of them received a mortal stab and fell, and the blood ran through the floor on her. Believing it to be the blood of her husband, she shrieked aloud and thus betrayed the place of her concealement.

She was immediately taken and bound. The party, after setting fire to the house, proceeded to Bryant's station. On the day of the battle of the Blue Licks, a horse with a saddle and bridle rushed by her, which she knew to be her husband's.

During the action the prisoners were left unguarded—made their escape and lay concealed beneath some bushes near the bank of the river. After the Indians had returned from the pursuit, and left the battle-ground, she, with some other persons, who had escaped with her, determined to make search for their friends, and if on the field and living, to save them if possible from the beasts of prey. After searching for some time, and almost despairing of success, she fortunately discovered him.

The party of Col. Logan found Morgan and his wife, and restored them to their friends, their infant, and their home.

SHOE PEGS.—A machine has been invented, but not yet patented, which will do the entire pegging of a shoe, with either one, two or three rows of pegs, in from two to five minutes. The number of rows make no difference in the time, and the work is performed far better than hand work can be. A further novelty in the case is that this machine makes its own pegs as it does its work—thus destroying the value of that ingenious machine for making pegs that has so long been both useful and profitable.—Bangor Courier.

WAR VESSEL FOR EMPEROR SOLOUQUE.—The Boston Traveller says the new barque Naiad Queen, recently launched at Newburyport, has been purchased by the Haytien government for a war vessel. She was sold for $19,000.

THE BIBLE IN SCHOOLS.—In Maryland House of Representatives, on Wednesday last, a bill prohibiting the use of sectarian books in public schools, was amended by adding a proviso that this prohibition shall not extend to the Bible. The bill thus amended was ordered to a third reading.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

HOW THINGS LOOK IN CONCORD.

CONCORD, May 31, 1853.

Messrs. Editors:—The capital is just beginning to experience its annual overflow of visitors. The great General Court commences its session to-morrow, and every train brings in the legislators who are very busy in securing comfortable accommodations for the season. The fine hotels are beginning to be crowded, and some of the country members who want to stop at Gass's learn that they will have to be stowed away, up three stories, four in a room. The Eagle House, kept by Mr. Gibson, is a most excellent house, and is one of the best hotels in the State. Here was Frank Pierce's head quarters last season, and many of the incorrigibles have left Gass's for the Eagle. The Governor and other leading Democrats however, still patronise Gass's from its old associations, &c.

Sawyer of Wentworth, Ayer of Manchester, and Chase of Conway, are the principal candidates for the Speakership of the House.—Rix of Coos, is strongly talked of as President of the Senate, though Williamson will contest it. Hon. Nathaniel Baker is the prominent Democratic candidate for Governor.

Concord presents a beautiful appearance, and it would be well worth while for your readers to pay us a visit during this session of the Legislature, and get acquainted with your up-country friends, many of whom talk strongly of quartering on you upon the fourth of July, if you get up a celebration.

Yours in haste, DERRYFIELD.

THE TRAINER CASE, at New York, was finished on Monday, by the Court's giving the child Jane into the hands of her former owner, Rose Cooper alias Porter, rather than into those of her father. We have not seen the reasons for the decision—but its effect is to make the girl a slave for life if the mistress chooses to have it so, unless the courts at Mobile have more liberal views than those in New York. Rose did not claim the child as a slave, but as a pet, whose mother she had sold.

Since writing the above, we have seen it stated, that Judge Duer decided that sitting as a commissioner of the Supreme Court, he had no jurisdiction, and the girl was at liberty to go where she pleased. The Commercial Advertiser says, she appears to be much attached to Mrs. Porter, and will probably prefer accompanying her to California.

MURDER OF A SALEM MAN AT MANILLA. The Salem Gazette says, that by letters received from Capt. Charles D. Mugford, there is intelligence of the death of his brother, Mr. George Mugford, at Santa Mesa, Manilla, on Sunday evening, March 6th. It appears that Capt. J. Sewall Parsons, of the ship Amity, was spending the evening in religious exercises, in company with him, when, at about 8 o'clock, the room in which they were was violently entered by a band of robbers, and both of them were barbarously murdered. Mr. Mugford was about 47 years of age. He had been absent from his wife and friends, in Salem, more than eight years. At the time of his death, he was expecting to leave Manila for home, in the course of a very few weeks. This is a very heavy affliction to his bereaved wife, and a large circle of relatives and friends. Mr. Mugford had, for many years, been a member of the Tabernacle Church, under the care of Rev. Dr. Worcester; and, at home and abroad, has been of those who have truly adorned their christian profession.

LONG LOST MONEY.—The Salem Gazette mentions that one of the old Massachusetts Pine Tree Shillings, was found last week, in the excavation in front of the Pickman estate, in that city. It was lying amongst the rubbish of an old building which had stood upon the spot, previous to the erection of the present mansion, which is more than a hundred years old. Some conservative of the hard money school might consider how much loss the commercial world has sustained, by having this "slow shilling" lie idle for a century, when it ought to have been up flying round and earning compound interest.

PETER vs. TOM.—Uncle Tom's Cabin has met a new opponent in the person of His Holiness the Pope, who has forbid its circulation in his realms. We should think the Pope would dislike it—for it sets priestcraft in a ridiculous light.

ACCIDENTAL SUICIDE BY A COW.—It appears from the Traveller, that on Friday last, a cow belonging to Benj. Abrahams, of Winchester, Mass., was browsing in a pasture, when, in attempting to brush off flies from her head, she had one of her fore feet caught in one of her horns, which was very crooked.—While trying to free herself she plunged the frog of the hoof into her eye, causing such violent agony that she gave a spring and fell, breaking her neck short off. She was a very fine animal, being valued at $150.

LOCAL.

FOURTH OF JULY.

Notices of several meetings to prepare for a fitting celebration of the coming anniversary of the nation's birth-day, will be found in another column. They will doubtless be responded to with readiness, for there has seldom been so much interest manifested here, as seems to be felt on this occasion.

Appearances now indicate the best turn-out we have ever had here. Several of the Boston papers are doing all they can to help along the motion which has been made and more than seconded, that the Portsmouth phalanx in that city take a march to head-quarters on "Independence day." It is expected that an organization of their forces will be made this week; after which of course our City Council will formally extend an invitation to them to visit us—having first appropriated a sum sufficient to handsomely receive them. As there is no time to lose, we certainly hope the appropriation of the Common Council for this object, will be agreed upon by the other board to-night, whether the whole ordiance as it now stands, is passed or not. It is rare that our citizens generally are so earnest in getting up a celebration as now, and it is believed very few can complain ot a little money being so spent by the city fathers, as to "help the cause along."

The Industrial Procession meeting especially demands attention—and it is so much better to begin now than to leave all to be done "hurry-scurry," that all wishing the scheme the fullest success, will attend if possible. Let all be there, and see what can be done, or said, at all events. The thing is sure to go—the question being only as to how it shall be carried out.

FOURTH OF JULY.—The Free Democracy at their meeting held yesterday in this city, unanimously agreed upon Portsmouth as the place for the celebration, and appointed a committee to select an orator and make other arrangements, for a due notice of the anniversary of American Independence.

THE FLOWAGE CASES.—We learn from various sources, that the Carter Flowage Case in the Court of Common Pleas, has been settled by the payment of $1050, from the Salisbury Manufacturing Co. to the plaintiff, in full for damages.

The session of the Court, which was to be held by adjournment, to try this case, will now only meet formally, and adjourn.

P. S.—The Court, on Tuesday afternoon, adjourned, sine die.

A CALL.—The First Church and Parish in Exeter, have invited Mr. Alonzo H. Quint of Dover, to become their pastor.

For the Chronicle.

NEW BOAT RIG.

Messrs. Editors:—Your well known benevolent and public spirit renders apology unnecessary in presenting through your breakfast paper anything which shall contribute to the safety of excursionists upon our river, and consequently to the ease of mind and better digestion of your readers.

Considering the very large number of persons who sail upon our river and harbor in the summer season, very few accidents occur: but a large portion of the disasters that have taken place, have been in connection with passing the Portsmouth or Piscataqua Bridges. The tide is rapid; and on passing under a bridge, skilful management is necessary to get down sail and mast in season to sweep under; and the usual process is attended with much trouble and delay. The large packets which ply between our city and the towns on the heads of the river, have adopted the latteen sail, which is undoubtedly the best for so large craft, but not entirely suitable to light pleasure Boats.

One of our amateur boat sailers, a gentleman who has given the subject much thought, has at last hit upon an arrangement which in all points seems to meet the wants of a simple and safe rig for pleasure boats. It combines at once the advantages of the latteen for passing under bridges, and the most simple form of an ordinary boom main-sail. The perpendicular mast of such a rig may not be over 13 feet high, short enough to clear the bridges at high tide: then a light yard is made to play at the top of the mast; this yard when set up at an angle of 23 deg. from the perpendicular, rises the sail about ten feet above the mast head, and may be swung down with perfect ease at the moment of passing under a bridge, and as quickly hoisted on emerging therefrom. It gives a very neat set to the sail, and on the whole a more pleasing form as seen upon the water. This plan admits of a larger sail than the old form, as in a moment in case of a heavy wind, the peak may be dropped and the yard brought down parallel with the mast, thus reducing sail one half in a twinkling.

The boat of Mr. Varrel at the foot of State street, has been put under this new "safety rig:" and having tried the practical working of it, I think it may be recommended for its speed, safety, and handiness. Much credit is due to the inventor of the new Boat rig. *

N. H. GENERAL COURT.

GENERAL COURT.—The "Great and General Court" of New Hampshire, assembles in Concord this day. We are not aware of any measure of proposed legislation—but presume the usual number of applications will be made and granted, for acts to incorporate trading and manufacturing companies. Something was said about election time, in some democratic papers and conventions, about corrupt legislation, which they would remedy. But we never exactly understood what they meant by it. They have now a very large majority in both houses, and of course can shape legislation at will.

A "brief word" from one who, being on the spot, knows more of the state of affairs at Concord, will be found in our leading column.

MASONIC.—The Grand Lodge of New Hampshire will hold its annual session in Concord on Tuesday next the 7th inst.

The Festival of St. John the Baptist, (24th inst.) will be celebrated in Concord, N. H., Worcester, Mass., and Kennebunk, Me., by the Masonic Fraternity.

OUR NAVAL STOREKEEPER.—The following neat compliment to Mr. Reding is from the Belknap County (Meredith Bridge) Gazette, a political opponent:—

"Hon. John R. Reding, of Haverhill, formerly member of Congress, has been appointed and entered upon the duties of Naval Store Keeper at Portsmouth. Mr. Reding is a native of Portsmouth, we believe, and has, no doubt, many personal friends at that place, and the duties of his office will be faithfully discharged by him. He is a practical printer, and has from his boyhood up been a daily laborer, although for some years past he has not worked at his trade, except occasionally. He established the Haverhill republican, and for several years was its publisher and editor; but his brother, H. W. Reding, has been connected with him in its publication for some years past. Few men in this or any other State have lived a more straight-forward and temperate life, than Mr. R., and we are glad to see him thus noticed.

☞ We invite the editor of the Boston Chronicle, to come down hither on the 4th, whether the Portsmouth Boys come or not. The day must be celebrated—if not by the "Boys," certainly by the Free Democracy. In either case he shall have a good seat at the oration, a tit bit at dinner, and see novelties and beauties enough for a dozen items.

WEBSTER'S STATUE.

Right glad are we to perceive that a suitable monument is to be erected to Mr. Webster, by his friends and admirers who are able and willing to pay for it, and not by the state of Massachusetts, which is unwilling.

A meeting of the "Committee of One Hundred" appointed October last, was held in Boston on Monday. Already has death made inroads on their number, by taking away Hon. R. G. Shaw and Hon. Amos Lawrence. The vacancies were filled, and then George D. Ticknor, Esq., from the Executive Committee, submitted a report recommending that a statue of marble or bronze be erected; if of bronze, in the open air; if of marble, under cover, to be placed on one of the public squares, in front of the City Hall, or Public Garden, or in State Street, near the Old State House. The latter location was recommended in the report. The statue to be executed by an American artist. The expense was not named, but the report states that the cost is within the means of the committee. The report was unanimously accepted, and a resolution was adopted authorising the Executive Committee to confer with the city authorities for the proposed site for the statue. There is little or no doubt that the statue will be erected in State street. Mr. George Ticknor said that more than enough for the erection of the statue had been collected, and the instructions and wishes of the citizens would be further carried out by the committee. The meeting then dissolved.

It is to be hoped that the paintings, vase, &c., presented to Mr. Webster, may be purchased of his heirs, (if they cannot keep the Marshfield mansion,) and placed in some public building in Boston.

A VETERAN.—The Bangor papers announce the death of Mr. David Libbey, at the age of 80 years and 5 months, who settled in the Penobscot country when it was but a howling wilderness, and when there was but one house on the site of the present thriving city of Bangor. He has had an opportunity of witnessing some of the most unexampled changes which have ever taken place in the progress of civilization.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. R. C. Waterson, of Boston, has been unanimously invited by the Unitarian Society in Augusta, Me., to become their pastor, in place of Rev. Mr. Judd, deceased. Mr. Waterson has been for some time supplying this pulpit, and will probably accept the invitation. (P. S.—Declined.)

M. Oscar Lafayette, the grandson and representative of the family of the famous General Lafayette, who has refused to take the oath of allegiance to the Emperor of France, required from him as a captain of artillery, has been deprived of his commission.

For destroying Mr. Root's check, and putting him out of the cars in which his passage was paid, Sidney S. Ball, conductor on the Rochester and Niagara Falls Railroad, has been fined $100, and sentenced to ten days imprisonment in jail.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARABIA.

New York, May 31.—The steamship Arabia, from Liverpool, arrived at half-past 12 o'clock to-day.

The Humboldt arrived at Cowes on the night of the 18th.

A fair business has been done in cotton, sales averaging 8000 bales throughout the week. Lower grades in better inquiry; being purchased only for use, holders did not refuse sales.

Breadstuffs—A fair business done; fine Wheat and Flour maintain prices; inferior grades rather lower. Indian Corn in moderate request; white 6d dearer.

The Arabia brought 89 passengers, having left at 9 3-4 on the 21st, and arrived at half-past 12 P. M.

The consequence of the hostility shown to Englishmen in Austria already begins to be felt. The Lloyd steamers, which brought the last two overland mails to Trieste, had no English passengers on board.

ECCLESIASTICAL.

Buffalo, May 31.—The slavery question is still under discussion in the Presbyterian Assembly. The committee modified their report by recommending that the Presbyteries in the slaveholding States answer inquiries respecting the number of slaveholders in the church, &c., instead of appointing a commission to make the enquiry.

The further agitation of the subject was violently opposed by Southern delegates, and it was declared plainly that every Southern Presbytery had resolved to secede if the report was adopted.

On the other hand, the Western delegates declared that all the Western Presbyteries would withdraw if no action was taken.

Great excitement ensued, but the report of the committee as modified was finally adopted —yeas 76, nays 38.

The Southern Synod will probably secede.

A correspondent of the Syracuse Chronicle states that all the members of the Unitarian Society in St. Louis, who were slaveholders, have lately emancipated their slaves unconditionally.

WASHINGTON MATTERS.—Washington, May 30.—The President has appointed B. B. French Commissioner of Public Buildings, vice Easby resigned. Albert G. Allen, Navy Agent at Washington, vice Lathrop removed. Both the appointed were formerly of New Hampshire, but for several years past have been well known residents of the district.

THE SHIP WILLIAM AND MARY—Rescue of Passengers.—New York, May 31.—A despatch from Savannah says—We learn from the officers of the steamship Conway, previously reported at this port, that all but two of the passengers by the ill-fated William and Mary, wrecked a short time since on the Great Isaacs, near the Great Bahama banks, have been rescued by wrecking schooners, while the ship was drifting, previously to her going down.

In New York city, the new law against mock auctions has nearly exterminated them. The shops in Chatham street, where the best galvanized watches and jewelry were always "going, going, gone," for twenty times their value, are now occupied by other and more honorable pursuits.

AMIN BEY.—It will be recollected that some two years since, a Turk, calling himself Amin Bey, visited this country, and was represented as an envoy of the Sultan of Turkey. He was feasted and feted, and Congress appropriated $10,000 to pay his expenses. Subsequently to his visit it was reported that he was a humbug, (a malicious person might say all Turks are). A Washington correspondent of the New York National Democrat now alleges that he was a respectable school teacher at the Navy Yard in Constantinople, without means, but with an ungovernable passion to see the world. A dragoman attached to the American embassy at Constantinople, laid in with the Turk, and palmed off his Turkship as a wonderful man, and thus the two travelled scot free, over the United States. The game was well played at any rate.

One cent's worth of dry hard coal is ample fuel for a day's ironing; avoids exhausting heat and the changing of irons; gives a better finish, facilitates the work, and never sullies the linen. Its complete success warrants the prediction that it will soon be found in every family. S. JEWETT, St. Johnsbury, Vt., Agent of the patentees in Maine, N. H., and Vt.
From the New York Observer.—"Since noticing this ingenious invention, we have seen it fairly tried. It works admirably. It will prove a great convenience to housekeepers, in the saving of fuel and heat as well as of time and labor."

MARRIAGE,
Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—now better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily deriving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglects to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.
One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]
First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, is one who we will envy husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of his wife, a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

A MODEL CLERGYMAN.—At a semi-centennial celebration of the settlement of the Rev. Dr. Snell, over the church in North Brookfield, Mass., the Rev. Dr., in addressing his people, took occasion to remark: "One other thing I must not suppress; I would patronize regular-bred physicians—men of good character, and well acquainted with their profession. It is perfectly preposterous to suppose that those who never made the human system, and diseases and medicine, their study, should better know what ails the patient, and what treatment his case, under all circumstances requires, than observation and practice. Health and life are too valuable to be sacrificed on the shrine of ignorance. I would have no fellowship with ultraism, humbuggery, quackery, mesmerism, and mysterious knockings—all of a sort—the plague of wise men and the idols of fools."—We commend this to the notice of our clerical friends who are so anxious to make proselytes to the modern systems of medical tomfooleries.—*N. IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NEGATIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process, expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Woman hood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

VAUXHALL FACTORY SCHOOLS.

The New York Evening Post gives the annexed abstract of an article on this subject in the last number of the London Quarterly Review:

There is an article in this number, entitled "Vauxhall Factory Schools," which is well worthy of those who employ numbers of men and boys, and indeed of all who take an interest in genuine, hard-working philanthropy.—A vast establishment for the manufacture of patent candles, was erected some years since at Belmont, Vauxhall, London. Mr. James Wilson, the manager of the factory, thought it possible, without loss or hurt to the texture of the candles, to humanize and Christianize "the hands" that made them; and assisted by his brother, he carried on his views in a way which, we think, will earn him the sincerest respect of every man who reads what he has accomplished.

The first step, according to Mr. Wilson, originated with some of the boys hiding behind a bench two or three times a week after they had done their day's work, to practice writing on scraps of paper with worn out pens, begged from the counting-house. Mr. Wilson encouraged the movement, as soon as he perceived it, with kindness and great tact.—Some rough moveable desks were made for the boys, and they were stimulated with a few books as prizes. By any other way Mr. Wilson carefully abstained from interfering, until after a long time and earnest intreaty on the part of the boys, he consented to be always present at the school, but taking no other part than hearing them in their spelling. Soon the half-dozen beginners increased to thirty, when Mr. Wilson cleared out a large lumber room, and fitted it up as a school-room, big enough for about one hundred. Here still the boys worked by themselves, and the prayers with which the school closed were always read by them. This was in 1848. In 1851, a second school-room had been built, and a third. When the schools were emptiest, 512 scholars were present, and in the winter Mr. Wilson was confident of numbering 800.

In order to smooth the trials of learning to youths who had been hard at work all day, and whom the pleasures of low London life were beckoning away, he repeatedly invited the boys to tea-parties in the new school-room. Very many of them had, perhaps, never before put themselves into decent clothes. The change made in their appearance was most encouraging. Almost all the boys soon attended chapel dressed in plain black. Their social meetings awakened the kindest feelings between masters and men, and added numbers to the school. Mr. Wilson's next step, in the plan of combining judicious recreation with instruction, was to teach the boys cricket.—He hired an unoccupied field and allowed them to play three nights in the week, the other three being spent in the school. This game drew drew the adult workmen within the attraction of Mr. Wilson's influence. They became anxious to become cricketers, and obtained permission to use the field during the school evenings. At last men and boys commenced playing together, challenges were given, matches were made, the greatest interest was excited among all parties, and a kindly feeling sprang up among those who were almost strangers before.

Mr. Wilson's next movement was to have "a day of it." He took his entire charge into the country. They strolled about, played cricket, partook of refreshments, and finally assembled in a small church, where, under the direction of the clergyman of the place, they chanted their part of the service. "It was a striking and touching scene—the first, we fancy, of the sort—the holiday workers of London factory chanting the Psalms in an old Norman chapel, in the fresh region, remote and clear from the din and dinginess of their accustomed atmosphere."

The last excursion of this kind was made to Farnham castle, on the invitation of the Bishop of Winchester. It went off admirably.—The Bishop received his guests in person, and threw open to all the old palace and picturesque grounds. The artizans were treated and trusted as friends, and no company could have behaved more decorously.

The kind-hearted manager, having broken the ice which almost always exists between the employer and the employed, lost no opportunity of communicating religious instruction when he could do so, without intrusion or annoyance. At last, finding it essential to have some one who could give his whole time to this care, he added a chaplain to his staff, who soon caught the quiet, earnest spirit of his patron, and acted as schoolmaster and spiritual adviser, both for men and boys. Not long after this appointment, a chapel was erected for the workmen and their families, which has always been fully attended.

All this was done by Mr. Wilson solely from a sense of duty, and at his own private expense. Out of a salary of £1000 a year, he has expended £3289 in the development of his system. But the reward of so much kindness and sense was sure to follow. The good name of the factory gave him the choice of workmen. The good habits of the workmen ensured regularity and skill in their labors. "Cricket exercised its influence on candles," and, by degrees, the manager found himself in a possession of a set of intelligent assistants on whom he could depend—and, as a mere matter of money-making, his system repaid the outlay twice over.

When the extent and the success of Mr. Wilson's admirable schemes became known to the company, the directors warmly commended all that had been done, adopted as their own the system introduced by Mr. Wilson, reimbursed him the money he had laid out without thought of repayment, and voted £1,200 a year to carry out his plans. Mr. Wilson declined receiving one farthing of his money back, and when pressed again to do so by an unanimous meeting of the proprietors, he only received it on condition that it should be expended on the erection of a suitable chapel within the factory walls. "Such scenes as these," adds the reviewer, "make our merchants 'princes' in a double sense."

We have given but a bold outline of this Vauxhall school, but enough, perhaps, to show how much real "good" can be done by an energetic, sensible, benevolent man, who understands himself and the materials he has to work with, and is willing to devote his entire attention to superintending his plans of improvement.

This last point we would strenuously urge upon philanthropists. Unremitting personal superintendence is necessary to success in their schemes. It is gratifying to observe that reforms of this kind are received with the greatest favor and applause in England.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
THURSDAY, JUNE 2, 1853.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.—The proceedings of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, (new school) held at Buffalo, N. Y. have afforded many paragraphs for the newspapers and some work for the telegraph.

Among other things, a motion was made to inquire into the state of the presbyteries, as to number of slave-holders in churches, the moral condition of slaves, as to marriage, &c., &c., which resulted in nothing but a sort of quatrel between the southern and northern members.

Another report was brought in, by a committee, condemning "promiscuous dancing," and allowing an uncle to marry his neice, both remaining members of the church. The Assembly agreed to condemn dancing, but the telegraph says, they "almost unanimously adopted an amendment to the report on the subject, declaring marriage with a sister's child contrary to the laws of God, and revolting to humanity."

That there is something revolting to humanity, and contrary to wisdom and prudence is true,—but if by the "laws of God" the assembly means the bible,—there does not happen to be a word on the subject in that book. A nephew is forbidden to marry his aunt,—but the scriptures are silent as to the uncle and niece.

Five Roman Catholic priests in Bohemia have become Protestants within a few months.

The number of the Romish clergy in Austria including monks and nuns, is 47,052, the Protestants number 4,509; the Greek united church 4,041.

There were in Prussia in 1846, 123,837 Jews and in 1849, 218,998. About one hundred are converted and baptized annually, in the last twenty one years there have been 1'542 baptisms.

In Spain there are now 2,386 cloisters of nuns in full operation.

The Austrian government have prohibited the evangelical clergy of Bohemia from calling themselves pastors, and their districts dioceses. It demands that converts to Romanism educate their children in the Romish faith, but will not allow converts to Protestantism to educate their children as Protestants. In cases of mixed marriage, one party being Protestant and the other Romish, if the father is Romish all the children must be so, but if the father is Protestant only the boys can be educated in Protestant faith.

COULD NOT AGREE.—The jury at Milwaukie, who tried Miss Wheeler, for the murder of Lace, her seducer, did not agree, and are discharged. It is said they stood ten for acquittal, and two for conviction. Of course she must have a new trial—but there is very little probability of her conviction by any jury.

VAUXHALL FACTORY SCHOOLS.—An article with this title, on our first page to-day, shows what one man can do, who has both heart and mind; how he can harmonise the workshop, the play ground, the school and the church; and how such an one could brighten and burnish the gold, which others passed by as worthless dross.

FIRE.—The chapel of the Harris street church in Newburyport was discovered to be on fire on Tuesday afternoon, about 2 o'clock; but by the timely efforts of the fire department, the damage was confined to about $100. The Herald says the fire probably originated from India crackers, with which boys were playing on the adjoining premises, a short time previous to the alarm.

ENGLISH IGNORANCE RESPECTING THE UNITED STATES.—A Bostonian who is visiting his friends in England writes home that the recent movements in Great Britain in regard to American affairs, have revealed the deplorable ignorance which exists there among the better classes in regard to this country. He was asked by an English merchant, "How many slave markets there were in Boston?" He was also asked, "If the Indians were troublesome in Massachusetts?" To the latter query, the American replied, that the "Indians" had been very quiet in this neighborhood, since they put a quantity of tea in Boston harbor!—Transcript.

RAILROADS.—The various railroads that cross Charles River have recently adopted new regulations, which oblige the trains to be run at much less speed across the bridges over the river. The change makes a difference of about six minutes in the time formerly occupied by the trains in going to the stations houses five miles distant from Boston.

The Roanoke (N. C.) Republican, published at Halifax, referring to the recent hail storm which took place in that section, says: Mr. Benjamin Johnson, who was one of the principal sufferers by the hail storm alluded to, informs us that the hail was at least three feet deep on his premises. This he says he is willing to testify to, and that others who saw it will testify to the same. Mr. Johnson is a respectable farmer, and we believe his statement to be true.

During the recent rain storm, one hundred and twenty-two persons, male and female, applied for and were furnished with lodgings at the New York city watch houses. Many of these poor creatures came in completely wet through by the drenching rain. Some of them carried in their arms young children, with scarcely any clothes upon them; while all exhibited indications of the most sad and abject misery.

LOCAL.

CITY CEMETERY.

We have, in some former articles, given a brief description of what we think such a cemetery ought to be, and in the description of a plot of ground for the city cemetery in Portland, have given some hints for a similar place in Portsmouth. After briefly repeating the points of description, so as to show what sort of cemetery this city ought to have, we mean to offer some of the reasons why we ought to have it.

The City of Portsmouth ought to have a Cemetery of not less than forty acres, away from the compact settlement, not less than three miles from Market Square, located near one of the railroads; such ground to be selected as offers a variety of surface with suitable soil, and as affords trees and bushes already grown, if all these requisites can be found in one plot of ground. This Cemetery should be and forever remain under the direction and control of the City Government, for the sole purpose of a City Cemetery.

Now why ought we to have a City Cemetery at all? Why ought we to have such an one as this?. Why ought we to have it now?

We ought to have a City Cemetery, because the rite of burial is the answer to one of the most imperative wants of human flesh, and to one of the strongest yearnings of the human soul. Abraham says to the sons of Heth, "Give me a possession of a burying place with you, that I may bury my dead out of my sight." Here we see kindness for the living, care for the dead, and respect for the memory of the departed. Sarah, who, while living, was the desire of his eyes, must now, as dead, have her body buried out of his sight. Abraham was a rich man, able as well as willing to pay a large sum for a burial place, and did pay for it, after a wealthy neighbor had offered it as a gift. And the rich, now, when their friends die, are able, on the spur of the moment, to buy such a ground as they please, if they have not done it before. But the beloved Sarah of some poor man, his wife or daughter may die, and he has no burial lot, nor has he the money requisite to buy such an one as the burial customs of this day pronounce suitable. The city will not suffer the dead to go unburied, and will, if called upon, in forma pauperis, bury any one in its own ground on the City Farm; but most families, even poor families, do not choose this. It would be difficult to find the man who will say they should. In our old town grounds there are a few, very few vacancies—not one more than will be wanted for members of old families others of whom already lie buried there.

The proposed enlargement of Cotton's ground at the South end, is very well, as far as it goes; but a slice of land of that size can offer no chances whatever for family lots; certainly none worth mentioning in a population of ten thousand people. We wish and expect to see Cotton's annexed to the Proprietor's Ground, by a removal of the division fence, as was suggested some time ago,—and enlarged also, by including the whole gravel lot, after the gravel is removed, to accommodate burials there, so far as that may be desirable. But when we make of this ground all we can make, it does not by any means come up to the proper mark for a City Cemetery, nor can the bereaved poor man, (or worse still, poor widow,) hope for a family burial lot there.

The poor, and a large class not of the very poorest, are not able to buy lots in the beautiful and tasteful Proprietor's Grounds, either North or South, and they look to the city to provide for them a ground, eligible, tasteful, but cheap, where for a small sum they can bury their dead.

We have in these remarks hinted at a reason for a large City Cemetery—and may now state it more distinctly, viz.: that though a small ground, like Cotton's, might answer for ten years, it is nothing for a hundred. Such a place ought not to be a temporary make-shift, but a permanent benefit, convenience and ornament. That the city should do it, is vastly more democratic, more in accordance with New England notions and habits, than for it to be done in any other way, for in a City Cemetery the rich and poor will come together, while in a private one they do not.

The reasons why we should purchase such a ground now, are:—that we need some room for the purpose immediately; and if we buy a little lot in one place now, we must buy another lot in another place, at a higher price, ten years hence, and so on. But if we buy a good liberal piece of ground now, it may suffice for an hundred years, and be all in one body, as it should be.

Our ancestors, more than an hundred and fifty years ago, laid out our present grave yards. Now we as a City, ought not to do less than to purchase for ourselves and our posterity such a piece of wild land as has been hinted at, say fifty acres—the purchase to be by a special loan, on long time. The land should then be laid out, fenced, a chapel built, and the lots sold at a low, but remunerating price, under such regulations as the city should prescribe, and with such reservations for free burials as would secure the right of burial to all classes, along with the performance of its appropriate rites in a

CITY CEMETERY.

INDUSTRIAL PROCESSION.

The meeting called on Wednesday evening to make preliminary arrangements to get up an Industrial Procession for the 4th of July, was well attended. Alfred W. Haven, Esq., was chosen Chairman, and Samuel R. Cleaves Secretary.

A committee, consisting of John Norton, J. N. Carleton, W. H. Sise, F. G. Beal and Frank W. Miller, were appointed to call upon those engaged in industrial pursuits to ascertain the expediency of getting up such a procession.

The meeting adjourned to Monday evening next, when the committee will report.

FOURTH OF JULY.—The Free Democracy of this city, Dover, Exeter, and the country round about, are to celebrate the Anniversary of Independence in this place. We learn from the Messenger that the Hon. CHARLES SUMNER has been appointed Orator of the day. A public dinner will be provided. Hon. John P. Hale and Hon. Amos Tuck will be invited guests. The programme will be completed and published shortly.

☞ Last evening, a child was run over in State street, by Jackson & Co's express waggon, and its arm broken and face bruised.—The accident was caused, we learn, by a dog barking at the horse, causing him to sheer out of the road.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

N. H. General Court—June Session.

CONCORD, June 1, 1853.

The New Hampshire Legislature met this day at 10 o'clock, and organized by the choice of James M. Rix, of Lancaster, as President of the Senate, and I. Everett Sargent, of Wentworth, as Speaker of the House.

George C. Williams, of Lancaster, was chosen clerk, and Charles Doe, of Rollinsford, assistant clerk of the Senate, and E. A. Hibbard, of Meredith, was appointed clerk, and A. S. Marshal of Concord, as assistant clerk of the House.

The Speaker elect, upon taking the chair addressed the House as follows:

GENTLEMEN: I am well aware that, in accepting the trust which your confidence and kindness have conferred upon me, I am entering upon the performance of labors which are always arduous, and often perplexing—upon the discharge of duties frequently difficult and uniformly of the highest importance and responsibility. I know that, limited as my acquaintance is with the subject of legislation, I must rely upon you, gentlemen, for aid and co-operation; I must look to you for countenance and support, and would crave your kind sympathy and generous forbearance. The history of the past shows that such aid and such support have been uniformly extended to the Chair by the members of the House, and I know that I may rely with confidence upon a continuance of the same kind and friendly disposition on the part of the members composing this body; and especially is my diffidence in assuming the responsibilities of the position lessened and dispelled when I see among the present members of the House so many who have had long and extensive experience in legislative proceedings.

It cannot, of course, be expected that there will be an uniformity of sentiment, or a similarity of opinion, in all questions of public policy. Honest differences of opinion must and will exist among the members of a body like this; and there is no doubt, gentlemen, that it is for the best good of the State that it should be so. And while each member may contend earnestly for what he considers to be the right, yet these differences of opinion and of action, how great soever they may be, should, and will, no doubt, be entertained in a spirit of candor and courtesy.

The ruling motive of us all, gentlemen, undoubtedly is to perform well our duty to our immediate constituents, our duty to the State and to the cause of free government. And while, in the discharge of these duties, it became us to look well that we keep within the limits clearly designated to us by the constitutions of the United States and our own State, it may be also proper for us to consider that where the laws are fewest and simplest, consistent with the protection of life, liberty and property, there is enjoyed the most personal independence and happiness—and that all laws should as far as practicable, be made for the benefit of the whole people, and not for that of any particular portion, party or interest—laws whose influence shall fall, like the light and dews of heaven, equally and beneficially on all.

For the honor you have conferred on me, gentlemen, in selecting me to preside over your deliberations, you will please accept my most grateful acknowledgments. I shall endeavor, to the extent of my ability, to serve you faithfully; and I would cherish the fond hope that we may all, by truly laboring for the public good, secure the just approbation of those constituents who have sent us here to guard their rights, advance their interest, and promote their welfare.

The Manchester Mirror says:—Rev Mr. Fuller, who has been the pastor of the Unitarian Church in this city for five years past, preached his farewell sermon on Sabbath afternoon. He goes immediately to assume the duties of pastor of the new North Church in Boston. The Society in this city have voted unanimously to give a call to Rev. Mr. Le Barron, of Worcester, Mass., to become the successor of Mr. Fuller. They give $1000 salary.

NEW PRICES CURRENT.—The Boston Times says, Wm. H. Hines kissed Mrs. Gorham, in East Boston, the other day. She sued him for damages, or value received, but didn't appear on the return day, having been satisfied by a cash payment of $15. This may be set down as the Boston market price of kisses. The last decision in New York was $5, and in New Orleans $3. A very valuable article, certainly; but luxuries must be paid for.

ARRIVAL OF IMMIGRANTS.—The N. Y. Express gives a list of eleven ships and barks, which have arrived at that port since Sunday last, with passengers from Liverpool, Havre and Hamburg. Upwards of nine thousand immigrants were landed from thirty-one vessels in New York in 48 hours.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

REVOLUTION AT VERA CRUZ.—The steamship Texas arrived at New Orleans on Wednesday, with dates from Vera Cruz to the 22d inst.

On the 17th a revolution broke out at Vera Cruz among the National Guards, in consequence of an order from government to incorporate the Nationals with troops of the line. The revolution lasted three days, during which business was entirely suspended. The regular troops having possession of both the forts and the National Guards of the streets and city gates; a brisk firing was kept up during the whole time, but the affair was finally ended on the 20th, by the entrance of a large body of regular troops from Jalapa, who took fifty of the Nationals prisoners, when quiet was restored. About fifty of the National Guards were killed, and many wounded.

ANOTHER COOLEY DISASTER.—British ship Sovereign, 450 tons, which left Amoy Aug. 18 for Havana, with 321 Coolies, was brought into Manilla Bay in March, having been three times aground, lost mates and three seamen in the long boat, and captain and a large number of Coolies by sickness.

On Friday of last week six soldiers who had been tried at the Carlisle Barracks for desertion, and sentenced, were flogged, marked with the letter "D" on the hip, and had their heads shaved, and on Sunday morning were drummed out of garrison.

THE FREIGHTING BUSINESS.—The London Shipping Gazette, in view of the large number of American vessels chartered to load timber and deals at Quebec and other ports of North America, for Great Britain, says—"In a short time we may expect to see the whole of our North American timber trade in the hands of foreigners."

ESSEX COUNTY.—We understand that Mr. Lamson, late keeper of the Beverly Alms House, and Robert Rantoul, Esq., one of the overseers, were indicted by the grand jury on Saturday for malfeasance in office, on charges relating to the case mentioned in the papers a few weeks ago.

Several liquor sellers were arrested in Salem, on Saturday, and taken to jail, to answer to the bills returned against them. About twenty-five, in all, were jugged, most of whom obtained bail.—Salem Register.

When Ole Bull appeared a few days ago, in Peoria, Illinois, some of the people were astonished to see him so young looking; as they innocently supposed "Ole" to be, not a part of his name, but an affectionate and familiar spelling of the adjective old.

ARRAIGNMENT OF A GIRL FOR THE MURDER OF HER LOVER.—Agnes Anderson, the young woman now in confinement charged with the murder of Mr. Taylor, was brought up for arraignment this morning, in the Fifth district court. The court room was crowded on the occasion. Agnes had on a black silk dress, a bonnet, and a green veil, and looked fatigued and care worn. When called to the bar, she advanced from her seat with a steady step, but when the clerk commenced reading the indictment and the finding of the grand jury, her assumed fortitude gave way, and before the document was read she became terribly agitated. When the clerk had finished reading the indictment, he put the usual question, "Are you guilty or not guilty?" to which she replied, "I am guilty in self defence; and I wish I was hung and be done with it. I'll die for him; I love him; I wish I was hung for it; I don't want to live in chains." Her language here became incoherent, and in the midst of the excitement of the scene, the Judge very properly ordered the officer to remove her from the court room.—Augusta, Ga., Sentinel, May 24.

MYSTERIOUS ABANDONMENT OF A YOUNG LADY.—Some two weeks since a young girl appeared at the third district station house in Court street, and informed the officers that she had arrived in this city that day, from Peekskill, with her uncle, William Hague—stating her own name as Frances Hague—and that on landing from the boat at the Hamilton avenue ferry he left her, promising to return in a few minutes. After waiting for some hours she made known the fact to a policeman, who took her to the station house. Here she related her story, and Assistant Captain Van Orden, taking compassion on her, took her to his home, where she spent several days with his family, and deported herself in an unexceptionable manner. She stated that she arrived in New York from Charleston, South Carolina, some days previous. Her father having died about a month before, and her mother being dead also, her uncle sent word for her to come north, and make his house her future home. When she arrived at Peekskill (she had mistaken the name—it should have been Fishkill, she was met by her uncle, and the following morning they departed in a steamboat for New York, for the ostensible purpose of visiting some friends. Arriving in Brooklyn, she was abandoned as above stated. Captain Campbell, being anxious to ascertain the truth of her statement, took her to Peekskill, and there, accidentally, met a man who had seen the girl take a boat at the Fishkill landing in company with her uncle. They consequently proceeded to Fishkill, but could obtain to further information about him than such a man had lived there and was a widower; but where he had removed no one seemed to know.—Through the influence of Justice King of this city, a home was procured for the girl at Mr. Van Wick's, who resides on a farm about six miles from Fishkill, where the girl now is, and appears very well satisfied. Her father, it appears, was the owner of some property in South Carolina, and she is the only heir; her brother, a small lad, who formerly set type in in the office of the Southern Literary Messenger, at Charleston, having died some time ago. In case of her death, it is provided that the property falls to the next nearest relative, which is the uncle, and if the girl's story is true, this latter consideration might have had something to do with her abandonment in a large city, and among entire strangers. Mr. Van Orden received a letter from her a day or two since, in which she expressed her thanks to his family for the interest they took in her behalf. The letter is indicative of a cultivated mind.

MARRIAGE,

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyant spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefited by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness, if the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and cause of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copyright.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain unfortunately uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, E. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

INTERESTING FACTS

are constantly coming to light, from different parts of the country, showing the astonishing effects of the fair and faithful use of these Lozenges.

HERE IS ONE LETTER,

from a citizen of Portsmouth—and but a sample of hundreds:

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1853.

This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges, —which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few bottles, wholly removed his cough. UNPARALLELLED FORGERY.—The Cleveland Herald of the 18th inst. gives the following account of a singular forgery perpetrated in that county a few days before:

"A homespun, farmer-like looking man who gave his name as James Hudson, appeared in Parma, in this county, a few days ago. He represented himself as from Dutchess county, N. Y., where he had recently sold his farm, and claimed to be in search of a new location in this section of the country. Hudson made the acquaintance of Mr. Lewis Warner, examined his farm, which contained 128 acres and agreed to purchased it for $5000. He procured from Mr. Warner a written agreement to this effect, signed by him, and also the deed which gave him (Warner) title, as he said, for the purpose of taking it to Cleveland and examining the title. Hudson then went to Mr. Coggswell, Justice of the Peace in Parma, and under pretence of wishing to write him on business, obtained his address in his own handwriting.

Thus having in his possession Warner's deed, and the signatures of Warner and Cogswell, Hudson came to Cleaveland and drew up a deed conveying the land to himself, to which he forged the signature of Warner as donor, and of Cogswell as certifying Justice; adding for form's sake, those of two witnesses.

The date of the deed was May 9th, and the same day it was filed in the Recorder's office for record.

With this apparently indisputable evidence of title to the land, Hudson applied to Thomas Botton, Esq., of this city, for a loan of $1,500, offering mortgage security upon the farm.—Mr. Bolton consented to loan him the amount for four years, at ten per cent. annual interest, and a mortgage was drawn up, which Hudson signed, and took with him to Parma, to procure the signature of his wife. On Tuesday he presented the mortgage properly signed and acknowledged—the signatures of his wife, the Justice, and one witness, forgeries, of course—and received the $1,500 from Mr. Bolton.

Yesterday, 17th, Mr. Warner came to this city, and inquired for Hudson, saying he had agreed to sell him his farm, and he thought it time the papers were executed. Meeting with Mr. Bolton, the facts stated above were ascertained, and Mr. Warner pronounced the deed a forgery.

So shrewd and perfectly executed a piece of rascality has not recently occurred in this vicinity; and the forger having a week the start of law, officers, and lightning, it is but barely possible that he will be overtaken by either of them."

THE CURCULIO.—C. Betts, of Detroit, communicates the following mode of preventing the ravages of this destructive insect:

As soon as the fruit began to form, and the curculios were found to be about the trees, he took a barrel of air-slaked lime into the garden, and with a large shovel threw the lime among the trees, covering them completely, and to use his own expression, "making a perfect smudge." At this they seemed displeased and left; he observed them crawling over the lime covered fruit in a few instances, but they appeared restless and uneasy, and soon all left. Along in June they again made their appearance, and the liming was repeated, which was again successful in driving them away; and once again, just before the plums began to ripen, he gave the trees another dose, having observed some curculios about. His trees were loaded with fruit, while there were but few grown elsewhere in the city. A large branch, loaded, was exhibited at the August exhibition at the Detroit Horticultural Society.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A carpenter named Levi Merrifield died suddenly at the Mass. General Hospital, this morning. His leg was badly injured a few days since, but he was supposed to be recovering. Coroner Pratt will hold an inquest.

HIGH PRICED PICTURES.—At a recent sale in London of the Spanish collection of pictures owned by the late Louis Phillippe, ex-King of the French, many of the works bro't the highest prices. The portrait, by Velasquez, of the Minister Olivarez, was sold for $1550. A portrait of Philip IV. of Spain, also said to be by Velasquez, copied from the celebrated original of the Madrid Museum, in the third or vague manner of the painter, sold for $1250. The finest Murillo in the collection was the much injured canvas which once represented, in all the splendor of color and expression, "St. Joseph and the Infant Christ," but damaged as it was it sold for $2500. The "Conception," in life size, though deprived, in many places of its glazings, brought the sum of $4050;—it is a composition in the second manner of Murillo. A smaller "Conception," by Murillo, in which the characteristics of the master were also distinguishable, was knocked down for $1850. The "Virgin and Child" brought $7750. Another "St. Joseph and Infant Christ," though not a favorable specimen of the master, brought $1500.—A picture of "Jesus and St. John" on the banks of Jordan, brought $8300.

The "Conception," by Murillo, sold in Paris last year, brought over $100,000. It was purchased by the French government in the face of a strong competition.—N. Y. Eve. Post.

AN OLD MOTHER.—The Picton Chronicle records a death as follows:

At Antigonish on the 5th of May, at the extraordinary age of 105 years, Jane, relict of the late Nathan Pushee, who was trumpet major on the staff of Gen. Washington in the Revolutionary war of the United States; and who died at Onslow, on his return from the United States in 1838, after having been admitted a revolutionary pensioner, and having received back pay for a number of years. The deceased was the first white woman who came to that part of the county of Sydney, having settled there in 1784. Her descendants number 147, being 10 children, 70 grand children, and 67 great grand children.

A THING EVERY FARMER SHOULD KNOW.—If you wish to drive a cut nail into seasoned oak timber, and not to have it break or bend, just have a small quantity of oil near by and dip the nail before driving, and it will never fail to go. In mending carts and ploughs this is of great advantage, for they are generally made mostly of oak wood. In straightening old nails before using, let it be done on wood, and with easy blows. If done on iron they will be sure to break.

PORTSMOUTH:
FRIDAY, JUNE 3, 1853.

STATE REFORM SCHOOL.

A Reform School for Juvenile Delinquents is exceedingly desirable, and the attention of the people has been called to it repeatedly.

An effort was made in the Legislature of 1850 and 1851, for the establishment of such a Reform School, and so far succeeded as to place $1000 at the disposal of a committee to select a place and designate a plan for such an institution. Their report was placed before the Legislature of 1852, and without receiving much attention, and with no manifest opposition, was postponed to the present year.—Messrs. Bartlett and Hackett of this city spoke in its favor, and pointed out its advantages; as did also other members. We hope the subject may be revived this year, and something done in the premises. While we are talking, every year, the number of juvenile convicts in our prison is augmented. "They are led into the ways of transgression, are tempted and fall. The law is inflexible, the testimony positive. The court may possess the mercy of a parent, but must exercise the justice which pertains to its position. The jury may be moved by pity, but they must render their verdict according to law and the evidence. The unfortunate delinquent is found guilty, and in order to answer the demands of the Statute, is sentenced to the State Prison, there to associate with practiced thieves and robbers, and to serve an apprenticeship in the very sphere he should the most earnestly shun."

"We have (says the Manchester Mirror) but little sympathy for the abandoned and wilful criminal. Let him who appropriates to himself, by stealth or force, what belongs to another, who in any manner violates his country's laws, suffer the penalty which their infraction demands. But when youth is enticed to sin, and to follow in the paths of trangsgression, let measures be adopted which shall not only punish, but which may lead to reformation. Let the temptations be removed from the young and fix not on them the disgrace,—which will forever cling to them,—the disgrace of felons. Let them be placed under the restraint of the good, and surrounded by good influences and judicious, though kind restraint, and future years will most likely show the vicious and uncared for boy, has become a man of influence and respectability."

MURDERS IN BERWICK.

On Wednesday evening about 8 o'clock, a young lady residing in Berwick, was returning from a walk, and passing a refreshment saloon, was insulted by three young men, two of them named John and James Waters, and the other Scannel. Two men named Ivory Pray and Lewis Maxwell, who were in the vicinity at the time, defended the young lady, and protected her from the insult of the others. Some hard words passed between the parties when they separated.

About 9 o'clock, Maxwell was found dead in the street, near his stable, having been stabbed near the heart with some sharp instrument, and shortly afterwards Pray was found nearly dead on the road which leads to South Berwick, where he resides. Pray was stabbed with a sword cane by one of the men named Waters, as he states. He is not expected to recover. There is great excitement in the town, and two of the men, the brothers Waters, have been arrested. They were found in a garret, where they had secreted themselves. The man Scannel has disappeared from the town, and he was stated to be seen coming towards Portsmouth on Thursday morning.

Maxwell was a man well known in Berwick. He was a stable keeper, about thirty years of age and unmarried.

Mr. Pray was alive at 4 o'clock, on Thursday afternoon—but not expected to live.

The Waters's live in Rollinsford, and have been employed in the foundry of the Somersworth Machine Co.

The Great Falls Journal extra, of last evening, gives a variety of particulars, omitting any mention of the lady, but stating that the Irishmen concerned in the murder, were noted for their carousals at the rum shops in Berwick, near Salmon Falls Bridge.

MEXICO.—New Orleans papers of the 26th ult., contain additional items of Mexican news.

Senor Laza, a broker, had been arrested at the capital, on a charge of high treason in dealing with the Americans during the war.

Twenty-six newspapers had been suspended under the decree of Santa Anna.

Double guards had been posted at the gates of the city. When the news of the outbreak at Vera Cruz had reached the capital, 2000 troops were despatched to the scene; but the rebellion being quelled, they returned to the city.

A MAN IN DISGUISE.—Last summer a (reputed) female was going the rounds, instructing ladies in the art of cutting dresses, &c., hailing from the North, we believe. We understand this person recently died in one of the upper counties, when the discovery was made that the cutter of ladies'-garments was a man in disguise—one who had donned the petticoats for some unexplained reason, and passed for a female until after death.—Fredericksburg (Va.) Herald.

City Council—June 2.

IN COMMON COUNCIL.—The committee of conference reported that the Common Council recede from their amendment striking out the appropriation for the Brick Market; that the Aldermen recede from theirs striking out the additional $300 for the 4th of July; and that the flagstaff amendment be struck out.

The Common Council then voted to adhere to their amendments, and sent up the bill.

Voted to grant the use of the Common Council room to the committee on the Industrial Procession.

IN CONVENTION.—Chose the following officers:—Assistant Engineers, John Norton, Jr., Jeremiah D. Goodrich, Hamti Kenney, and John H. Moran.

At 10 o'clock, P. M., the twelfth ballot for City Agent was going on.

WELCOME HOME.

☞ The Portsmouth Boys in Boston, are making arrangements to come home on the Fourth. Of this we are assured, by a gentleman who has just returned from a personal interview with a goodly number of them; and they will come, in good style, and in large numbers. Our city government of course will move now:—but besides what they do, there ought to be a meeting of citizens on Saturday evening, to make preliminary arrangements here. Let it be a matter of talk about town to-day,—and let a notice be given in the Chronicle to-morrow morning, of the place of meeting.

FIRE.

On Thursday afternoon about half-past 4 o'clock, fire broke out in a woodhouse on Tanner street, in rear of house No. 8 Bridge Street. The wood-house was soon destroyed, and the fire communicated to the adjoining buildings of Mr. George Parkinson, which were somewhat injured by fire and water, and his furniture by removal in a hurry.

The fire also laid hold on the house No. 2 Tanner street, belonging to the Factory Co. which was severely scorched.

The engines and firemen came promptly, with plenty of help from the factory and the two railroad stations, and very speedily put out the fire. Its origin is not known.

☞ Dr. Laighton, who dressed the child's arm which was hurt by an express wagon on Wednesday evening, says the arm is not broken, but badly bruised, and the child now doing well. The horse in the wagon was not driven carelessly, but was frightened out of his course by the sudden barking of some worthless cur that rushed out from a gate, as before stated.

NEW ENGLAND TEA STORE, BOSTON.—G. W. Sleeper, of the above well known establishment has just completed extensive alterations and improvements upon his store, at 130 Washington street. Within the past year he has completely rebuilt his establishment; taking down the old brick front, and replaced it with a handsome granite one, five stories high; in the interior the walls are adorned with Chinese scenery (painted by the Celestials themselves) which represents the natives in their various occupations. On one side of the store may be seen many curious Chinese articles, curiosities, and lacquered ware, which added to the rich, superior and convenient cases for containing teas, &c., imparts a very tasteful and rich appearance to the establishment. Mr. S. having a large stock of the most choice chops of tea, lately selected in China with great care and with especial interest to strength, flavor and economy, is prepared to accommodate all, either at wholesale or retail—in chests, half chests, boxes, packages or smaller quantity. For family use the five pound packages are particularly desirable. The establishment at 130 Washington street is the only one in Boston with which Mr. Sleeper is connected. All letters containing orders should be directed as above.—Boston Travellsr.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

By the polite attention of our friends of the N. H. Patriot, we are enabled to give thus early, Governor Martin's Message, which was delivered at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon:—

MESSAGE.

Gentlemen of the Senate and of the House of Representatives:

I congratulate you, fellow-citizens, upon your assembling to take upon you the the important and honorable trusts confided to you by your constituents and the constitution, under such auspicious circumstances.

New Hampshire is in a prosperous condition beyond any former period of her history.

Her agricultural, mechanical, manufacturing, monetary, social and educational interests are flourishing and progressive; all her business pursuits yield a thriving remuneration to the exertions of mind and hand; industry and skill find ready and congenial employment, while religion, intelligence and morals, have an increasingly preponderating influence upon our social condition, as evinced by the diminution of crime and the increasing harmony and happiness of society.

Physical health, mental vigor and the blessings of exuberant plenty are continued unto us, by that bountiful hand, from which "cometh every good and perfect gift."

Our facilities for inter-communication are perfected beyond any former period, and contribute not a little to the developement and augmentation of our resources of wealth, and the convenience and improvement of our population.

Our plains and valleys are covered with a net work of railways; the cars rush along upon their tracks freighted with human and animal life, and all kinds of merchandise, with almost inconceivable velocity; manufacturing and mechanical establishments adorn and make useful our waterfalls, the hum of the machinery, the voices of the cheerful operatives and the pour of the motive-power commingling, enliven the daily toil of intelligent and well-paid industry; meeting-houses, common school houses and academies be-deck our towns and villages, and workshops, mercantile stores, tasteful, comfortable dwellings and well cultivated farms, everywhere attest our progress in useful arts, industrial pursuits, morals and civilization.

And when we look beyond the confines of this State, and observe the prosperity, growth and happiness of our sister States, each sovereign and independent, cheered by the vitality of unshackled freedom and possessing all the elements of nationality cooperative with an enterprise, patriotism and federative power never surpassed if ever equalled; a national territorial extension embracing almost every variety of soil, climate, production, vegetable, animal and mineral essential to our wants or advantageous to our uses; bays, lakes and rivers combining inter-navigable advantages of the highest order, improved by an enlightened skill and industry which never wery, never falter; twenty-five millions of heads and fifty millions of hands, all actively busied in contriving and executing in this vast, industrial, national commonwealth; commerce extended to every sea; agricultural resources almost limitless; arts, sciences, literature, industry, free, vital, untrammelled; state governments that know and feel their rights and spurn their infringement; an impregnable federal government, the policy of which home and foreign is liberal, just and progressive, with an Executive Head born and reared amid our own hills and stern republicanism; historical achievements in arts, arms, statesmanship, and a progress in population, wealth and internal improvements beyond any people ancient or modern of so young a nationality; and a priceless and I trust an imperishable Union! shall we fail to be grateful, and thankful, and to feel the responsibilities and incentives of an integral member of a great and a Christian nation?

Nations are but aggregated individuals; associations of men for mutual assistance and defence by the combined strength of all, governed by certain laws, and respecting the rights of other associations, individual and confederate.

Hence nations have duties to perform, rights to maintain and responsibilities to incur as well as individuals. The protection of the rights of its citizens and territory from all aggressive action, the preservation of national character both at home and abroad, the adoption of all measures which will promote the advancement of its own prosperity without encroaching upon the just rights of other sovereignties, a prompt, fearless resistance to all projects of foreign powers which will tend to endanger the quiet stability of its government or interfere with the beneficial effects of its established policy, and an inflexible devotion to the stern dictates of duty and justice, are some of the unequivocal duties of a nation. Those principles of liberty which have been confided to our keeping, by which we are governed, and whose sway under God we alone acknowledge, forbid the further spread of despotism upon our continent; and justice to ourselves, our posterity, the oppressed millions of other lands, and the memory of our illustrious revolutionary fathers require at our hands, that an unyielding barrier should be presented to it. If the despotic powers of Europe possess the power and assume the right to propogate absolutism beyond their own territorial boundaries, free governments may with equal justice exercise the same power and right in propagating free principles beyond their own borders. This is neither claimed nor practised by our government, and should not be submitted to, if claimed by any other. I submit to your judgment and patriotism whether the present is not a fit time for New Hampshire to assert in her sovereign capacity the foregoing principles of international policy.

Legislative power is a high prerogative; it is the authority that under the constitution makes, alters or annuls the laws, and it is essential to judicious legislation, that the legislator acts with careful deliberation and penetrating intelligence. An intelligence that extends to a distinct and clear comprehension of the laws in force, their defects and advantages, and the wants and necessities of the people; for without this knowledge to guide, his attempts at law-making would be like the partially blind, essaying to discover and appreciate the most intimately and subtilely blended colors, and directing a change in their combinations to improve the tints and heighten their effect.—An intelligent and scrutinizing deliberation will have a tendency to check an unfortunate inclination which too often exists, to multiply and alter the laws. It does not follow, that because the Legislature assembles annually the statutes must have a yearly extension and modification. Mutable legislation is a great and I fear a growing evil. It renders the law and its application uncertain, detracts from its otherwise controlling power, operates injuriously upon the value of property, and as laws are often made through its influence to meet extraordinary cases, they as often operate unequally, unjustly and oppressively.

Agriculture is our leading interest, and although our State is more mountainous than any of our neighboring States, yet, we can justly boast of large quantities of luxuriant interval; our uplands are productive and afford a pasturage unrivalled in excellence, and no where can the necessaries, conveniences and comforts of life be found, combined in greater abundance. Our agricultural societies both state and county are doing much for husbandry, and the growing interest in them evinced by most of our citizens is a favorable indication of their utility and of the benefits to be derived from them. The free interchange of information, scientific and practical can not be too intimate, and the analysis of soils, their adaptation to the different crops, the various and best modes of culture, the rearing of stock, and orcharding in all its varieties, are matters of the deepest interest to the agriculturist.—The three State Fairs which have been held have proved highly successful, and have afforded gratifying evidence of their usefulness. Our lands improved and under tillage number 2,251,488 acres; value of farms $55,245,997; farming implements and machinery $2,314,-125; live stock $8,871,901; orchard products $248,563; domestic manufactures $393,455. We raise an average crop of 185,658 bushels of wheat; 183,117 bushels of rye; 1,573,670 bushels of Indian corn; 973,381 bushels of oats; 70,856 bushels of beans and peas; 70,256 bushels of barley; 65,265 bushels of buck-wheat; 4,304,919 bushels of potatoes; and we produce 1,108,476 lbs. of wool; 6,977,056 lbs. of butter; 3,196,563 lbs. of cheese; 1,294,863 lbs. of maple sugar; and 598,854 tons of hay. Let the young farmers of this State estimate the foregoing products of the farm and dairy at fair average prices, and see what a fine aggregate of values they will have at the result, bearing in mind the while, that he who most increases the productiveness of the earth, is the greatest benefactor of his race. I would renew my suggestion of last June, in regard to the establishment of an Agricultural Commission.

Our manufacturing interest presents data second only in importance to the agricultural. This interest is now enjoying great prosperity, which promises to be permanent under skilful and provident management. We have in the State, or had in 1850, and now probably the number is somewhat increased, 44 Cotton establishments in operation, covering an investment of $10,950,500; manufacturing 113,106,-247 yards of cloth; using 83,026 bales of cotton, consuming 7,679 tons of coal; involving a value of raw material of $4,839,429; employing 2,911 male and 9,211 female operatives; disbursing to the former $75,713, and to the latter $124,131 per month; making an average to the males of $25 45, and to the females of $13 47 per month; and producing an annual aggregate value of products of $8,830,619. Woolen establishments 61; investment $2,437,700; yards of cloth manufactured 9,712,840; pounds of wool used 3,604,103; tons of coal 3,600; value of raw material $1,276,329; number of males employed 926; females 1,201; entire wages per month, males $21,177; females $17,451; average wages per month for the former $22 84; the latter $14 51; value of entire products $2,127,745.

The foregoing statistics I have mainly derived from an abstract of the seventh census.

The present banking system of the State is sound and popular.

The banks of deposit, discount and circulation to the number of 33, with an aggregate capital of $3,226,000 all paid in, are in the hands of honest, responsible and accommodating financiers, rendering them safe to the public and remunerative to the stockholders.

They are well distributed in the different sections of the State, and so located as to accommodate the business operations of the community.

Their stocks are diffused among all avocations, individuals holding but small quantities, the policy being to have all interested in them who have money capital more than they require in their ordinary business, even if but small in amount.

The Savings Institutions, or banks of deposit and loan, are 16 in number, and have an aggregate capital of $2,132,218.

The management of these institutions is judicious, as far as can be ascertained from the reports of the Bank Commissioners; they seem to be confided to good hands and are performing their important functions with a steadiness and fidelity which entitle them to the undoubting confidence of the depositors.

It will be perceived from the foregoing, that in our business operations we have facilities of money capital through our banks, to the amount of $5,358,212, by which to aid credit and facilitate exchanges, and to this might be properly added the average deposits in our banks of deposit, discount and circulation.

It has occurred to me, that the utility of our banks might be considerably increased, if they were permitted to receive small deposits on interest, to be drawn at the pleasure of the depositor.

Many persons having small amounts of money and being unfamiliar with or disinclined to invest them in stocks, either squander their funds or suffer them to lie idle.

Were the banks to receive such sums and allow a lower rate of interest to the depositors than they charge their customers, they would not only remunerate themselves and benefit the depositors, but confer a favor upon the business community by introducing to use a large amount of unproductive money capital.

It may be said, that savings banks do this already, and they do to a certain extent; but they cannot always, or indeed generally, pay their depositors on demand, and if they do and the demand does not occur upon the quarter day, the depositor loses the interest back to the last quarter day, whereas banks of discount and circulation can pay their depositors on demand with interest up to date, if in a sound condition.

There seems to be, I regret to acknowledge, at home and abroad, a great tendency to increase banking capital; and, as business operations of a healthy character extend, the facilities to effect exchanges should be augmented in a proportionate degree; but if the proper point is transcended the currency becomes depreciated; business is overdone; speculation stimulated; the relation of creditor and debtor changed; the value of property affected, and revulsion and business disaster must come as the natural consequence. The severe lessons in our monetary affairs of 1837 and 1840, I trust, are too fresh in our recollection to admit of our being drawn into a participation in such increase of banking capital, as preceded those years of failures, mercantile and general business distress.

That the great increase of banking capital throughout the country, from 1830 to 1837, contributed largely to the disasters of that memorable period, I believe no intelligent financier will pretend to deny.

Our Railroad interest is one of much importance in point of amount, investment and utility. The accommodation and safety to the public, and remuneration to the stockholders, are matters which cannot fail to interest every member of the community. Our railroads are now the main inland avenues of transportation—our principal thoroughfares, and are alike essential to every interest and every calling.—The products of industry of every variety are mainly dependent upon them for transit to market; all the arrangements of travel are made with reference to their agency, and in all the movements of this moving age they seem to hold nearly an undisputed sway. We have 624 3-4 miles of railroad in the State in running order, which have cost $18,346,086,-64; the last annual receipts have been $1,-768,455,98, and the expenses $949,567,54; giving a net income of $818,888,44; and averaging nearly 4 1-2 per cent. on the whole investment. The questions must suggest themselves to every reflecting mind in view of the foregoing statistics, whether an increase of railroad investment can be of public or private advantage to our citizens? Whether good faith to the existing roads does not interpose a sufficient barrier to the augmentation of competing charters? and whether the competition of rival roads will not change its field of operation, by a union of interests, and the exaction from the public of such fares as will reimburse their lavish expenditures?

In my communication to the Legislature in November last, I adverted to the subject of accidents occurring on railroads and in manufacturing establishments, and suggested an inquiry whether all had been done that should be done by legislation, to prevent their occurrence. Since then the public heart has been almost daily saddened by the recital of railroad casualties, attended with a shocking waste of life, and occasioned in most instances by such utter recklessness, ignorance or carelessness, that the public voice seems to call loudly for more stringent measures of protection against similar calamities. Railroad corporations are the creations of legislation, avowedly for the public good, and the power that creates should impose such restrictions as to insure fidelity to the original intention. Whatever endangers life, limb or property, is incompatible with the public good, and the Legislature is remiss in its appropriate duties, that fails to apply legitimate and practicable remedies to such evils. I do therefore again invite legislation on this subject, and respectfully propose that carelessness in persons connected with the management or running of railroad trains, and of machinery in other corporations, when occasioning the loss of life, may be made an indictable offence, punishable by confinement to hard labor for life or a term of years, according to the aggravation of the offence; and that a Life-protecting Commission may be established, with plenary powers to examine into all matters appertaining to railroads or other corporations, which may endanger the lives of passengers, operatives, and all having lawful business with such corporations; to examine employees as to their intelligence and fitness for the stations they may occupy, where carelessness and ignorance may endanger life; to make and establish rules, regulate speed and time, and to do all other things requisite for the better preservation of life from accidents, occasioned by the mismanagement of corporation employees.

Our Educational Institutions, I am happy to say, have increased in number and efficiency the last year. The members of the Board of Education have been indefatigable in their labors: literary acquirement, energy and devotion to popular education, in them are eminently blended. Our institutes are gaining popular favor; our teachers seem to be actuated by zealous determination to discharge their duties in such a manner as shall best subserve the highest interests of society; and parents see more clearly, and more generally, that the way of their offspring to intelligence, usefulness and respectability, lies through the well-regulated and well-disciplined school room; and that education, physical, mental and moral, forms the basis of health, prosperity and distinction. Our common schools and academies furnish pupils for our college, our college furnishes instructors, superintendents and commissioners for our common and academic schools: they foster, elevate and sustain each other, and give tone, intelligence and progress to society in all its various departments; industry and skill in all their phases acknowledge their contributions, and religion and civil government invoke their indispensable agency. The Sabbath schools and the newspaper press, are additional educational instrumentalities of great power and diffusibility. The former are invested with a religious and moral power, that impresses upon the susceptible and plastic minds of youth, sentiments and principles to be incorporated in their natures, to form their characters, live in their thoughts, guide their future actions and bless society; and the latter, if portions of it were divested of partisan asperities, might rank its editors among the most potent and salutary educators of the State.

The following statistics will illustrate our educational condition:

Number of persons in the State, pursuing education in the schools, during the past year:

Dartmouth College	294
Incorporated Academies	2,919
Unincorporated Academies and Private Schools	4,720
Common Schools	84,900
Total number	92,833

Being 1 in every 3 42-100 of the whole population.

Amount of money applied for the purposes of Instruction:

Dartmouth College	$13,560
Incorporated Academies	23,514
Unincorporated Academies and Private Schools	16,173
Amount raised by taxes for the Common Schools, about	200,000
Amount raised for Teachers' Institutes	4,500
Amount of Literary Fund, about	14,000
Total amount	$271,747
Number of Schools:
College	1
Incorporated Academies	47
Unincorporated Academies and Private Schools	46
Common School Districts	2,300
Total number	2,894

I cannot forbear again to suggest my settled conviction of the feasibleness and utility of introducing into our common schools, generally, the studies of physiology and agricultural chemistry.

The State debt June the 2d, 1852, was $66,-195 08; it is now about $74,000, an increase above the last year of nearly $8,000; about $2,000 of this excess originated in the addition of interest to the legacy of Catherine Fiske.—Considering the length of last November session, the appropriations made, and the necessarily augmented disbursements incident thereto, the financial condition of the State is as favorable as could be reasonably expected. For a detailed account of the state of the Treasury, I beg leave to refer you to the report of the able officer who has that department of the government in his immediate charge.

New Hampshire has hitherto sustained a reputation for financial economy and judicious legislation, unexcelled by any member of the confederacy, and I trust, she is destined to suffer no abatement in these praiseworthy traits by any action of ours. Exemption from indebtedness is as sound policy for a State as for an individual, and no freedom is complete without.

The State Prison maintains that high reputation for discipline and financial prosperity so justly attributable to the late efficient and judicious Warden; and in the resignation of that officer and the appointment of the present incumbent, it seems to have lost nothing in these characteristics. The convicts are healthy, and have been so during the past year to an unusual degree, performing their daily tasks with cheerfulness, to the satisfaction of the warden and the pecuniary advantage of the contractors.

There are now 109 convicts in confinement; they are employed in the following manner, viz:

In the Shoe Shop at 34 cents each per day,	36
" Cabinet " " 35 " " "	35
" Smith " " 37 " " "	21
Pulverizing Quartz Rock	1
Shop Waiters	2
Cooks,	3
In Hospital, drones, and at work for the State,	8
Females,	31
Total number,	90

Since the first day of June last 23 have left the Prison:

By Pardon,	13
Expiration of sentence,	8
Death	2
Total,	23

The labor of the convicts has been for many years, a matter of contract for a fixed time and stipulated sum, and during that time has not been subject to increase or diminution in compensation. This has been the case the last year, and while the equivalent for the labor of the prisoners has remained stationary, the expense of their support has been, through the rise of almost every article of sustenance, very considerably augmented. Thus the gain to the State may be less, although the financial management of the prison may have been equally judicious. Such an occurrence will be measurably provided against the ensuing year, by a new contract made by the present Warden for the labor of the convicts in the smith shop, at an advance of nine cents per day upon each man above the former contract, to take effect on the 28th of the present month.

About $1,800 have been expended, as authorized by a resolution of the Legislature, passed at its session in June last, for the erection of a new building in the prison yard, slating the north and south ends of the cabinet and smith shops, and repairing watch boxes, fence, &c. the expense of which has been met by the funds of the prison, without a resort to the Treasury, as contemplated by the resolution.

I am advised, that the steam boiler, and the furnace and chimney belonging to it are in an unsafe condition. The boiler has been in use seven years, as long a period as it is considered safe by practical men to use such apparatus, when the water supplied is of a hard or calcareous character. Fears are constantly entertained that it may explode or otherwise become unfit for use. In the former case life would be endangered as well as the interest of the State jeopardized, and in either event the men in the smith and cabinet shops must remain idle until a new boiler could be procured, materials found and purchased, and the necessary erections made. It seems to me, that prudence and economy both indicate the propriety of procuring a boiler and the other materials requisite to the setting of the same, and placing them within the prison yard, so that the least possible time may be lost, when the substitution of the new boiler is called for, as it soon necessarily must be; and if pure water could be supplied without too great an expense, the economy of the thing would be visible in the increased durability of the boiler.

The Insane Asylum has been prosperous the last year. The number admitted to it with a view to curative relief or safety and care, has been considerably increased over any former year; and although we have had to regret within that period the change of Superintendent, yet, the institution has suffered no apparent interruption in its humane and beneficent operations from that source. Acute disease has scarcely entered the precincts of the asylum the past year, and the patients have enjoyed a degree of comfort, kindness and care, entirely beyond attainment save in such an institution.

If any class of our fellow beings is entitled to our deepest sympathy and commiseration as citizens or public servants, it is that class which has had the misfortune to become insane, and nothing can be more grateful to the sane mind, than the indubitable consciousness that every measure has been adopted, and matured, that will contribute to the safety, care, comfort and restoration of those thus afflicted.

The growing confidence of the community in the asylum is attested by the increased numbers who are there placed by their friends to share its benefits; and the fact should be thoroughly known, that the sooner the insane receive its moral, religious, medical, mental, and dietetic treatment, the greater are the chances of their ultimate recovery.

The appropriations made by your immediate predecessors for the benefit of the indigent insane, deaf and dumb, and blind, have been appropriated in accordance with the benevolent intentions which prompted them, and it is gratifying to know that all of the beneficiaries have been made more comfortable in their condition than they otherwise could have been, and many of them permanently improved, by the munificence of the State.

Under the authority of a resolution passed by the Legislature during the June session of 1852, with the advice of the Council, I appointed Hon. Samuel Dinsmoor of Keene, and William Butterfield, Esq. of Concord, delegates to attend the convention held by nine of the thirteen original States at Philadelphia on the 5th and 6th days of July last, "for the purpose of considering the propriety of erecting on the public grounds surrounding the Hall of Independence, some appropriate and durable memorial of the declaration which announced the independence of the then British colonies, and of the men who were the agents in producing it."

The convention, after due deliberation, came to the unanimous conclusion that patriotism and gratitude alike demand the erection of the memorial. "A plan for its construction and maintenance was devised, and an address to the people and legislatures of the original thirteen States was adopted, invoking their aid and cooperation in their sovereign character as States;" all of which, together with the journal of the proceedings of the convention, will be transmitted to you for your consideration.—The subject is ably and eloquently treated in the address, and I doubt not will receive that consideration and favorable response which its national character and our patriotic and grateful feelings seem to demand. New-Hampshire bore a distinguished part in that contest which gave independence to the colonies and planted freedom on this continent. She has never been wanting in fidelity and justice in her transactions with her sister States, in patriotic devotion to the principles of liberty, or in loyalty to the Union; and I trust she will not fail to express her gratitude and admiration by contributing her appropriate share towards the erection of a monument to those noble, self-sacrificing men who pledged their all upon the altar of republican eedom. Inspired by the spirit of liberty they so dearly loved, they gave to the world that peerless chart of human rights which has humbled tyranny and spoken words of hope to the politically-oppressed in every land.

The signers of the Declaration of Independence, as well as the place where it was first proclaimed, should be commemorated by a perpetual remembrancer—by a visible and enduring sign of noble device that shall speak of our abiding faith in, and veneration for, the principles of our fathers, to the latest generations of men. To meet the estimated expense of erecting the contemplated monument, it is proposed that each of the original confederated States shall contribute in proportion to the number of its members in the House of Representatives in Congress. Each State will manage exclusively its own contribution by a trustee appointed for that purpose. The proportion of New-Hampshire will be about three thousand dollars, to be drawn as required by the progress of the work, after the whole amount has been secured.

The commissioners appointed to revise and compile the laws of the State, have completed their labors; and the compiled volume containing nearly eight hundred pages, attests the ability and fidelity with which they have performed the duty assigned them.

The statutes of this State have received a careful and laborious revision. They are published in a substantial and convenient form, at a price so low that every voter can afford to own the volume.

The meeting-house and the school-house stand side by side in our community, and the bible and the statute-book should be placed in proximity in every household. The commands and requirements of both should be understood and revered by every citizen; and as the faithful mother will not fail to instil the precepts of the former into the opening mind of childhood, so may the injunctions of the latter be impressed upon the ripening reason and judgment of maturing manhood; then will these conserving pillars of the State confer increased blessings and emit augmented lustre.

The second volume of the new series of the New Hampshire Reports, which has been necessarily delayed longer than was anticipated at the issuing of the first volume, will appear in the course of the present month, and it is confidently expected by the State Reporter, that the succeeding volumes will be issued regularly at intervals of from eight to ten months.—The unpublished decisions of the Superior Court, embracing the period of from July, 1844 to July, 1850, do not come under the supervision of the State Reporter; therefore if any inconvenience is experienced by the non-publication of the decisions during that period, no fault can be ascribed to the State Reporter.—The copy-rights of the first and second volumes have been disposed of as authorized by the act establishing the office of State Reporter, and the proceeds accounted for to the State Treasurer.

In compliance with the provisions of a resolution, approved Jan. 8th, 1853, making an appropriation for the erection of a suitable monument in commemoration of the life, patriotism and public services of the Hon. Meshach Weare, I appointed J. E. Sargent, G. H. Dodge and J. H. Wiggins, Esquires, a committee to contract for and superintend the erection of the same; and I am officially informed that due progress has been made in its construction, and that it will be completed by the fourth of July next. It is but tardy justice to the memory of the distinguished man who served the public so faithfully and so well in the highest station, executive and judicial, during the stormy times of the Revolution, and whose fidelity to the important trusts committed to his care was fully equalled by his wisdom and patriotism. Such virtues and such services, in such times, should live in perpetual recognition.

The subject of temperance continues to be a topic of extensive discussion in our community, and if the discussion could be stripped of all party tendency and bitterness, much good might grow out of it; for however much men may disagree as to the most efficient instrumalities to remove the evil of intemperance, all agree that it is an evil of vast magnitude, and one worthy of the highest efforts of the statesman and philanthropist.

Our past legislation upon the means to be employed in regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors, has proved the subject to be fraught with embarrassments, yet, if candor, reason and a sincere desire for reform are only permitted to guide in the discussion and to form the conclusions, these embarrassments can be surmounted, and discrepant views reconciled.

One thing should be ever present in the minds of those who would reform through legislation, and that is that ultra measures often fail in answering the expectations of their projectors, and increase rather than diminish the evils they are intended to eradicate. Legislation to be judicious and useful must be the offspring of a sound, public sentiment; for in a free government like ours, its progress can only be in strict keeping with a well matured and well defined public opinion. I believe it is now conceded by most sound, legislative thinkers, that more good to the community is attained by the certainty of the enforcement of mild and equal laws, than from any features of severity they may contain. Were our present laws administered with the energy and decision which they demand, we could speedily decide whether the deficiency exists in the laws themselves, or in the want of their enforcement.

The nation is again called to mourn the departure of another of her distinguished sons.—That enemy to whom alone American statesmen bow, has made vacant the second office in the federal government. The Vice President of the United States, William R. King, the compeer of Calhoun, Clay, Webster and Woodbury, has passed away to rejoin their companionship in a better and a purer world. A truer, a more patriotic spirit never dwelt or glowed in mortal bosom. In statesmanship and diplomacy he had few superiors, and in dignity of character, genuine republicanism and love of Union, none. He was one of those increasingly interesting links, which bind us to the revolutionary past. For more than forty years he was intimately connected with national politics, having held in succession the positions of representative in Congress, secretary of the Russian mission, senator in Congress, minister to France, and Vice President of the United States.

In all these varied places his duties were discharged with eminent ability and faithfulness, doing no less honor to himself as a man, than to the public in whose services he was engaged. Fresh and long may the memory of his virtues and services live in American hearts as they will in the record of American statesmen, to inspire the present and coming generations with an emulative admiration of those exalted qualities of mind and heart, which constitute the true republican statesman and patriot.

You will permit me to thank you, and through you to tender to your constituents my profound acknowledgements for the cordiality and unanimity with which my administration has been sustained during the past political year; and be assured, that the recollection of the marked favor accorded me by my fellow-citizens, and especially the signal expression of their confidence and approbation in my re-election, will cheer me on in the discharge of my public duties, and will ever afford me a most agreeable retrospect in my subsequent life.

In fulfilling the duties of the Chief Executive of the State, I have ever been actuated by conscientious motives, endeavoring to discharge them with fidelity and with truthfulness, remembering not only my accountability to the people, but also to that Higher Power to which we are all amendable; and in my future duties I promise my best efforts to justify the confidence reposed in me, by an unfaltering and watchful devotion to the trusts committed to my care.

And here allow me to say, that I shall not be a candidate for reelection to the office I now hold.

May your deliberations result in the greatest good to our beloved State—may you fully realize the importance of the power confided to you by your constituents, and so exercise it as to maintain inviolate all their rights—and may that wisdom from on high which alone directs aright, guide us in our various and arduous duties, now and ever.

JUNE.

BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.

I gazed upon the glorious sky
And the green mountains round;
And thought that when I came to lie
Within the silent ground,
'Twere pleasant, that in flowery June,
When brooks send up a cheerful tune,
And groves a joyous sound,
The sexton's hand my grave to make,
The rich, green mountain turf should break.

A cell within the frozen mould,
A coffin borne through sleet,
And icy clods above it rolled,
While fierce the tempest beat—
Away!—I will not think of these—
Blue be the sky and soft the breeze,
Earth green beneath the feet,
And be the damp mould gently pressed
Into my narrow place of rest.

There through the long, long summer hours
The golden light should lie,
And thick young herbs and groups of flowers
Stand in their beauty by.
The oriole should build and tell
His love-tale close beside my cell;
The idle butterfly
Should rest him there, and there be heard
The housewife bee and humming-bird.

And what if cheerful shouts at noon
Come, from the village sent,
Or songs of maids, beneath the moon
With fairy laughter blent?
And what if, in the evening light,
Betrothed lovers walk in sight
Of my low monument?
I would the lovely scene around
Might know no sadder sight nor sound.

I know, I know I should not see
The season's glorious show,
Nor would its brightness shine for me,
Nor its wild music flow;
But if, around my place of sleep,
The friends I love should come to weep,
They might not haste to go.
Soft airs, and song, and light, and bloom,
Should keep them lingering by my tomb.

These to their softened hearts should bear
The thought of what has been,
And speak of one who cannot share
The gladness of the scene;
Whose part, in all the pomp that fills
The circuit of the summer hills,
Is—that his grave is green;
And deeply would their hearts rejoice
To hear again his living voice.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

MANCHESTER—LAMPREY EELS.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 1, 1853.

Messrs. Editors:—For a new city, you can hardly find an inland place equal in point of beauty to this,—though situated upon the barren sand banks of poor old Derryfield, whose inhabitants, for lack of agricultural products, were forced to make out a scanty living upon those hideous looking inhabitants of the Merrimack, lamprey eels. Manchester, under the fostering care of her manufacturing companies, and aided by an enlightened population of comparative strangers, flourishes like the western prairies. All is life and animation.

By the way, speaking of lamprey eels, induces me to give you an amusing extract from a poem delivered by Wm. Stark, Esq., at the Centennial Celebration of the town of Derryfield, on the 22d of October, 1851, with which I will conclude this letter. It is a most graphic sketch.

"Our fathers treasured the slimy prize,
They loved the eels as their very eyes,
And of one 'tis said, with a slander rife,
For a string of eels he sold his wife.

From the eels they formed their food in chief,
And eels were called the Derryfield beef,
And the marks of eels were so plain to trace,
That the children looked like eels in the face,
And before they walked, it is well confirmed,
That the children never crept, but squirmed.

Such a mighty power did the squirmers wield
O'er the goodly men of old Derryfield—
It was often said that their only care,
And their only wish and their only prayer,
For the present world and the world to come,
Was a string of eels and a jug of rum.

* * * * * * * * * *

If I should e'er, at a later age,
Support a costly equipage,
In a palace live, and with swelling pride,
In a gilly gilded chariot ride,
I'll grave upon my family seal,
The eel, the eel, the squirming eel."

Yours, truly, DERRYFIELD.

PATENT

Self-heating Smoothing Iron.

THIS invention is rarely equalled for economy, convenience and comfort. One cent's worth of dry hard coal is ample fuel for a day's ironing; avoids exhausting heat and the changing of irons; gives a better finish, facilitates the work, and never sullies the linen. Its complete success warrants the prediction that it will soon be found in every family. S. JEWETT, St. Johnsbury, Vt., Agent of the patentees in Maine, N. H., and Vt.

From the New York Observer.—"Since noticing this ingenious invention, we have seen it fairly tried. It works admirably. It will prove a great convenience to housekeepers, in the saving of fuel and heat as well as of time and labor."

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
SATURDAY, JUNE 4, 1853.

A RICH MAN IN TROUBLE ABOUT HIS WILL.—"The Home and Foreign Journal," a Baptist newspaper, gives the following paragraphs, under the head of "A Matter of Interest to the Denomination."

"While recently at New Orleans, the executor of Mr. Paulding's will showed the committee who met there the will previous to the last. It left the bulk of his property to Dr. Cone, Dr. Fuller, and Dr. Balfour, as his executors, for the American and Foreign Bible Society, after providing for the erection of a house of worship, and some legacies to relatives. This would have given an immense estate, perhaps between one and two millions of dollars, for the circulation of the Bible.

A few days before his death, he gave the Rev. Dr. Maclay, in behalf of the Bible Union $500. He then determined to alter his will, being very ill, and named the present executor; but after the former classes of the will were drawn, hesitated almost to the last hour as to the rest of his estate, whether to leave it to his heirs at law or to the Bible Society. His executor begged him to hasten to decide, that the will might be completed and executed. He still hesitated—was urged—and left it as it now stands. It was finished, signed, and in a few hours it was all over.—Had he left it as it originally stood, it would probably have been the most munificent pecuniary contribution the world had ever witnessed for the circulation of the Gospel."

Our first impulse on reading this, was pity for the poor dying man, so oppressed with his load of gold, and yet so doubtful what was best to do with it. He had doubtless imbibed some morbid views of his own responsibility in the disposal of his wealth, and considered it much more important than it really is.

A second thought considers him as bewildered somewhat with the conflicting claims of the American and Foreign Bible Society, and those of the Bible Union; and then puzzled to decide between either of these now doubtful alternatives, and that of leaving it to the heirs at law. It is better, on the whole, for rich and liberal men to be mainly their own executors, so far as great public charities are concerned, and to make their wills while in health, with the mind strong and active.

DISTILLERY PORK AND LARD.—The Boston Post of Friday, in a monetary article, gives the latest statistics of one distillery in Cincinnati, as follows:—

The largest distillery in the United States is at New Richmond, Ohio, on the river, about twenty miles above Cincinnati. There are two distilleries in the town. At the larger there are made 125 barrels of whisky per day; at the other 80. In the larger distillery there are about 9000 hogs; in the other 7000.—These hogs are changed three times a year, which makes 27,000 from one, and 21,000 from the other, or 48,000 hogs from New Richmond annually. In the last two years about 12,000 hogs have died at the two distilleries. Last year 450 barrels of lard were made from the hogs that died in the pens. In the larger distillery there are now in store about 100,000 bushels of grain. The trade between Cincinnati and New Richmond supports a steamer, which makes daily trips. At the two distilleries are ground every day about 100 barrels of flour.

We call attention to the fact that out of 48,000 hogs per year, 6000 die in the pens.—Out of these are made 450 barrels of lard which we suppose is used for the manufacture of lard oil, or other purposes where the same is not eaten. But who can say that the fact is so? Who knows that the Western lard, in which his doughnuts are fried, did not come out of these 450 barrels made from the hogs that died in the pens? Echo answers Who!

When in a year every eighth hog sickens and dies, the question comes up, how many of the remaining seven become more or less sick, and are killed and packed? It is indeed, highly probable, that after the hogs have been in the distillery pens a short time, there is not a healthy animal among the whole. Their condition is pitiable—and much more that of the bipeds who eat the pork and drink the whiskey.

The Baltimore Sun says that a free coloured man, who was supposed by some officers to be a runaway, was chased through several of the streets of that city on Saturday evening, to the cry of "stop thief," and when overtaken, one of the officers gave him a terrible blow on the head with a loaded stick, felling him to the ground, and causing the blood to flow from the wound in a dangerous manner. He was then handcuffed, refused permission to stop the blood, and dragged to the central police station, when it was ascertained that he was a free man. Such an exhibition of cruelty is a disgrace to a civilized community.

A NEW JOURNAL OF COMMERCE.—We have seen some copies of the new semi-weekly Journal with this title, published at Portland, Oregon, by Alfred M. Berry, a native of Greenland in this State. The Journal is a 7-by-9 folio, the matter is quite respectable, and the printing neat. Success to our old friend.

FORRESTER'S BOYS' & GIRLS' MAGAZINE, for June, 1853, completes a volume of this interesting book for the juveniles. It is published in Boston by F. & G. C. Rand, at 10 cts. a number.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

CONCORD, June 2, 1853.

Messrs. Editors:—To-day is election, with its accompanying crowd of strangers and visitors from the neighborhood. Never before have we seen the streets of Concord so quiet on Election day as now. By the prompt action of our new City Marshal, the pedlars who annually take up their quarters in front of the State House were dispersed, the ground was kept clear, and all who wished to purchase were compelled to buy of the regular traders, thereby running less risk of being "taken in." The only appearance of old times was the public parade of the "Granite Guards," under the command of Capt. Gove, who served with distinction in Mexico under Col. Ransom. The company appeared to-day for the first time, in a complete new uniform, made in strict army style.

This afternoon the Governor delivered his second annual Address to the Legislature, which is considered an able document, though on some points, the doctrines advanced are quite at variance with those advocated by the democratic party of 1842–44. However, circumstances change and we must change with them. The printers being furnished with advance copies, the populace were supplied, immediately on its delivery, by the regular issues of the Patriot and Reporter. To the proprietor of the former paper we are indebted for an early copy, which was forwarded to you.

The Legislature adjourned immediately after the close of the address. This body will not do much work until Tuesday, as the Standing Committees will not be announced till Friday or Saturday, and then will probably adjourn to Monday afternoon. Not much damage will result from this however: if the session is to be long, the less time spent in the State House, the better it will be for the people.

The Democratic State Convention is to be held in this City next Thursday. The present Governor in his message declines a re-nomination, so that it will be necessary to look up another person. The gentlemen spoken of are Messrs. Treadwell, Hadley, Dr. Prescott, and N. B. Baker, Esq. The chances for the nomination of the latter gentleman, seem rather the best. Your readers will remember him as the popular speaker of the House of Representatives for two years. Mr. Baker is a man of ability, sound judgment, and pure Democratic principles, and possesses the rare faculty of acting in a straight-forward, independent manner, and yet gaining friends from all parties. He is deservedly popular among all classes, and if nominated, will carry a vote much stronger than the party can claim as its own. The result of the Convention, however, is as yet very uncertain—as causes of which we now know nothing may operate to effect the nomination of some other person.

Yours &c., SUNCOOK.

COLORED CONVENTION.

It appears from the New York Herald, that a convention of colored men, from all parts of the United States, will meet at Rochester, New York, July 6. [They ought to have met July 4.] The Herald says:

We may assume that that convention will establish something of a system of general co-operation between the free blacks of the North and the white abolitionists, from Massachusetts to Wisconsin, and thus bring another active element into the agitation of the slavery question, which has been passive heretofore.

In contemplating this combined movement against the Fugitive Slave law—against the Colonization Society, and against emigration to Liberia, and in support of the dark and bloody schemes of the abolitionists—we are constrained to ask, Where is the Castle Garden Union Safety Committee? Do they not see that the abolitionists, whites and blacks, male and female, are concocting a more formidable crusade against the institutions of the South than any which has yet threatened the safety of the Union? We call the attention of General Pierce to this movement before he makes any more Free Soil appointments.

Our Constitutions, State and National, guarantee the right of the citizens, at all times, peaceably to assemble and consult on the general welfare. This black convention, we dare say, will be orderly, unless disturbed by interlopers,—and it will be the right time to judge their acts, after their session, not before. Their proceedings will doubtless have an anti-slavery cast. The South would despise them, if they were not so.

BALTIMORE SCHOOLS.—The Committee of Education of the Baltimore City Council, in reply to the application of the Catholic bishop that his people may have a separate portion of the school fund, say they have entered into a thorough examination of the public school system of education, and the objections urged against it, and have come to the conclusion that it will be most injudicious, if not absolutely dangerous, to approbate the prayer of the petitioners.

The less the Bishops and Priests have to do with the schools the better. By their own absurd and unscriptural laws they cannot be lawfully husbands or fathers. Let the people say to them,—Hands off from our families and our schools.

The Westfield liquor agency has sold $1700 worth of liquor during the last year—all for medicine!

Portsmouth Boys Welcome Home.—At the meeting of the City Council on Thursday evening, after the convention for the choice of officers had risen, the following resolution was introduced in the Common Council, which passed unanimously, and Messrs. Edward J. Laighton, William H. Y. Hackett and Joseph G. Todd were appointed a committee on the part of that board:

It being understood informally that the natives of Portsmouth resident in Boston and in other distant places purpose to visit this city on the approaching anniversary of our National Independence, therefore,—

Resolved, That the City Council extend to all such a cordial invitation, and that a committee of three on the part of Common Council, with such as the Board of Aldermen may aid, be appointed to make suitable arrangements for their reception, when any communication may be received from their committees.

The resolution was sent up for concurrence; but from the lateness of the hour, being near midnight, there was no action upon it in the other board that evening.

[There is no doubt the Mayor and Aldermen will concur.]

PORTSMOUTH CENTENNIAL.

A letter from a gentleman in the old Bay State, to one in this city, makes the following timely suggestions as to a centennial celebration:

MEDFORD, Mass., 2d June, 1853.

My Dear Sir:—I am very little of an antiquarian, but, looking over "Farmer's Register of the first settlers of New England," I see that your goodly City of Portsmouth was incorporated in 1653, just two centuries ago. What are you doing, or going to do there, about celebrating a second centennial? They have just been celebrating at Keene, the first centennial of that town. Is the Commercial Metropolis going to sleep over her second centennial? Yours fraternally,

THE PORTSMOUTH YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.—At the quarterly meeting on Wednesday evening last the following officers were elected for the ensuing three months:

Horace A. Martin, Pres.; Thomas D. Seaward and John H. Leverton, Vice Presidents; Nath'l Fernald, Rec. Sec.; Wm. M. Conant, Corres. Sec.; Woodbury Mason, Treasurer; Wm. AMBROSIAL MEAD!

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SPANISH SARSAPARILLA, without its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. CAUTION!—The proprietors of this excellent preparation have spared no expense to bring it to perfection, and would caution purchasers to buy none without the fac simile of Wilson, Fairbank & Co. on every bottle.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE BERWICK MURDER.—At Salmon Falls, N. H., on Thursday, coroner's inquest was held upon the body of Mr. Lewis Maxwell, who was killed near that place on Wednesday night. The verdict of the Jury was, that he came to his death by a stab through the heart by some sharp instrument in the hands of some person unknown. The body was then taken to South Berwick, where a second Coroner's Jury is called.

Dennis Scarlan, the third party implicated in the murder, was found in the woods about a mile below South Berwick. He was traced by his tracks, and when his pursuers came upon him attempted to escape, but gave himself up when a threat was made to shoot him. It is stated that neither Waters or Scannell deny that they stabbed Maxwell and Pray, but say it was done in self defence, which however is deemed to be false. Maxwell was not present at the affray about the girl in the early part of the evening, and the only cause that can be assigned for the murder is an old difficulty.

On Thursday night a mob of about one thousand persons from Great Falls, Dover, South Berwick and Salmon Falls, assembled around the shantees near the spot where the murder of Mr. Maxwell occurred, and the Irish families therein having moved out in accordance with previous notice sent them by the mob, the buildings were demolished.

All that saved the groggeries was the fact that the wounded man, Pray, was in one of them.

THE TRAINER CASE.—New York, June 2.—The counsel for Trainer has obtained a writ of injunction, restraining Mrs. Rose Porter from taking the Trainer child out of the State.

Chicago, June 2d.—The steamer Eclipse burst her boiler yesterday, killing one fireman and a boy, and fatally injuring the engineer. The Captain and several others were also severely hurt. The explosion was terrific, tearing the boat to pieces. It was owned at Buffalo, and valued at $12,000.

RAILROAD DISASTER.—Charleston, June 1.—The night train on the South Carolina railroad got off the track on Monday in consequence of a bar of large iron being placed there. Isaac Winters, engineer, and Samuel Willis, fireman, was fatally scalded; four baggage cars were smashed.

ITEM.—Last Friday, a boy about five years of age who claims us as his father, (all the one we have, and of course we consider him as "some pumpkins") fell into the canal in this village near the house of Mr. Harrison Sibley, and would inevitably have been drowned if left to his own exertions. Fortunately an older boy, a son of Mr. William Currier, happened to be in the vicinity and immediately plunged in and brought him out.—Mer. Bridg. Democrat.

UNCLE TOM.

The Atlanta, Georgia, Republican, gives a favorable review of Uncle Tom's Cabin, which the editor has just read, and praises highly, calling it a "two edged sword, cutting both ways." Those who have read it, (as many who prate against it probably did not,) will attest not only to the justness, but also to the accuracy of the following criticisms from the Georgia paper.

For a just, true, and impartial sketch of slavery as it is, she first introduces us to the estate of Mr. Shelby, where Uncle Tom's Cabin is found, just in the condition that one may be seen on almost every plantation in the South. In this sketch she shows conclusively that she is not unacquainted with the domestic relations of slavery, and the good feeling existing between masters and mistresses and their servants, and with what love and veneration children look up to the old negroes, and with what love and kindness their childish attentions are returned. Had Mrs. Stowe been as ignorant of these relations as was Miss Ophelia, when she arrived at Mr. St. Clair's, she never could have drawn so life-like a picture of slavery as it is to be seen almost everywhere, as she did at Mr. Shelby's.

Equally true to the life was she, when she drew the characteristics of an orderly, intelligent Yankee Abolitionist, in the person of Miss Ophelia, fresh from Vermont. Brimfull of abolitionism, and, as she believed, of religion and missionary spirit to boot, she could make no allowances for the short comings of the stolid African; and she held them in such perfect horror, that she would have touched a snake or a toad as soon; while the simple child Eva, better nursed in the peculiarities of the negro character, and filled with more real humanity, benevolence, and Christian charity, taught even the self-willed and precise, self-relying and dogmatic Ophelia, how to govern by love; and also the greater exercise of true charity and benevolence.

That she intended it for an anti-slavery work is not attempted to be concealed; but it is evident that she intended it as a missionary, rather than an incendiary publication, and that her over-wrought characters of Legree and some others are attributable to her desire to make a novel, more than any real desire to misrepresent slavery as it exists among us.—If it had been otherwise, she certainly never would have introduced us to such a family, in all respects, as the Shelby's, much less to the over-indulgent St. Clair, who seems to have had no use whatever for any of his servants, and who purchased Topsey merely for the fun of maintaining, educating and setting her free.

Happiness and Competence.
WHY IS IT?
That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.
IN AFTER YEARS,
When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is
MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING
To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every
WIFE AND MOTHER
Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself
YEARS OF MISERY,
And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.
SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS
By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy constitutions, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled
THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.
BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.
One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]
First published in 1847, and it is not
SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,
Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly
should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.
UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES
Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.
CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.
BE NOT DEFRAUDED!
Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.
LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!
No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.
To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.
When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.
☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE FUNCTIONS, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting desease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

are constantly coming to light, from different parts of the country, showing the astonishing effects of the fair and faithful use of these Lozenges.

HERE IS ONE LETTER,

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1858.

This is to certify that I consider Dewines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges, —which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. QUAKER SHREWDNESS.—An aged Quaker, who kept a grocery in the vicinity of Albany, at one time became notorious for selling small eggs. The village gossips were ready to testify that they saw the eggs bought, and found them to be very large and fine looking, and where he could find so many small sized eggs as he daily sent out to his customers, was a mystery that even the Mrs. Grundies could not fathom. There were two mysterious looking holes in his counter, about the size of an egg, and public curiosity was excited to the highest pitch to ascertain what use they were put to; no one ever saw him use either in any way, and he seemed desirous to keep them covered with wrapping paper constantly.

This fact only excited the curiosity of his good neighbors the more. Some said he had some way of squeezing the eggs through these holes, to subtract in a sleight-of-hand manner, the substance therefrom for his own use.—The only answer anybody could get from the old man, when questioned concerning the use of the holes, was, "My friend, if I tell thee the truth it would not benefit me or thee, and I don't wish to lie. It is a pity that lying is a sin, for it comes so easy in trade." At last it was resolved by some of the spinsters, to watch his actions through the cracks of his shutters after he had closed his shop for the night, and thus endeavor to find out their use.

This resolution was put into execution one night, and sure enough they caught him actually passing eggs through the holes, by the light of a penny dip. All those that would pass through the smallest one he placed in a basket; and those that passed through the other he put in another; and all that would not pass through either he placed in a tin pan and took them to his house, which was at the rear of his shop. On his way thither he heard the rustling of women's dresses, and in an instant he was caught; so he called them to him, and in the blandest manner said, "Sisters, ye have given yourselves much trouble to appease this curiosity, and I will therefore tell all to ye. Ye see I sort my eggs into three sizes by means of these holes. The largest I use in my own family; the next size I sell half-penny cheaper on a dozen than any of my neighbors, for cash, the smallest I send to those who will buy no other way than on credit." The ladies were satisfied with the lesson in trade, and spread the news abroad till we heard it.

THE HUMAN VOICE.—There are seven distinguishing characters of voice in men and women. In men they are termed bass, baritone, tenor, robusto or full-tenor, and tenor-leggiardo or counter-tenor. These of women are termed contralto, mezzo-soprano and soprano. The compass will be found to vary according to the length of the vocal chords and windpipe, the longest possessing the power of producing the greatest number of notes. Thus, one voice may comprise a range of twelve notes, and another of sixteen, yet both may be of the same character. The change which occurs in the voice in the decline of life, is the result of the ossification of the cartilages of the larynx, and the hardening of its ligaments, which produce a hard and cracked sound.

An ingenious French arithmetician has calculated that the space which a young Parisian belle, who is fond of the salutary exercise of dancing, traverses, in the gay saloons of Paris, amounts in the course of one dancing season, to four hundred and thirty-four miles and a half! He has also estimated that a French lady fond of performing the function of a tee-to-tum, will spin round in the waltz, in one night, as many times as the wheels of a steamboat will turn in going the distance between Dover and Calais.

The men who flatter women do not know them sufficiently, and the men who only abuse them, do not know them at all.

CAUGHT AT LAST.—Our worthy father Dustin,—the friend of all our poor people—told us an anecdote a few days since, illustrative of the cunning and sagacity of the fox. it was in the town—of Bethel we think—many years ago, that a farmer set his trap for the Reynards. For fourteen successive visits to it he found his trap sprung, a stick of wood between its jaws, and the bait eaten up. The circumstance so often repeated, surprised him. There were no other tracks to be seen but his own and those of toe foxes, and who sprung his trap, was a question that puzzled him sorely. By continuing to rebait his trap he hoped to catch the author of the mischief. On the fifteenth night, he found a fine old fox hung to it by the nose, and in his mouth was a stick of wood! From the circumstance it would appear that the cunning animal had sprung the trap fourteen times with a stick, but in attempting it the fifteenth time he unfortunately got a stick that was too short, and he consequently got his nose nipped. This incident, improbable as it may appear, is said to be a fact.—Augusta Banner.

GOOD ACTION OF YOUNG MR. CASS.—A letter from Paris says—"A few days ago, a poor woman fell by accident into the Seine, and was near being drowned. Among the spectators then passing on the Pont Royal, there was a gentleman on horseback, who, seeing the peril which the unfortunate woman was in, immediately alighted, and, without taking off his coat, threw himself into the water and succeeded in rescuing the woman.—The hero of this act of courage and charity is nobody else than Mr. Cass, son of General Cass, Minister of the United States at Rome, now en conge in Paris."

CURE FOR TOOTHACHE.—Mr. James Batson, ofAirdric, says: "Gum Copal when dissolved in Chloroform, forms an excellent compound for stuffing the holes of decayed teeth. I have used it frequently, and the benefits my patients have derived from it have been truly astonishing. The application is simple and easy. I clean out the hole, and moisten a little piece of cotton with solution; I introduce this into the decayed part, and in every instance the relief has been almost instantaneous. The chloroform removes the pain, and the gum copal resists the action of the saliva; and as the application is so agreeable, those who may labor under this dreadful malady would do well to make a trial of it."

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
MONDAY, JUNE 6, 1853.

CHRONICLES WANTED.

Five or six copies of the Daily Chronicle of Feb. 26, 1853, are wanted to complete files—for which a liberal price will be paid.

CUBAN POLITICS.

One of the most interesting items of news for several days, is a despatch from Havana, May 28, which says:

It is reported here that the Captain General has received instructions from Madrid, to consider, in connection with the principal slaveholders, the propriety of emancipating the negroes, and binding them as apprentices; also, to allow the introduction of emigrants from Africa.

Intelligence from Cardenas confirms previous reports of the finding of revolutionary documents among the soldiers of the barracks.

There was quite a row at the University on the 19th of May, the anniversary of the landing of Lopez. Several students were arrested, four of whom, charged with having collected money for the Cuban Junta, were dismissed.

Political affairs for the moment are quiet. Business is dull, and the weather very fine.

This incipient step towards emancipation in Cuba, looks as if even Spanish conservatism was not proof against the pressure of international public opinion. There are obstacles in the way of Cuban emancipation, neither few nor small. They may not be insurmountable, however; and the bare inquiry and consultation spoken of, may be regarded as a stroke of wise policy on the part of the Spanish government.

MASSACHUSETTS COUNCIL.—The Convention have been discussing its abrogation—but it now seems likely to stand. In the course of the debate, Mr. Frothingham of Charlestown said, his connection with the institution most directly associated with the Council by its pardoning power, induced him to oppose the report. A few years ago he was in favor of the abolition of the Council, coinciding with what he believed was the general impression, that it was a useless appendage to the government; but, acting as Prison Inspector, and seeing the influence which the Council exercised on the prison inmates, which influence, he could say, was good, had changed his mind. He could say, he knew no case where the pardoning power had been injudiciously exercised—the difficulty only was that they could not get the clemency often enough in what were regarded as deserving cases.

Mr. Frothingham's position, and his soundness of judgment, entitle this opinion to great respect.

AN ARGUMENT FOR PLURALITY. In the Massachusetts Convention, Mr. Dana said that the word "majority" had been used in England for four hundred years, and meant the highest number, and not as we used it here in this State. So in many parts of our Union. The plurality was in fact a majority, and therefore no objection could rest which was based on the idea that "the majority must rule." He added, what is notoriously true, that "the failures to elect of late years to the Senate and executive branch, were one cause of calling the convention together."

PORTLAND, ME.—The Watchman states that the amount of money expended by the Portland people for liquor, annually, before the Maine Law, in three hundred shops, was $328,500! At the same time, the school tax was only $20,000; the tax for streets and sidewalks $20,000; and the whole tax for all corporate expenses, only about $100,000—not equal to one third of the liquor bill. The same paper states that the amount now paid for liquor is not more than one sixth of the former sum—that is, it has been cut down from $300,000 to about $50,000, or perhaps less.

☞ The Boston Courier of Saturday, contains three columns of history and criticism of the speeches at the Hale Dinner. By the way, this is the best arranged and most readable account of the occasion which we have seen, as it gives the pith and marrow of the feast. The Courier must take care how it inserts such matter, or the Pope will shut it out of Italy.

NARROW ESCAPE.—An enterprising colored man who desired to get a ride "gratis" into Boston, on Wednesday morning, on one of the trains of the Worcester Railroad, jumped on and enjoyed his stolen fruit. But upon getting off, after passing the Providence Railroad crossing, he leaped upon what he thought was terra-firma, but instead of that it proved the floorless bridge, and through it he went into the water, striking his head against a crossbeam, and nearly drowning himself.—Rather a costly ride after all.

The Waterford (Ireland) Mail says that crime of every description has almost entirely ceased in that county.

How is this? Have the criminals all emigrated? or have the public morals improved?

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

CONCORD, June 4, '53.

Mr. Editor:—I see by your paper of this morning that in the opinion of "Suncook" Col. Baker stands the best chances of nomination next week for Governor. And he goes on to enlogize that gentleman in very strong terms, all of which may be very true and fairly said. But is it proper for the partizan of Col. B. to attempt to forestall public opinion by a system of persistent bragging and boasting?

Col. B. is a young man, and it is unfortunate for him that he is the victim of a premature ambition for the office in question.

He may be nominated—but still the friends of Dr. Prescott, or of Gen. Hunt, or other gentlemen who stand in a prominent position before the public will not be daunted by eulogy, or inflamed compliments, heaped upon another man, or the sneers of a whole host of "pot house politicians."

Col. B. possesses many excellent qualities, but it is somewhat singular that your correspondent should have entirely overlooked the fact that other gentlemen have been named for the office of Governor, at least equally respectable, intelligent, and every way capable for the duties of this office.

The writer is a friend of all the gentlemen named above, but deems it fair and honorable in writing from Concord to give no colored or unwarrantable statement of the strength of any candidate.

Both Dr. Prescott and Col. B, are prominently before the public for this office, let delegates come unbiased and unpledged, and then may justice to the party at large and to individuals be done, rather than by any unfair and one sided views of the question. *

N. H. General Court—June Session.

Abridged from Daily Patriot.

CONCORD, June 3, 1853.

SENATE.—After some merely formal proceedings, on motion of Mr. Williamson,

Resolved, That when the Senate adjourn this forenoon it adjourn till Monday next, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Senate concurred with the House in the assignment of Wednesday afternoon next, for the election of Secretary of State, State Treasurer and State Printer.

Mr. Eaton was joined to the House committee to audit the accounts of the State Treasurer. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. George, of Concord, resigned his seat.

A Report was received from the special committee on the Washington election case,—which turns on the facts that George H. Hubbard had 99 votes and Dr. Hubbard had 2 votes, which if added, would have been a majority of 1, but the moderator disallowed it. Afterwards David Farnsworth 2d, was declared chosen, though several of his votes were spelled D. Farnsworth 2d.

Special Assignments.—Wednesday next at 11 o'clock, was specially assigned for making choice of Secretary of State, State Treasurer and Public Printer.

Mr. Perry of Exeter, by leave, presented the report of Henry F. French, Bank Commissioner, which was ordered to be referred to the committee on Banks, to be appointed.

The following members, with such as the Senate may join, were appointed a committee to audit the accounts of the State Treasurer: Messrs. Copeland, Emery of Portsmouth and Lamprey of Northampton.

The House adjourned at quarter to 12 o'clock, to 3 o'clock P. M., on Monday.

THE HALE MEDAL.—The Boston Bee gives the following description of the medal which is to be presented to the Hon. John P. Hale, by the crew of the sloop-of-war Germantown, in commemoration of his efforts to secure the abolition of flogging in the Navy:

"On the face of the medal is the following inscription, cut in tasteful lettering;

Presented to the Hon. John P. Hale, by the crew of the Sloop-of-war Germantown, as a mark of their appreciation of his meretorious efforts in securing the abolition of flogging in the United States Navy.

The inscription is surrounded by a neatly executed cable. Over this are represented the yard-arms of a vessel, and beneath are port holes. On either side wave the stars and stripes of the American flag. Branches of laurel, introduced with exquisite effect, ornament the under half of the medal. Beneath is an anchor, two cannons disposed upon each side, and also a huge ball.

On the reverse is represented a scene on ship-board. A poor fellow, with nude back and tied arms, is in the foreground. Near him is a man, with lash in hand, awaiting the word of a superior officer, also visible, to inflict the flogging. Just then, apparently, using a little imagination to make the design jingle, a philanthropist, whom we may suppose, without any imagination, is Mr. Hale, arrives. He interposes, and no doubt, the flogging does not take place. The surroundings on this side are the same as on the other.—The design and execution are, in the highest degree, successful, and even beautiful. The Medal is enclosed in a neat case, and may be carried in the pocket.

The Medal weighs 34 pennyweights, and is valued at over $100. It is to be presented in a few days."

A letter from a member of the Constitutional Convention says, "ex-Governor Boutwell, the delegate from Berlin, as appears by his credentials, was elected by the secret ballot, in accordance with the act calling the convention." This accounts for the boasted unanimity with which it is said he was elected. No opponent of the secret ballot would vote—if compelled to carry an envelope.—Lowell Courier.

Then the opponents of the secret ballot made donkeys of themselves, that's all.

LOCAL.

For the Chronicle.

SAGAMORE ROAD.

This new road to the coast, sand banks, and beaches, is becoming the favorite route of pleasure seekers. Its advantages over the old sunbare road to Rye are decided; its aspect pleasant; its surroundings varied and suggestive. Leaving the city through Auburn street, the road borders for some distance the South and Harmony Grove Cemeteries, where monuments of various design mark the rest of the departed; passing from this silent city of the dead (the impressions from which like other lessons that teach the mutability of earthly joys are too soon lost) next comes Greenleaf's shady woods with its tall whispering pines and its fragrant flowers, thro' which the road winds for some distance up a gradual ascent: as the trees open you find yourself looking down upon the beautiful Sagamore, the curling eddies of whose glassy surface seem winding in waltzes with the sparkling broken sunbeams. The cool sea air comes in refreshingly, as you cross the straight, neat and substantial bridge thrown over this ocean stream.—The name of this creek is one of the many beautiful relics of the kind left to us by our long since departed red brothers;—the wigwam that nestled there with its plume of blue smoke curling so lightly on the evening air is no longer mirrored there; the calumet will never more mingle there its peaceful wreaths in token of rest from strife; the dusky dwellers have found a peace unbroken evermore.

Sagamore:—this euphoneous name has been appended to the enterprises of the exterminator: all such associations will take wings, pass away, and be forgotten; but while the Atlantic continues to roll its tide into this beautiful inlet, will it bear this only surviving relic of its former owners and lovers,—a telegraphic communication from them, to its present and future owners and admirers, insinuating into their titles a prior, though remote claim to the land and water.

The road beyond Sagamore to the Beaches, lays through a pleasant variety of woods and fields, and is the most agreeable approach to the seaside. The contrast is most pleasing, from the dense woods which limit the vision to a few feet, to the sea side, where sky and ocean mingle in the vast expanse. Odiorne's Point and Wallis' Sands are nearer points of approach to the ocean than Rye Beach, and will doubtless ere long be supplied with good Houses affording accommodation for sojourners.

PORTSMOUTH AND BOSTON.

The Boston Post of Saturday contained this notice:

"The Portsmouth, N. H. 'boys' will hold a meeting at Tremont House this evening, to consider the project of visiting their native place on the 4th of July."

The same paper contains the following poetic rally:—

TO THE PORTSMOUTH BOYS.

Come, rally, boys! awake, awake!
Hear old affection on you calling;
Your childhood's home appeal doth make,—
On willing ears may it be falling:
It calls you from your busy care,
To meet her in her pleasant places—
Her old regard again to share.
'Mid smiles from "old familiar faces."

Each nook and haunt remembered well,
Will send its hundreds forth to meet you;
Joy's loudest note will widely swell,
And ardent hearts expand to greet you;
And bell and gun, and flame and tongue,
Will blend their notes in peal sonorous,
Familiar as of old they rung—
And "WELCOME! WELCOME!" be the chorus.

Crowd not the generous impulse back
That prompts the thought in which you gather:
'Twere well to leave life's dusty track,
And turn in filial duty hither—
To once again in union join,
'Mid scenes that knew your life's unsealing,
And at the well-remembered shrine,
Kindle anew the heart's true feeling. B. P. S.

INDUSTRIAL MEETING.—This evening, at the Common Council Room, will be held a meeting of such persons as take an interest in a proposed Industrial Procession, on the Fourth of July.

At this time a committee will report, and further action be taken, if the meeting shall o decide.

CARD.—The undersigned is happy to acknowledge the receipt of five dollars for the benefit of the poor of the city, from some unknown friend, throug the Post-office.

June 3. AMOS ABBOTT, City Miss'y.

☞ We understand that the alleged murderers at Berwick, are to be examined at that place to-day.

There was a great crowd around the shanties and grog-shops on Friday night, but none of the buildings were torn down.

☞ The sale of house lots by J. P. Bartlett, on Saturday, on Bow and Chapel streets, was stopped after selling two lots at $220 and $200.

IN POLICE COURT. Saturday, June 4th. Before Justice Parker—a young man was sentenced to pay a fine of five dollars, and costs of court 3.86—in all $8.86, for firing India Crackers on the 2d inst.

On the Island of Martha's Vinyard there has not been a criminal case in any of its courts for eighteen years! During that time not a glass of liquor has been sold on the Island.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

HURRICANE AT THE SOUTH.—Baltimore, June 3.—A storm of wind, almost amounting to a hurricane passed over this city this evening at 8 o'clock. Trees were blown down, a large number of new buildings in various parts of the city unroofed, walls demolished, and other damage done. The storm sprung up very suddenly, and must have done great damage in the river and bay.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.—Washington, June 4.—A long Cabinet meeting was held yesterday, at which, it is understood, that the fisheries question and the instructions to Gen. Garland, with reference to Mexican affairs, were under discussion.

Beverly Tucker, backed up by several capitalists, is about to start a new Democratic paper here, in the Benton and Barnburner interest, it is said.

DESTINATION OF THE "VIXEN."—New York, June 4.—The Freeman's Journal states on certain authority, that the U. S. Steamer Vixen, which recently left this port under sealed orders, has been ordered to Vera Cruz, to watch Santa Anna's movements.

THE MESILLA AFFAIR.—Washington, June 4.—The report that Judge Conkling, U. S. Minister to Mexico, had written to Governor Lane, requesting him to desist from seizing Mesilla, creates some sensation here, but is not credited. The question looks threatening.

PRICES OF TEA.—These are rising, in consequence, it is said, of the rebellion in China. At a tea auction in New York, June 1, green teas brought 20 per cent. advance on recent prices, and black teas about 10.

The Hyson Young brought 28 1-2 a 38c per lb.; Hyson 24 a 37 1-2c; Hyson Twankey 20 1-2 a 27; Hyson Skin 20 1-2 a 21 1-2; Twankay 19; Gunpowder 32 a 35; Imperial 30 a 40; Oolong 20 a 31; Congou 23; Souchong 22. The quality was from inferior to ordinary. At private sale the market is firmer and holders refuse to sell except at an advance on previous rates.

FORGERIES.—The Springfield Post is informed that a series of extensive forgeries have just come to light in Chicopee, and that parties living in Springfield, and heretofore esteemed among its most respectable and wealthy citizens, are implicated. The total amount of forgeries as far as known, is about forty thousand dollars.

FISHERMEN'S BENEFIT.—According to the St. John, N. B. papers, three or four steamers, among which are the screw steamer "Plumper," now fitting out in England, the "Vixen," "Devastation," and "Basilisk," three or four vessels manned with crews from the flag ship "Cumberland," the ketch "Netley," and also several Provincial vessels, are to cruise in British waters the coming season, for the purpose of preventing the operations of American mackerel men in that quarter.

Where is the American squadron?

OLE BULL.—This distinguished individual has many friends in Boston, who take a deep interest in his experiment of founding a Norwegian colony at Oleona, Pa. A recent letter to the New York Tribune states that he and his followers are making great preparation to celebrate the coming 4th of July on a magnificent scale, and he expects his musical friends will assist him. He is fitting up a grand concert room, 100 feet in length and 30 feet wide, which will be one of the upper rooms of his own dwelling. The letter says his colony seems to be progressing very rapidly for a new country. Ole Bull is certainly an extraordinary man. You can see him up at daylight in the morning, riding around examining his lands. After breakfast you will find him assisting the mechanics in their operations, raising buildings, &c. After dinner he may be found working on the roads with quite a number of hands. The schools of the colony are flourishing under the care and instruction of a number of teachers from New England. These schools he visits daily. When he executes a deed for land to his countrymen he insert a clause depriving them of the privilege of selling liquors, except as medicine.

Mr. Chambers, in the course of a speech in the house of commons respecting nunneries, stated that there were seventy-five Roman Catholic convents in England and Wales, and no less than one hundred anglo-Catholic nunneries professing to be guided by the principles of the church of England, but holding 3000 females in a state of mental and bodily subjection.—Boston Post.

What does it all mean? We cannot understand the latter part of it.

NOT VERY ENCOURAGING.—Mr. Gough stated in his recent lecture at Trenton, N. J., that 600,000 persons had signed the pledge, and connected themselves with the Washingtonian movement; that of this number 350,000 had retrograded, and violated the pledge.—Boston Herald.

Not very encouraging, to be sure; yet somewhat so: for the 150,000 who remain tetotalers, are certainly safe from drunkenness while they are thus steadfast. As for the others, if they will add falsehood to folly, so much the worse for themselves and their families.

The India lines of electrical telegraphic communication work remarkably well in the transmission of important news, from posts distant from each other, and 3000 miles of additional lines are to be added immediately.—It is related that a short time since, some delay having occurred in the transmission of signal, the cause was asked, and answer returned, that no one could get at the office with messages, as two tigers and some other ferocious creatures were prowling about the office. High-characteristic this of the jungle districts, though not an enviable position for the clerk.—Traveller.

READ! READ! READ!

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial &

Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a palid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours.

MARRIAGE,

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years? And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering; be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy parents, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge, to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

from a citizen of Portsmouth—and but a sample of hundreds:

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., MAY, 1853.

This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges, —which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. "TRAINING DAY."

Last Tuesday ought to have been "training day," but it wasn't—we presume there was not in the whole State a "citizen soldier" under arms—and what a high old day it used to be—the third Tuesday of May—when every free, able bodied, white male citizen between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years, in the State of New Hampshire, was obliged to appear on parade, armed and equipped as the law directs, for military duty and inspection, and there wait further orders! There was not a town in the whole State, a few years ago, which was not the scene of one of these high festivals of patriotism, good fellowship, and bad liquor. It was a day to have made the enemies of our country, if they could have seen it, very careful how they "trenched on our manor." New Hampshire alone, on that anniversary every year, had men enough "in the field" to whip Great Britain's eye teeth out, and send the Czar of all the Russias, with all his hireling soldiery, to "kingdom come," if they would but just come here, to have it done for them. The "roll of the stirring drum" which the Pilgrim Fathers didn't come with, their children became very familiar with, and such a racket as they kicked up on these occasions, if it could have been combined, would have shaken the sky down. And "the vile squeaking of the wry necked fife," which the old Jew had such a horror of, would have pierced the ears of every Jew, in christendom and out, if all their squeaking could have been united, in one long, loud squeak. But now you don't hear a drum and fife once in a dog's age, and the old race of drummers and fifers are rapidly dying out. There is no occasion for these unpretending performers now. If martial music is wanted at all, it must be made upon cornopeas, and opheclides, and cornet-a-pistons, and other outlandish instruments with more outlandish names. And then the tunes that they play!—what would our respected forefathers have said to them? How would the "string bean" companies of forty years ago, ever have got along, with a patch-work piece of music, made up of snatches from popular operas, sacred oratorios, negro melodies, and psalm tunes, to train after, instead of the good old tunes of that day, with the unceasing and unerring bum—bum—bum-bum-bum! of the big bass drum, to tell them when the left foot was to come down?

This age is dying of excess of refinement in music, as well as everything else, but that has nothing to do with training, unless the dying out of the martial spirit is to be traced to the ruling out of good society, along with the customs of our fathers, the good old music of our fathers, and along with both the patriotism of our fathers. But we are getting upon a subject which we had better leave to a future occasion.

CANINE MADNESS.—Can the Animals' Friend Society produce an instance of friendship more touching than the subjoined advertisement?—

A GENTLEMAN, who, through the death of his lady, has a very small and exceedingly handsome Black and Tan Terrier Dog, weighing a little over 3lbs., for which he has been offered a large sum, wishes to part with it, to be kindly treated. Would be happy to exchange with any lady or gentleman having a horse, which they wished to be also kindly treated (and having no use for) for his own riding or driving. Undeniable references will be asked for and given. Apply by letter, post paid.

This must be the dearest little dog that ever yelped—too dear to be sold. The wish to part with it—arising, doubtless, from some very serious cause—can only contemplate an exchange of so beloved a pet for a horse. What sort of a horse? Would an ordinary hack do? or a hunter be expected? or would nothing be taken under the winner of the approaching Derby? Weighing only 3 lbs., the canine darling must be appraised at its own weight in gold—a very nugget of a dog. We should like to take it at our valuation, and barter it at its proprietor's, in which case we should ultimately obtain a gallant steed by the original sacrifice of an old hat or pair of highblows. If any poor mantau-maker girl should happen to read this advertisement, we would exhort her to suppress the feeling of envy, should that baleful passion be excited in her bosom, by the comparison of her own hard pallet with the cosy clover which is probably the couch of this beatified little beast.—Punch.

SQUATTERS.—A few months since, a house at Malden was vacated by the person occupying it, and the owner after painting, papering and repairing, locked it up and let it to a family who were to take possession about the 1st of June. A few weeks since, a friend living in Malden met the owner and congratulated him on letting his house so soon, and remarked that he had in a large family. "Family," the owner replied, "I have let in no family."—"Well your house is occupied by a family consisting of fourteen grown persons."

A visit was immediately paid by the owner, and to his surprise he found a large family domiciled in his house without leave or license. On ordering them out, the head of the household presented a certificate from a doctor that he was in ill health, and that it was not safe to remove him.

After some very hard words, the squatters succeeded in driving off the man. The next day, an officer was sent to warn them out, but it was no use, they would not budge, and on the third day one of the daughters broke a fiddle over the head of the owner, who in her estimation was a little impudent. For two weeks, these attempts were continued, and at last proved successful, and the family was ejected.

NEWSPAPORIAL.—We understand the sum of $6000 and upwards has already been subscribed for the establishment, in Boston, of a National Democratic press of the straightest sect. S. Fabyan, Esq., late of the Union Democrat, has been invited to the editorial charge of the new organ.—Atlas.

Dr. Johns, a distinguished Episcopal clergyman of Maryland, lately preached in a Methodist church. The act called down upon him the censure of the Bishop. The subject was brought before the Convention and debated with considerable asperity.

THE INDUSTRIAL PROCESSION.

The meeting to arrange for the getting up of an exhibition for "the 4th," was well attended, last evening. The Committee appointed to ascertain the state of feeling among our citizens with regard to the matter, made a favorable report. The Chairman of the last meeting not being present, the meeting was called to order by the Secretary, and Marcellus Bufford, Esq., called to the Chair. The Committee being called upon, made a general report to the meeting, as follows :—

Gentlemen—In behalf of the Committee appointed to institute inquiries among the industrial classes, relative to the expediency of getting up an Industrial Procession and display of the various manufactures in which the mechanics and artizans of our city are engaged, on the coming National Anniversary of Independence—respectfully beg leave to report that the representatives of the various trades have been called upon, and that they not only express a willingness to turn out on the occasion, but cherish an enthusiasm on the subject altogether unprecedented in the knowledge of your committee.

It is proper to remark that this great unanimity of feeling is owing in a measure to an intimation on the part of your committee, that a part of the appropriation made by the city, will be devoted to defraying the expenses of horses and vehicles for the occasion. Should this appropriation be made, your committee are of the opinion that a display will be made exceeding anything heretofore attempted in this city. All which is respectfully submitted.

G. N. CARLETON,
In behalf of the Committee.

The report having been accepted, it was voted that the Chair nominate a Committee of five, to appoint from the members of each branch of industry, committees of their several callings. Messrs. Thos. This report having been accepted and adopted by the meeting, it was voted to adjourn to Wednesday evening, 8th inst., at 8 o'clock, at the Common Council Room; and that the various gentlemen chosen on Committees as above named, be notified of their election and invited to meet at the time and place named above—by publishing the foregoing proceedings in the Daily Chronicle.

Industrial Com. Room, June 6, '53.

TIME CHANGED.—On the Portsmouth and Concord Railroad, there are some changes, chiefly in the first train from Portsmouth, in the morning.

RAILROAD MEETING.

P. S. & P. R. R.—The annual meeting of the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Railroad, was holden at North Berwick on Monday, at 11 o'clock A. M., Ichabod Goodwin, President, in the chair.

The annual report was read by the President, showing the road to be in good condition; that in addition to paying the two regular dividends of 3 per cent. yearly, and a reserved fund of $10,000, the road had earned, the past year, $30,000. The Report will be published.

The attendance of stockholders was quite large. Messrs. Hackett of Portsmouth, Chase of Salem, and Williams of Portland, were appointed a committee to collect, sort and count the votes for Directors: who, having attended to that duty, reported that Messrs. Ichabod Goodwin of Portsmouth, Albert Thorndike of Beverly, Southworth Shaw of Boston, Thomas West of Haverhill, Josiah Calef of Saco, Charles E. Barrett of Portland, and John D. Lang of Vassalborough, were unanimously elected Directors for the current year.

At a meeting of the Directors, Ichabod Goodwin, Esq. of Portsmouth, was re-elected President; Charles E. Barrett of Portland, Clerk; and Eliphalet Nott, Treasurer.

☞ The Democrats of Ward One, in this city, met on Monday evening June 6, at the Ward Room, and organized by choosing Acanthus Young, Chairman, and J. G. Todd, Secretary.

The meeting then proceeded to ballot for Delegates to the State Convention, and unanimously elected Augustus Jenkins and Samuel Spinney.

MONUMENT TO MESHACH WEARE.—We have seen a beautiful plan of the monument which is to be erected at Hampton Falls, to the memory of Presitent Meshach Weare, by the State of New Hampshire. And we have also seen a portion of the work, which is now in the plastic and skilful hands of Mr. Allen Treat of this city. It will be a highly ornamental work of art when completed; honorable to the artist, and honorable to the state.

☞ The members of the Merchantile Library Association will bear in mind that the evening of their meeting has been changed from Friday to Tuesday. Let there be a full attendance this evening.

FOURTH OF JULY.—The Boston Chroniele states, that on Saturday evening an informal meeting was held at the Tremont House, by the natives of Portsmouth, N. H., residents in that city, to discuss the project of visiting their native city on the Fourth of July. The plan was heartily approved, and the meeting adjourned, resolved to arrange preliminaries as early as possible.

PUTNAM'S MONTHLY for June, 1853, contains Old Ironsides, being a sketch of the frigate Constitution; Inns; Miss Peck's Friend; Polar Seas and Sir John Franklin; A Meditation by Paul Potiphar, Esq. which hits off many follies with a master's hand; and General Ogle, a Character, well sketched.

There is also a sketch of the Benevolent Institution of New York, with engravings of the new Bible House, Odd Fellows' Hall, New York Hospital, and the Institution for the Blind.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, for June 1853, begins with Gray's celebrated Elegy in a Country Churchyard, embellished with a picture for every stanza.

The illustrated articles are Ancient Peru, Life in Paris, Napoleon Bonaparte, and Bleak House. This number is rich in matter.

Agents—Fetridge & Co. in Boston, J. F. Shores in Portsmouth.

NAVAL STEAMERS.—The U. S. steam frigate Saranac, Capt. John C. Long, destined for the Mediterranean, was taken out of the Norfolk dry dock on Friday, her keel having undergone a thorough overhauling, and her bottom completely newly coppered. Her boilers will now have to be repaired before she is ready for service.

The steamer Fulton, Lieut. James M. Watson commanding, will be taken into the Norfolk dry dock immediately, and will be repaired with all dispatch. It is supposed she will be refitted by the first of July.

MEXICO.—The Washington Union of June 5, contains an article upon our New Mexican affairs. It takes ground that the conduct of Governor Trias, in seizing with an armed force the Mesilla Valley, is an outrage combined with folly; that considering the weak condition of Mexico, it would hardly be magnanimous in the United States to make a hostile demonstration about it; but if the act is not disavowed by the Mexican authorities, the United States cannot hesitate how to act.—The article bears the stamp of authority.

William Ward and Samuel P. Harris, the two sailors who staid on board the ship William & Mary, until taken off the wreck by the schooner Oracle, do not speak favorably of the captain who abandoned the ship and passengers. These two men and the passengers, kept the ship afloat three days, by pumping.

The Ocean House,
ON RYE BEACH.

THIS popular Watering Place has been enlarged by an addition of seventy rooms, which are richly furnished. The Ladies' Parlor and Gents' Reading Room are very large, and provided with fires; a number of the chambers have also been fitted for using fire, which is often needed at this place. A Cook house has been built, detached from the hotel, to prevent any disagreeable odor from reaching the main building. The beautiful Cottage opposite has been purchased, and will be used in connection with the hotel. The grounds and bathing accommodations have been much improved, and all other improvements made that are usually found in a first-class hotel. This beautiful watering place has always had the patronage of the most respectable class throughout the United States and the Canadas; and no expense or pains will be spared, not only to sustain the high reputation it now has, but also to improve it.—The charges will be regulated by the rooms occupied, and as low as any other house of the same class. A splendid and safe Sail Boat will at all times be in readiness for sailing and fishing. Arrangements have been made to supply the Stable with first-class horses and carriages.

Persons wishing to visit this place, and taking the Eastern Railroad at Boston, will stop at the Greenland depot, where the Ocean House Coach will be in waiting. Persons taking the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad, will stop at the upper depot in Greenland; thence by carriage to the house. The house will be opened on the 15th of June. Letters directed to Job Jenness, Ocean House, Rye Beach, at the Greenland Depot Post Office, will meet with prompt attention.

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SPANISH SARSAPARILLA, without its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. The Berwick Stabbing Case.

Examination of JOHN WATERS, JAMES WATERS, and DANIED SCANNELL, — for the Murder of ALEXANDER LEWIS MAXWELL.

Before Charles E. Norton and Bartholomew Wentworth, Justices of the Peace.

Counsel for State—Ira T. Drew, Attorney for York County; and John N. Goodwin of So. Berwick.——For Prisoners—John H. Wiggin, Esq., of Dover; Nath'l Wells, Esq., of Great Falls; and George Burleigh, Esq., of Gt. Falls.

The examination of the prisoners took place in Central Hall, South Berwick, where they were arraigned at 12 o'clock M. The attendance of spectators was quite large, though the excitement attending the murder had in a great degree subsided. The prisoners were all Irishmen, and did not by their appearance indicate abandoned men.

John N. Goodwin, Esq., read the warrant whereby the prisoners were arrested, which charged them that on June 1st, they did wilfully and with malice aforethought, murder A. L. Maxwell; and prayed that they be held to answer to the same. The several persons pleaded not guilty. John Waters waived an examination at this time. James Waters was ordered to remain in the custody of the officer, and the Court adjourned to 2 o'clock, P. M.

A much larger audience were in attendance in the afternoon, but all seemed calm, and willing that the law should take its course. Mr. Goodwin opened the case for the government with a brief statement of the facts, which he proposed to substantiate by the testimony of witnesses. He contended that the case at bar is one of murder, and cited the Revised Statutes of Maine, chapter 170, as to a definition of murder, and also as to the jurisdiction in this case.

On motion, it was ordered by the Court that witnesses, except when on the stand, should be excluded from the hall during the examination.

Isaac Hersom sworn.—About 7 1-2 o'clock was with Maxwell in an apothecary's shop; talked with Mr. Preble of Dover—then went over to Salmon Falls; went into Dudley's saloon and remained ten minutes—then came back; Maxwell came back as far as Mr. Tibbetts'; would come no further; left him there; did not see him again till after he lay dead at his mother's house; noticed nothing unusual in his conduct.

Cross er.—Left Maxwell at Tibbetts' store little before 9 o'clock; Mr. Covett left the saloon with me; saw no one drink in Saloon; Maxwell had been to Great Falls that day and collected a bill of $5; when going over, saw Pray with a crowd near the shanties; Pray spoke of a trouble between Waters and Bancher; Pray said Waters struck Bancher with a cane across the head; Maxwell asked Pray why he allowed it; he answered he was not there.

Oscar K. Grant sworn.—Am a schoolmaster in South Berwick; reside in Berwick, next house to Butler's store, near where the murder was committed; saw Maxwell in front of Butler's store about 9 o'clock, talking with several others; previous to seeing him had heard of a disturbance; spoke to Maxwell about the row; he said Bancher and Waters had had a brush; while talking with him the others left; talked a few minutes, and he left me and went toward Dixon's; when between Currier's and Dixon's, about half way, four or five persons came out of the Currier building, went toward the lower shanty, and there stopped; soon after, saw several men coming from the neighborhood of Dixon's towards Salmon Falls, followed by another; when they came to the company near the shanty they also stopped; remained about a minute; soon heard a scuffling of feet; saw a man run, pursued by another, towards South Berwick; could not tell who they were; soon they were followed by a third person; after going a short distance, the first turned suddenly—when the first two were near together; they went between the Currier building and Dixon's; did not recognize who they were; was called into my house by my wife; went in, and after talking a few minutes with her, looked out of the window, and then went to bed; had been asleep and was awakened by some one knocking at the door and calling my name; went down; found there Thomas Cobby; he requested me to go out; at first my wife was unwilling, but afterwards consented; the person following the first two was Mr. Mason.

Cross-ex.—Maxwell stood in Butler's door about 3 minutes after I reached there; he was talking with several persons; Butler's store was closed; Maxwell left me rather abruptly; was surprised to see so many come from the Currier house; had no suspicion that there was to be a row.

When our report closed, at 4 o'clock, P. M., the cross-examination of Mr. Grant was going on. The examination will be concluded to-day.

THE MESILLA VALLEY AFFAIR, &c.—Washington, June 6th.—Gen. Garland left for New Mexico on Saturday. It is said he takes out with him instructions to call in case of necessity upon the Governor of Texas for an adequate force to repel Mexican invasion of the disputed territory.

It is said that Capt. Mordecai, of the U. S. Engineers, has been despatched to Mexico to hunt up the Gardiner mines, if they can be found. He went out in the Vixen, which left New York a few days since for Tampico.

BIRTHS AT SEA.—Ship Frank Pierce arrived at Boston on Sunday, with 710 passengers, principally from Ireland. When the ship left Liverpool she had only 699—consequently there must have been eleven births on board during the passage.

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. R. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

Lieutenant——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

MARRIAGE,

Happiness and Competence,

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands!

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundred Edition. 18mo, pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as her or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

Novel Swindle in Paris.—The police in Paris have put the shopkeepers upon their guard against being victimized by the perpetration of the "give-me-my-change" trick.—This is performed as follows: A well dressed man (things have come to such a pass that it is always safe to be suspicious of well dressed men) purchases some insignificant article, and stands waiting. In a few minutes, with an air of vexation, he asks if they are not going to give him his change. "You have not paid, I think, sir." "Why, yes, I did; I gave you a five-franc piece, with a scratch on one side of it." The till is searched, and the coin is of course found. Upon such overwhelming evidence the change is given. The scratched coin was taken a few moments before from one of the gang, who had made some trivial acquisition on purpose to get it into the drawer. An adroit thief has been known to make the sum of fifty franc a day in this way, by the perpetration of the rendezmoi.—Paris correspondent of N. Y. Times.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.
IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.
Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.
R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

INTERESTING FACTS
are constantly coming to light, from different parts of the country, showing the astonishing effects of the fair and faithful use of these Lozenges.
HERE IS ONE LETTER,
from a citizen of Portsmouth—and but a sample of hundreds:
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May, 1853.
This is to certify that I consider Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenges a valuable article for what they are designed—the best remedy before the public. My son had a very severe cough, which threatened speedily to carry him off; and nothing seemed to give relief, until I tried these Lozenges, —which produced signs of relief in a few hours, and after the taking of a few boxes, wholly removed his cough. ANOTHER REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER FALLEN.—Mr. Jeremiah Bartlett, of Gilford, N. H. died May 15th, 1853, aged 66 years, 5 months and 2 days. Mr. B. was born in Kingston, this state, and came to the town of Gilford, 64 years ago, and commenced clearing his farm—was married 61 years since, and began housekeeping where he died. His wife died 33 years since. He was in the war of the Revolution, and was at the surrender of Burgoyne.

Mr. B. was a man of industrious and economical habits, which gave him such a competence, that he never purchased corn or meat after he had fairly commenced his farming operations. He remembered the earlier events of life, and occurrences in the country, with an exactness that was truly surprising. He was baptised 32 years since by Elder William Blaisdell. He lived an honorable and christian life. He leaves five children, and two grand-children. A few more and the last of that Patriot Band who secured our liberties will be gone.—Belknap Gazette.

MRS. STOWE IN ENGLAND.—The London correspondent of the N. Y. Herald writes:

Mrs. Stowe proves herself quite an American in her intercourse with the English aristocracy. Her self-possession, ease, and independence of manner, was quite undisturbed in the presence of the proud duchesses and haughty dames of the titled English nobility. They expected timidity and fear, and reverence for their titles, in an untitled person, and they found themselves disappointed.

Mrs. S. felt herself their equal in social life, and acted among them as she felt. This, above all other things, has caused a great astonishment in the higher circles in favor of American women, for in fact it is a quality peculiarly distinguishing an American woman that she can be and is a duchess among duchesses.

ACCIDENTS ON THE ST. LAWRENCE.—At Quebec, on the 30th ult., a tornado came up in the afternoon, after it had been very hot during the day, and caused much trouble to vessels on the river. A Norwegian bark was struck, and rolled over on her side and went out of sight. About the same time, a steam ferry boat burst her boiler, and out of ten persons who were on board, eight perished. The captain, who stood over the boiler, was blown high into the air, the engineer had his skull split open by a piece of the boiler, and his wife and two children, who stood by him, were killed. Two hundred and ninety passengers, from a vessel in the stream, had just been placed by her on board a steamer for Montreal.

STEAMBOAT EXPLOSION.—The steam tug Eclipse burst her boiler in Chicago, Ill., on Wednesday, tearing the boat entirely to pieces, killing a fireman and boy, and severely injuring the engineer, cook, wheelman and one deck hand. The captain was also slightly injured. The boilers were new; and the boat was valued at $10,000. The engineer's life was despaired of; he was dragged out of the engine room after the explosion, terribly scalded.

The South Carolina Railroad Company offer $1000 for the conviction of the wretch who placed an iron bar across the track at Cattle Creek on the night of the 30th, by which the engine and several cars were thrown off, and Isaac Winters and Samuel Willis, engineer and fireman, were killed, and W. F. Snead badly wounded.

MALPRACTICE.—Lorenzo Slack has obtained a verdict of $800 in the Windsor County Court, Vt., against Dr. Dixi Crosby, for alleged malpractice in setting the thigh-bone of the former.

HAVANA.—A letter dated Havana, 30th May, says considerable excitement has been occasioned by the Captain General reprimanding the professors and masters of certain schools for teaching their scholars too liberal opinions. He expressed a determination to suppress such instruction. The parties blamed tried to get up an indignation meeting, but it was put down by the authorities.

Near Apalachicola, Florida., on the 14th of May, a lad of fourteen years, a son of Mr. Fitch, was struck by a large rattlesnake while picking berries. He started to run, but the snake's fangs were fastened in his clothing, and before he could get away he was struck six or seven times, and died in a few hours.

A man was arrested a few days since at Pittsburg, charged with an attempt to abduct a free coloured lad from Jamaica, named Hendrickson. The man pretended that he was about to take the youth to Tennessee to educate him. The story was not credited, and Hendrickson was released.

The Mormons at Beaver Island, Michigan, have been committing numerous depredations on the fishermen, burning their dwellings, robbing them of their fish in barrels, destroying their salt, and stealing their nets, boats, clothes, money and provisions.

THE ANTI-BIBLE CONVENTION, as it has been styled, at Hartford, Conn. last week, was but a thin meeting.

☞ A lady by the name of Shapleigh, belonging in Eliot, Me., while walking from Great Falls to the Rollinsford station, on Tuesday last, was met by a highway robber, who with a large knife threatened her life if she did not give up her money. She told him she had none, and after a hasty search the robber became alarmed by the approach of a carriage and fled.

PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1853.

LAW CASE.

SUIT FOR FALSE IMPRISONMENT.—In the Court of Common Pleas at Boston, on the 3d inst., the case of Elias T. Caswell, of Manchester, N. H., vs. officers Ham and Pettingill, of Boston, and Wm. H. Hill, City Marshal of Manchester, was tried and finished. Caswell was arrested in Boston several weeks since, on the charge of larceny in Manchester, and was committed to jail. He forthwith procured a writ of Habeas Corpus, and upon having a hearing, was discharged, but was immediately re-arrested and conveyed to Manchester, where he was examined on the charge of larceny, and discharged for want of sufficient evidence to hold him. A suit was then instituted against the officers for damages, for arresting Caswell in the first instance without a warrant. The evidence was heard, and there was no pretence whatever that at the time of the arrest of Caswell by officers Ham and Pettingill, that either of them held a warrant against him, but on the contrary, it was shown and admitted that they had no such warrant.

During the trial the plaintiff abandoned the suit against officers Ham and Pettengill, and called them as witnesses while the trial proceeded against Mr. Hill. The Court in a clear and able charge, instructed the jury to the effect that if the defendant had reasonable grounds or cause to suspect that the plaintiff had committed a felony, he had the right to make the arrest without waiting for a warrant to be issued, and also to hold him in custody a reasonable time, and until an investigation could take place before a magistrate. The jury were also instructed that it was not for them, but for the officers making the arrest to judge whether or not there was reasonable cause for suspicion of the party arrested.—The jury returned a verdict for the defendant.—Boston Journal.

Will the reader please to look for one moment at the law, as laid down in this case.—The suit is for false that is groundless, imprisonment. When the case was tried, in Manchester, the alleged criminal, who is the plaintiff in this case, was found not guilty.

Now the Boston judge decides as he ought, that the officers of the law must sometimes arrest men at a venture, and if there is reasonable ground for suspicion, the officer ought not to be punished severely, even in case he mistakes the person, or there is no conviction.

But then he also decides, as he ought not, that the jury must not judge whether the suspicion was reasonable or unreasonable—but that the officer must do it himself!!

The law (by what Judge laid down on the Boston Journal does not say,) amounts to this:—Any sheriff, constable, or police officer, may lay hold on any person, on any pretext of crime,—and when the sufferer asks for redress, the Boston Court of Common Pleas will tell him there is none—but that the officer is also a judge and an executioner!

If this is law—commend us to anarchy, or let us betake ourselves to the woods.

RHYMES WITH REASON AND WITHOUT. By B. P. Shillaber, Boston: Abel Tompkins and B. B. Mussey & Co. 1853. 12 mo. pp. 336.

A life-like portrait of the printer-poet looks at us with a friendly but inquiring gaze, as we open the book: and as we pass on to title-page and preface, and into the Rhymes, a mental likeness no less striking beams upon us. It is Ben's own book, his own honest, good-humored, poetic thought, in which a keen perception of the ludicrous not only lights up a smile, but softens the visage and expands it into a broad laugh; and in which, also a beautiful sense of the pathetic makes the tears follow before our faces have had time to recover their longitude.

As poems, these Rhymes will live and be quoted, beyond a question. We hope also, they will put money in the purse of the publishers, and through them, into that of the author.

DISCOURSES ON THE BEATITUDES: by E. H. Chapin, Boston: published by A. Tompkins, 1853. 12 mo. pp. 158.

These eight discourses are practical, experimental, and beautiful. No man can read them without perceiving the close connexion and exact harmony between them and the several texts on which they are founded,—and their entire agreement with reason and experience as well as with the Sermon on the Mount. Doubtless they have been read by some of our readers. Yet they deserve a wider circulation, and therefore we mention them in this place.

WORLDS' TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.—A great Temperance Convention is notified to be held in New York City, Sept. 6, 1853—to last four days, and be composed of teetotalers from all States and Countries that may see fit to come, or be delegates from Societies.

DEATH OF AN AGED CITIZEN.—John Tyler, Esq., a well known merchant of Boston, died suddenly on Sunday night, at the advanced age of 74 years. He retired to bed in good health, and died during the night, supposed of apoplexy.

IMPORTANT FOREIGN NEWS.

By the steamship Canada we have Liverpool news to May 28, at noon; and many of the following items will be seen to possess great political importance. The old bone of contention, the balance of power in Europe, appears about to stir up the dogs of war, and bring on a general melee. Turkey in Asia, India, and even China, are in a fair way to be included in the final settlement of accounts.

Trade was fair—breadstuffs not greatly change—cotton market firm, with an upward tendency.

ENGLAND.—The business in Parliament of local interest is chiefly respecting the collection of church rates.

On Friday night, the 23th, questions were put to the government, in both houses, to ascertain the position of England with relation to the critical state of Turkish affairs.

Lord Clarendon in the House of Lords, and Lord John Russell in the House of Commons, stated that French and English representatives at Constantinople were acting in concert, and that the integrity of the Porte would be maintained. It was hoped that Russia would insist on nothing incompatible therewith; but in the present condition of the matter the British government could not give further indication of the course they would pursue.

A grand soiree and address from a Committee of the Anti-Slavery Society was given to Mrs. Stowe at Almack's, London, by a large crowd, mostly Quaker ladies. Joseph Sturges was President, and Professor Stowe spoke. The addresses were long and flowery.

The Derby race was won by "West Australian," by a neck—stakes for £5400.

The Adelphi Theatre, at Edinburgh, has been destroyed by fire.

Mazzini has arrived in England from his concealment on the continent. He remained in Milan three months before the insurrection and one month afterwards.

The sub-telegraph is successfully laid between Port Patrick and Donaghade.

The Dublin exhibition attracts 5000 visitors daily. The Queen will visit it soon.

The Britis fleet remained at Malta 18th, awaiting reinforements from England.

Despatches to British Admiral Dundas stated that Menschikoff remained on board the steamer, and had given the Porte eight days longer to reconsider, threatening, if again rejected, to finally withdraw.

FRANCE.—The Emperor and his wife have gone to St. Cloud.

Government is considering projects for establishing free medical relief to the poor of the country districts.

The Ambassador of France had ordered the French fleet to the Dardanelles, supposed for the purpose of preventing any attempt of Russia to sieze or pass the Straits, but on the 20th the French squadron was still at Salamis.

Constantinople Jews caused violent agitation upon the Paris Bourse, which was increased by false reports that Russian forces had entered Turkey. It was generally believed, however, that Napoleon had assured the Russian Minister that much as he desired peace in Europe, he would not hesitate to change his policy, if Russia forced measures hostile to France in the East.

Despatches from Admiral Feboier Despontes, dated Callao, April 10, state that he was about to sail with two ships for Guayaquil river, to claim reparation from the Equadorian government.

Fifty years concession of submarine telegraph from France to Algeria have been granted to John W. Brett.

Madiai and wife will reside at Geneva.

SWITZERLAND.—The Austrian Charge des Affaires has notified the Federal Government that Austria, convinced of the uselessness of further negotiations with Switzerland, had ordered him to withdraw.

The Swiss envoy at Vienna, M. Stinger, is consequently recalled, and diplomatic relations completely broken off. The brave attitude taken by Switzerland excites much attention.

At latest Berne dates, 23d, the Council had taken no further steps recalling the envoy.

ITALY.—Milan letters mention that the Austrian commission of inquiry now sitting has totally failed to establish any evidence connecting the Lombard emigrants in Sardinia with the recent revolution.

The Pope has gone to Anizo.

Magnetic table moving is now all the rage at Rome. The Pope and Jesuits' college have been experimenting.

TURKEY.—The Porte has refused to accept the Russian ultimatum. Menschikoff had embarked at Constantinople on board a British ship-of-war for Odessa.

CHINA.—Advices from China state that at the urgent desire of the Emperor, the American, French, and English ships of war had undertaken to protect Nankin and Shanghae against the rebels.

FROM CALIFORNIA.—By the Daniel Webster, at New Orleans, we have San Francisco dates to May 16.

Mining accounts are of a favorable character.

The Sonora Herald records many lucky discoveries of large lumps, and also some new digging of the —— river, where lumps valued at from $300 to $900 have been taken out.

Sandwich Islands dates are to the 16th April. The king at the opening of Parliament nominated his son as his successor, which was duly sanctioned.

MURDER IN LITTLE COMPTON.—Mr. Job Briggs, of Little Compton, informs us that his duck house was entered on Friday night, by some evil minded weasel, and sixty fine ducks just ready for market, were foally murdered by the bloody vermin. Most of the bodies were left upon the ground, with only fifteen of the interesting family remaining to quack over them.—New Bedford Mercury.

ACCIDENT.—On Monday a Scotch woman named Creighton, designing to go from Malden to Boston by the Maine Railroad, took, by mistake, the upward train. Finding herself going from instead of to the city, she jumped out of the car while at full speed. By miracle she escaped with her life, but was severely bruised.

LOCAL.

☞ The Boston Courier of Tuesday, contains notices for a meeting of the "Sons of Portsmouth," to be held at Cochituate Hall on Friday evening of this week, to make arrangements for visiting this city on the 4th of July.

☞ The "Sons of Portsmouth" at home, have a meeting this evening, as all know, to prepare to receive them in a seemly manner.

THE RYE BEACH OCEAN HOUSE will be opened for the reception of company on Wednesday of next week. This beautiful watering place has been greatly enlarged, and it is the intention of the proprietor to keep making improvements, until this popular summer resort shall be second to none in the land. See particulars in advertising column.

MRS. PARTINGTON'S RIDICULE FOUND!—An honest lad found something in Chesnut street, which he calls a pocket, and handed it in to us yesterday, in hopes the owner might get it. We think it may be Mrs. Partington's; and as she reads the papers, will make a note of it.

It contains a silver thimble, well worn, but still as good as new, a pair of scissors, a pin-ball and some pins in it, and last, but not least, the old lady's spectacles.

Uncle Toby tried on the glasses, and found them nice ones, but thought them a trifle too old. If the owner will send Ike for them, and prove properly, they shall be forwardad.

☞ Lieut. White, of the Navy, residing in this city, has been stationed at the Navy Yard as first Lieutenant.

CHURCH.—A portion of the members of the large Calvinistic Baptist (Rev. Mr. Flanders) Society, now the only one of that denomination in Portsmouth, New Hampshire, have commenced building a new brick house of worship at the corner of Pleasant and South streets.—N. Y. Herald.

Not exactly correct. The point of junction between Pleasant and South streets, in this city, happens to be the South Bridge. A very good site indeed for the Mill which stands there; but not exactly the best location for a Church, unless it was to go by water.

We have no doubt it is true of some other place, but we utterly disclaim the idea of stealing any body's churches, or other public places.

Not long ago, somebody in a newspaper paragraph, located Fort Hamilton in this city—but Fort Hamilton happens to be at the Narrows, below New York.

GENERAL COURT.—Both Houses had a session of an hour, on Monday afternoon, when the Standing Committees were appointed, and five petitions were received, asking for incorporation, increase of capital, &c.

☞ The Dover Enquirer understands that Mr. Alonzo H. Quint, of that town, declines accepting the pastoral call to Exeter.

IN CENTRAL HALL, S. BERWICK.

Before Charles E. Norton and Bartholomew Wentworth, Justices of the Peace.

Counsel for State—Ira T. Drew, Attorney for York County; and John N. Goodwin of So. Berwick.—For Prisoners—John H. Wiggin, Esq., of Dover; Nath'l Wells, Esq., of Great Falls; and George Burleigh, Esq., of Gt. Falls.

(Concluded.)

Monday Afternoon, 4 o'clock.

At the close of our last report the cross examination of Mr. Grant was going on. A large number of irrelevant questions were proposed by Mr. Wells, but nothing pertaining to the case was elicited.

Alonzo S. Mason sworn.—Went to Salmon Falls about 8 o'clock with my daughter and another lady; went as far as the further end of the bridge—left them and come back; stopped in the vicinity of the shantys and rum shops—remained about half an hour; stopped to hear different versions of the fight between Waters and Boucher; soon saw Dixon's door open; went in to persuade a neighbor of mine (Mr. Jones) to go home—said he would go soon, and I sat down; while setting there four persons from Biddeford came in—they were quite drunk; John Merrill, Webster Miller and Ivory Pray came in; they were invited to drink by the Biddeford men; Pray went to the bar; think he drank; Pray then sat down on a counter; Pray talked to me a few minutes; while talking Maxwell came to the door and said Santa (a nick-name to Pray) "let us go." Pray went with him; I then left the shop; went about half way between the Dixons and the Currier building and found Jones did not come with me; saw John Merrill in the road between the Currier building and Dixon's, and asked him what the crowd was near the shanty for—said he did not know; while talking with him heard a blow struck,—a screech followed the blow; saw two men run towards me; thought they were Scannell and Pray; came within ten feet of me; the first one turned round; heard Pray say he could whip every "d—d Irish son of a b—h." The forward one backed near the hill and fell by the well; Maxwell was standing near Buckley's shanty; he jumped out of way as if from harm; at same time John Waters ran towards me from where Maxwell stood; I went towards the well on one side and John Waters on the other side; John Waters struck one of them with a knife which he held in his hand and then stepped back; Waters when he struck made the remark, "I'll serve you as I did the other man." I remarked that that was a dangerous weapon to use, and stepped up with the intention of taking it away from him; he threatened me with his knife and I retreated; was within two or three feet of him; tried to find a stone to beat his brains out if I could; saw no more of Waters till he was found by the officer in a garrett; Daniel Scannell and Ivory Pray were the combatants; James Waters came up when they were on the ground; saw him strike a blow; went into Dixon's to get help as I thought Pray was stabbed; when I got back to the well James Waters and Ivory Pray were at it. Waters appeared to be holding Pray down; Dixon and I parted them; Scannell asked me to see fair play; told him I would allow no fighting; took Pray into Dixon's and opened his shirt and saw the wound.

Cross-ex.—Heard no words before I heard the blows; heard remarks that the Irishmen would have to take it. Objection was made by government to receiving testimony as to remarks made by the crowd in Dixon's shop and at other places during the evening. The counsel for defence, Mr. Wiggin, contended that it was proper to receive such testimony; that if a conspiracy was made in the shop to have revenge on the Irishmen, the remarks made in forming that conspiracy were necessary and proper to prove self defence and justifiable homicide, so far as James Waters was concerned. The government contended that such testimony was not allowable, unless the defendants proved a conspiracy, which they had not done. Such remarks as Pray or Maxwell were interested in, or assented to, were allowed to be received. The question proposed was—"What did Pray say in regard to the row?" The question of admitting the answer to this was debated about half an hour. When it was decided, the answer was —"nothing." After Scannell got up near the well, when the combatants were parted, his face was covered with blood. Scannell appeared to act on the defensive entirely.

Direct-ex. resumed.—(Sword cane was here shown to the witness.) Mr. Wallingford (sheriff) found the cane in the attic of a shanty where Waters was secreted; saw it before in John Waters' hand, on the night of the disturbance.

On motion the Court adjourned till Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Tuesday, June 7.

Joseph Floyd—sworn.—Reside in Salmon Falls village; went from Salmon Falls to So. Berwick with my wife between 9 and 9 1-2 o'clock; found Maxwell beyond the Bridge, near the west gate; went on a few steps and turned back to see who it was; found it was Maxwell; a friend whom I met went back with me; said I would go for a Doctor; at this time another came up, and I asked them to carry him into the house; when they got him into the house on a bed, saw a small wound near the heart; his dress was bloody; when we went to him, saw no signs of life.

This witness was not cross examined.

Clifford Miller—sworn.—Live in Rollinsford; am 17 years old; went into Dixon's shop little after 8 o'clock; while there, Maxwell came to the door and said to Pray, "I want to see you a moment"; Pray went out; in a few minutes I went out; saw Maxwell running quite fast, followed by John Waters; Maxwell turned and started for the bridge; John Waters was after him. Near Dixon's saw Pray knock Scannell down; Jim Waters struck at Pray; Pray got Jim Waters down; Jim said, "enough Santa"; John Waters stepped up and stabbed Pray; Pray got up and Jim Waters made up at him; I took hold of Jim; Pray and Waters were clinched, both down; Dixon came out and parted them.

Cross-ex.—Went into S. Dixon's little past 8 from Butler's steps; had not been there more than five minutes; while in Dixon's shop Pray came in; he stayed about five minutes—when Maxwell called him out; Maxwell said to Pray—"I want to see you half a minute;" went out about five minutes after they did; soon after saw Mason by the well; while James Waters and Pray were fighting; saw John Waters with a cane in his hand pursuing Maxwell; there was a crowd near the shantys; when Pray came down the hill he and Scannell were fighting; Pray knocked Scannell down; was standing near the well when they came round the corner of the Currier house. [After a few more questions, the witness refused to talk any more; he was a little contradictory in a few of his statements of minor matters.] Saw Scannell with a knife right over my shoulder, near the clothes lines (back of the shanties); he tried to stab Mr. Pray; I tried to keep him off; Scannell was behind me; It looked like a butcher knife; bade about 3 inches long, 1 inch wide; had hold of Jim Waters at that time getting him away from Santa (Ivory Pray); wanted to see fair play; tried to keep Scannell off; James Waters was down, Pray was over him; Scannell told me not to touch of them; struck Jim Waters three times; struck him once while the knife was over my shoulders; Scannell struck Santa in the breast; don't know the position of Santa and Waters while down; Waters was flat on the ground; Santa was holding him down; think he stood over him, his face toward Waters; he was beside him; Scannell was behind me a little to the left. I stood under the clothes line when Scannell came up; saw Pray when he was stabbed in the breast; I was watching Scannell for fear he would stab me; had had trouble with him about a week previous; have not seen Scannell's knife since; James Waters was after Scannell and Pray; when Pray was knocked down I was perhaps three feet distant; saw John Waters over the well after seeing him pass by; when James Waters said "Enough Santa," John Waters came up and stabbed him; did not hear anything that evening about whipping the Irishmen; had heard of the trouble between Boucher and Waters. After his fight with Boucher, I offered to fight Waters; John Waters then went into the Currier building; he was paying attention to a girl in that neighborhood.

The testimony of this witness was somewhat confused, and by the severe cross examination of Mr. Well, contradicted himself several times. He appeared unwilling to testify.

At 12 o'clock, the Court adjourned to 1 o'clock, P. M.

When the Court came in in the afternoon, the County Attorney stated that owing to the absence of several witnesses, the Government proposed to rest their case, and moved that the prisoners be committed for trial.

Mr. Wells, for the defence, moved that the respondents, (Scannel and James Waters) be discharged, as no evidence had been offered against them.

The Court refused to grant the motion.

Mr. Wiggin, for the defence, upon this decision, stated that the action of the Court had so taken them by surprise, that they had nothing to say; preferring to get redress at a higher tribunal.

John Waters was then brought into Court, and he, with James Waters and Daniel Scannell, were ordered to jail, to await their trial at the next term of the Supreme Judicial Court to be holden at Alfred on the 3d Tuesday of September next.

The Court then adjourned.

John Waters having waived an examination, it was the duty of the government to prove that James Waters and David Scannell were concerned in the murder of Alexander L. Maxwell. The reader will judge from the evidence offered, whether it would criminate them in that matter. From the evidence of Clifford Miller, it was plain that Scannell did stab Ivory Pray, but that not being the case before the Court, it could not be considered, except in connection with other circumstances. The Court, however, saw fit to commit them all for trial.

MARRIAGE,

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life as well as of physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother can be unintentionally misled upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

SUPPOSED SUICIDE BY DROWNING.—Among the passengers on the Reindeer, from New Orleans, was Mr. Talbot, from Bardstown, Ky., with a likely negro woman, a slave, that he was bringing back to her home again. On Saturday night, while the boat was passing the Chalk Banks, a point in the Mississippi River, she jumped overboard from the stern of the boat, and nothing more was seen of her. The boat was stopped, and diligent search made for the girl, but no trace was found. She was an expert swimmer, and it was ascertained that she had taken her trunk with her, and it is possible that she swam ashore, as the boat at that point was running close to the shore. Mr. Talbot, the day previous, had been offered $1100 for the girl.—Louisville Courier.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting desease; ample proof can be given in the restoration of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease.
